Ford Will Put Small Auto on Market in Fall

Will Sell for Below $2,000; GM, Chrysler May Follow Suit

By JOSEPH C. INGRAHAM
The New York Times Service

NEW YORK — The Ford Motor Co. will market a small Ford to sell for under $2,000 this fall. In addition, the company will put out a second, slightly larger compact car in 1960 under the Edsel name.

Ford's decision to enter the small-car field marks the first break in the ranks of the industry's Big Three. They have been reluctant to make a final commitment, although they have been studying the situation for 18 months.

The new Ford will be a six-passenger vehicle available in only a two and a four-door sedan at first. It will have a conventional six-cylinder front engine that will generate about 100 horsepower. The car will have a 109-inch wheelbase and an over-all length of about 182 inches.

While a complete description of the new car was withheld, informed sources said it would be similar to the English-built Ford Zephyr with slightly more rear-end overhang for additional trunk space.

The car will be of unit frame construction—body and chassis being welded together—to minimize rattles and enhance road-holding qualities. It will weigh about 2,700 pounds, 700 pounds lighter than the current Ford line. The engine will be of cast-iron, although much more aluminum than the 51 pounds now in Ford cars will be used for various components.

The new car will have a distinctly "American look" with European-car undertones. It will have a slim roofline and no fins.

The new small Ford and Edsel will feature simplified, lower-cost automatic transmissions. This is considered vital for the U.S. market. Even with the automatic transmissions, which consume more gasoline, Ford engineers reportedly are obtaining 25 miles to the gallon with the new 100-horsepower engine and about 20 on Edsel test runs.

Floodwaters Spill Into City Streets

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. — (UPI) — Wabash River floodwaters spilled into Mount Carmel city blocks Wednesday, forcing families to move into their upstairs bedrooms.

Upstream, the rampaging river continued to pour through a gaping 200-foot hole in a levee at Russellville, Ill. Farmers got feed to their livestock by rowboat and more than 600 persons were homeless.

Indiana, which took the first flood onslaught, appeared to be out of serious danger. The levees at Vincennes held back the passing flood crest and there were no large Hoosier towns on the Wabash banks downstream.

Marshall Is Hit by 2nd Stroke

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — (UPI) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that Gen. George C. Marshall has suffered a second and more severe stroke and is in "serious condition."

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was conscious and there was no evidence of paralysis, according to the medical bulletin issued at Womack General Hospital here.

But Col. George Powell, chief of medicine at Womack, said Marshall's condition was "serious and prognosis depends on future developments."

Powell said that Marshall had some difficulty in swallowing and seeing but his blood pressure and pulse were stable.

He said a "very mild pneumonia" had appeared practically concurrently with the second stroke.

PORT DE SAINT MAUR, France — (AP) — A U.S. military tractor crushed two homes Wednesday, killing an elderly woman and injuring two other persons. It was part of a convoy en route from Angers to Chinon.

The driver was identified by local authorities as Harold Bolster, 21. He was taken into custody.

'Dulles The Man I Want'

Even Sick, He's Tops With Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to stay on as secretary of state as long as Dulles "believes that he is in shape to carry on."

The President told his news conference he would rather have a sick Dulles as secretary of state than anyone else.

"I know of no man . . . in the world," Eisenhower said, who can equal Dulles' "wisdom and knowledge" in foreign affairs.

"Therefore as long as Secretary Dulles believes that he is in shape to carry on, he is exactly the person I want."

He denied reports that Dulles tried to resign last week after learning he had cancer again. And as for himself, the President said he has not discussed the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles "with anyone."

The President answered "No" when asked if he had given any thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin and German problems.

He said he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday that plans for the meeting should go "right ahead."

He said Dulles' views are well known and he is "backed up by able men of his own choosing" who can carry out his policies. For this reason, he said, it was not likely there would be any need to hold the foreign ministers conference in the U. S. because of Dulles' illness.

As for the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting in that city, it will be the Russians who start it. But he made plain again that the U. S. and its allies intend to remain in Communist-encircled West Berlin even though the Russians carry out their threat to turn over access routes to the East German Communists May 27.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed Wednesday that if the Allies resorted to force to keep open access routes to West Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower commented that "we are not saying we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go on and continue carrying out our responsibilities" accepted in 1945 to maintain the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin."

Eisenhower, with a jibe at Union Chief Walter Reuther, turned thumbs down on any attempt to revive at this time emergency unemployment compensation for the jobless.

Declaring the nation was in a period of mounting prosperity, he also scoffed at Reuther's proposal for a march of the unemployed on Washington to seek more federal aid. He said he didn't see how any good could come out of such a demonstration.

Shoots Set for June

Air Force to Fire 2 Probes at Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL — (AP) — The Air Force will make two daring stabs to shoot space probes to the planet Venus this June, informed sources said Wednesday.

The Venus tests, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's busy satellite program for 1960, will be made using two-stage versions of both the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM.

One official close to the program identified the launching vehicles as the Atlas-Able and Thor-Able. A second stage for the powerful Atlas currently is being developed by Convair Astronautics.

The Thor-Able has already been used with promising results on three Air Force lunar probes and four nose cone reentry tests at intercontinental range. A mouse was aboard on three of the latter flights but it never was recovered.

The two shoots will be attempted sometime in the middle of June when Venus and Earth are in the best positions, the source said.

One probe probably will be aimed at swinging a satellite around the planet while the other may go past Venus and far out into space.

Another version of the two-stage Thor will be fired on a polar orbit satellite test soon from the Pacific missile range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The admission of four Negro pupils to all-white Orchard Villa Elementary School was approved Wednesday by the Dade County School Board in Florida's first move to integrate a public school below college level.

Acting unanimously on a motion by member Dr. Robert S. Butler, the board voted to admit the pupils at the opening of school next September.

However, the possibility existed that there would be practically no white pupils left in the school by next fall. Enrollment has already dropped from 235 to 171 this year.

Many white families have been leaving the area as Negroes move in.

School officials said that white children would be able to go to other, segregated schools in the county "if there is room and if they provide their own transportation."

A board survey last fall showed that all but about 50 of the white families then living there would send their children elsewhere in the event of integration.

The children who will be admitted to Orchard Villa are Sherry Joseph, six, Irene Amanda Glover, seven, Jan Glover, nine, and Gary Range, six. Two will be in the second grade, one in the third, one in the fifth.

They live less than two blocks from Orchard Villa but were assigned last fall to a Negro school a mile away. One went to a private school instead.

Butler said his motion to integrate was the only alternative under existing state laws. "The particular students meet the criteria set forth in the pupil assignment law," he said.

There was no discussion on the motion, except for a comment from Superintendent Joe Hall, who said, "it would be most in order."

"We are operating under the pupil assignment law, which we must follow," he said.

The assignment law, passed by a special session of the Legislature in 1956, was designed to hold integration to a minimum. It does this by allowing local boards to assign pupils according to non-racial factors which an author of the law said would "overlap" the race factor.

The Dade board's action met both applause and angry reaction from state officials.

The four pupils enrolled at Orchard Villa last fall, but were reassigned to Holmes Elementary, the Negro school a mile away. It is crowded and has been operating on double sessions.

Backed by NAACP legal assistance, the four Negroes' parents appealed the reassignment at a school board hearing in September. The deci-

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Dade School Board's plan for token integration won approval Wednesday from the governor and the author of Florida's pupil assignment law, but drew bitter criticism from some legislators.

Key segregation leaders predicted the Legislature will revive and pass next April the so-called "last resort" bill to close Florida's public schools rather than integrate them.

Gov. LeRoy Collins vetoed this measure last session, but segregation leaders say the threat of voluntary integration in Miami will give them the votes to override a veto next time.

"It's an outrage," declared House Speaker-designate Thomas D. Beasley of Walton, a strong foe of legislation two years ago to close the schools. "I will vote for it this time if no other solution presents itself."

Senate President-designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said the School Board violated the intent of the Florida Constitution which requires separate schools for whites and Negroes.

Gov. LeRoy Collins and his race relations committee appeared to be the only ones in favor of the School Board action. Collins said he agreed "completely" that the move was "sound and wise," and will help stave off indiscriminate, mass desegregation.

Key legislators disagreed, almost to a man, charging the threatened admittance of four Negroes to Orchard Villa "is just a foot in the door to topple segregation everywhere."

Many of them blamed the governor who apparently tried to prepare the public last week for the School Board decision. He said then that the people must permit some voluntary integration or have it forced on them indiscriminately by court edict.

Reaction began minutes after the School Board action was announced — and just about all of it was negative.

"This lends urgency to the need for a parent option plan" to let parents withdraw their children from integrated schools and educate them privately with state financial help, commented Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum, Florida's chief expert on segregation law.

Sen. Johnson said it shows clearly that the pupil assignment law was "just a stop-gap law and we need something much stronger. This law served as a delay for a while, but we can see now that it has served its purpose."

Attorney General Richard Ervin agreed.

"Under the pupil assignment law, it lay within the discretion

Could Relieve 'Pressure'

Decision May Retard Rate Of Integration in County

Does the decision to admit four Negroes to one white school mean that other Dade County schools soon will be integrated?

Not by any means, school observers said Wednesday.

The Dade decision, reached after months of preparation at a secret meeting between school board members and Gov. LeRoy Collins last Monday, may ultimately serve to retard the rate of integration.

The integration of four pupils in a school system of 148,000 is statistically insignificant, it was pointed out.

But some school officials hope it may be enough to relieve pressure from federal courts for a time. How long, no one can say.

Dade school officils now believe they have taken the initiative from the NAACP, and will be able to integrate at their own speed. That may be just fast enough to keep a step ahead of the federal courts and forestall any blanket integration decrees.

The school board believes it can do this with the pupil assignment law because it provides for assigning each child to a school on an individual basis. There are no class actions and the admission of the first four Negroes sets no precedent which will make it easier for other Negroes to crack the segregation barrier.

Five months elapsed while the board pondered Wednesday's steps.

Other requests for assignment to white schools are bound to come fron Negro pupils, but board members have indicated they will be given the same deliberate, individual treatment.

Churchmen Generally Approve

NAACP Split on Decision

By JUANITA GREENE
and ADON TAFT
Herald Staff Writers

Miami and state leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People differed sharply Wednesday over the decision to integrate Orchard Villa Elementary School.

Rev. A. Leon Lowry, of Tampa, state NAACP president, said the integration decision was "only a token thing," and urged Negroes to "press toward total compliance."

But G. E. Graves, Miami attorney who represents the NAACP, said he is "satisfied" with the Dade School Board action, and added he expects integration to be peaceful.

"We expect the people on both sides to accept this thing as the law," he said. "We don't expect any violence or mass hysteria."

"But," he added, "it's nothing to be jubilant about."

He would not reply directly when asked if he considered the move an encouraging one in the fight for integrated schools.

"That's a very hot question," he said.

"As for the people immediately involved, we are happy with the results," he added. "As to date we have not concerned ourselves with other students because they have not applied."

The four pupils to be admitted, Graves explained, are the only ones who followed through on all procedures required under Florida's pupil assignment law.

Graves said he did not know whether pressure would be brought soon to admit more Negroes to Orchard Villa or other all white schools.

But he said if such action is pending in the immediate future he is not aware of it.

No trouble is expected at Orchard Villa, said Graves, because the white and Negro students already know each other.

"Those children play together all day long," he said. "Everybody out there gets along fine."

Miami church leaders, meanwhile came forward with general approval of the action.

Here is what they said:

THE REV. A. E. GYSAN, president of the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church:

"When both the Biblical, legal and practical points are fully considered, one willingly accepts the decision of the School Board and, furthermore, is willing to uphold the hands of our public servants in this matter, for I am convinced they did not make this decision hastily or without the fullest possible deliberation of all the matters involved."

THE REV. J. CALVIN ROSE, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, pastor of the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church:

"It would appear to me that it is in the best interest of the community that we uphold the unanimous action of our School Board of men and women who are sufficiently informed of the state laws and the local situation to make a decision evidently in the best interest of the community."

DR. H. FLOYD FOLSOM, moderator of the Miami Baptist Association, pastor of the Miami Shores Baptist Church:

"Something like this was inevitable. I don't believe it means a wholesale move to integrate."

DR. JOSEPH R. NAROT, president of the Greater Miami Rabbinical Association, rabbi at Temple Israel:

"This is compliance with the law of the land and I hope this will be the beginning of a process of 'moderation and reconciliation' which will redound to the well being of the whole community."

Bets, Crowd At Track Are Up and Up

The fears of Greater Miami bookies that the next customer may be a Herald reporter, continued to be reflected in Hialeah race track figures Wednesday.

Attendance Wednesday, 22,025; a week ago it was 19,559.

The state profited as wagering went up $105,080 over last week. The increases thus far this week total 5,849 in attendance, and $342,786 in wagering.

Dade bookies — whose customers not only are not always right, but sometimes aren't even customers — had reason to be afraid.

Herald reporters placed three more bets on "tight" Miami Beach, and another bookie was arrested — the ninth in three days. For details, see page 1-B.

Teamsters Hurl Strike Threat At Carpenters' Florida Groves

Hoffa Puts Squeeze on Big Union

Hoffa told reporters the Carpenters Union owns some of the biggest citrus groves in Florida.

"We're going to organize the Carpenters citrus groves, and put them on strike if they won't negotiate with us," Hoffa said.

He didn't say whether he planned to recruit, into the Teamsters Union, employes other than truck drivers at the groves.

Hoffa linked his statement with a declaration he believes the AFL-CIO ought to take his scandal-scarred union back into its ranks "on the same basis as the Carpenters."

He said he had read news reports that the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Puerto Rico has decided not to expel the Carpenters if they will clean up their own ranks.

"The Teamsters ought to be taken back into the AFL-CIO on the same basis the Carpenters have remained in," he said. "Are there two sets of ethics?"

The AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters, denouncing it as a corrupt union and a disgrace to organized labor.

In reply to questions, Hoffa, said he will not ask President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to take back the Teamsters. "I have nothing to say to him," he said.

But Hoffa contended that neither expulsion from the parent organization, nor corruption charges aimed at the Teamsters by the Senate Rackets Committee, has hurt his union's organizational drives.

He said the Teamsters have recruited more new members since they were expelled than have been added by all of the remaining AFL-CIO unions combined. He reported the membership of the Teamsters increased 135,000 in the last year to 1,632,000.

The Carpenters Union owns 900 acres of groves near Lakeland. The Adams Packing Association, a cooperative at Auburndale, handles all picking, hauling and processing for the union. Profits from the grove go to support the Carpenters home for its retired members at Lakeland.

Herschell Sorrells, general manager for the packing association, said he received a letter Monday from the Teamsters saying the union represented the plant's drivers and wanted to negotiate.

"They don't represent the drivers," Sorrells said, "because they never had an (National Labor Relations Board) election."

The Teamsters won an NLRB election at the Adams plant two years ago, giving them the right to bargain for production and plant workers. No agreement has been worked out concerning a contract. Truck drivers were not included.

Here's Where Ike's Staying in Acapulco -- the Lush Resort Hotel Pierre Marques

. . . it was picked partly because its accommodations are all on a single floor

Casinos, Free Hotels Set in Cuba

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — The revolutionary government Wednesday authorized Havana's plush gambling casinos to resume operations and—in an all-out effort to woo back tourists—offered free hotel rooms for a three-day festival.

The big casinos at the Nacional, Riviera, Hilton and Capri hotels and at the San Souci, Tropicana and Montmartre nightclubs are expected to be back in full swing tonight.

Resumption of gambling on a temporary basis was only the beginning of the government's effort to lure back tourists, whose absence during the revolutionary violence brought Havana's luxury hotels to the brink of bankruptcy.

In another move, the Cuban Tourist Institute and affiliated industries invited Americans in the Florida area to take part in a three-day festival starting Monday in commemoration of the start of Cuba's war of independence from Spain.

Twenty-six hotels pledged free rooms for three nights for all visitors from Florida during the festival. The swank Tropicana nightclub offered free floor shows.

J. J. Shepard, a Miamian and an official of the Capri Hotel, said about 1,000 free rooms would be available and can be reserved by making transportation arrangements through any Greater Miami travel agent.

Collins to Speak At Demo Dinner

From Our Washington Bureau

Some 1,500 people are expected at the $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

The list of speakers is headed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Mexicans Eagerly Await Ike Today

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

ACAPULCO, Mexico — This resort town and all the rest of Mexico ran a high temperature of excitement over the impending visit of President Eisenhower, who arrives here this morning.

The President left Washington Wednesday afternoon in the presidential plane Columbine III, and landed Wednesday evening in Austin, Tex. He is slated to leave Austin this morning for Acapulco.

Traveling with the President on the first leg of his trip to Acapulco and meetings with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Homer Thornberry.

The two Texas Democrats were invited to accompany the President to Austin.

From the enthusiasm, bordering on hysteria, with which Mexicans await Eisenhower, a stranger would suspect that Ike was coming down here to return Texas and California to the Mexicans, the original operators of those valuable properties.

Mexican police have rounded up every potential agitator around here and taken them out of circulation, for fear of embarrassing the visit between President Eisenhower and President Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

The shiniest cannons in Mexico will blast a 21-gun salute for Eisenhower, and the shiniest band instruments in the republic will play the U.S. National Anthem and other tunes.

Although this visit by Eisenhower is strictly a handshaking assignment, it is of utmost political importance to the Mexicans, as one can understand from the fervent newspaper accounts of the visit.

Mexico and most other Latin American republics think wistfully of making true equality and friendship with the U.S. a living reality instead of a slogan.

And this visit by President Eisenhower apparently will give the Mexicans a great boost in their national morale, if the public accounts of the importance of the visit are taken at face value. The President and his party will stay at a plush coastal hotel during this two-day visit.

NAACP Splits Over Dade Move

"I believe the School Board action is in line with the pupil placement law of 1956 in this state. I believe that the court also held the law is valid but must not be used for circumvention.

"The assignment of these four Negro children to the Orchard Villa School, I suppose, can be viewed as a trial balloon.

"Not any of us can say now what the complexion of that school will be by next September, since so many of the White families have moved out of that community.

"If this is an honest effort on the part of the school board to obey the laws of the land, then this is a good beginning. The unanimous vote of the board is a point which deserves notice."

sion was delayed pending a series of studies of the neighborhood.

Hall said Wednesday that "on the basis of these studies," the Negroes should be admitted.

Chairman C. Raymond Van Dusen said that the decision had been made under the Pupil Assignment Law and that it was unanimous.

He declined to elaborate further.

"I don't want to make any more of a statement," he said. "We're trying to keep this thing as dignified and impersonal as we possibly can."

Butler said that "without this action, the Pupil Assignment Law wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on."

Other members asked for comment had the same reply: "The action speaks for itself."

Orchard Villa will be Florida's first integrated school below the graduate level. Two Negroes are now attending the University of Florida graduate school, but none have been admitted to elementary or high schools anywhere in the state.

Floridians Land Safely

NEW YORK — (AP) — A Riddle Airlines DC4 cargo plane in trouble on a flight to Puerto Rico landed safely Wednesday night at Bermuda. The ship carried a crew of three.

Two of the plane's four engines began acting up on the flight to San Juan. Two Pan American World Airways planes in the general vicinity stood by for a time in case the cargo liner needed help.

At one point, the cargo plane dropped to 600 feet in altitude. But it recovered slightly and managed to climb back up to 2,000 feet.

The pilot was Kenneth G. Hetterling of Key Biscayne, Fla. The other two crew members were Hugh Rogers of Miami and Sam Nicholson of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

of the School Board to assign these children to Orchard Villa school," Ervin said. "I assume the board, after an investigation, determined that it had no alternative."

"However, I think this points up the need for other legislation, including parent-option to meet the problems in other communities where some integration is incompatible to local opinion."

Sen. Verle Pope, St. Augustine, a Collins floor leader who votes with the governor more than any other senator, said Florida should never voluntarily accept integration.

"The purpose of the pupil assignment law was to delay and keep to a minimum integration of schools. I do not feel any school board should accept integration unless forced to under court order. Their action was premature and apt to have a very bad effect on legislation affecting the public school system."

Enlarging on his comments, Johnson said that even though the U.S. Supreme Court has declared the segregation provision of Florida's Constitution invalid "it does not remove that fact that integration is still against the intent of the people of Florida."

"I hate to see Dade County throw in the sponge at a time when it was not absolutely necessary."

Beasley said the Miami action was "bad for the Negroes involved."

"What chance will four Negroes have in a school with 150 white children?" he asked. Beasley predicted the Orchard Villa school will be closed before next fall's scheduled integration date.

Sumter Lowry of Tampa, runner-up for governor in 1956, attributed the integration move in Miami to "Gov. Collins' lack of leadership." He predicted it will lead to a complete breakdown of segregation in Florida and charged Collins has "violated his oath of office by advocating any integration whatever in the schools."

War Danger Called Real

CHICAGO — (AP) — Anxiety about the possibility of war is well founded, a U.N. leader said Wednesday, but there are grounds for hope.

Dr. Charles Malik, president of the U.N. General Assembly, said the U.N. "is working day and night on how to alleviate tension and promote understanding and peace."

And the "balance of terror," he added, tends to keep either side from striking.

Staph Infection Closes Nursery

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The nursery of University Hospital was closed Wednesday after officials reported the finding of staphylococcal infection among staff members and infants.

A new temporary nursery was to be set up and operated until the older unit can be disinfected.

All those found to be infected are under treatment. Dr. Robert Lowe, hospital superintendent, said the disease among infants is under control and sick babies isolated.

No Whites Show Up

22 Negroes Alone In Virginia School

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—(UPI) — Historic Warren County gave up its only public high school — a modern building capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils—to 22 Negroes Wednesday to maintain racial segregation.

It complied with Federal Court orders to reopen Warren County High School, but met a total boycott by white pupils who refused to yield to racial mixing in the classrooms. Not a single white pupil showed up for classes.

The 22 Negro pupils and nine white teachers gathered in the library for formal registration. The school's 30 classrooms were empty. Its corridors were ghostly silent.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque announced that Warren County in the rural Shenandoah Valley, has complied with the court's order to reopen the million dollar school plant. The school was closed last September under Virginia's "massive resistance" laws when the Federal Court ordered 24 Negro pupils admitted.

In downtown Front Royal, about half a mile away, some 800 white pupils attended the private, makeshift classes set up for them when the high school was closed six months ago.

Virginia's integration was directed by Federal Court order. Three Virginia metropolitan areas — Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria — admitted 30 Negroes to 10 schools earlier this month.

Front Royal, however, was the first predominantly rural locality in the South to face court-ordered integration.

Tap Water 40-Proof And Town's Worried

FRANKLINTON, N.C. — (UPI)— They said it couldn't be done! But it was. The little community of Franklinton is probably the only one in America that has 40-proof water coming out of its taps.

The town's water supply was accidentally spiked with straight corn whisky, and the local tap water now has a kick it never had before. Judging by an increase in water consumption, some of the residents really like it!

As a matter of fact, the town fathers are now wondering how they can legally continue spiking the water if the new beverage really catches on with the residents.

The tipsy tale started when county alcoholic control officers raided a still just outside town. They dumped several thousand gallons of mash and "white lightning" into a stream near the still.

Little did they realize that the stream ran into the pond which is Franklinton's only water source. But officers learned quickly when residents began reporting that their water had a strange taste.

C. G. High, town water plant superintendent, analyzed the water and found the booze. Although he was noncommittal about the alcohol content, one source said it was about 40-proof.

All He Needed Was Air

Not a Drink and He Got A Jag, Teetotaler's Gripe

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A teetotaler asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.

He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, that he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day.

He said things were getting so bad that his wife threatened to leave him and his boss accused him of tippling.

The health department discovered why the work was so intoxicating.

The man worked with trichlorethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

The man was not identified.

Angry Wife Shoots Mate

An angry wife stormed into a northwest section bar, accused her husband of stepping out on her, and then shot him in the back Wednesday night.

Police held his wife, May, about 45, for investigation of the shooting.

Roberts, a truck driver, staggered out of Andy's Bar, 8191 NW 22nd Ave., and was taken to the hospital by friends.

Journey for Meg

LONDON — (UPI) — Princess Margaret will visit Lisbon during the British trade fair in June, it was announced.

We'll Dun Russians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. will send Russia a bill for about three million dollars for the Air Force transport plane downed in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2, officials said Wednesday.

Its chances of collecting are virtually nil. Since World War II, U.S. claims of nearly eight million dollars have been lodged against Moscow for five U.S. planes shot down by Soviet fighters. Russia has paid only $724,947, or half of one claim.

State Department officials declined to speculate on compensation which will be asked for the 17 airmen aboard the plane. Russia has returned six bodies and has said it had no information on the other 11. The Soviets claim the plane crashed after violating the Soviet border.

National Summary

Arctic air is again on the move, concentrated in high pressure over the northern plains and pushing through the Gulf and Atlantic states, scheduled to lower temperatures over most of the eastern half of the country.

Temperatures at midday were as much as 5 to 10 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana and a 15 to 20 below range is forecast from Montana to Wisconsin.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for parts of New York and Pennsylvania and colder air should cover the Florida peninsula Thursday, nudging into 80 degree warmth reported.

Low pressure off the northwest coast continues to feed moisture inland and showers with snow in the mountains again extended over the Pacific states and into the northern Appalachians.

Showery weather should retreat from all but extreme northern parts of California, but rain is expected to move back into central sections of the state Thursday while rain or snow will be featured in the northern and central plateau states.

Nixon Rates Foes

NIXON

Nixon handicapped the Democratic hopefuls at a press conference. Coming up fast behind Kennedy, he said, are three more senators, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri.

"And I think Adlai Stevenson is still a very likely possibility, even though he has been defeated twice," Nixon added.

As the presiding officer of the Senate Nixon has an opportunity to watch Kennedy, Johnson, Humphrey and Symington in action, and he indicated he has kept a watchful eye on them.

"Kennedy is handling himself with great skill," Nixon said. "Johnson is making the most of his fine opportunity to prove his talents as majority leader of the Senate, Humphrey has probably gained more in the respect of his colleagues than any other senator I've known, and Symington is developing as the likeliest compromise candidate."

Nixon's appraisal of Humphrey — "he has a good mind, he's fast on his feet, a fine organizer and a terrific worker" — sounded so enthusiastic he interrupted himself to say, "but I'm not nominating him."

Of his own prospects for 1960 Nixon had less to say. He sidestepped when tossed the question, "who would you like for your running mate in 1950." His reply: "I do not intend to be a candidate for vice president in 1960."

Orchard Villa School Admissions

An Orderly Transition

IN A GESTURE to the inevitable, Dade County School Board has ordered the admission of four qualified Negro children to the all-white Orchard Villa elementary school, located in an area of Miami which is racially in transition.

The action was taken with seeming casualness. This was deceptive, though it lent a certain dignity to the act and diminished tensions. The Orchard Villa case has never been in litigation but has only involved an orderly test of the Florida Pupil Assignment Act. All four children have gone through every procedure, which tends to affirm the validity and good faith of the Act itself. Now that every other recourse has been exhausted, the board wisely elects to be in compliance with the law of the land (and the state) and yet retain control of the situation.

If these admissions stand, they will be the first in Florida at the public school level and the first in any of the states south and east of Tennessee and North Carolina. The School Board felt it had a job to do—a painful one—or face consequences less desirable. The minimal integration it accepted for next September will, we think, relieve the pressure on Florida and will have the acquiescence of the community.

When Two Presidents Meet

IF PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos deal with nothing more than "protocol and pleasantries" according to their informal agenda at Acapulco today, still this visit will be worth the effort on both sides of the border.

Fact is, the two nations have few of the grievances associated with foreign relations today and almost no problems between them.

This is all to the good. Through the benign eyes and the friendly homilies of our President, we may renew expressions of friendship for Mexico and take a fresh look at this closest big Latin neighbor.

For Mexico is going places.

ONLY RECENTLY so agricultural and pastoral that it escaped the ravages of the Great Depression, Mexico today is a young industrial giant.

The republic is an iron and steel producer. It manufactures paper, soap, glass, cement, textiles, rubber products and furniture, among other things.

The land is rich where it is level, and elsewhere it disgorges a treasure of minerals, petroleum and natural gas.

The United States takes 75-80 per cent of Mexico's exports and regards her in turn as a customer in the billion-dollars-a-year class.

Culturally, Mexico has enjoyed an artistic renaissance nearly unparalleled in this hemisphere. It is the delight of tourists, the best income crop of all. And it stems from the bloody decade of revolutions early in the century that cost a million lives but established the pattern for Latin nationalism and liberation.

SINCE DEVALUATION of the peso in 1954, Mexico has enjoyed a reputation for stability in most things, and over the last couple of decades its economic middle-road has also produced a high measure of political stability.

This is personified in President Lopez Mateos, who is never one to get going on the gringo kick. To be sure, his paradoxically conservative Party of Revolutionary Institutions is dominant, but it has given Mexico a brand of government good enough to insure a tenure of three decades. Lopez Mateos himself is renowned as a conciliator.

In sum, the two Presidents will have much to discuss in the mutual prosperity of our present relations—a jolly lot, we'd say, in these times of global glowering.

And Now For The Final Push

THE DETERMINATION and persistence of the volunteers in the United Fund are paying off. This community effort now has produced $3,069,000 for vital welfare services and the revised goal is only a slim $156,000 away.

These last dollars are always the most difficult to raise, but also the most important. It hurts worse to miss by a little than by a lot. Let's get together and give the United Fund the final push. It's up to those who haven't given, or haven't given enough, to finish the job.

Metro As Water Merchant

HISTORY IS REPEATING itself here on the subject of water supply and distribution. The past casts light on what is happening now.

Back in the land boom of the 1920's, the "city" was clustered close to the mouth of the Miami River. Subdivisions began sprouting around its edges, far out in the pinewoods then standing along what are now such busy thoroughfares as S.W. 27th Ave. and N.W. 79th St.

No pipes carrying city water reached those new neighborhoods, so developers installed small water systems for their subdivisions. The tiny pipes were satisfactory as long as they had to serve only a few dozen houses.

But the city grew out to these suburbs, and they became densely built up. Faucets which had gushed water yielded only a trickle. By that time, a number of boom-time subdivision water systems had been abandoned, and householders could find no one who would act on their complaints.

IT WAS at that time, about 20 years ago, that the City of Miami bought the central water distribution system from private interests. The municipality already owned the wells and waterworks. All were put together in a strong, independent Department of Water and Sewers. It took over and rebuilt old subdivision networks, and filled the gaps between them and the downtown area.

The result was a unified water system serving most of the then urbanized area.

The cycle started again after World War II when new suburbs sprang up in pinelands and savannahs around the enlarged city. There, now, the high cost of water provided by some subdivision plants is spurring action by Metropolitan Government.

As County Attorney Darrey A. Davis has pointed out, the water system now run as a branch of the central city's government might well serve as the nucleus for a countywide plant under Metro. Fortunately, the legal and financial shape of the municipal department offers an ideal base for the transformation.

Luckily, too, Metro was created by the voters at the right time and with suitable powers to perform precisely such services for the great city which now covers nearly all of the habitable land in Dade County.

Weather Eye High Above

THE UNITED STATES has staked a new claim in space. This time it is no mere flexing of missile muscles but a contribution to the good of all mankind.

Riding an orbital path around the earth at speeds up to 18,000 miles an hour (from Miami to New York in three minutes) Vanguard II will "see" developing storms with its two photo-electric eyes and flash the news back to radio receivers on earth.

This first space weather station will have more practical benefits than any of the artificial satellites yet launched from Cape Canaveral or the Siberian steppes. By techniques here successfully demonstrated, residents of Florida and the rest of the Gulf and Atlantic coastlands may be amply warned of approaching hurricanes. The same goes for the Pacific areas where the typhoons blow with like and devastating disregard for national boundaries. The Weather Bureau hopes to learn how, some day, to steer these monster storms gently away from inhabited areas. Eventually the same methods may be used to eliminate droughts and floods, making weather the servant of man instead of the master.

In the short history of space rocketry that began with Sputnik I, this is the first success over which the whole world may rejoice without worrying about who got there first. Vanguard II, we hope, will be the illustrious forerunner of a whole series of weather eyes in the universal sky.

The Bay Makes A Comeback

THERE IS a thrilling story in restoration of natural resources being spun right in Miami's front yard. It is the story of what's happening in Biscayne Bay.

A short 10 years ago Biscayne Bay, for all of its surface shimmer, was little more than an open sewer. The waste of a big city flowed untreated into its waters through sewage outfalls from Miami's northern limits almost to Dinner Key.

More pollution was contributed by Miami River and Little River into which additional outfalls emptied.

Results of a sampling of the waters by health authorities shocked the community. The bay was so highly polluted that Dr. T. E. Cato, Dade health commissioner, ordered a strict ban on swimming and even water skiing from Rickenbacker Causeway to 79th St.

The engineers' charts showed the pollution spreading even to the mouth of Government Cut in the ocean as the menacing waste was carried along by the flow in the ship channel.

THAT WAS 10 years ago. Now a new story is being written.

Bay water samplings have been taken at all the old stations. The story isn't finished, but the figures show a remarkable drop in the bacteria count.

Fish, once driven from parts of the bay by the gasses and for lack of oxygen, are returning. Once again water skiing may be permitted.

It is all the result of the modern sewage disposal system with the huge treatment plant on Virginia Key for which Miamians voted twice overwhelmingly to bond themselves.

That system has been in operation scarcely two years.

The wonder work predicted for it is coming true. Few thought it would happen so quickly. Guesses were as high as 10 years. But it is happening right here—and now.

Discordant Notes On Notebook

Editor The Herald: Despite the partial disavowal in an Editor's Note, Page 1A of the Sunday, Feb. 15 issue of your valuable paper, John S. Knight's Editor's Notebook impels me to call attention to certain facts.

Your view that "inflexibility and dedication are not the tools of diplomacy" may be correct in terms of striped pants. But had Mr. Dulles' predecessors in office shown more of these traits, he might have been handed something better than a salvage operation of policy during the past six years.

When an American recalls the easy going flexibility by which the fruits of our military victory were squandered at Potsdam and Yalta . . . Mr. Dulles has done much to repair the damage of flexibility.

"Phrases of failure as 'agonizing reappraisal' and 'massive retaliation'" do not ring with futility against the background of disaster Mr. Dulles inherited. Nor has our nation been sucked into a general war, nor sacrificed many of its sons in police actions.

"Mr. Dulles, now in his 71st year, is a very sick man." True, but how does his record for dedicated service for the past six years compare with the average public servant based on hours and days spent in his heart breaking task? Include hospitalization, vacation and recreation, how many days has he been absent from his job?

Frankly, how does his age compare with the 91 years of Sen. Green, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, only recently resigned? Is Mr. Dulles' physical and mental capacity inferior to that of the latest President to die in office?

Your demand that Mr. Dulles resign is a sorry reaction to the courage he has shown, arranging in advance to give the American people full information of his latest illness, regardless of the seriousness of its probable consequences.

Finally, "inflexibility" or old fashioned backbone isn't entirely a liability when pitted against an adversary who boasts, "We will bury you."

There was a time in the history of a small and weak nation when Americans were responsive to "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." However, that was before the days of foreign aid.

Well Men Needed

Editor The Herald: I think Mr. Dulles should tender his resignation, not only for his own good but because the welfare of America and its peoples is and should be the first consideration of the Administration.

Mr. Dulles' place in history is secure but physically he cannot and never will be able to again do the job as it should be done. No matter how great or how much we admire them, the fact remains that sick men cannot give their best.

Laughter Reveals Real Self

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

PURELY personal prejudices:

I never have understood the sneer that is implicit in the phrase "striped-pants diplomacy" as though a man would be more honest if he conducted negotiations in overalls.

The most "sinful" thing about a big city consists of the smalltown people who have moved there in order to find some sin, and the visitors from other cities, who have taken a trip to practice what they preach against at home.

Couples who quarrel quietly, with deadly politeness, never resolve their basic differences; for as long as they remain "reasonable," the deeply irrational nature of their conflict cannot come to light.

You can tell more about a person by what he laughs at than by what he cries at — our tears reveal what we would like to be, but our laughter reveals what we are.

THE MOST devastating quip of our time was made by Churchill when a friend insisted that Atlee, despite other faults, was a modest man. "Yes," retorted Churchill, "and he has a lot to be modest about."

A rare exception among those lurid "confession" books that are ghost-written for celebrities is "My Story" by Mary Astor, which has some taste, dignity, and genuine insight into her emotional problems. And it seems obviously written by herself, with pain, precision and an unexpected literary flair.

It's an ironic result that the man who says "Nothing in the world is 100 per cent black or white" only succeeds in making the world 100 per cent gray — and what advantage is that in making value-judgments?

Behind The Front Page

Wants Cars Painted For Traffic Safety

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

JUST ABOUT everybody has given thought to the traffic problem, and some have come up with ingenious suggestions.

For instance, one Floridian who appeared before the Legislative Council's Committee on Traffic and Highway Safety suggested:

"The state owns some 6,000 cars which are used by state employes other than law enforcement officers.

"Why not paint all these cars the distinctive black and yellow that is used on the State Highway Patrol cars?

Pennekamp

"That many cars on our roads would have a salutory effect on driving recklessness.

"It would work the other way, too. Because public vehicles could be so easily identified they wouldn't be used for non-public purposes, nor be parked in questionable places."

Another suggestion was almost completely opposite.

It was to remove the distinctive markings from patrol cars so drivers wouldn't know whether the car ahead, or behind, was a law enforcer's.

THE COUNCIL — Dade County's Sen. Joe Eaton is a member—will submit a number of recommendations to the Legislature in April, including five amendments to the driver's license law:

One would renew driver's licenses each year during the birth month of the licensee. This would avoid the once-a-year rush, distribute the bookkeeping over 12 months.

All driver's licenses would be mailed from the Department of Public Safety, Tallahassee, for better clearance and control. They would be processed, as now, by the County judge. This is a partial concession to expediency, to thwart the objections of judges in smaller counties where the fee is important.

Costs would be increased 50 cents to $1.75, the extra money to help finance driver education programs in public schools.

Examination or reexamination for a license would cost $3.

Delinquent fees would be raised 25 cents to $1.25 and a duplicate certificate would cost $1.75 instead of the present 25 cents.

OTHER PROPOSALS:

Persons under 18 would have to complete a free driver's training course in the public schools before receiving a license.

Use of radar as evidence in court would be strengthened by tightening and unifying the methods employed by mechanical devices in checking speeds.

A driver who is suspected of intoxication now may refuse to take a proving test, and under some circumstances can prevent the use of the findings in court.

It is proposed to legalize chemical breath tests and to make a reading of .15 per cent or more by weight of alcohol in a person's blood a presumption of intoxication.

The method of making the tests would have to be approved by the public safety department and administered according to its rules.

THE HIGHWAY patrol would be increased by up to 200 additional patrolmen, if the schedule of fee increases provided sufficient financing.

There would be stricter enforcement of pedestrian safety rules. One of these would require pedestrians to walk on the left side, facing traffic. Signs along the highways would instruct and warn pedestrians.

Driver's licenses now are suspended for one year upon conviction of driving while intoxicated. It is proposed to graduate this punishment:

First conviction, not less than three months nor more than 12; second conviction six to 24 months, and third, not less than one year.

No appeals to the Florida Parole Commission, as at present, would be allowed.

Globe's The Same, But Not The World

THE COMMUNIST WORLD AND OURS by Walter Lippmann (Atlantic-Little, Brown), $2.

Reviewed By LUTHER VOLTZ

". . . FORMIDABLE as the Communists are, they are not 10 feet tall, and the less we plunge ourselves into hysterics, the more likely we are to take care of our affairs."

Voltz

Thus one of America's clearest minds on political science, foreign policy and international affairs concludes after reflection on his talk with the man in the Kremlin.

Walter Lippmann's interview with Nikita Khrushchev last November was carried in a four-part series in The Herald and 150 newspapers which print his column, "Today and Tomorrow."

This little volume recounts, in careful detail characteristic of Lippmann, that long talk. Then he sets down the fundamental comparison of the Communist aims and our own.

WITH GERMANY, East and West, so much a concern for foreign policy-makers now, it is well to read again some of Khrushchev's thoughts as quoted by Lippmann:

"Americans, he began, seem not to realize the danger which their present policy of rearming Germany may well bring down upon them.

"What is this danger? I asked.

"It is, he said, that if a new war is unleashed — Germany might well again, as in 1939, make an arrangement with the East and turn against the West.

"Why? Because if Western Germany engaged in a war against the East, the U.S.S.R. — with its missiles — could quickly destroy Western Germany. But if the Soviet Union encouraged Germany to turn against the West, the Germans alone would be much stronger than England, France, and Spain combined."

On the Communistic threat to America, Lippmann recalls Khrushchev boasting that it is a great danger to us as an ideology and as a doctrine, but not as a military policy of the Soviet government.

Quoting the No. 1 man in the Kremlin indirectly, Lippman writes:

"The Communists do not want to shed their blood and the blood of others to extend their frontiers.

"And each country should defend itself against communism within its borders, if it sees fit to do so.

". . . But, nevertheless, after these quieting statements he said rather solemnly that 'we'—the Communists—will cause you, the Americans, more 'trouble' each year."

Khrushchev said the United States is living "the last years of its greatness."

The central thesis is the Soviet belief of surpassing our productive capacity and convincing the poor countries "by their stomachs" to turn to Russia for technological competency and administrative efficiency.

"NO ONE can doubt that the Soviet challenge is very formidable, indeed," Lippmann writes.

"Theirs is a grim and purposeful society in which one who is used to the American air finds it hard to breathe."

And how do we meet that formidable challenge?

"What we need is a restrained, unsparing reappraisal of our own habits and reactions," Lippmann believes. "We must learn to keep ourselves armed without working ourselves into a frenzy of threats and fears.

LIPPMANN feels the Communist revolution will expand in Asia "unless we make an heroic effort of statemanship to demonstrate that there is an alternative to it, that there is another way to overcome the immemorial poverty and indignity of life of the Asian masses."

But in the highly developed Western countries, he sees no serious attraction.

"We have to live on the same globe with the Communist powers," he concludes. "But we do not live and we cannot live in the same intellectual and political world.

"Not now. Not in the foreseeable future."

Most Parents Won't Fight Change

White Families Dwindle In Affected School Area

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

THE NUMBER OF WHITE families in the Orchard Villa School area is steadily dwindling, enrollment figures revealed Wednesday.

Enrollment at the end of January was 171, compared to 235 at the opening of the school year. That's a drop of 27 per cent during a period when the school system as a whole gained by one per cent.

Dade School Board members took this change into account as well as the results of an opinion survey of the neighborhood when they decided Wednesday to admit four Negroes to the white school next fall.

THE SURVEY SHOWED that 52 out of 143 parents, even if given the chance to transfer their children to other schools in the event of integration, would not do so. A majority — 76 out of 143—said they would not mind working with Negro parents on school committees.

"I am a Bible student, and it doesn't say Adam was white," one parent told a school board investigator. "What's right is right."

One parent said that due to mixing already accomplished in the neighborhood, many white children play with Negroes.

"It's not their color, but what's in their heart that counts," she said.

Another dissented to the surveyor. "If there were only four, it wouldn't be so bad," she said. "But it wouldn't be kept to that. We just don't mingle."

TEACHERS TOLD the investigators that any problems that developed would originate with adults. "Only a few believed that the children themselves would present a problem," the report said.

However, reliability of the survey was questioned by the man who directed it; Assistant Superintendent Wesley Matthews.

"The nature of the community is changing so radically that attitudes of the people are subject to the same type of changes," he said.

Because so many people were moving or planning to move, the general attitude was one of "I don't care," he said.

How Law Works

Dade Move Opens Issue Statewide

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

The Dade School Board took a calculated gamble in its decision to integrate the Orchard Villa School.

McDERMOTT

The strategy behind the board's decision apparently was to block mass integration and strengthen the Florida Pupil Assignment Law.

There can be no question but what it has accomplished the latter.

However, it has built a fire under the cause of segregation extremists who now appear certain to try ramming through the legislature a bill to keep Negroes out of white schools at any cost.

That means something comparable to the "last resort" bill which failed to pass in 1957.

In effect, such legislation would call for the closing down of public schools rather than integrate.

THE DADE DECISION to begin school integration without waiting for a federal court order followed by less than a week a plea from Gov. LeRoy Collins to do just that.

Collins said that if local boards integrate on their own, under the pupil assignment law, they will be able to choose the time and the place instead of "surrendering this authority to the NAACP."

The Pupil Assignment Law, under which the School Board acted Wednesday, was passed for that purpose, as well as to keep integration to a minimum.

What is the law and how does it work?

The 1954 Supreme Court decision said that pupils could not legally be classified according to race. But it did not rule out other classifications which might closely correspond to race.

Under the Florida law, school boards get complete control to separate pupils according to those classifications, which include residence, scholastic ability, and "moral, cultural and ethical background."

If students are separated according to those factors, "we may find the overlapping of white and Negro children of equal qualifications will be reduced to a comparatively small per cent," said one of the law's authors shortly after it was written.

But the claim was not made that all Negro children could be kept out. It was expected that in a large school system, a few would inevitably be found who would meet all reasonable qualifications for entrance to a white school.

Lately, state officials have contended that some of these Negro pupils must be admitted to white schools in order to prove "good faith" to federal courts. Otherwise the assignment law would be in danger of being voided as an obvious attempt to evade the Supreme Court's mandate.

The admission of the four pupils to Miami's Orchard Villa apparently stymies what NAACP Attorney G. E. Graves had predicted would be a "direct attack" on the Pupil Assignment Law. The NAACP had planned to exhaust all the appeal procedures of the law so that its constitutionality could then be attacked in federal court.

A previous NAACP suit was settled in favor of the school board when the Federal District Court ruled that Negroes seeking admission to white schools must exhaust all administrative remedies. That refers to the appeal procedures of the assignment law.

COLLINS

GRAVES

PROBABLY the biggest boost given to the segregation extremist cause is the fact that Dade acted before being directly ordered by the court.

This is certain to be the subject of bitter debate on the legislative floor in April.

Some legislators, when the shock of the first impact passes, undoubtedly will support the idea that it is better to have "token" integration in Dade County than to have it at home.

On the other hand, the impact will so strengthen the cause of the segregationists for another "last resort" bill which they could pass over a veto by the governor.

What the Dade School board has done, with the backing of Gov. Collins, is to take a calculated risk which can have these results:

PRESERVE the public school system statewide with a token move toward integration; or

PLACE in the hands of the segregation extremists the power of open defiance to the Supreme Court at a cost of closing down the schools.

Desegregation in North Carolina Schools Worked Under Procedure Similar to Local Act

Florida's pupil assignment law is patterned generally after one in use in North Carolina. Here is how North Carolina has proceeded under its law:

By LARRY JINKS
Special To The Herald

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Virginia's forced abandonment of massive resistance has reinforced the conviction of North Carolina's leaders that this state's local option approach to school desegregation is sound.

In North Carolina's three largest cities, 13 Negroes are attending previously all-white schools.

All of these were admitted through voluntary school board action, without federal court orders.

No schools in the state have been closed.

NORTH CAROLINA'S official reaction to the Supreme Court's desegregation decisions can be summed up this way:

"We don't like them, but we recognize that they have the force of law. We have to find ways of compliance that don't do violence to our social traditions."

In 1955 the General Assembly laid the foundation for local option with the Pupil Assignment Act.

This transferred all authority over pupil placement from the state to local school boards.

The act specifies that assignment shall be made "so as to provide for the orderly and efficient administration of such public schools, the effective instruction of the pupils therein enrolled, and the health, safety and general welfare of such pupils."

It does not mention race.

IN 1956, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals said of the pupil assignment act, ". . . we cannot hold that it is unconstitutional on its face . . ."

The court left open the question of whether it might be applied in an unconstitutional manner.

Also in 1956 the general assembly, meeting in special session, and the state's voters, in a special election, approved supplementary legislation popularly referred to as the Pearsall Plan.

The complex plan — recommended by an advisory committee appointed by Gov. Luther Hodges and headed by Thomas J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount — provides machinery for closing schools through local option elections and for tuition grants so that pupils may attend private schools.

Both these provisions were intended as "safety valves" against forced integration.

The Pearsall plan has had no legal test.

AFTER SEVERAL joint meetings, the school boards of Charlotte, Winston-Salem and Greensboro in 1957 admitted a limited number of Negroes to previously all-white schools.

THIS YEAR the number rose to 13 — five in Greensboro and four each in Winston-Salem and Charlotte.

Two of the Charlotte Negroes were admitted by the school board on appeal after the board rejected their original applications for transfer, — an action that legal authorities consider important in demonstrating good faith application of the assignment act.

The only feature of the "safety valve" Pearsall Plan actually used so far provides for transfer on request of students who object to attending an integrated school.

There have been a number of such transfers in the three cities.

However, an effort by a Charlotte segregationist organization to spur mass transfer requests in the fall of 1957 failed.

GOV. LUTHER Hodges, Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell and other state leaders contend that the state's approach is legally sound, particularly in view of the limited desegregation that has occurred.

Their approach is currently under attack in three "class actions" pending in federal court, in which defendants include the school boards of Durham, Greensboro and Mecklenburg County.

(The Mecklenburg County board controls all the county's schools except those in Charlotte.)

The Negro litigants in these cases contend that state agencies have conspired with the school boards to preserve segregation.

State officials argue that, under the pupil assignment act, these are matters of local board administration and do not affect the constitutionality of state laws.

Consistently, North Carolina's leaders have avoided the extremist positions taken by many officials in Deep South states.

In a speech in November of 1956, a prominent Raleigh attorney and influential member of the commission that drafted the Pearsall Plan, Col. William T. Joyner, declared:

"I cannot believe that a state can long conduct its public schools in a manner which is in defiance of what the Supreme Court says is a constitutional right of a portion of its people."

This view has guided North Carolina so far. There is every indication that it will continue to do so.

4 Out of 7 on Board Are Southern-Born

A Southern majority prevails on the Dade School Board, which voted unanimously Wednesday to begin limited integration at Orchard Villa School. It breaks down on a geographical basis like this:

SOUTHERNERS

C. T. McCRIMMON — The man who made the original motion for the survey was born and raised in Dade County.

ROBERT S. BUTLER — Alabama-born, he has spoken in favor of token integration for the past year.

JANE ROBERTS — Born in West Virginia and a Coral Gables resident since 1934, she has described herself as a segregationist.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

2 Ike Choices Face Senate Fire

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senators are scratching their heads as to how Ike happened to appoint two conflict-of-interest officials to the two highest posts in the Commerce Department — secretary of commerce and undersecretary.

PEARSON

In addition to Adm. Lewis Strauss, who helped conceal the notorious Dixon-Yates private utility conflict of interest, the new undersecretary of commerce, John J. Allen, is at cross-purposes with the public interest.

It happens that he was the attorney who helped the Chinese gambling czar of North California, Chin Bok Hing, establish a tax-evasion trust fund and was thus cited in a federal court record which could easily have been read by the White House.

In addition the new undersecretary of commerce, when in Congress, introduced two private bills and one resolution for the benefit of Jess M. Ritchie who won headlines in the famous AD-X2 battery additive case.

When the Bureau of Standards ruled that AD-X2 when added to a storage battery did not improve or prolong its life, Sinclair Weeks, then secretary of commerce, fired Dr. Allen V. Astin as director of the Bureau of Standards.

The howl from the scientific world was so loud that Weeks reversed himself, ate crow and reinstated Dr. Astin.

By this time Jess Ritchie and AD-X2 had become a national issue. To settle the controversy, Secretary Weeks asked the National Academy of Sciences to decide the merits of the battery additive once and for all.

It found that Dr. Astin and the bureau were right. AD-X2 had no value.

DESPITE THIS, Congressman Allen introduced House Bill 3875 in the 84th Congress and again in the 85th to reimburse Jess Ritchie an indefinite amount at the expense of the taxpayers. Ritchie was claiming $2,369,064.32 alleged damages from Uncle Sam.

Both these private bills were blocked, thanks in part to the strong stand of Secretary Weeks who by this time had confessed his original boner and was fighting on the side of the taxpayer.

"This department recommended against the enactment of this bill," he wrote Congressman Emanuel Celler on April 10, 1957.

Subsequently, Congressman Allen introduced another resolution which managed to slip through the entire Judiciary Committee despite the formal objection of Congressman George P. Miller, who represents the neighboring district at Alameda, Calif.

This resolution sent the AD-X2 claim to the U.S. Court of Claims for recommendation.

FINALLY, LAST November, Congressman Allen's constituents got wise and defeated him. Shortly thereafter, Eisenhower rewarded him by appointment to a post in his sub-cabinet — undersecretary of commerce.

In the post, Allen will now be in the conflicting position of having introduced legislation for the relief of Jess Ritchie which his own Commerce Department emphatically and vigorously says is not justified.

Jess M. Ritchie shall be compensated, says Allen in his bill, "for losses sustained as a result of the direct attack upon the worth of the product, battery AD-X2, by the Department of Commerce."

It will be interesting to see what the new undersecretary of commerce, Allen, and the new secretary of commerce, Admiral Strauss, do.

It will also be interesting to see what Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington does about their confirmation.

1 Out of 4 Districts Integrated

According to the February issue of Southern School News, 799 of 2,896 bi-racial school districts in the 17 states affected by the 1954 U. S. Supreme Court decision have begun or completed the desegregation process.

In the whole region, 407,403 Negro children were in "integrated situations" at the beginning of February.

This does not mean that all these children are in mixed classrooms but only that they are enrolled in a district at grade levels which have begun desegregation.

Status of the issue state-by-state according to data as of Wednesday:

Soviet Jews May Leave

VIENNA — (UPI) — The Soviet Union probably will permit a "small scale" migration of Russian Jews to Israel, authoritative Jewish sources said.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, believed several hundred Russian Jews would receive exit visas this year for Israel on condition that they had relatives living there.

"We do not expect a mass emigration of Russian Jews to Israel," one source stressed.

War Chest Is Aimed At Trujillo

Venezuelan Group Is Raising Funds

CARACAS, Venezuela —(AP)— A Venezuelan group has opened a public campaign for a war chest to help overthrow the Rafael Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic.

Venezuelans rid themselves of their own dictator a little more than a year ago and gave financial and other support to the Castro revolution that took over from the Batista dictatorship in Cuba Jan. 1.

Other targets of Cuban and Venezuelan anti-dictator campaigns are the ruling regimes in Nicaragua and Paraguay.

The Venezuelan group's anti-Trujillo fund has a goal of one million bolivars ($300,000) to be raised through the street sale of so-called bonds worth one Bolivar (30 cents) each.

Alarm Grows In Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay —(AP)—The Paraguayan government is deeply worried over international pressure growing out of Cuban and Venezuelan clamor against so-called dictator governments in Latin America.

Interior Minister Edgar Insfran says such pressure could have repercussions.

President Alfred Stroessner indicated concern in an interview but sidestepped answers to direct questions.

Stroessner praised "freedom existing here" and said "I never have shot a Paraguayan."

He blamed the "hate campaign against my country" on Paraguayan exiles. He said they "seek to fulfill only their own private selfish interests."

The opposition parties are not well organized and are said to lack equipment for an armed revolt.

Cuba Will Ask Curbs by OAS

HAVANA —(AP)— Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte said Wednesday Cuba believes only governments chosen by free elections, or effectively and concretely headed in that direction, have the right to belong to the Organization of American States.

For that reason, Agramonte said in a statement, Cuba will press for fulfillment of declarations of the rights of man in the OAS and other international organizations.

Cuba also will urge that an Inter-American Court of Justice be given powers to assure that human rights and fundamental freedoms are protected, he said.

The rebel regime headed by Fidel Castro contends Paraguay, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic are oppressed by dictators.

The OAS is a regional group of all 20 Latin American republics and the U.S.

Queen Mother Gets No Cheers

Thousands of Africans lined the streets of this West Kenya port on Lake Victoria. But in contrast to cheering crowds elsewhere on her East African tour they just stared silently as the queen mother rode by.

The cool reception came after Oginga Odinga, chairman of the African-elected members of the Kenya Legislative Council, told Africans:

"Go and see her if you wish, but in view of the current political situation, she should not be given a really warm welcome."

York Gets Help On Tax Troubles

TWO NEIGHBORS of Sgt. Alvin C. York have offered a resolution in the Tennessee Legislature to ease the World War I hero's income tax troubles.

The 72-year-old sharpshooter is charged with failure to pay $85,442 income taxes on revenue from the movie "Sergeant York," based on his life.

York, who lives on a farm in Fentress County, says he is broke. He suffered a stroke several years ago and has been bedridden most of the time since.

The resolution by Reps. Joe Dyer of Cookeville and Joe Clark of Celina, requests the Internal Revenue Service to "go easy" in its prosecution. It also asks that York's income from the movie be declared capital gains which would put it at a lower tax rate.

The Legislature has not acted on the resolution.

Striking N.Y. Teachers on Warpath

NEW YORK —(AP)— Striking teachers in New York's night high schools have threatened to stage a protest march on City Hall Friday to back their wage demands.

The strike of the 800 teachers took full effect Wednesday, closing down all 16 night schools. All but five of the schools were closed by the strike early this month.

The board of education kept the five open, but fewer and fewer teachers showed up. The board then announced the five schools would close immediately.

The board contends it cannot afford raises sought by the teachers. The High School Teachers Association wants Mayor Robert F. Wagner to make available money still unspent from the snow removal fund.

Emil Tron, president of the Teachers Association, threatened the protest march, saying the teachers were willing to compromise but that the board and the city refused to deal with them.

Most of the teachers in the night schools also teach in New York's regular daytime high schools. They are appointed to the extra night work on a voluntary basis.

The teachers recently offered to continue at the present wage of $12.25 a night for this semester, provided wages were increased to $24.75 in the fall. They also offered to accept a reduction to $21 for the following school term. There are two night sessions a week.

Japan Crater Erupts

KAGOSHIMA, Japan —(AP)— Kirishima volcano erupted shooting smoke 1½ miles into the air from its 4,657-foot crater. Volcanic ash spread over a wide area.

Reds Write Us Out of War

TOKYO —(UPI)— Communist China re-wrote history and declared that China and the Soviet Union were the "main victors" against Japan in World War II.

A dispatch in the Ta Kung Pao newspaper, broadcast by Radio Peiping, gave passing mention to the U.S. as one of the 11 nations on the Far East Commission after the war. It did not indicate the U.S. fought in the war.

Murder by Germs Charged to Doctor

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

BONN, Germany — The university city of Goettingen has the makings of a first-class murder mystery.

The wife of a 36-year-old doctor died in 1957 of a tetanus, or lockjaw infection.

Several months before her death, it has now been recalled, she suffered another peculiar illness. She was treated for anthrax, a disease that normally attacks animals, but is uncommon among humans.

Her death was investigated but nothing was proved.

Now her former husband has been arrested in Brunswick where he had obtained a new position. The husband, it is alleged, had access to the university's bacteriological laboratories.

LUIS ALOMA — The Spanish-speaking right-handed pitcher for the Chicago White Sox? A native of Havana, Cuba, Luis came up with the Sox in 1950, was a superb relief hurler. He helped the Go-Go Sox into first division in 1951 with a six-won-none-lost year. Luis left the Sox after the '53 season (he had some arm trouble). He had compiled an 18-3 record in four years.

Today at 34, Luis lives on Chicago's North Side. He and wife Haydee, also from Havana, have two children. Luis likes Chicago, intends to stay. He is manager of a Chicago liquor firm.

Glass Strike Ends After 134-Day Tieup

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Striking employes of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. voted to accept a memorandum of agreement and end a 134-day walkout at nine of the firm's plants.

Officials of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union said all seven locals involved in the long, hard-fought labor dispute voted in favor of returning to work.

Ralph Reiser, international president of the union, was not immediately available for comment, but a spokesman said he was preparing a statement "probably dealing with plans for resuming work."

Results of the secret balloting were announced by union officials in Pittsburgh as fast as they became known. Reiser came to Pennsylvania Sunday to urge workers to accept the proposed agreement.

Terms of the memorandum of agreement never have been made public.

Approval by each of the locals was needed to end the strike.

More Care Sought for Delinquents

By MARCIE FEINGOLD
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida State Welfare Board will ask for $384,542 from the 1959 Legislature for a program to supervise delinquent children after they leave state training schools.

Miss Frances Davis, director of child welfare for the board, outlined in Miami Wednesday this request and others that the Welfare Board will make at the April session.

However, said Miss Davis, there is little chance of getting the full appropriation. The state budget commission has recommended only $600,000 for the children's program the same amount spent the past two years.

Miss Davis was in Miami to address the annual meeting of the Children's Service Bureau. She said the lack of a continuing plan of rehabilitation — working both with the child and with the parents — is one of the serious gaps in Florida's child welfare program.

Miss Davis said the $1,305,000 appropriation is needed to provide salary hikes and additional staff members. It would also be used for temporary care, housekeeper service, services for unwed mothers, foster home care, casework programs, and services for runaway children.

William W. Gibbs was elected chairman of Children's Service Bureau at Wednesday's session. Also named were Louis Schwartzman, vice chairman; Miss Marie Anderson, secretary; and Mrs. Beth Thompson, treasurer.

Lightning Hits Flier in Plane But All He Got Was a Burn

ALAMEDA, Calif. —(AP)— For a split second an aviation machinist was a conductor for a bolt of lightning, but he suffered only minor burns and shock.

His P2V Navy patrol bomber was at 7,000 feet on anti-submarine training when it was struck by lightning 100 miles northwest of San Francisco.

Billy Cheatwood

. . . shoe was burning

Then the electrical charge continued through the plane's fuselage, shearing off rivets with one-inch heads and stripping off the plane's stabilizer.

Doctors at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital expressed belief Cheatwood escaped death or critical injury because his shoulders rested against the seat. As it was, the machinist said he felt fine several hours after the incident. He was treated for minor burns on the legs and back and shock.

"I didn't know what hit me," said Cheatwood, who is stationed at the bomber's home base at Whidby Island, Wash. "I didn't see a flash or anything. All I know, my feet hurt all of a sudden and I looked down and saw my right shoe burning.

"I pulled the shoe off and grabbed the intercom and yelled for help."

The pilot, Lt. George G. Parker, 23, Keota, Okla., said he saw a big flash, heard Cheatwood's shout and then noticed him sprawled stiffly in his seat.

While other crewmen helped Cheatwood, Parker brought the two-engine plane into Alameda Naval Air Station — unaware that the tail assembly was damaged. He just thought the air was turbulent.

Red Paper Raps Playboy Flier

MOSCOW —(AP)— The newspaper Soviet Aviation has put the finger on Lt. V. Kozorez, as a "Don Juan without a guitar."

The paper said Kozorez has a bad habit of flitting from one girl to another, marrying some and making impassioned proposals to the rest. Play boy Kozorez had better watch his step, for as Soviet Aviation says:

"This man wears a Soviet uniform and the day is gone when one can ignore or discredit this uniform."

Atomic Tanker Plans Shelved

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A Commerce Department official said the administration has pigeonholed plans to build a 30-million-dollar atomic-power tanker to help keep President Eisenhower's budget balanced.

John J. Allen Jr., undersecretary of commerce for transportation, told the House Merchant Marine Committee that research work on the revolutionary vessel would continue in hopes of building a more advanced model later.

Senator Cites U.S. Policy

Don't Give Castro Batista Refugees, Morse Pleads

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D., Ore.), urged the State Department to refuse requests from the Fidel Castro regime for the return of political refugees who have found asylum in the U.S.

He said it would be "an unconscionable foreign policy action" to permit the "blanket extradition" requested by Castro of all Cubans who have fled their country since the revolutionary government took over.

In a Senate speech, Morse drew a distinction between alleged criminals and those who are "political refugees" associated with the old Batista government.

Morse, a long time critic of the Batista government, called it "dictatorial and Fascist like." But he said the policy of granting asylum to political refugees is basic with the U.S.

They're Playing It Real Safe

PEPPER PIKE, Ohio — (AP) — Mrs. Paul I. Schultz and her daughter Paula drive to work together each day — to Orange School, a little over a hundred yards from their home.

The two teachers explain that "we're not crazy, but it's difficult to cross the road on foot because of traffic."

New Device To Aid Pilot

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency announced a contract for development of an instrument to tell an airplane pilot exactly how far off the ground he is in the last stages of approaches for a landing.

Such a device might help prevent accidents of the type of the Feb. 3 Electra crash in the East River off New York's La Guardia Field, where there has been some suspicion of altimeter inaccuracy.

Smathers Protests Finding He Tried To Influence Mack

By DAVID J. KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sen. George Smathers has protested a finding of a special Federal Communications Commission examiner that he attempted to influence former FCC member Richard A. Mack's vote in the controversial Channel 10 case.

Smathers wrote to FCC Chairman John Doerfer on Jan. 20 asking that the finding made by examiner Horace Stern be corrected.

Smathers in his letter did not take issue with judge Stern's recommendation that the Channel 10 award to a National Airlines' subsidiary, Public Service Television, be set aside.

But he said that Stern's finding that "I exerted improper influence in behalf of an applicant" is an "erroneous conclusion."

"Judge Stern's finding with respect to me is based soley upon conjecture and suspicion," Smathers wrote.

The FCC Wednesday set April 23 to receive final oral arguments concerning the findings of Judge Stern.

Smathers said the "two casual conversations" he had with Mack prior to the vote on Channel 10 had not the "remotest effect of exerting or attempting to exert influence on him . . ."

Smathers said he met Mack in the fall of 1955 at a party in Gainesville, and Mack indicated he would not take part in the Channel 10 voting.

A year later, Smathers said, he visited Mack in his office at Mack's invitation. He told Mack that he hoped the Channel 10 case would be decided soon because he was anxious to settle the L. B. Wilson estate.

Smathers is executor for the estate, one of the losing Channel 10 applicants. Wilson died before the case was decided, but the remaining stockholders continued to press the application.

Smathers said Mack told him at the second meeting that Smathers would not be pleased with Mack's vote.

National got the award in February, 1957, by a 4-to-2 vote of the FCC. Mack voted with the majority.

Pharmacist Wins Plaque

STADNIK

John Stadnik, newly-named president of the Florida State Board of Pharmacy, has been awarded Alpha Zeta Omega pharmaceutical fraternity's "plaque of service."

The Miami Springs druggist was cited by the fraternity for his "outstanding efforts in the advancement of the pharmaceutical profession locally, statewide and nationally."

San Juan to Teamsters: No Rackets

By ROBERT M. LEWIN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — This commonwealth's government warned the Teamster Union Wednesday against racketeering, corruption and rough stuff in organizing workers here.

Secretary of Labor Fernando Sierra Berdecia issued the word of caution.

The outcast Teamsters began a unionization drive six weeks ago that is sure to crash into a revitalized campaign of AFL-CIO affiliates long established here.

Berdecia said he is not upset by the Teamsters coming, but emphasized:

MEANY

MUNOZ

"We have laws that will take care of any criminal acts or violations. This is a government that protects the rights of all citizens by law.

"We have not had racketeering in labor up to now. That doesn't mean we haven't had a case of a union official taking a few thousand dollars—but the courts take care of that.

"Under Puerto Rico's Labor Relations act, it's an unfair labor practice for an employer to negotiate with a union that represents only a minority of his employes.

"Also the Taft-Hartley law applies to Puerto Rico, the same as in the U.S.

"If the Teamsters obey, act like law-abiding citizens and operate within the democratic setup of this commonwealth—with full respect for the best interests of the workers and the community, as a whole—I don't think we'll have any problem."

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, holding its mid-winter meeting in the Caribe Hilton Hotel, is to work out an organizing drive of its own.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, along with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, is to speak at a worker mass meeting Friday night.

At least 17 American-based AFL-CIO international unions and one independent have locals and councils here.

Electronics System Set

NORFOLK, Va. — (UPI) — The Navy has opened a new electronic communications system connecting 38 Atlantic coast naval commands from Brunswick, Maine, to San Juan, Puerto Rico, and centered at the Norfolk Naval Air Station.

The new system, the Atlantic Fleet Operational Teletypewriter Circuit, is designed to speed priority messages, principally anti-submarine investigation, weather and flight information reports. AFOTC can handle up to 108 stations and can send and receive at 100 words a minute, the Navy said.

Eight Weddings In Single Day

GILLINGHAM, England — (UPI) — The Rev. J. R. John said he will take a package of sandwiches and a flask of cordial to church with him on Holy Saturday.

He said the repast would nourish him between the eight wedding services scheduled that day.

Catholics Push for Religion In Cuba's Public Schools

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Archbishop Enrique Perez Serantes of Santiago asked the government for religious instruction in public schools and respect for Roman Catholic schools and universities in Cuba.

LATIN ROUND-UP

The archbishop came to Havana with a pastoral letter on religious instruction addressed to Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and Prime Minister Fidel Castro as "the maximum leader of the revolution."

Several universities, including Catholic Villanueva University, have been closed along with the University of Havana since the revolution. Religious instruction is not given in public schools, although Cuba is a predominantly Catholic country.

Price of Meat Starts Rioting

CARTAGENA, Colombia — (AP) — One man was killed and five wounded when police charged a crowd protesting the high price of meat.

Many shops and neon signs were stoned. Public transport was paralyzed. Damage was estimated at millions of dollars.

The demonstrators demanded the resignation of the mayor, holding him responsible for a slaughterhouse strike that has stopped the supply of meat.

Porfirio Going Back to Cuba

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (UPI) — Porfirio Rubirosa said he plans to return to Havana today or Friday as ambassador of the Dominican Republic.

"We hope to establish normal relations between the two governments again," the diplomat said. "My return to Havana is proof thereof."

Bonsal's Choice Pleases Havana

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte expressed pleasure over the designation of Philip Bonsal as U.S. ambassador to Cuba.

The naming of Bonsal was an "excellent choice because of his great qualities and knowledge of Latin American problems," Agramonte said.

Bonsal, a career diplomat, has been ambassador to Bolivia.

Editor Is 84 But Still Active

Reiley, editor and publisher of the The Somerset Daily American which he founded 30 years ago, still reports daily to his office. A 60-hour week is the only concession he makes to his age. He used to put in an average of 80 hours weekly.

All Prisons See Morals Problems

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — The Southern Conference on Corrections at Florida State University was told Wednesday that sexual misconduct flourishes at all penal institutions.

Donald E. J. MacNamara of the New York Institute of Criminology, told prison people from all over the South sex deviation "is engaged in not only by inmates, but by staff. Most is voluntary, sometimes for cash or favors. Not a little is forced. Attempts to control or eliminate sex activity have proved futile."

The New Yorker, also program coordinator for the Association for the Psychiatric Treatment of Offenders, said that, as a result of such sex activity, the inmate suffers, along with his family, society and the whole prison community.

"What can be done about it?" he asked. "Only a basic reorientation of our society's sex attitudes, which will permit a healthier sex activity program within our penal institutions — or at least a healthier attitude toward the alternative and substitutive activity necessarily associated with unisexual confinement."

The correctional meeting, attended by prisons, pardon and parole people, social workers, juvenile court officers and social scientists, from over the South, winds up its two days of discussions today.

Before adjourning the conference will hear a panel discuss the question of whether capital punishment should be abolished.

Gov. LeRoy Collins has indicated he will ask the 1959 Legislature to remove the death penalty in Florida.

Herald Bureau

TALLAHASSEE — Southern people were pictured as among the "movingest" in the country Wednesday night by a Florida State University socialist, who said most of the "movers" had gone to other parts of the country.

Although hard to believe in Florida, which is drawing many more people than it is losing, the South, as a whole, has been able to maintain, or increase, its population through the years only by a heavy excess of births over deaths, Dr. Charles M. Grigg said.

He told the American Studies Lecture series, which is devoted this spring to a study of the South and the nation 100 years after the Civil War:

"For every decade since 1860, except two, 1890-1900 and 1930-1940, the Southeast has grown at a slower rate than the nation. This has occurred in spite of the fact that the South has had a high birth rate during this 100-year period.

"The reason is obvious. The South has lost its native born population to other parts of the country."

Dr. Grigg, director of the Center for Social Research at FSU and a researcher in population problems, said, on the question of mobility, that some 25 million Americans in 1950 lived outside the state of their birth.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

WELL, SIR, you can't say those First National Bank folks aren't efficient. I just received a message, following a meeting of the board of directors: "Please pick up your coal scuttle, or send us the shovel."

BELL

Y'see, this scuttle came down from Vermont early in the winter and served as a waste basket at my desk. One day I dumped three or four sacks of wishing well money into it, carried the loot (children's hospital) over to the bank and left it there to be counted. It's a regular chore of the money room crew.

I left the coal scuttle there while I ate lunch—and forgot it.

First National moved from Flagler St. to the huge new plant. Movers were busy for three days and nights, hundreds of thousands of items. And lo, down at the new bank I found the coal scuttle: nary a dent.

North Miami, Poinsettia, Pachira and Norwood clubs will be represented.

The show will be open to the public from 2 until 9 p.m. today, from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. Friday.

Y'all may be interested in seeing the Lions International film, "We Serve." It will be on WPST, channel 10, at 10 Sunday morning.

'Died' Twice

Bess Stupell will be stationed at Barcelona Hotel on the heart drive campaign Sunday, probably as dedicated as you'll ever find. She underwent heart surgery in the pioneering days, in Philadelphia. Dr. Charles Bailey, world famous today, performed the operation. He told her that twice during the operation she "died," her heart stopped for several seconds.

Workers throughout the county hope to have 12,000 volunteers for the door-to-door campaign. Mrs. Alvin Savage is head of the marchers. The work will be done from noon to 4 p.m. If you can help, call FR 3-5511, Heart Association headquarters, or Mrs. Daniel Zimmerman, MU 1-4635, for Hialeah and Miami Springs.

Here's a First?

Austin Burke says it never has been done before. So this evening one Andy Pollack, a designer of men's clothing, will "meet the public" at Austin's Lincoln Rd. store.

"This man really started the Continental trend," said Austin proudly.

"What's the Continental trend?" I asked.

"I'm not quite sure," he replied. "Let's ask him. But just imagine a men's clothes designer meeting the people he designs for."

I'm beginning to understand why our men's clothing is so uncomfortable.

Fighting Judge

'Way back in the early days of Miami boxing Jack Britton retired, moved here and then decided (foolishly) to try again. Working with him in the gym were two brothers, Andy and Johnny. They were amateurs, and pretty good.

Well, Petey Sarron, former world's featherweight champion, wants to recall their family name. One is a federal judge in Washington, D. C., and Petey's going up. Remember? "When a fighter gets to be a federal judge, he rates," says Petey.

Metro Votes to Ask Penny Gas Tax Hike

Campbell Would Up Sales Levy

Legislature Must OK Both Proposals

By C. G. BERNING
Herald Staff Writer

Metro leaders made modern roads their No. 1 project Wednesday, and voted in favor of an extra penny gasoline tax to finance them.

And County Manager O. W. Campbell said he'd favor an additional county-wide sales tax of one cent.

Dade could tack the penny-a-gallon gas tax on to the state's present seven-cent tax—if the state Legislature approves.

And the commission voted 9 to 1 to ask the state to approve.

The extra tax would produce between three and four million dollars, Campbell estimated.

He made his sales tax suggestion after the meeting, and said that an extra penny sales tax would produce 12 million dollars a year for Dade.

The state Legislature would also have to approve that.

"I'm opposed to any increase in taxes," said Commissioner Charles Hall, in voting against the proposal.

The commission's vote means they will ask the Dade delegation to the State Legislature to give them the right to boost the tax.

Campbell said the county will need a billion worth of new roads in the next few years — in addition to the State Road Department's 130-million-dollar program which he said will be completed by 1961.

In Orlando, Joe Grotegut, chairman of the State Road Board, offered a plan Wednesday for financing all of Florida's roads.

He would give the state control of more funds derived from gas taxes, to ease the present problem that arises when counties have to buy rights-of-way before the state can build roads.

At the Metro meeting, Campbell said county-wide problems of integrated water and bus transportation systems should be tackled at the same time.

The Miami city water and sewer system would be the core for development of a master plan under an independent water and sewer board, he added.

Reporter Places Wagers Even If the 'Heat's On'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

If the "heat is on" as the police say, bookmakers on both sides of Biscayne Bay still weren't worried about it Wednesday.

They were doing business almost as usual when a Herald reporter placed three bets with them.

Two of the bookies were in Miami; one in Miami Beach. The wagers were put down within a three-hour period.

Bets placed by The Herald with comparative ease in the past five days now total 15.

Both Miami and Miami Beach police still contend, however, that bookmaking in their own bailiwicks is still on a "sneak" basis—that is, off and on.

Wednesday's bets were made:

AT THE CORNER of West 39th St. and Alton Rd. in Miami Beach. A runner known as Shortstop took a $5 win bet on Risk Again in the first Hialeah race.

AT JACK'S BAR, 1361 NE Second Ave., Miami. A patron who said "Just call me John," accepted a $5 bill from the reporter, marked the nag's name in a wire-hinged notebook. The horse was Oil Burner, running in the fourth at 4 to 1 odds.

* * *

ON THE SIDEWALK in the 100 block of NE 14th St. Little Jimmy, a Negro handyman, said he would "look after" getting a $5 win bet down on Big Winner, an 8 to 1 shot in the ninth.

But he advised this Herald reporter:

"You better watch yourself when you come again . . . You know what the papers been sayin' lately about bookmakin'."

In Jack's Bar, the conversation touched on the recent disclosures by The Herald of wide-open bookmaking in almost every area of the county—but nobody was worried.

"The cops don't check us that closely around here," said John, who admitted he was "just starting out in this (bookmaking) business."

But on the Beach, Shortstop was concerned about bettors "contacting me right out in the open like this.

"We can operate . . . but we were told to keep it down." He said he did not have time to explain.

City Fathers Snub Anti-Bookie Pleas

By GENE MILLER and JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writers

While The Herald again made bets with bookies Wednesday, the City Commission in Miami and the City Council in Miami Beach sloughed off pleas to stamp out illegal gambling.

Four Beach councilmen sat in amused silence as fellow Councilman Mel Richard asked for an ordinance requiring mandatory jail sentences for convicted bookies.

His motion failed for lack of a second.

Richard charged that Beach bookies were so bold that high school students learned the names of the horses by watching bets being taken at a lunch counter near the school.

Mayor Kenneth Oka alternately praised the Beach police for a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in 1958 and decounced the force for poor gambling and B-girl enforcement.

Richard told the council that Police Chief Mike Fox told him personally he was in favor of a mandatory jail sentence for convicted bookies.

So Fox was called from his office to the council meeting.

"Are you in favor of it?" Richard asked Fox.

"That's up to the judge, Mel," replied Fox.

After explaining that the council—not the judge—makes ordinances, Richard said, "It is obvious Fox doesn't know the meaning of the word 'mandatory.'

Fox smiled.

"Would it (mandatory jail sentences) help?" Richard asked again.

"I don't know," said Fox. "I don't know the feeling of the bookies."

Councilman D. Lee Powell said, "I am unalterably opposed to gambling."

At the Miami City Commission meeting, Mayor High said, "Apparently the police chief (Headley) is not able to stop the gambling.

"Therefore, I suggest that the city manager suspend the police chief."

Chimed in Councilman James High, "Don't forget that we as commissioners are subject to a 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine for interfering in administration matters."

"This is a matter for the grand jury," Commissioner George DuBreuil said.

"George, don't you ever get tired of running down there every three months?" James High asked.

Then City Manager E. A. Evans said he already is investigating.

"I anticipated that this would happen," said Evans. "It comes out in a certain newspaper (The Herald) every year almost to the same day, and I was prepared for it."

Evans never got a chance to answer. The commission asked for a formal report.

Later, Evans said, "Perhaps I was being a little facetious with the mayor. But it was about time for the annual expose. I can present a report with little delay."

New Job

One Thing He's Not: Secret

By BOB HARDIN
Herald Staff Writer

Miami Beach's "undercover" bookie squad — labeled a "joke" by the mayor — had a new member Wednesday.

The new man?

Detective George Green.

Green's qualifications for undercover work include the facts that he:

1. Is six feet, five inches tall.
2. Weighs about 250 pounds.
3. Has been on the force longer than any other detective.
4. Is the most easily-recognized, and one of the best-known men on the force.

PERDUE

Green, in fact, may be even better known than Detectives Pat Perdue and Ted Norris—the "bookie detail."

And Mayor Kenneth Oka told councilmen Wednesday, "Every bookie from here to Maine knows Perdue and Norris. Those two can't make an arrest and have it stick."

Upon being told of this, Perdue summoned his troops and sallied forth.

At 742 Fifth St., Perdue, Norris, Green and a young detective smashed down two doors — revealing one Archibald Bradford in the act of flushing scratch sheets, bets and payoff tickets down a convenient toilet.

Perdue was treated and released at Mount Sinai Hospital for cuts and bruises.

But it wasn't the detective's only visit to a bookie Wednesday.

While a Herald investigator waited to place a bet with a bookie, Perdue arrived for a conversation with the book. As Perdue left, the bookie nodded and told him, "I know . . . I know . . . I know . . ."

Air Show's Loss Adds Up To $7,667

Miami International Airport's three-day air show celebrating the opening of the new 20th St. terminal cost $12,370.82, with a net loss of $7,667.23, Accountant Robert M. Morgan reported to Metro commissioners Wednesday.

He recommended that Maurey L. Ashmann, original air show director, and Dick Troxel, chairman of the Aviation Week Committee appear before the Commission to determine who balances the accounts.

Troxel insists that the county pay only $5,200 of it for the liability insurance premium which came up as a surprise expense just before the show. The remaining $2,467.23, he told Morgan, should come from Ashmann or from sponsors' income.

Fireman Safe; Held Onto Hat

A Miami fireman was saved from serious injuries by holding onto his hat Wednesday when he toppled 10 feet onto his head from a ladder while battling a $15,000 blaze in a furniture warehouse at 641 SW 71st Ave.

Lt. John Pinder was taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital with facecuts after the surging force of a high-pressure hose he was holding whipped him off the ladder. His condition was reported as good.

Aronovitz' Suit Heard

Roadblocks Ruling May Come Today

Ex-Mayor Abe Aronovitz' war on police roadblocks went through its first stormy legal round Wednesday, with indications Circuit Judge George E. Holt may rule on the problem today.

After nearly three hours of testimony, with more attorneys involved than there were spectators, the judge ordered the opposing sides to file written briefs today and said he would rule "as soon as I see them."

Whichever way the judge rules, an appeal is regarded as certain. City and police officials appeared as "sold" on the roadblocks as the ex-mayor is opposed to them.

Three attorneys from the American Automobile Association, the agency that has fought the blocks all over the country and has an appelate court ruling against them in California, now are joined with Aronovitz in the case.

Chairman of a special legislative subcommittee on automobile liability rates, Crews spoke to the Greater Miami Insurance Board at a luncheon meeting in McAllister Hotel.

Referring to the "recent furor over blockades," Crews declared: "Until there is more concern for the dead and injured on our highways than the inconvenience or violation of civil rights in a roadblock, we're going to have ever spiraling insurance rates."

Accidents are the crux of the whole matter, he stressed.

How Big Is Too Big For Miami?

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

One of the first assignments of the new Metro Planning Advisory Board will be to determine the saturation point of Dade county's growth, the Economic Society of South Florida was told Wednesday night.

County Manager O. W. Campbell said that to determine "how big is too big" for Greater Miami, the board will first have to find out what factors—such as land availability — will eventually limit expansion of the area.

Reinhold P. Wolff, director of economic research at the University of Miami, said that Miamians themselves will be the ones in the end to decide how big their city should be.

"If you believe that a bigger city is a better city, then you can have another Los Angeles here," Wolff told some 125 person's attending the society's monthly meeting.

The session was devoted primarily to a discussion of planning for the future of the area by Campbell, Paul C. Watt, Metro planning director, and Emil J. Gould, a member of the Planning Advisory Board.

Asked about the overall progress of Metro in the year and a half he has been here, Campbell said in a question-and-answer session following the discussion that "we're farther ahead by at least a year than I anticipated we would be at this point."

Campbell also told the group he believed that use of tax inducements to attract new industry to the area was "a false hope."

He said that attracting new industry is a major project of Metro planners, but that "every time you do it by some kind of false preferential tax you attract the wrong type."

He said Dade County should emphasize its livability and manpower potential, but that these attractions can be "destroyed overnight by getting the wrong kind of industry here."

Going to Mars?

Don Mullen, sales manager of General Electric Missile and Space Vehicle Department in Philadelphia, will talk to the Miami Rotary Club at 12:15 p.m. today in the Columbus Hotel. His subject will be "So You Want to go to Mars."

LUCK RAN OUT for the charter fishing boat "Top Luck" Wednesday when its twin engines burst into flame and burned it to the waterline. Capt. Randell Lacey, left, said he was just pulling away from the dock after gassing up when the fire broke out. Alone on the 34-footer, he jumped overboard near the 163rd St. Causeway. He estimated the loss at $12,000, of which $10,000 was insured, he said.

Free Fla. Juice

Californians Will Love It

For folks flying in from California, it may be a humiliating experience.

But air travelers from everywhere else will probably approve of an action taken by the Metro Commission Wednesday.

The commission OKd a plan by the Florida Development Committee to serve free fresh Florida orange juice to all passengers coming in at Miami's International Airport.

Years Haven't Dimmed Voice Appeal, Judy Garland Proves

THIS GARLAND GIRL named Judy still packs the potent punch of a heavyweight in the talent department—and this is the only subtle nod we'll make toward an obvious matter of avoirdupois in this review after first challenging any calory-conscious overweights in the reading audience who might have the temerity to throw the first "stone" (British measure) at Judy for wearing a few sizes larger than she did in the 30's of "Over the Rainbow" and "Trolley Song" days. Who doesn't in these days of plenty? Wear larger sizes, that is.

Talent in the unprecise arts should be weighed without irrelevant thumbs pressing on the scales and with concern only for its effect on an audience. In her Fontainebleau La Ronde debut Miss Garland effectively moved her audience to what could have been a standing ovation with a trifle more organization. And it was an earned hit.

Joe E. Lewis, in from his own stand at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii next door, blended 100 proof fact with the fun with which he feels he must toughen all sentiment in testifying that Judy's charm and singing had brought a tear to his eye even though the lump in his throat could very well have been scotch.

Today's Judy isn't the irrepressible song and dance darling of yesteryear. She has no corps of boy dancers to assist her and her movement and manner are subdued. But the song still has the vigor of old once she has warmed into it. There is nothing flashily explosive in her performance — and yet it generates, from the warmth of its mounting intensity, a power to lift from a take-off level of a well-wishing doubtful Thomas at the start to the completely sold and devoted role of a Boswell, eager to sing deserved praises, at the finish.

Amusements

Catchy Break Still There

THERE IS MUCH to praise. "You Made Me Love You" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," for instance, sung with the same pathetic little vocal break that was Judy's contrived stock in trade long before life had time and opportunity to etch it there for real . . . the hard way.

Then, for a gayer and tantalizing touch, Judy never did a more persuasive job than she does currently with a teasingly tempoed "Do It Again" or a livelier "Day In, Day Out." Add the inevitable "Trolley Song," "Zing Went the Strings" and "Over the Rainbow" — the last off microphone—and a climaxing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" and you have a repertoire that scored a Garlanded victory.

Oh sure, we personally didn't care for her "Rock-a-bye My Baby" or "Suwannee." That might have been not so much a lack of appreciation for Judy, however, as it might have been a greater appreciation for the memory of hearing Al Jolson do these numbers. After all, Jolie didn't sing "Over the Rainbow" or "You Made Me Love You." Or did he?

If he did then we've forgotten in the light of Judy's greater talent with them. Be that as it may—Judy Garland, who has had her share of ups and her downs, is on the up-beat at the Fontainebleau.

Studio Appeals to State Dept.

Mexico Seizes U.S. Dope Film

AMARILLO, Tex. — (UPI) — The president of a small, independent motion picture company has asked the State Department to help him get back 1,700 feet of film about narcotics smuggling which federal police seized in Juarez, Mexico.

Hutton

Fred Ready, president of the company, said the Mexicans took not only the film, which he valued at $20,000, but also $75,000 worth of trucks and cameras. He said a technician was able to retrieve the equipment after the Mexicans escorted the Americans across the border.

Ready is president of Gold Air Shows, Inc., which is making a low-budget film called "Switchblade." The best-known actor in it is Robert Hutton. Other parts of the film are being made in Tucumcari, N.M.

"Switchblade" is about the efforts of United States narcotics agents and Mexican police to break up a Chicago-controlled mob of heroin smugglers.

"Our film is hard-hitting, but contains nothing offensive to the Mexicans," Ready said. "It doesn't paint anybody in a bad light except the people who peddle the dope.

"In fact, the Mexican police look good. They play a part in identifying the suppliers, none of whom is depicted as Mexican."

He said his trouble started Feb. 9, when a Mexican reporter visited the set and wrote a news story villifying members of the cast and technicians as "American gangsters" and "members of the Mafia."

Two days later, he said, while the cast was working in a bullring, more than 5,000 Mexicans gathered around and the police seized the equipment.

The film was in a $42,000 camera. The camera was among the equipment retrived but the film was not in it. Ready believed it was sent to Mexico City for developing.

He said he believes the real purpose of the uproar was part of a newspaper campaign to unseat the mayor of Juarez, who had approved the company's plans to shoot the film.

Screened Out by Preminger?

Intimacy Failed to Land Movie Role, Says Model

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A London model says she was intimate with movie producer Otto Preminger in hopes of landing a motion picture role.

Otto Preminger

Michael Rennie

. . . suites and sweeties?

Mrs. Preminger and her 50-year-old husband, engaged in a divorce suit, have accused each other of misconduct.

Miss Williams said she met Preminger in his London hotel suite in 1956. Later in the evening, she said, she found herself shown out without having had a chance to talk about a movie part.

Preminger named British actor Michael Rennie as a co-respondent and charged, through an attorney, that his wife has been living almost openly with Rennie.

The actor's attorney described Rennie as an innocent victim of bickering between the Premingers and declared that the actor "is being dragged into court by his heels."

'Paratroop Command' Accomplishes Mission

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

Movie Review

The high and the low of the armed services, in the sense of vertical echelon, provide the background for "Paratroop Command" and "Submarine Seahawk" currently at the Florida Theater. "Paratroop Command" merits the top billing on the strength of a stronger story and greater action, the latter a natural consequence of its locale which moves with a paratroop command from Africa, through Sicily and into Italy.

Richard Bakalyan has the lead as a sky commando who accidentally kills a member of his own squad. A buddy vows that he'll avenge the death in an eye-for-an-eye fashion. And it is this circumstance which supplies the suspense.

Bakalyan is given a chance to atone for his mistake in more heroic fashion before the film ends. William Witney, a name that is certain to grace more ambitious productions before long, directed with skill. His cast includes Ken Lynch, Jeffrey Morris, Carolyn Hughes and Patricia Huston.

"Submarine Seahawk" is adequate in the supporting slot, though there is something reminiscent in its story about a crew which suspects the courage and judgment of its replacement skipper.

However, performances by Jack Bently, as the suspected officer, Brett Hasley, as leader of the opposition, and the expert integration of stock service shots and fine minature camera work hold the interest. Alex Gordon directed.

LONGTIME resident-star of the Havana Mardi Gras Revue is Diosa Costello, who has headlined the Lucerne Hotel show for over a year.

Colorful 'Villa' Rates Single Bill

By MARION AITCHISON
Herald Staff Writer

Some mighty magnificent scenery and plenty of fiery action make "Villa" a picture that could well hold its own on a single bill. Instead, it's coupled with "Frontier Gun" in its current showing at the Town.

Movie Review

The latter is a run-of-the-mill affair, decidedly reminiscent of pictures that have gone before, although its cast is capable enough. John Agar stars in the role of the new marshal of Honcho which, Robert Strauss as Yubo, an Indian half-breed, would like to dominate.

Townsmen are behind Agar in sentiment but not in action—that is, until the new marshal's father (Barton MacLane) becomes a victim and Yubo gets a little too domineering even for the milquetoasts.

Getting back to "Villa," Rodolfo Hoyos scores as the Mexican rebel-bandit who, during the time in his career covered by the picture, is a sort of Robin Hood type with interests of the peons and vengeance on their persecutors as his main objective—that, and gathering in all the gold that's handy.

Cesar Romero is his tough henchman with brawny Brian Keith as a questionable gringo who accidentally joins the band, and Margia Dean as an American singer who intrigues both Villa and the American.

"Villa" was filmed in color in the gorgeous Chihuahua Mountains of Mexico whose towering heights, weird rock formations and deep vistas are breath-taking.

'Hawaiian Wedding Song' 2nd

'Stagger Lee' Tops Disc Survey for Third Week

CHICAGO —(UPI)— Lloyd Price's recording of "Stagger Lee" is still No. 1 on the United Press International Top 20 record survey for the third straight week.

In second place is the sentimental number, "Hawaiian Wedding Song," while "Children's Marching Song" is third.

"Donna," by the late Ritchie Valens, climbed to fourth place in the 10 days following his death. The teen-agers' favorite, "Sixteen Candles," is fifth.

Two jazz records, "Peter Gunn" and "Petitie Fleur," are sixth and seven, respectively.

The top 10:

Boca Art Jury Is Announced

Members of the jury for the Boca Raton Art Guild annual, now displayed in the Mizner room of the club house, are Allen D. Albert, director of the Sheldon Swope Museum of Terre Haute, Ind., Walter B. Colebrook, West Palm Beach watercolorist, and Aaron T. Smock of Delray Beach. The show will close Tuesday.

Investigators to Go to Maryland

Broward Aides to Question Freeman

By Herald Services

FORT LAUDERDALE — Broward County Sheriff's investigators will go to Hillside, Md., to question John Thomas Freeman, who didn't last long as a member of crime's "top 10."

FREEMAN

Freeman, listed among the 10 most wanted fugitives Tuesday, was arrested Wednesday at the Maryland town, near the Di strict of the District of Columbia. He is wanted in Missouri, Kansas and Texas for a series of armed robberies.

Broward officials want to talk to Freeman about the death of Glenn R. Maynard, reportedly his companion in crime. Maynard's battered body, throat cut and a bullet in the head, was found near a highway in Broward County Sept. 17.

29 at Raiford Are 'Confined'

RAIFORD — Warden DeWitt Sinclair said 12 white and 17 Negro prisoners have been placed in disciplinary confinement at the maximum security unit as a result of the disorders at the state prison here last weekend.

A prison descipline committee heard the cases Wednesday. The trouble started when a Negro convict insisted on remaining outside his cell and smoking after lights out.

Dairy Farmers' Influence Hit

TALLAHASSEE — "The voices of eight or 10 dairy farmers and distributors ring louder than those of 30 or 40 thousand people" in the Legislature, J. Brailey Odham of Sanford, state milk commission chairman, charged Wednesday.

Odham said the power to fix retail milk prices should be eliminated from the milk commission law but declared he "doubted it would be done" by the Legislature.

The milk board held a hearing here Wednesday on a proposal it be abolished and its powers given to the State Department of Agriculture. It has not yet acted on the proposal.

'Vertical' Production Plan Stirs Up Canadian Farmers

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Ont.—Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness has stepped into a debate on "vertical integration" which has been stirring up the Canadian farming community.

In effect he threatens to change the farm price support system to deny its benefits to organizations which indulge in vertical integration.

Vertical integration is the system under which a large company, selling feed or processing and marketing farm products, moves into the production field contracting with farmers for the feeding of livestock, the production of eggs, or the growing of vegetables.

There are various schemes but their common characteristic is that the company provides the feed, the capital, the machinery, and the farmer is paid on the basis of a contract. Sometimes the company follows through and markets the product down to the retail level.

Farm organizations are stirred up about the trend. They see in it a threat to the success of some of their cooperative organizations. They say it will reduce the Canadian farmer to the status of a wage slave. On the other hand, advocates say it brings the economies of big-scale business into agriculture and gives the efficient farmer a secure and adequate income.

Harkness operates the price stabilization system. He was instrumental in having it broadened only last year to cover a larger number of farm products.

Under the system a board in the department of agriculture sets a support price. When a given farm product falls below that price on the market it steps in and buys all the price recovers. Sometimes it ships them abroad at cut prices if the Canadian market cannot absorb them.

This year, for the first time, the board is confronted with the prospect of a hog surplus. It will have to buy up pork and hold it for export or later sale. Vertical integration has been getting into the hog business. Harkness says if the surplus continues he may have to withdraw price support from the big operators.

"In my view there is no justification for using taxpayers' money to support livestock raising or feeding operations by large feed companies, processing companies or retailing chains," he says. "I don't intend to operate the Stabilization Act for the benefit of any except bona fide farmers and, of course, the consumers."

Crunchy Good

MANILA —(AP)— Locusts are no plague to some farmers in Cotabato. They eat them —fried—and sell the surplus on the market for double the price of the corn the locusts feed on.

Medics to Study Island Diseases

TAIPEI —(AP)— A 15-man medical team made up of Chinese and Americans is to make a special study of diseases among the Yami tribesmen on Orchid Island off the southeast coast of Formosa.

The experts plan to leave next month for the area sometimes referred to as Death Island. It takes that name because of a mite the tribesmen consider inevitably fatal.

Liston Batters DeJohn, Scores TKO in Sixth

Spotlighting Sports

JIMMY BURNS

Herald Sports Editor

Fans Didn't Blame DeJohn For Taking 'Easy' Way Out

MIKE DeJOHN'S obvious shortcomings as a fighter did not include stubbornness at the Miami Beach Exhibition Hall Wednesday night. In the sixth round, Mike decided he'd had enough of Sonny Liston's punches. After DeJohn went to his knees for the second time, Referee Jimmy Peerless awarded Liston a TKO.

Except for fleeting moments in the earlier rounds, DeJohn worked harder at being a catcher than fighter. He elected an "iron man" role in trying to catch everything Liston pitched at him.

Liston did not flash a kayo wallop, but it was obvious he was hurting DeJohn with incessant hammering. In the second round Mike had a claret smear on his face, but when they slugged after the third round bel, DeJohn became enraged enough to go after his foe. The fourth round was the most exciting.

Strangely enough, many of the 3,858 fans did not seem to blame Mike for taking the easy way out. They could tell he was hurt.

DeJohn was awkward and lacked ring savvy. The victory boosted Liston's stock as a contender for Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson's title, but Sonny would not find Floyd as submissive a target as Mike.

It was cheering to hear the fans give Rocky Marciano, former heavyweight champion, such a nice hand. He has become a popular resident of the area. Visiting sports writers at the ringside included Al Buck, Milt Gross and Harry Grayson of New York and Doc Greene of Detroit.

Herald Helped Kerby Farrell

KERBY FARRELL

KERBY FARRELL, ex-Marlin boss who managed Oriente in the Venezuelan winter league, returned to Miami Tuesday well posted on happenings in the United States.

"I was grateful for The Herald's Clipper edition which was available each morning," Kerby explained. "It kept me up to date on news back home. In fact, it was by reading The Herald that I discovered I was out as Marlin manager.

"The Marlin management said it had cabled me, but the cablegram came four days late."

Farrell, who will manage Buffalo, is still hopeful the Marlins will make baseball click here. He said, "Miami is too good a city not to have a baseball team."

Sobel May Aid Orioles

WHEN he was starring for the Cleveland Indians, Al Rosen credited Westview Golf Pro Ross Sobel, with helping him improve his baseball hitting. Sobel gave Al tips on proper use of his wrists in swinging a bat. Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles, while playing golf at Westview, told Ross he'd be glad for the pro to give the Orioles a few pointers.

Small Town Spirit Okay

FROM SCOTTSDALE, ARIZ., where Boston will train, came an interesting story. In part it said: "For local residents, the coming of the Red Sox has been a great morale-builder. 'Welcome Red Sox' signs have been up for weeks."

This news inspires the thought city and civic officials should do something to make Baltimore's Orioles welcome here. Manager Paul Richards is in town to direct a rookie camp, but the regulars will be here next week.

JIM KEELTY

Certainly the Orioles' presence should not be ignored. The club's training activities will produce publicity for the city and the story is we will have an influx of Baltimore visitors because of the team being here.

President Jim Keelty Jr., moved the Orioles from Scottsdale to Miami so it would be easier for the Baltimore fans to visit their club in spring training.

There are those who will say that displaying interest in a major league club's spring training smacks of being provincial. Showing small town spirit might be helpful. Sarasota might not have lost the Red Sox if the city had shown more enthusiasm.

Boat Show Enjoys Big Gains

MIAMI'S 18TH International Boat Show opens at Dinner Key Friday at 7:30 p.m. The first show was held here in 1937 in a tent in Bayfront Park. The 12 exhibits included three boats. Two of the three were displayed by Forest E. Johnson and the Matthews Co. These boats are still in the show.

For an idea of the show's growth consider that there are 227 exhibitors in the current one and their exhibits are valued between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. The attendance is expected to top the 106,000 of last year. The largest single day attendance was 30,000 on "Latin American Day" in 1957.

PEGGY LEYSHON

City and county officials might profit from visiting the show and discovering the wide interest in boating. This might inspire them to provide additional marinas, which this corner often has declared are necessary for the community, along with additional golfing facilities.

The show is staged by the nonprofit Miami International Boat Show Corp., of which Harry Santana is president. Louis M. Hall, Jr., is vice-president, Robert W. Gardner is secretary and W. S. Simpson is treasurer. Peggy Leyshon, who has been associated with the organization for 10 years, is the only woman director of a major boat show in the nation.

Bloody Mike
. . . a gary DeJohn

Referee Jimmy Peerless stopped the nationally televised heavyweight bout at 2:43 of the sixth after Liston floored DeJohn for the second time with a pile-driving right to the ribs.

DeJohn's corner maintained he had been hit while down, and Peerless said he would have "taken a point away" from Liston if the sixth round had had to be scored.

But at ringside, it was apparent both DeJohn's knees were off the floor when Liston swung the right, making it a legal punch.

DeJohn, who muttered something that sounded like "No more" before Peerless stopped the fight, wanted to sling leather after it was over.

He and Liston exchanged heated words, and DeJohn made a couple of tentative swings at the 11-9 to 11-5 favorite before he was restrained.

The post-fight punches, which fell short, were as effective as any DeJohn threw in the final round.

The once-beaten bomber then switched to the body, buckled DeJohn on the ropes with an unreturned flurry and sent him sinking with the left.

Then came the disputed right.

DeJohn staggered back up, shoved a right into Liston's face, and went down for good in his own corner under a barrage of lefts and a final right to the ribs.

Liston, winning his 23rd of 24 decisions and his 14th KO or TKO, twice jarred De John's mouthpiece loose with unstarching shots. He scored almost at will in the second and third rounds, before DeJohn finally

Loser's Manager Raps Referee

'Not My Best' -- Liston; DeJohn: He Fouled Me

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Moments away from one of the most brutal outpourings of punishment in recent heavyweight history, Sonny Liston sat coolly in his dressing room Wednesday night and said, "It wasn't my best fight."

If it wasn't, Mike DeJohn would hate to see Liston's best. Liston had just TKO'd the tall New Yorker at Miami Beach Exhibition Hall in a sixth-round finish that included some 20 straight punches without a return.

"I guess, though," the broad-faced Liston added thoughtfully, "I landed body punches about as good as I ever did."

The temperamental, physical and operational likeness of Liston to Joe Louis—a strong selling point with the big crowd that saw this lively match—was never more evident than in Liston's brief post-fight performance.

He seemed satisfied with the night's work, and had little to add in words to what his ham-sized fists already had said.

"We don't know what's coming up for us," said co-manager Pepe Barone. "But we want to keep busy. We'd sure like a crack at that Nino Valdes."

The blue, blue atmosphere of the DeJohn dressing room was another story. DeJohn sank against a wall, breaking long, strained silences with explosive outbursts of frustration and disappointment.

"Liston hit me when I was down," the fighter growled, daubing at a bloody red nose and cheekbone. "He had plenty of time to stop his punches when I went to one knee in the sixth round, but he didn't."

John DeJohn, Mike's brother and manager, nodded. "That's right. The referee (Jimmy Peerless) at least should have given Mike time to rest after that foul. But he didn't."

After a quarter hour or so in his dressing quarters, DeJohn showed considerable more animation than he had in the last stages of the fight.

"Why, everytime I hit him," DeJohn said, "he wobbled. Liston can't take a punch."

Ringsiders felt that Liston was given scant opportunity to test his ability to take a punch. DeJohn threw an absolute minimum except in the fourth round.

He showed more inclination to slug it out after Referee Peerless declared a TKO than before.

"Sure," growled Manager DeJohn. "Liston wanted to shake hands with us after the fight. Why should we when he pulled a trick like that?"

Did DeJohn think he could have gone on to win?

"Don't make me laugh," he barked. "You saw the fight."

He was considered the drawing card.

Tar Heels Win

Kentucky Outlasts Vandy, 83-71

LEXINGTON —(P)— Kentucky made up for one of its two basketball defeats Wednesday night by turning back two late Vanderbilt threats and rallying for an 83-71 Southeastern Conference victory.

The third-ranked Kentuckians piled up a 17-point advantage before halftime and seemed well on their way to a rout. But Vanderbilt came back strong in the last period to cut the Wildcats' advantage to two points midway of the half and to three with only four minutes remaining.

CHAPPEL HILL —(P)— Top-ranked North Carolina put down a desperate rally by North Carolina State in the last 3½ minutes and defeated the sixth-ranked Wolfpack, 74-67.

The seemingly lethargic State team came to life and trimmed a 62-50 Tar Heel advantage down to 66-64 with about 1:40 remaining.

Marciano Buys Bowling Lane

Rocky Marciano, who made a fortune knocking 'em down, is now going to concentrate on setting 'em up.

The former heavyweight boxing champion announced that he has purchased a 32-lane West Hollywood bowling lane, and will devote full time to the business as owner and operator.

"This will be my job from now on," Rocky said. "I have bought a home in the area and will be at the lanes every day."

Arcaro Moves 'Crazylegs' First Landing Near Rail In Stretch Run
. . . Rare Rice (R), Moony (C) had tough time finding running room

First Landing Triumphs, Just Nips Moony by Neck

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

First Landing sharpened up Wednesday for the $100,000 Flamingo by winning Hialeah's $29,650 Everglades.

The victory was expected. But its closeness wasn't.

First Landing, a 1 to 5 favorite with 22,025 fans, won the mile-and-an-eighth race by a neck over Moony, with Rare Rice a nose back and Open View another neck behind.

Eddie Arcaro rode the winner

Scotland finished fifth, McLellan sixth and The Irishman was last in this field of Flamingo nominees.

First Landing paid $2.40, $2.40 and $2.20. Moony, with Hedley Woodhouse in the irons, was $7.10 and $4.70 while Rare Rice returned $3.30 to show. The running time was 1:49.4.

Immediately following the race, Steve Brooks, who rode Scotland, lodged a claim of foul against Moony for interference at the quarter pole. The stewards after viewing films did not change the order of finish.

First Landing, winner of 10 of 11 starts last year, picked up $18,722.50 for his Everglades triumph. That brings his lifetime earnings to $413,182.50.

The pair raced head-and-head most of the journey with Open View third and Moony fourth. After a half mile it was First Landing, Open View, Moony, The Irishman and Scotland and McLellan trailing.

The stretch battle was terrific, but Arcaro kept the Chenery colt rolling for his neck victory. Moony finished with a rush.

First Landing, under 126 pounds, raced the six furlongs in 1:10.1 and the mile in 1:36 flat. He finished second in his only previous start this season.

Wednesday's crowd bet $1,881,695.

GRAY FLANK got a front-running ride out of Bill Hartack and won the juvenile (third race) test at three furlongs in 34 seconds.

The favorite paid $4.90. Snowcapped was a nose back with Phidel third.

Hartack started a popular $21.60 daily double with the $4.40 Sea Trial in the first. R. L. Stevenson won the second race with Ethel-Rita ($8.40).

It was DeJohn's sixth loss against 36 victories, and probably enough to jar the 202-pounder loose from his ninth-ranked (National Boxing Association) position.

Liston, 209¼, ranked 10th by the NBA and ninth by Ring Magazine, should spiral into a much higher slot.

The crowd of 3,858, which paid $13,250 to see the hassle — and yell "Stop it, stop it!" after the fifth — also saw a swinging bunch of prelims.

Dicky DiVeronica, 138½, a carbon copy of Carmen Basilio, boiled to a unanimous six-round decision over courageous Billy Orias, 140, in the semi-windup. DiVeronica had former Middleweight and Welterweight Champion Basilio working in his corner — as did DeJohn.

Other prelims:

Colan White, 206¾, outpointed Jimmy Tillman, 228¼, in four oounds; Joey Laquartra, 179, outpointed Gordon Pouliot, 178¾, in four; Jesse Smith, 163, scored TKO over Candy McLenndon, 161¾, in :31 of third round of scheduled six rounder; and Pablo Caripides, 122½, decisioned Hector Rodriquez, 125, four rounds.

Edison Golfers Win

WEST PALM BEACH — Edison's Charles De Lucca carded a 79 Wednesday as the Red Raiders from Miami defeated Palm Beach High's golf team, 18-0, in a match marred by high winds. It was Edison's 20th straight victory.

The Moving Man Is Moving In

Bill Durney, the old Voice of the Browns, grinned when he heard Bill Veeck had taken a giant stride toward control of the Chicago White Sox. "If he makes it," sighed Durney in delighted reminiscence, "those White Sox are going to be a moving ball-club."

Durney now doubles as radio announcer and public relations director for the Miami Marlins; luckily there is plenty of him to go around. But he was Veeck's announcer, confidante and traveling companion in the Kaleidoscopic days when Sport Shirt Bill ran the St. Louis Browns, and the stories Durney spins of Veeck's incredible uniquity would bust the springs on a perpetual motion machine.

"My wife Ruth always had to keep a bag packed for me," Durney recalls. "Bill Veeck was liable to call any time and say, 'We're flying out!' and want me to go with him.

"I'm sound asleep one 2 a.m. when the phone rings. It's Bill. He says, 'What are you doing?' I say, 'Why, I'm just lying here waiting for you to call, Bill.' And he says, 'Grab that bag and meet me at the airport.'

"When we get to the airport, Bill walks up to the ticket counter and asks the lady clerk, 'Where you got a plane going?'

"She says she has one headed for Detroit in 10 minutes.

" 'Okay,' Bill tells her, 'give us two tickets to Detroit.'

"So we go to Detroit.

Meet Me in Peoria, Gloria

DURNEY can (and does) go on all night about Veeck's itching sandals. But he solemnly believes Veeck is a great baseball man. He points out that as far back as 1948 Veeck was advocating the TV split for visiting clubs that some major league officials are now claiming as their own idea.

Then Durney grins again; when he does that, it is like opening the door to Carlsbad Caverns. How he kept all that suet through his go-go-go days with Veeck is a story in itself, but now Durney is talking about another Veeck trip.

"One time we're in Chicago having some drinks with some show-people. They stay as long as they can. But finally they say they've got to catch a train to Peoria.

" 'You haven't finished your drinks yet,' Bill tells them.

"Soon as they leave, Bill rushes to the airport and charters a plane to Peoria.

"When the show-people get off the train at Peoria, Bill's standing on the platform with a tray of martinis, hollering, 'You haven't finished your drinks yet, folks!' "

Combustion Unlimited

DURNEY paused. "There's going to be a hot time in Chicago if Veeck does swing full control of the White Sox. And I don't mean just because he uses that hole in his wooden leg for an ash-tray.

"I mean he's going to make it hot for a lot of American League teams.

"Bill Veeck is a real baseball operator."

Jacksonville Dog Wins Beach Race

Stroll Hyer, one of two Jacksonville dogs in the Tri-City match race at Miami Beach Kennel Club, won the event by two lengths over Light Footed, a Beach entry, Wednesday night.

Betty Bess, another Beach representative, finished third, nosing out Dea Dorf of the Jacksonville track. Time for the Smith course was 31.3 and the winner paid $16.00.

Irish Would Come Here

UM's Sports Week Appeals to Krause

Tanned and relaxed, Notre Dame Athletic Director Moose Krause Wednesday sprawled by a Miami Beach hotel pool, rekindled a wind-blown cigar, and praised:

1. U-Miami's proposed spring Sports Week; 2. New Irish Coach Joe Kuharich; 3. South Florida sunshine.

He also had kind words for ousted Irish Coach Terry Brennan.

"Jack Harding (UM athletic director) tells me he's thinking in terms of inviting several schools, including Notre Dame, down during the Easter Holdiays for a Sports Week featuring tennis, golf, baseball and track," Krause said.

"I think it's a wonderful idea for all concerned.

"Notre Dame can't make it this year, but we'd like to be right in the middle next spring."

Krause admitted timing of the near-Christmas firing of Brennan was bad, but said the change met with his approval and that of the Irish alumni and students.

"Joe can give us the type leadership we're looking for," he said. "He has the experience, the know-how, and a tremendous amount of ability."

Brennan?

"Terry," said Krause, "is a nice guy, a good friend of mine. But Kuharich will give us more diversified football.

Moose Krause
. . . likes Florida

Krause said Kuharich has his staff all set, retaining only Hugh Devore (freshman coach) from the old regime.

"Bill Daddio (former Purdue assistant) will be the No. 1 aide," he said. "Dick Evans, (former Washington Redskin line coach) and Dick Stanfel, (ex-Skin player) will work with the line. Don Doll, (from Southern Cal) will work with the backs."

Kruase gazed over the Monte Carlo Hotel pool crowd, and launched into his weather praise.

"Last weekend," he said, "I was snowbound in New York.

"Yesterday, here, I caught a six foot, six-inch sailfish.

"You can't beat it."

While here, Krause will talk football schedules with UM's Harding. The two teams meet again in 1960, and Krause indicated he'd like to make it a semi-regular affair.

"Our schedule is filled until 1964," he said. "But we'd like very much to play UM here late in the season every other year after that. Alternate years, we have games with Southern Cal on the West Coast."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY EDDIE!

Fat or Not, I'm Eating This Cake!
. . . Arcaro celebrates birthday at Hialeah

Arcaro Celebrates Early

The Birthday Was a Success

Eddie Arcaro, who moves even faster than the horses he rides, dropped in on Hialeah Race Course long enough Wednesday to collect nearly $2,000 and cut his 43rd birthday cake a day early.

Today the millionaire jockey and transcontinental traveler will be back riding in California.

Ol' Banana Nose brought First Landing home a neck winner in a blanket finish with Moony and Rare Rice in the $29,650 Evergades, then promised that his colt "will run a better race" in the Flamingo.

"Right now," said Arcaro, "First Landing is only a little off his best form of last year. He still likes to loaf a little bit."

When someone asked him if First Landing went all out, Arcaro replied: "I don't know if he did . . . but I did."

Trainer Casey Hayes, who trained the Christopher Chenery colt to the 1958 juvenile championship, agreed with Arcaro that First Landing shows to more advantage when he can run off the pace — something he did not do Wednesday.

"What we want," said Hayes, "is some speed ahead of us. Then you'll see First Landing run."

"Hey, Eddie!" yelled an onlooker. "You eat that slice and you won't be able to make 120 pounds tomorrow."

"That's all right," said Arcaro. "This all-night plane trip should take some of the fat off me."

Sports Briefs:

Olmedo Tops Meet; Martinez Beaten

By Herald Wire Services

NEW YORK — If Alex Olmedo is the best amateur tennis player in the world, as many contend, he'll get another chance to prove it this weekend.

The 22-year-old U.S. Davis Cup hero will make his first U.S. start of the year in the National Indoor Championships, opening tonight at the Seventh Regiment Armory, and his job looks as big as anything he encountered in Australia.

Olmedo must face a strong international field, including Cup teammates Barry MacKay and Earl Buchholz. But, more than that, he also probably must outlast the formidable Dick Savitt — on the latter's terms.

The best opening round match sends MacKay, of Dayton, Ohio, against Mike Franks of Los Angeles.

Sharpsburg Tests Foot

Trainer Tony Puglisi was encouraged Wednesday morning with the improvement in Widener hopeful Sharpsburg's bruised foot.

"There was no soreness this morning," the young conditioner reported. "We plan to gallop him Thursday morning, then breeze him on Friday. Should there be any trace of soreness, we won't start him in the Widener."

Several other trainers at Hialeah are holding up decision regarding the Widener until they know about Sharpsburg.

20th for Moyer

The young welterweight won his 20th straight professional fight Tuesday night with a unanimous win over Vince Martinez of Patterson, N.J., and Miami Beach.

Mantle: No Pact, No Drills

By Herald Wire Services

New York Yankee Centerfielder Mickey Mantle says he's still a holdout. What's more, he won't go into spring training without a contract.

MANTLE

"You have a tendency to sign once you get into spring training," Mantle told newsmen during a one-day visit here.

"They're going to call me back Thursday and I should know something by then," he added. Mantle returned to his home in Dallas after appearing at the annual Omaha sportscasters dinner here.

LARSEN

PERFECT-GAME Pitcher Don Larsen and two other members of the World Champion New York Yankees (Marv Throneberry and Frank Leja) signed the contracts on the eve of the opening of spring training, but Manager Casey Stengel was moaning about his outfield.

"We useta come down here (to St. Petersburg) with nine outfielders," groaned Casey.

BASEBALL

"Now we got four. And Hank Bauer and Enos Slaughter ain't getting any younger, either."

OTHER Wednesday signees: Dick Hyde, baseball's most effective relief pitcher last season with a 1.75 earned run average with Washington for a reported $14,000; Outfielder Bob Skinner and Catcher Smoky Burgess, terms unannounced, with Cincinnati.

RICK FERRELL, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, disclosed that he has offered the Kansas City Athletics a "package deal" for a player blieved to be Roger Maris.

"I have as much of my own money invested in the club as anybody else," Veeck said. (The total offer is $2,700,000 for Dorothy Comiskey Rigney's 54 per cent holdings.) "I do not intend to move this club elsewhere."

Army Romps, 93-77

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army got 20 points or more from Darryle (Sammy) Kouns, Jim Klosek and sophomore whiz Lee Safer Wednesday and easily defeated Williams' basketball team, 93-77. It was the 14th victory in 22 starts for Army in its first season under Coach George Hunter.

Tennessee State Tops Little Poll

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Tennessee State, Evansville (Ind.) and Southwest Missouri remained 1-2-3 Wednesday in United Press International's small college basketball ratings, but undefeated Grambling (La.) replaced Wheaton (Ill.) in fourth place.

(First-place votes and won-lost records through Feb. 14 in parentheses.)

Team—	Points
1. Tennessee State (30) (23-1)	349
2. Evansville, Ind. (4) (13-5)	285

Miamians Level On World Mark At Daytona Today

DAYTONA BEACH — (UPI). — Racing brothers Jim Rathmann and Dick Rathmann of Miami will try to crack a world speed record today over the two and one-half mile asphalt Daytona Beach International Speedway which claimed the life of Marshall Teague less than a week ago.

The duo, who will take separate turns in an Offy-powered Kuzma, hope to crack the old single-lap average of 176.818 mph set by Tony Bettenhausen in Monza, Italy, last June.

It will have been exactly one week since veteran Marshall Teague's Sumar Special somersaulted on the west turn of the new track, hurling his body through the canopy to his death.

Teague, former national stock car champion and veteran of the Indianapolis 500 classic, also was trying to crack Bettenhausen's record. Just two days before, Teague set a track record of 171.82 mph.

Dick and Jim, who have been racing competitively since 1947, will make their run on the high-banked track under auspices of the United States Auto Club. The track will be open to them from 10 a.m. (EST) until noon.

Jim is expected to make the first run and Dick says he will average four miles faster than his younger brother's mark.

Dick has competed at Indianapolis eight times and placed second twice.

Jim's best showing in the 500 was in 1957 when he moved from next to last to take the lead on the 111th lap and trailed winner Sam Hanks at the finish by 21 seconds.

Meanwhile, time trials were completed for Saturday's modified and sportsman auto races, with 16 more cars qualifying for the 200-mile run.

Leading Wednesday's qualifiers was Lee Petty, Randleman, N.C., driving a modified 1950 Oldsmobile at an average 141.376 mph over the two 2½-mile laps.

Following Petty were Larry Frank, Angier, N.C., in a modified '52 Plymouth, and Marvin Panch, Charlotte, N.C., in a modified '55 Ford. Both averaged 135.746 mph.

He Who Waits To Jerk Bait --Loses Bass

Most bass fishermen, I suppose, start their careers by using natural bait and then gradually become proficient with artificial lures. This is a logical transition and one which prepares the angler to meet any bass situation.

With some reluctance I admit that I have always been backward on bass. I have had pretty fair success on artificials but, somehow, live bait has stumped me. It's not that I'm a purist, either; just that I can catch more fish on artificials.

DUNAWAY

Like some people get buck fever, I get bobber fever. When the float dives under — signifying that a bass has gulped my shiner — I go to pieces. Should I strike now, or wait? From the dim past I remember an anonymous bit of advice that said to wait until the bobber surfaces, then strike after it lives again. So I tax a shaky patience. And wait. And strike. And my hook comes in clean as a whistle.

At least, that was my former procedure. On my last bass outing I actually caught some fish on live bait. But it took careful coaching.

As Last Resort, We Try Shiners

I MET GUIDE Calvin Whidden on the dock at Sportsman's Village, eight miles north of Moore Haven. We set out just after daylight and headed for the old Moore Haven Canal.

First I began tossing a spoon up against the pepper glass. The wobbling lure brought three bass raging to attack.

Then, noticing considerable surface activity, I switched over to a tiny Dalton Special which Calvin pulled out of his tackle box. Working on top of the water, I managed to add a few more bass to the string.

In a short while, however, the sun began to burn fiercely over the calm surface of Lake Okeechobee and the largemouths refused to rise. The Dalton went unnoticed, and even a switch back to the spoon failed to produce.

FISHING
with Vic Dunaway

Calvin said the words that I have come to fear: "Looks like we'll have to try the shiners."

I flinched but made no verbal protest as he rigged my line with hook and float. He pointed out the spot where a bass should be waiting. I almost hoped he was wrong.

The Time to Strike Is 'Now!'

THE BOBBER HAD barely settled before it crash-dived. The old confusion began to well up inside me, and suddenly I cast away all pride and whispered frantically to Calvin: "When should I strike?"

"Now!" he responded.

I hauled back on the rod, dubious but willing to try anything. By golly, I felt the solid weight of a well-hooked bass. In a couple of minutes he was flapping on the floorboards.

Afterwards, Calvin filled out the instructions which he had been reluctant to give without invitation.

I tried it again, in the same spot. A bass bit quickly, and I responded without hesitation. Again the hook struck, although this particular fish managed to shake loose among the weeds.

In bass fishing, anyway, it sometimes pays to act in haste.

YOURS DON'T, MR. HIGGINS, AND IT'S A GOOD BET THE REASON THEY DON'T IS THE INTENSE WAY YOU STARE AT THE BALL.
FURTHERMORE, LOOKING AT THE BALL IS NOT ABSOLUTELY VITAL TO HITTING IT.
THAT MAY SURPRISE YOU, BUT I'LL QUALIFY IT LATER.
THE POINT I'M TRYING TO MAKE NOW IS THAT THE EMPHASIS YOU PLACE ON "LOOKING AT THE BALL" IS PROBABLY WHAT CAUSES YOUR BODY MOVEMENT TO BECOME RESTRICTED.

Hurricanes Seek State Loop Title

UM, Stetson Clash Tonight

A tremendously fast Stetson University basketball team tonight stands between University of Miami and its second successive Florida Intercollegiate Conference cage championship.

The Hurricanes and Hatters meet at 8:45 p.m. in the Coral Gables High School gym and a packed house is expected to witness the clash.

The Hatters derailed Miami, 110-97, in a wild game early this month in Deland to give UM its lone league loss. The Hurricanes are 8-1 in league play.

Stetson, with a pair of games against dangerous Florida Southern yet to play, brought its mark to 6-1 by whipping Jacksonville, 110 to 94, in Deland Tuesday. Miami just outlasted Jacksonville, 95-93 here last Saaturday.

Gene Wells, senior all-state guard who scored 33 points for Stetson in Deland against Miami, is rated the finest guard in the state by many and currently leads the Florida Intercollegiate Conference in scoring with an average of 24.5 points a game.

Moving into a first string guard spot in recent games is Joel Hancock, freshman who was all state for Miami Edison High last year. A fine playmaker and a brilliant shot, Hancock is just now coming into his own.

Miami goes into this game with a 15-7 mark and would not only win undisputed claim to the league title by winning, but would also tie the school record for number of victories over collegiate foes in one season.

Action starts at 6:45 p.m. when the freshmen tangle with the Homestead Recreation team.

Starting lineup:

Miami	Pos.	Stetson
Godfrey 6'4	F	R. Miller	6'0
Nebel 6'4	F	Schneider	6'1
Manushaw 6'7	C	Dompe	6'3
Gardner 6'2	G	Hancock	6'0
Hickox 5'6	G	Wells	6'2

Hialeah Hosts Jr. Meet

Bowlers Break 100 (Ouch!)

Hialeah Lanes will play host to the Miami division of the American Junior Bowling Congress' National Telegraphic Meet April 4.

Deadline for entries is March 1. Youngsters under 19 and holding an AHBC card are eligible to compete. Gene Seidler will act as tournament supervisor.

PETE'S HOTPOINT Floridians, featuring red-hot Mary Lou Graham, Dottie Metzger and Rose Ortega, will compete in the Bowling Proprietors Association of America All-Star tournament at Cleveland Saturday and Sunday.

RUMORS PERSIST that the Barry Martin Vitamins team, winner of the handicap division of the Women's City Tournament, was fed vitamins for a month before the tournament. Milton Rossinof, team sponsor, isn't talking.

ANDY VARIPAPA, newly elected member of bowling's Hall of Fame, will help open the Palm Springs Lanes March 1. Varipapa is recognized as the world's greatest trick-shot artist. He also averages above 200.

* * *

K. M. REALTORS are claiming a state record off their 1,025 game in the Women's Masters League last Friday at Bowling Palace.

Lake Worth Golf Opens

Herald Service

LAKE WORTH — Two former champions and an ex-hometown star are favored in the third annual City of Lake Worth Women's Open golf tournament, a 72-hole test which begins today over the Lake Worth municipal course.

Betsy Rawls and Marlene Hagge, who won the first two events and Kathy Cornelius, who lived in Lake Worth during her high school and early professional career top the field of 20 women pros and 10 amateurs.

Among the amateur stars will be Joanne Goodwin, who was also a former Trojan links star, and veteran Marge Burns, of Greensboro, N.C.

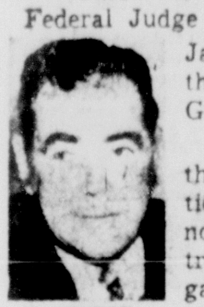
Irish Named Garden Prexy

NEW YORK — (AP) — Ned Irish, executive vice-president of Madison Square Garden Corp., will take over as president under the new owners of the controlling stock in the big New York sports arena.

This was disclosed at a hearing Wednesday when Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan approved the sale by James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz of their 219,350 shares of Garden stock to the Graham-Paige Corp. for $3,948,300.



NORRIS

It was Judge Ryan who handed down the anti-trust decree against the International Boxing Clubs of New York and Illinois. Norris had been president and Wirtz treasurer of the Garden Corp., parent organization of the clubs, until their recent resignations.

MR. PATRICK saved ground until reaching the leader, assumed command from the outside nearing the furlong pole, was under strong pressure until his rider lost his whip near the sixteenth pole and scored narrowly over APOSTLE. The latter was nicely rated while in front and continued courageously when engaged and displaced. COUNTER SPY gave way gradually.

SCRATCHES: None.

JET FUEL set the pace under rating for a half, drew clear rapidly when straightened into the stretch and won with speed to spare. ACCOMPLISH, always in closest attendance to the pace, lasted over QUIZ STAR. The latter finished willingly. FIRST MINISTER turned in a dull effort.

SCRATCHES: None.

First Landing $2.40, 2.40, 2.20; Moony 7.10, 4.70; Rare Rice 3.30.

WINNER SELECTED BY: McLaughlin, Harris, Ortell, O'Neill, Castle, Ulbig, Brooks, Consensus, Feldman.

OWNERS: 1. Meadow Stable; 2. J. C. Bruno; 3. Ada L. Rice; 4. Elkcam Stable; 5. W. M. Ingraham; 6. J. E. McAuliffe; 7. Wheatley Stable.

FIRST LANDING, on the outside of RARE RICE while alternating with that rival in setting the pace, attained a clear lead briefly at the furlong pole and was under pressure to retain his advantage. MOONY, slow to settle into best stride, was forced to steady while in close quarters inside the furlong pole, then moved inside the winner and closed determinedly. RARE RICE forged to the front on occasions between calls while saving ground throughout and continued on courageously. OPEN VIEW was close to the leaders for the entire distance and lacked the needed late surge.

5-0-5 Sail Postponed

Winds up to 40 miles-an-hour lashed Biscayne Bay and curtailed Wednesday's National Five-O-Five Sailing Championships. Two races will be sailed this morning, the first starting at 8:30.

Walter Bowden, 215-pounder from San Antonio, leads with two firsts and a second in previous heats. The winner will represent Five-O-Five class boats in the National One-of-a-Kind series starting Friday.

Malmquist Hired

How to Act on Your Honeymoon

● Too often a young bride and groom look upon this escape together as a sexual testing period—"the course of marriage is determined by the wedding night." 577	14	Harvest Moon	No Boy	114	20-1

BILLY BRIER gets the best figure in an open race; DAG was a fast-closing third in last, might improve today; CAPEADOR is a veteran class horse on the comeback trail; ONE TO GO could be a "live" one today.

650—SECOND—Purse $3,500, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $5,000, 1 3-16 miles. Post—1:58.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

594	8	Biscayne	C. Rogers	116	20-1

RICODEE should get up in time; DOUBLE BOGEY will be right there at the finish; BILLTOWN is toting a heavy package but rates it; BRUCE HARVEY was a runnerup in last at long odds.

651—THIRD—Purse $3,500, maiden 3-year-olds, colts and geldings, 1⅛ miles. Post—2:26.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
554	3	Gygis	J. Culmone	120	2-1

GYGIS has shown best form of these maidens; NORTH POLE 2ND'S last race was a good try; MONTE CRISTO has been working well; WITHSTAND is another with sharp workouts.

652—FOURTH—Purse $4,500, 2-year-olds, allowances, 3 furlongs. Post—2:54.

	16	Seminole Queen	No Boy	107	20-1

BRUD has shown best of the juveniles thus far; CRAFTY KING is highly regarded, is the contender; BASSO was another winner here; ALI WING, must string along with this winning youngster.

653—FIFTH—Purse $5,000, 4-year-olds and up, claiming, $25,000-20,000 1⅛ miles. (Turf). Post—3:22.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
575	3	Innishowen	W. Hartack	115	8-5

483	7	Sabena 2nd.	L. C. Cook	105	10-1

654—SIXTH—Purse $4,000, 3-year-olds, claiming, $10,000-8,000. 7 furlongs. Post—3:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
(447)	11	Logana	M. Kay	x106	2-1
211	12	Johnny Scamp	J. Leonard	113	4-1

LOGANA figures much the best; JOHNNY SCAMP is a factor off good Tropical form; HILDA'S HONEY was good at Garden State, may take part; I GOGETTER has been working well.

655—SEVENTH—Purse $5,000, 3-year-olds, allowances, 7 furlongs. Post—4:18.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
547	5	Wayward Miss	I. Valenzuela	118	2-1
574	2	Annsie Pie	No Boy	106	4-1
(564)	6	Natalie	No Boy	118	5-1

	3	Level Land	J. Block	x101	20-1

WAYWARD MISS should win this; ANNSIE PIE will be hard to beat at the weights; NATALIE was the winner of last two; HIGH BID has been close up recently.

656—EIGHTH—Purse $5,000, 4-year-olds and up, allowances, 1 1-16 miles (Turf). Post—4:46.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
(539)	1	Aysha	L. C. Cook	114	8-5
593	4	Nisht Amool	No Boy	122	3-1
593	3	Ajaccio	G. Avila	116	6-1
593	5	Ambergris	J. Ruane	110	8-1
562	2	Charlie's Song	J. Block	x117	6-1
566	6	Adare 2nd	M. Sorrentino	110	8-1
457	7	Our Sirdar	C. Rogers	122	12-1

ASHYA is very sharp, can bag another; NISHT AMOOL finished second in good turf race; AJACCIO has been improving right along; AMBERGRIS could be closer than this rating.

657—NINTH—Purse $4,500, 4-year-olds and up, claiming, $10,000-8,000, 1⅛ miles. Post—5:14.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
449	10	The Warrior	No Boy	113	5-2
563	3	Goforward	W. Hartack	116	3-1
609	8	Kentucky Roman	E. Guerin	116	5-1
609	2	The River	J. Block	x108	6-1
540	7	Some Classic	L. Syfrig	113	6-1

495	9	El Saludo 2nd	M. Gomez	113	20-1

THE WARRIOR should be able to handle this; GOFORWARD will be right there and the one to beat; KENTUCKY ROMAN is getting better all the time; THE RIVER has a good chance on his early speed.

John Gray Wins Baseball Golf

TAMPA —(AP)— John Gray of the Philadelphia Phillies won a three-way sudden-death playoff Wednesday in the baseball-golf tournament at Palma Ceia Golf Course.

The playoff came after the three tied with 79s in the 18-hole medal play event.

Negroes Open Golf Tourney

Some 200 amateur, pro and women golfers will tee off this morning at 8 in the sixth annual North-South Negro Tournament at Miami Springs.

LOUIS

There will be 18 holes of competition today and Thursday, with 36 holes Saturday.

Joe Roach and Myrtle Patterson will defend their amateur titles. Tut Holmes, present National Negro champion, and Richard Gardner, a two-time winner of this tournament, will give Roach a tough battle.

Also competing are baseball players Jackie Robinson, Don Newcombe and Junior Gilliam and boxers Joe Louis and Ray Robinson. Roy Campanella, ex-Dodger catcher who was injured in an auto accident last year, will arrive Sunday to award his trophy to the amateur victor.

'Ears' Back At Georgia

ATHENS, Ga. — (AP) — J. B. (Ears) Whitworth, former head football coach at the University of Alabama, has accepted an offer to return to the University of Georgia as an assistant coach.

Coach Wallace Butts said Wednesday he would recommend the rehiring of Whitworth, an assistant coach at Georgia for 11 years (1939-49). Whitworth served as line coach at Montreal last year after three seasons as head coach at Alabama.

His Last Command: Aim, Fire!

Sosa Blanco Orders His Own Execution

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad Wednesday, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time Tuesday as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request—that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabana fortress:

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited. He told them:

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me."

Then he calmly told the executioners:

"Get ready . . . Aim . . . Fire!"

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.

Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up with the same guilty verdict.

Resigned to his fate, Sosa Blanco refused to make a personal plea for his life. "I shall go with a clear conscience," he said.

'95 Per Cent With Castro'

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— An official in the foreign ministry said Wednesday claims that a revolution is spawning against Fidel Castro's regime are not being taken seriously.

Nicholas Rivero, press coordinator for the foreign ministry, made the statement in commenting on statements attributed to Rafael del Pino, a former Castro companion. Del Pino reportedly has turned against Castro because of his alleged connections with Communists.

"This sounds like Batista propaganda," Rivero declared.

"The revolutionary army, which is a people's army, has replaced the old army of repression and is 100 per cent with Fidel Castro. At least 95 per cent of the Cuban people are with Castro."

Rolling Hills To Be Given Next Sunday

Miami Beach Community Singers will produce Richard Paul Janaro's "Song of the Rolling Hills" Sunday evening in Miami Beach Auditorium.

Singing the leads will be John Keston, tenor, Olga Pavlova, soprano, and Paul Marino, baritone.

Ulysses S. Morris, baritone of St. John Baptist Church, will sing Negro spirituals.

Adrina Otero will direct her Ballet Espagnol in dances of Israel and Italy. Gene Baylis will direct the American dance sequences, and Helen Blossom a series titled "Afro-Cuban Trade Winds."

Taking the dramatic roles will be Jay Rayvid, Ann Norman, and 11-year-old Lynn Green.

Children's Homes Are Average

By CHARLES TAYLER
Herald Staff Writer

A funeral home owner, a dance hall operator and a barber are the parents of the four Negro children admitted to Orchard Villa Elementary School.

The families all live in average homes with a few bocks oft he school, 5720 NW 13th Ave.

Two of the children, Jan, nine and Irene Glover, seven, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Prymus.

Prymus is a barber, and a graduate of a barbering college. Mrs. Prymus is a nurse at a convalescent home. Both have been Miami residents for some time.

The children, now attend the Holmes Elementary School, 1175 NW 67th St., about a mile from Orchard Villa. Jan is in the fifth grade, Irene in the second.

Selwyn Joseph, whose seven-year-old daughter, Sherry, is another of the children admitted to the all-white school by the School Board, is owner and operator of several dance halls in Miami Negro sections, and is a college graduate.

"I don't think there will be any trouble over this," Mrs. Joseph said. "I believe it will work out all right."

Mrs. Joseph, who has one other child, a four-year-old boy, said her husband was graduated from Oakwood College, a Seventh Day Adventist school, and she attended City College in New York, but did not graduate.

The other child admitted to the school is Gary, six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Range, who own the Range Funeral Home. Gary now attends a private school, but his mother expects him to start in the second grade at Orchard Villa.

The Ranges have three other children, including a boy and a girl who are both juniors in different Negro colleges.

Mrs. Range is a native Floridian, born in Key West, who has lived in Miami 30 years. Her husband, a graduate of the New England Institute of Embalming, is from Georgia.

Banks Close On Monday

For most folks it will be business as usual on Monday, Feb. 23, the day after Washington's birthday.

However, because the birthday is on Sunday, banks will close on the following day and federal agencies will observe the holiday by closing or curtailing service.

Postal service will be reduced to give many postal workers a holiday. No home deliveries will be made.

Even Internal Revenue Service workers, busy in the heavy tax collection season, will observe the Monday holiday with other federal workers.

However, employes of county, city and state agencies don't get the extra day off.

Judge Is Sought To Hear Giblin

An out-of-town judge was sought by Dade's Circuit Judges Wednesday to hear fellow Judge Vincent C. Giblin's two suits against the City of Coral Gables and its municipal court.

The cases grew out of Judge and Mrs. Giblin's arrest during a speeding ticket dispute in the Gables on Jan. 23.

Giblin is seeking to have his arrest declared illegal and have a trial in the city's municipal court called off.

Senior Circuit Judge Marshall C. Wisehart asked Supreme Court Chief Justice Glenn Terrell to assign another judge from another circuit to hear the cases after Judges Pat Cannon and John Prunty asked to be excused from hearing the litigation.

Trio Escapes From Explosion

Three men escaped serious injury in a premature explosion of 14 sticks of dynamite in a southwest section rock pit Wednesday.

The blast occurred when the wind picked up a burning cardboard box from a trash fire and blew it onto the detinating wires causing an unscheduled explosion at the Oolite Crushed Stone Co. pit at 13201 SW 114th St.

Caught in the open by the blast were three employes, John L. Owen of 9235 SW 43rd Ter.; Nolan T. McBride of 11215 SW Second St., and Jesse Carver of 11801 SW 80th St.

The trio was knocked down, suffering minor bruises. They were treated at Doctors Hospital and released.

Gerstein's Men 'Bust' Up Game

State Attorney Richard E. Gerstein busted up a bust-out poker game in a back room of Miami's Gaiety Club strip joint early Wednesday after a card player complained he lost $39,000 there in one night. The loser went back for another game just before raiders broke in.

Gerstein said he and his men broke into the back-room game just in time to see one of the shills peaking over the shoulder of John Ring and signaling house-men on how to play their hands.

Arrested on gambling charges and released on $3,000 bond each were Jack Davis, 53, of 1676 North Treasure Dr.; Arthur Pace, 41, of 1528 Drexel Ave., and Monty Gardner, of the Blue Bay Motel. All said they work for the Gaiety Club.

Ring, operator of a hotel in Waldorf, Md., was questioned and released. He said he stopped $37,900 in checks paid the night before to the gamblers.

Some Don't Buy, Steal New Tags

Instead of buying new license tags, some motorists are stealing them, police said Wednesday.

Lt. C. H. Knight warned "that about all that can be done is to make it difficult for the thieves to remove the tags."

Reports of tag thefts come in daily to police at an average of 35 a month.

Knight said he expects the figure to triple after midnight Friday — the deadline for purchasing new 1959 tags.

Railway Unions Study Overhaul

Heads of railroad unions are conferring privately at Miami Beach on railway work rules, job security and safety practices.

The sessions will continue through Friday.

The labor leaders are expected to reply to a recommendation by the National Association of Railroads that a non-partisan committee overhaul work rules made in 1919.

President Daniel Loomis of the Association of American Railroads recently declared the rules permit featherbedding which costs the rail lines 500 million dollars annually.

Slick Requests Duplicate Riddle

Slick Airlines filed application Wednesday for routes which Miami's Riddle Airlines now fly or have applications to inaugurate.

Slick, a West Coast cargo lines, said that it filed its duplication only on instructions of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Riddle, also a cargo operation, had previously filed for routes which would have parelleled those of Slick Airlines'.

Suit Attacks Funeral Home

I. J. Edelstein, North Miami Beach apartment building owner, has filed a Circuit Court suit to keep a funeral home out of his neighborhood.

The suit alleges that the North Miami Beach council granted a variance to F. M. Legge Funeral Home, Inc. at 16660 NE Ninth Ave., without proper notice to adjoining apartment owners.

Havana Visit OKd by Metro

Metro Commissioners have voted to attend Cuba's Independence Day celebration Feb. 24 in Havana as guests of the Castro government.

Also attending will be The Crusaders Drum and Bugle Corps, 40 Junior Deputies of the sheriff's department, the county police crack drill team, a group of baton twirlers and the University of Miami Band.

Florida to Lose 31 Army Units

Florida will lose 31 Army Reserve units this year, it was announced Wednesday by Maj. Gen. S. B. Mason, commander of the Fourth Army Reserve Corps.

Mason said that the change is part of the Army's overall reorganization plan for reserve forces. Units in Alabama and Mississippi are also affected.

The announcement did not identify any of the units involved.

Court Suspends Miami Lawyer

Miami Attorney Casper Hufty Jr. Wednesday was suspended by the Florida Supreme Court from practice for six months. The court found him guilty of settling a claim without approval of his client.

The suspension was made retroactive to October 13, 1958.

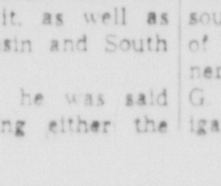
Planners to Meet

The proposed Mid-Bay Causeway will be discussed by the Greater Miami Technical Planners Association at 7:30 tonight at 345 N.E. Second Ave.

Challenge to Kennedy

Humphrey May Test Primary Strength

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.), is considering entering half a dozen state presidential primaries to test his strength in the 1960 Democratic presidential race, the senator's friends said Wednesday.



HUMPHREY

They reported he probably would enter the Democratic primary in his home state of Minnesota, provided the Legislature does not do away with it, as well as those in Wisconsin and South Dakota.

Farther west, he was said to be considering either the Oregon or Montana primary, and perhaps both. Pennsylvania was listed as a possible site for an Eastern bid.

A decision by Humphrey to jump into the primary race probably would make him the most active challenger to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D., Mass.) for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Many Democrats expect Kennedy to enter primary contests outside his home state. They have doubts about such other potential contenders as Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Dr. Libby Quits Post With AEC

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower Wednesday reluctantly accepted the resignation of Dr. Willard F. Libby as a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Libby said he must return to teaching and research "if I am to remain a scientist."

Eisenhower, before taking off on a trip to Mexico, also named James W. Riddleberger of Woodstock, Va., now ambassador to Greece, to the post of director of the International Cooperation Administration, or foreign aid chief.

Riddleberger's selection — a formal nomination will be submitted today—was warmly received by Senate Democrats who will consider his nomination.

Besides Libby's resignation, the White House announced formal acceptance of the resignations of Dr. Frank J. Welch of Kentucky as a member of the Tennessee Valley Authority; Frank H. Higgins as assistant secretary of the army for logistics, and Frederick C. Nasha as general counsel of the Commerce Department. Welch is returning to the University of Kentucky from which he is on leave.

No successors to Libby or Welch were announced. But Eisenhower selected Courtney Johnson of South Bend, Ind., to succeed Higgins at the Pentagon, and Robert J. Dodds Jr., Pittsburgh attorney, to take Nash's place in Commerce.

Libby's resignation is effective June 30, when he will have completed nearly five years on the AEC. He is from the University of Chicago.

Hot Clash, Then Quiet At NMB

Most North Miami Beach councilmen shied away from City Manager Allen L. Wilcox Wednesday following his threat to resign.

"I haven't seen any of them, including the mayor up until late this afternoon (Wednesday)," said Wilcox following his clash with Councilman Lowell Patrick at Tuesday night's council meeting.

"There's got to be an understanding here or my offer to resign still stands," Wilcox said. "If I don't improve conditions for myself I might do it for whoever follows me."

Councilman Emanuel (Manny) Arnold visited Wilcox's office late Wednesday and asked that Wilcox "reconsider."

"What's really at the bottom of this is that a council majority made up of Joe Miller Jr., Henry (Hank) Ross, Joe Moffat and Patrick have been trying to push the city manager around and interfere with his duties," Arnold said.

Wilcox, former city manager of Shrewsberry, Mass., and a veteran of 14 years in the business, accepted the $8,500-a-year job as North Miami Beach city manager last Oct. 3.

School Paving Funds Approved

School board member Jesse Yarborough asked Metro county commissioners Wednesday to relieve the school board of all paving problems.

"The school board is not in the road building business but needs these roads," Yarborough said. "We are opening 17 new sites, some with portable buildings, in the fall."

He asked for a $3,500 starter on SW 128th Ave. and the commissioners voted approval of $1,700 for 538 feet of the 12 feet wide road leading to the new Pine Island Elementary school near Moody Dr.

Hotel Exposition Head Is Named

Arthur Feenan, manager of the Columbus Hotel, is the new president of the Pan American Hotel and Restaurant Exposition executive committee.

The exposition will be held at Bayfront Park Auditorium, Oct. 20, 21 and 22.

Club Breakfast

The Catholic Club of Blessed Trinity Parrish, Miami Springs, will have a Communion breakfast at the Green Mansions Motel 777 Curtiss Parkway, Miami Springs, following the 9 a.m. Mass, Sunday.

EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Right or Wrong

TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐
DO ALL ANXIETIES STEM FROM THE SAME BASIS?
YES ☐ NO ☐
3.
MORE GIRLS GET ALLOWANCES THAN BOYS.
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

FALSE, IF BY "naturally" you mean inborn. Speaking 'English, or Russian or Chinese is 'natural" for some people, but only because they have learned to do so, usually in early childhood. Numerous studies in anthropology show that ideas of right and wrong differ quite as much as languages, and for the same reason. If you were brought up to accept certain moral standards, you may feel that everybody else ought to regard them as you do. Actually, morality must be learned.

2. Yes, at least, in some respects, claims the French psychiatrist Favez-Boutonier. He says that all arise out of a conflict of decision. It is this anxiety that gives drama, journalism, stories and even some forms of art, their "punch." People differ in their anxieties, because of their stages of development. The child has different anxieties from the adult; the wise men from the fool—mainly because they face different kinds of decisions.

3. True, apparently. One study of 738 teenagers, for instance, showed that 38 per cent of the girls received an allowance. Only 21 per cent of the boys received their spending money in the form of an allowance. Perhaps boys can more easily earn extra money. Maybe parents feel that boys should assume more responsibility for earning their own money than girls. Many adults and most teenagers feel that, to get the most out of the school years, boys and girls should receive an allowance to cover at least part of their expenses.

BEAUTY
ON THE BAY
GRACEFUL wrought iron gates invite you past the walled entrance into this tropical paradise with 150' of breath-taking frontage on Biscayne Bay. The charm of the old South is reflected in the New Orleans style iron work, the exquisite architecture, the gleaming white marble floors throughout the entire downstairs, even the kitchen. The pleasant breeze-swept sun-room, the interesting living room with picture window and upstairs are 3 unusual family bedrooms. There's a guest room and a staff room in the gate lodge and for the yachtsman two sturdy docks, lush tropical planting with privacy guaranteed in the completely walled estate, amazing value, we are privileged to offer this unusual Island retreat at a modest $59,500!

Leatherette and nylon seats, special sound deadner headliner and thick pile floor carpets would do justice to your livingroom.

And of course there's all the extras — POWER STEERING — POWER BRAKES — PUSH BUTTON POWERFLITE automatic transmission, the big "8" tube push button radio, directional signals, E.Z. eye Solex tinted glass and O.K. white wall tires.

Here's the best part — You're fully protected by an Insurance policy for ONE FULL YEAR against — MAJOR MECHANICAL REPAIRS — Parts and Labor at— NO COST TO YOU — Enough said!

DEAR MOM

WELL I've finally found just what you've been looking for. It's at Miami's largest used car dealers lot and we could have saved ourselves a lot of trouble if we had only started to look here first. Enough of this Mom, let me tell you about the car.

It's a 1950 CHEVROLET DELUXE 2 door HARDTOP with a brand new Powder White over Lipstick Red finish that's in showroom condition. The entire interior has been customized with white Leatherette and Loom Puff on the seats and doorpannels with even a special washable headliner.

Now Get This Mom, there's POWER GLIDE automatic transmission, so you don't have to shift gears, the best "8" tube Chevrolet push button radio, directional signals, clock and excellent white wall tires. Mom, I really think that this is the car for you because you can buy it for only

JUST one more thing — HURRY because they'll sell it fast at this price. Oh yes — the place is NATURALLY — —

Revival Reaches Kiwanians

Texas Minister Speaks to Club

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

TAFT

Miami area Baptists Wednesday were taking their simultaneous revival crusade to civic clubs and other places of community influence after concerted prayer efforts to pave the way for their Gospel message.

One of their spokesmen was Dr. J. Carroll Chadwick, Centre, Tex., pastor who is the evangelist at the 7:30 nightly services this week at Allapattah Baptist Church. He spoke to the Southwest Kiwanis Club at its luncheon session at the San Juan Restaurant.

He commended the Kiwanians for being "men who reach out with open arms across the land," and described the club principles as "worthy of every man's consideration" because they "elevate the spiritual above the material."

The Texan told the 130 clubmen that as Kiwanis has a program that involves a job for every member and gives a constructive pattern to their lives, so God has a plan for each life.

And as members of Kiwanis must adjust their lives to accomplish the objectives of the club, so individual men must adjust their lives to God to accomplish his purpose, Dr. Chadwick said.

His appearance at the club and similar appearances by other top clergymen from over the nation here for the start of the extensive revival effort was preceded by a series of daily breakfast inspiration and prayer sessions for the evangelists and pastors of 75 Baptist churches in the area taking part.

Licenses Held Up for Union Aides

The state labor business agents licensing board has delayed a decision on licenses for three Miami Teamster Union officials.

Secretary of State R. A. Gray was the only member of the three-man board present in Tallahassee. Gov. LeRoy Collins is at home nursing a virus, and School Superintendent Thomas Bailey is out of town.

Gray said a decision will be made next Tuesday if a quorum is present.

Requests for licenses for Harold Gross, Bernard Derow and Neil C. Lebin was opposed by a group of Miami Beach service station operators.

The operators, led by David Klinger and Dick Allen, charged the Teamster officials with using "strong-arm" tactics to sign up service station personnel for Teamsters Local 320.

The union men denied the charges and the board took the matter under advisement.

Rule Explained

Pensions Cut By SS Boost

Some needy old folks, veterans and veterans' dependents are losing out on other pensions because of a boost in social security payments intended to compensate them for cost of living increases.

The state's Public Welfare Department said in a notice attached to checks for old age pensioners that recipients now getting the Social Security Administration's seven per cent increase are having their state payments reduced by the same amount.

Welfare officials explained that the state payments — which go only to needy old folks whose income from other sources totals less than $103 — are based on income, and that if the "income" from social security goes up, the welfare payments come down correspondingly.

The cut in old age pensions affects some 1,500 persons here, officials said.

Lively Proxy Fight Reaches Climax

Renshaw Group Wins at Beach Federal

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The present management of Miami Beach Federal Savings and Loan Assn. won control of the 117-million-dollar institution Wednesday in the climax to a long and lively proxy battle.

—Herald Staff Photos by Bob East

Beach Federal's President Renshaw
. . . a smile and wink signify victory

Shareholders voted by decisive margins to keep the management team headed by Board Chairman Mitchell Wolfson and the federal's $50,000 a year president, former Beach City Manager Claude Renshaw.

Some 400 members and shareholders of the highly-successful association took part in a directors' election in the federal's 14-story building on Lincoln Rd. But most of the votes cast were proxies from shareholders who were not present.

The action ousted W. George Kennedy, who led a shareholders group opposing the incumbents, from his directorship.

The shareholders meeting was far from serene. Wolfson repeatedly ruled would-be speakers out of order on grounds that the directors election must proceed before anyone could openly discuss a controversial president's report.

J. Edward Worton, attorney and a leader in the Kennedy faction, announced he will challenge in federal court both the election results and the "manner in which the meeting was conducted."

George Kennedy and Ed Worton
. . . 'we'll challenge it in court'

Worton said he has between 75,000 and 100,000 proxy votes his group obtained in the final few days of the campaign. Since they were not filed with Beach Federal's secretary within five days of Wednesday's meeting, they were not admitted.

"Those votes are no good for this election," said the association's attorney, Milton Weiss, when Worton asked for a ruling.

The proxy fight emerged from last year's federal indictments of four Beach Federal directors, three of whom resigned during a reorganization that accompanied the government's charges of misapplication of seven million dollars in the firm's funds.

All the indictments were later dismissed, although the government still has them under appeal.

Renshaw, in his report to the meeting, disclosed that seven million dollars in savings were withdrawn from the association in the six months after the indictments broke. But he said the "tide of withdrawals turned in August," and the latter part of 1958 saw "the largest increases in savings in the history of the association."

Renshaw also revealed that $41,000 of the federal's money was used for the proxy drive.

Worton rose to demand a breakdown of the expenses "and the purpose" for them.

"Does the $41,000 include employe salaries, overtime hours, advertising and so forth?" he asked.

Wolfson ruled him out of order, saying "you can have your chance later."

"What good is a report if it can't be discussed?" spoke up Mrs. Sanders Gramling.

Wolfson held his ground—voting first, discussion later. And that's the way it was.

Directors elected and the votes they received:

Renshaw, 361,651; Wolfson, 361,623; Dan Chappell, 599,772; B.P.G. Harig, 600,201; Ritter Levinson, 361,222; Arnold Levy, 597,888; Marcus O. Sarokin, 600,726; John E. Shuey, 361,233; Carl Weinkle, 361,723; Henry D. Williams, 361,194; Myron H. Willison, 361,347; and Paul C. Wimbish, 600,351. Most of them because temporary directors in a government-ordered reorganization a year ago.

Shareholders Are Attentive
. . . just before the balloting

A. Louis Brown Jr. and Milton Weiss, holdover directors who were not up for reelection, round out the 14-man board.

High man among the losers was Kennedy with 240,067.

Boss Can Deduct Health Insurance Bills From Taxes

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

(In collaboration with The Research Institute of America.)

Accident and health insurance coverage is another valuable fringe benefit for employes, including executives and owner-officers of closely-held corporations. The employer pays, under a "plan," for covering the employes, their wives and dependents and gets a tax deduction which cuts his out-of-pocket cost. On the other side, the employer's payments aren't taxable to the employe.

This two-way tax break was created by the 1954 Tax Code, but it wasn't until last year that the Treasury confirmed the many things which can be done within the meaning of the word "plan" — and thus indicated it was viewing this tax break liberally. Here are the highlights:

SYLVIA PORTER

YOU CAN cover only one employe and still have a plan.

YOU CAN use individual policies under a plan.

YOU CAN have different plans for different employes.

YOU DON'T have to commit yourself to continue the coverage.

YOU DON'T even have to put the plan in writing.

But the Treasury does insist the plan meet three tests—none of which is difficult.

The employer must not be the beneficiary of the insurance, directly or indirectly; the employe must actually own the policy benefits.

The premiums must be paid by the employer for the employe's personal services; you can't cover someone who doesn't really work for you.

The premium payments, when added to the employe's other pay, can't exceed reasonable compensation for the employe's services.

Dollarwise, here is what this means. An executive in the 50 per cent tax bracket is now personally carrying health and accident coverage which costs him $500 a year. To pay that $500, he must use up $1,000 of earnings ($500 goes to Uncle Sam). If, instead, his employer took over the policies under a health plan and paid the $500, it would be as if the employe got $1,000 which he would have spent on $500 of insurance and taxes, except that the employer now has another $500 he can give the employe as cash compensation. If he gives it, the employe winds up with the same insurance for which he had previously paid, plus $250 ($500 less $250 in taxes).

For owner-executives of closely-held corporations, the tax breaks provided by law are subject to some Treasury limitations. If you intend to benefit from having your company take over your present health and accident coverage or buy it for you for the first time, you may run into trouble with the Treasury if you cover only yourself. To avoid this danger, cover some of your employes as well.

To make this fringe benefit even bigger, some firms in addition to taking out accident and health policies, agree to pay the uninsured medical expenses of the employe and his family. Such payments to the employe are deductible by the employer but are not taxable to the employe.

For instance, a company's top executives earn $25,000 or more a year. The firm pays premiums for hospitalization for all employes and for major medical expense insurance on the executives.

The average unreimbursed medical expenses incurred by each executive and his family come to about $1,000 a year. The executives find that they are generally unable to deduct any of this amount for tax purposes because of the two medical deduction exclusions in the law. The firm, therefore agrees to reimburse each executive for all his uninsured medical expenses up to $1,000 a year.

This can give each executive an extra fringe benefit of tax-free income worth more thtn a $2,000 raise in pay. The firm deducts the payments as an ordinary business expense or compensation.

If you are a sole proprietor or partner, you can't take advantage of these fringe benefits because you are not an employe. To get these and other fringe benefits, you well might consider incorporating your business and electing not to be taxed as a corporation.

This so-called "pseudo-corporation" election would make you an employe of your own corporation and thus eligible for fringe benefits, while the tax on your business income would be the same or possibly less than you pay as a proprietor or partner.

Tomorrow: New Deduction for Education Expenses.

This Is Work?

An advance screening of "Some Like It Hot" with Marilyn Monroe will warm up some 200 United Artist motion picture salesmen who open a sales meeting at the Roney Plaza Hotel today.

The salesmen will hear talks by top executives of United Artists, and get other advance peeks at "Pork Chop Hill" with Gregory Peck, and "The Naked Maja" with Ava Gardner during the three-day session.

The convention is being held in Miami for the third successive year.

Green Plans Crackdown

Tax Dodgers Cost Florida 'Millions'

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Tax-evading, "dishonest" Florida businessmen are costing the state millions of dollars yearly, Comptroller Ray E. Green said in Miami Wednesday.

"You often read about dishonest public officials, but when I got into this I found there are more dishonest businessmen than I ever dreamed of," he declared.

Most of the evasion comes from falsifying reports of sales tax collections, Green said.

Ray E. Green
. . . hunts tax dodgers

"We are trying to plug the loopholes with some stringent auditing and checking," he said.

Tax dodgers operate statewide, he said, with the most flagrant violators in the larger counties such as Dade, where business is bigger and the angle-shooters sharper.

"Some of these fellows down here think up new escape tactics faster than you can counter them," Green said.

"You train them better down here," he added wryly.

The comptroller, here from Tallahassee on an inspection tour, said he is adding 10 auditors to his staff at an annual cost of $100,000 in an effort to clamp down on tax dodgers.

"For the $100,000 cost, I guarantee we can collect an additional million dollars," he declared.

Five of the new men will be assigned to the 72-member staff in Miami. One will operate at large and one each will be added to Fort Lauderdale, Jacksonville, Orlando and Tampa.

He said "dishonesty" has been uncovered in all types of business ranging from the country grocery store to big merchants.

Green pointed out that the state is suffering financially due to a near disastrous "season" last year and a poor start for this winter's tourist business.

Can Florida hold the line without additional taxes?

"Yes, I believe it can be done," he said.

New Highs For Ryder

The Miami-based Ryder System reported record revenue and earnings for 1958.

James A. Ryder, president of the truck leasing firm, said sales for the year totaled nearly 61 million dollars, up 31 per cent from 1957. Net income rose 57 per cent to $2,363,186.

Earnings per share were $3.02 on the company's 782,142 average number of shares of common stock.

Aluminum Companies To Merge

Two Miami aluminum companies will merge March 1 to form the largest independent producer of aluminum in the nation, it was reported Wednesday.

The two firms are American Aluminum Extruders Inc., 4851 NW 36th Ave., and International Aluminum Corp., 3765 NW 74th St.

The merged corporation will be called American International Aluminum Corp. and will have annual sales of about 12 million dollars, a spokesman said.

Richard Walker, whose father, T. S. Walker, is president of International, will become president of the new firm. Other officers will be Seymour G. Somerstein, executive vice president and general manager; Thomas Cooper, vice president, and Robert Somerstein, secretary-treasurer.

The Somerstein family has operated American since it was opened early in 1957. International was founded in May 1956 by the Walkers.

Robert Somerstein said American International will operate both plants and will purchase additional equipment for re-rolling, homogenizing and anodizing.

The two plants have been processing scrap aluminum and manufacturing billets, extrusions and warehouse items.

Tieup of du Pont, GM Again Probed

The New York Times Service

CHICAGO — The Department of Justice antitrust case against E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. took a new turn Wednesday.

George D. Reycraft, head of the government's legal team, said that he would introduce evidence and call witnesses "to bring up to date" the trade relations between du Pont and the General Motor Corp.

It was the trade relations and the ownership of G.M. stock by du Pont that furnished grounds for the Supreme Court's 1957 holding that there was a "tendency toward monopoly."

The effort, Reycraft explained, would be to show that the relations were continuing in the same pattern that they had up to 1957 the latest period covered by the record.

Reycraft announced his move after District Court Judge Walter J. Labuy adjourned court.

THE MARITIME ADMINISTRATION has awarded a $248,528 contract to the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. to design a radicaly new ship that would skim over the waves at 75 knots — three times the speed of present liners.

The contract calls for completion of blueprints for a hydrofoil ship within nine months. At top speed, the hydrofoils would lift the ship so high that it is literally skimming over the surface.

Hydrofoils resemble airplane wings, but are smaller, and work on the same principle. They are attached by straps to the hull of a ship, extending downward. As the ship's propeller thursts it forward the hydrofoils lift the vessel.

Good News Prods Bulls To Action

NEW YORK —(P)— The stock market emerged from sluggish irregularity to post a pretty fair advance in late trading Wednesday.

Steels and motors were pacemakers for a gradual improvement in the afternoon. Rails mounted another technical rally, beefing up the average considerably.

While key stocks were content with gains of fractions to a point or so, a number of special issues ran ahead as much as 3 or 4 points.

The background included record personal income last month, a rise in new car sales, an increase in applications for FHA-insured home mortgages and expanding orders for new freight cars.

Aircrafts, building materials, plywoods and chemicals joined in the advance. Oils, nonferrous metals, tobaccos and drugs were mixed.

The quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated $1,293,000,000.

ALLIED LABORATORIES: "AN UNDERVALUED DRUG STOCK"

Our analysts have selected this important manufacturer of pharmaceutical products as offering well above average appreciation potential and consider it to be an undervalued issue in the drug group. Our optimism in regard to Allied Laboratories is based on several considerations: (1) an almost certain sharp upturn in earnings for 1959, (2) a new major acquisition, Campana, and (3) greater emphasis on research and new products. Our Study points out that the relatively small number of outstanding shares could make for dynamic improvement in per share earnings with the introduction of significant new pharmaceuticals and biologicals.

Our Study describes the company's background, its products, including veterinary items, and our reasons for recommending its stock for superior market performance. You'll read an objective examination of the problem Allied faced in 1958 with the decline in sales of Salk vaccine. These problems are now in the past, but they were—we feel—a major factor in creating the stock's undervalued appraisal in the current market. There's also a tabulation of past sales records, profit margins and other financial data.

Desilu Is So Touching With 'B' Movie Style

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK — (UPI) — What I like best about CBS-TV's Desilu Playhouse is its devotion to the cliches of "B" movies of the 1930's. It is, oh sob, touching.

This week, for example, we were taken on a one hour visit to Panama where Janis Paige was running a night club easily as big as the entire sewer system of Paris.

Miss Paige's waterhole was loaded with customers who, in turn, were loaded, but Miss Paige was not very happy.

For one thing, there was her boyfriend, Paul, who made chop suey dates with her dancers and drank too much and wanted to play backgammon with her all the time.

FOR ANOTHER, there was her former husband, Robert, a rotter who had once abandoned her in Mexico to a drunken mob and who was now fighting in a revolution on a nearby island and trying to buy $2,000 worth of penicillin which was pretty hard to do since he didn't have $2,000.

And just to complicate matters there were these two gangsters from Florida who wore white hats and who hated Robert and who were hated by a police captain named Martinez who also wore a white hat.

I should note too that Robert wore a white hat, too, but you could tell him from the others because he also wore a mustache.

NOW, ALL THIS LED to some pretty tasty dialogue of which I've saved a few samples:

"You must have a great deal of contempt for me, but it can't be any greater than the contempt I feel for myself . . ."

"Who told you to come in reminding me of Mexico? I hate you! Hate you!"

"When she sings, everything is forgotten. There is not hate, only love."

"There are people dying up there, they're burning up with fever. And they're dying."

"Everybody's in this together with everybody else. Especially here. Especially with us three. We're in it together."

"You stop with this hate that's ruining your life. And me."

". . . Montana . . . and Africa where he whimpered all night and then tried to kill some animals . . . and Mexico . . . in a little town he tried to fight a little bull . . ."

And I might add: CBS-TV . . . Desilu Playhouse . . . Monday night . . . where we all fought a lot of bull.

TV SCOUT EXCLUSIVE

NEW YORK — (NEA) — George Grizzard, of Broadway's "The Disenchanted," will star in an original William Saroyan play on Omnibus, over NBC, on Sunday, March 1.

Saroyan has given his work a title which is worth the price of admission alone — "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Mrs. Murphy." It's typical Saroyan stuff — roseate realism — about the relationship of a father, mother and son.

Persons and Programs

ANN BLYTH

SAROYAN

George Grizzard of Broadway's "The Disenchanted" will star March 1 on the NBC-TV Omnibus production of "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Mrs. Murphy."

The play will be the ninth William Saroyan play done by Omnibus.

Jim Astrue, contestant on NBC-TV's Tic Tac Dough, has run his total quiz winnings to $100,700.

The 26-year-old Air Force officer had knocked off 89 opponents over 55 days through this week.

Ann Blyth has replaced Kathryn Grayson in the cast of the March 4 NBC-TV Bell Telephone special. Miss Grayson was reported to be unhappy about the songs assigned to her.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT.	Pass	3 NT.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♣

An examination of today's holding will reveal that North and South have 11 tricks at no trump with the normal club lead. How this total was reduced to eight by a clever defender is the subject of our tale.

The final contract was eminently sound, but a one no trump bid is not our choice on the South hand. Any doubleton should contain a high honor, at least the queen. South has an easy opening of one club for over one diamond he can bid one heart, and over a major suit response he has a convenient raise.

West opened the ten of clubs which South won in dummy with the ace. In order to develop the diamond suit, declarer led to the king of hearts and played the jack of diamonds permitting it to ride.

East with complete disdain played the four. On the diamond continuation West ducked again. Declarer, having marked West with the queen of diamonds when the jack held on the previous trick naturally played the seven from dummy, and East could wait no longer. Dummy had now become an entirely useless affair except for the ace of spades, and declarer was able to bring in only eight tricks.

Had East taken the queen of diamonds on the first round of that suit there would have been no incident to record, for declarer could have brought home more tricks then he needed.

Perhaps a better play by declarer at trick two was a low diamond to his own hand without releasing one of his heart stoppers. Had he chose to do so in this case it is difficult to see how any diabolical plot could have stopped him.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Thursday, February 19, 1959

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) With all those tasks and chores awaiting you, you hardly know where to begin. Important things first, then the rest in systematic order. Remain calm.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You would love to run out on your rather tedious obligations today, but wasting time would be infinitely worse. So, do what absolutely has to be done, then round up the sensible pals you like.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It is far better to attend to those out-of-door activities today than to add fuel to an already smouldering fire at home. Be careful not to make any unkind remarks. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for March send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) The slightest bit of negligence on the road today could result in serious trouble, so be very careful. Also, use the wisest psychology with friends and relatives who are feeling very disturbed.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Although you may feel that by buying some expensive presents you will wipe out a bad impression made by you, you will find that a true show of affection and regard still restore you to the good graces of cherished one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you do not plan your day carefully, you could run around hither and yon and accomplish very little. Also, be a little more thoughtful of the other person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A secret worry could easily permit you to take your ire out on innocent persons who happen to be close to you while the guilty parties are getting off scot-free. Stick to work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't permit it to bother you today if friends or associates make rather unkind remarks, since they are having a trying time and are not thinking properly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Any unwise moves you make now concerning both your good name or financial matters will bring much criticism. Attend to all practical and important matters assiduously.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you would like to commence on new ventures and affairs that need handling, you still are not quite well-prepared with data and proofs. Keep cheerful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is not the day to consult with experts in any financial or practical affairs since conditions are such that they themselves are somewhat in a quandry.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Imperative you use every bit of diplomacy you possess with one who is distraught but means so much to your personal elevation and welfare right now. Do chores.

Daytime TV Shows

6:30 a.m.

7 — NUCLEAR PHYSICS — "Postive Rays."

7 — TODAY — From Washington, D.C., the show visits with society hostess Gwen Cafritz and shows films of some of her parties. There will also be a "mother and daughter" fashion show. And Charles Van Doren will discuss "literary language of the heart" in the philosophic, literary and religious sense.

8:45

4 — MOVIE — "Upper World," (1934), Ginger Rogers, Warren William, Mary Astor. Story of a man, neglected by his wife, who becomes involved with another woman and murder.

1 p.m.

7 — MOVIE — "A Bullet for Joey," (1955), Edward G. Robinson, George Raft, Audrey Totter. The head of a spy ring sends for an exiled gangster to carry out a plan to abduct a brilliant atomic physicist in Canada.

The Best On Radio

4 P.M. — Stereo Adventures, WVCG. — Waldteufel's "Estudiantina" and Sibelius' "Karelia Suite March."

6 P.M. — Twilight Concert, WVCG — Bizet's "Carmen March and Chorus" and Strauss' "Vienna Life."

7 P.M. — Command Performance, WVCG — Dvorak's "Scherzo Capriccioso" and Grieg's "Piano Concerto No. 1" and "Heart's Wounds."

7:15 P.M. — So. Florida Builders, WCKR — John Martens, Maule Industries vice president, sums up Florida's building and construction future.

8:30 P.M.—Capitol Cloakroom, WGBS — Senator William Proxmire is interviewed on the nation's economic and agricultural situations and the status of small business . . . Opera Highlights WWPB — Highlights from Puccini's "La Boheme" with Victoria de los Angeles, Jussi Bjoerling, Robert Merril and soloists.

9:15 P.M. — Symphony Hall, WWPB — Beethoven's "Symphony No. 1" in C Major.

10 P.M. — Chamber Music, WWPB — Vivaldi's "Concerto in G Major," Haydn's Trio No. 1" and selections from Schubert and Schumann Lieder.

Details, Previews of Tonight's TV

7:30 p.m.

2 — MUSIC FOR YOUTH — The Julliard String Quartet presents a demonstration of violin playing bringing in the range of different voices belonging to instruments in the violin family.

7 — COLONEL FLACK — Flack poses as an industrial magnate to help a washerwoman who has been swindled.

10 — LEAVE IT TO BEAVER — Beaver learns to believe in his dentist and distrust idle talk when a small cavity in a molar brings him trouble.

7 — STEVE CANYON — Canyon, returning from a trip to San Francisco, is kidnaped by three hoodlums dressed as airmen.

10 — ZORRO — Zorro comes to the aid of a desperate rancher charged with arson and murder with water as the motive.

8:30

4 — YANCY DERRINGER — New Orleans is threatened when the rampaging Mississippi River reaches flood stage.

7 — COULD BE YOU — film.

10—REAL McCOYS — Grandpa is criticized by neighbors when he scoffs at both scientific cloud-seeding and the shower-seeking chants of an old Indian chief.

2 — MONTAGE — "Tradition in Art."

4 — ZANE GREY — Van Johnson, a city boy if there ever was one, goes Western tonight. This is not only his first Western, but his first half-hour TV film. He plays a fast gun who gets messed up with the good side of the law for a change. Too bad this isn't in color — Johnson wears red socks, a superstition with him.

7—BEHIND CLOSED DOORS — The program has two pretty girls in its tale of espionage tonight. And the problem facing this week's clean-cut agent is which one is on his side, which one is a tratornik? The two are played by Liliane Montevecchi and Anna Lise. It's a good story.

These symbols indicate program was previewed by T.V. Ted, The Herald's Scout

Arthur Godfrey and Pat Boone
. . . chuckle and sing at 9 on 10

10 — PAT BOONE — Pat, a clean-living boy, does what all boys should do — repays his mentor for past favors. So Arthur Godfrey will be the chief Boone guest tonight. Connie Francis is the other guest. Pat and Connie, just voted King and Queen of Hearts by Martin Block's radio listeners, will get their awards here — perhaps a spare auricle?

2 — NEW DIMENSIONS OF LEARNING — "Humanities in a Free Society."

4 — PLAYHOUSE 90 — The drama of the ticker tape jungle — big business — is the focal point of "The Raider," tonight's story. If things like proxy fights and intra-board-of-directors maneuvering interests you, this is your meat. The title refers to the part played by Paul Douglas, a man out to gain control of a giant industrial concern. Frank Lovejoy is Douglas' chief adversary, with Donald Crisp, Rod Taylor, Leif Erickson and Leon Ames and others on the home team. There's some tough language in this one and it's a question whether it will survive.

Best Bet

10 — ROUGH RIDERS — Flagg, Kirby and Sinclair come upon a plot to induct farmers into slave labor gangs and when they attempt to break it up they too are imprisoned.

10

7 — GROUCHO MARX — Last week, an efficiency expert named H. G. Morton had some nasty things to say about those other people, women. So this week, Groucho brings him back again and teams him with a lady who speaks up for the females. And, before she's through with him, poor Morton is in full retreat. It was ever thus.

10 — MAN WITHOUT A GUN —An ex-con seeks revenge by threatening a newspaper editor's life.

7 — MASQUERADE PARTY Here's the show's weekly clue to one of its painted personalities — if you had a Brooklyn accent, you might do this masquerader's last name in oil. Try that on your electronic piano.

11:10

11:20

7 — JACK PAAR — Hans Conried, Betty White and Cliff Arquette are guests and Paar will interview Gladys Robinson on art.

11:25

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Great Are Often Silent

TWO DISTINGUISHED men, outstanding in their fields, died recently.

Theodore Spicer-Simson was an internationally famous portrait medalist who lived out his later years in Coconut Grove.

Some of the greatest scientists, statesmen, writers and authors of three generations had been his subjects and were his personal friends, and the museums and collectors of the world were proud to own his works.

His death was recorded briefly in a back page of the local press on the same day that front page prominence was given to the death of Willie Hoppe, a very talented billiards player.

I am not arguing with the news judgment here.

More people on Main St. had heard of Willie Hoppe than Spicer-Simson. I mention the fact merely as a commentary or irony of the times.

I was glad that The Herald's Nixon Smiley gave proper tribute to Mr. Spicer-Simson in a later column. It was deserved and it was a masterful job of writing.

MEYER BERGER was a New York newspaperman. He was an artist on a typewriter. When I went to work in New York, a good many years ago, he was a legend in the newspaper fraternity.

Bob Peck of the Herald Tribune was the best rewrite man in the business.

Meyer Berger of The Times was the best reporter. That was the way their fellow workmen appraised them.

As was true with Spicer-Simson, however, Meyer Berger wasn't too well known outside the select circle that admired him. To the great, vast public he was not known as are Walter Winchell, Ed Sullivan, Dorothy Kilgallen and other syndicated tattle tales.

These folks are well known to all lovers of chit chat and to TV viewers, whereas Meyer Berger could have stood on Times Square all day without being asked for an autograph.

But these others, famous as they may be, are not real newspapermen. I am not arguing with their fame. I mention it merely as a commentary, or irony of the times.

But it was one of these Broadway columnists, Walter Winchell, who gave Meyer Berger the national recognition he deserved, in a well written column about a craftsman who wrote everything well.

LOOKING BACK over my shoulder at New York (and will I ever stop talking about that?) I always am amazed at the insouciance and clairvoyance of subway riders.

No matter how rough the ride, no matter how much they are jostled by other passengers, they can read a newspaper or take a nap, whether standing or sitting, and without once looking up, they know when they have reached their station.

IT WAS A BEAUTIFUL day, crisp but full of sunshine, on the Sunday we left New York. This brought out the people. The streets were packed with cars. It was nice, but rather pitiful, to see so many thousands of folks struggling with traffic to get a breath of fresh air or to see a bit of scenery.

In riding from Manhattan through Queens to Idlewild airport you pass two cemeteries.

These are immense burying grounds, bisected by a highway, shut in by factories and apartments, but they cover acres and acres of ground and there is no room left for another grave within the enormous confines.

Where do they bury a New Yorker now? They must have to take him to Westchester or New Jersey. There's no room left in the city.

THERE ARE MORE than 700,000 houses in Queens. I think that's the figure I read on a subway sign. Anyway, there are more houses there than in any other borough of New York.

But they all look alike, except that some are painted different colors.

MODERN AIRPLANES have modern rest rooms.

But the aisle area near the toilets is a forlorn spot of embarrassed silence where gregarious passengers lose their sociability and stand like fidgety zombies.

No matter how you try to keep tab by peeking from your seat, the only way to find for sure if the rest rooms are occupied is to walk to the doors and see whether the sign says "Occupied" or "Vacant."

If it is occupied, you could pretend you were just out for a stroll, but there really aren't many places to stroll to in an airplane aisle.

Besides, you might miss your turn when the occupant comes out. So you stand and stare at the ceiling. After awhile there may be three or four people waiting in the aisle, but there is no compatibility, no conversation, as everyone pretends they don't see anyone else.

What they need is a song leader or recreation director to help the people relax in this part of the aisle. It's a very unhappy spot right now.

Jack Kofoed Says

Rockefeller Upsets Some of Followers

NELSON Rockefeller performed a political miracle when he won the governorship of New York from Averell Harriman. He ballooned into a strong possibility as Republican nominee for the presidency in 1960. Americans have a habit of going wild with admiration for miracle workers. The admiration seldom lasts.

Rockefeller is what ball players call "a take charge guy." He knows what he wants, and though politics is a new game to him, apparently knows how to get it. But what has dimmed his glowing grandeur in the eyes of many New Yorkers is his proposal for sharp tax increases.

America is growing bigger and richer every year, but taxes on every level keep going up, up, up.

Each year more is sliced from the weekly pay check. Eisenhower talks about a balanced budget, but to balance one of 72 billion dollars is pretty rough on John and Jane Doe.

Rockefeller plans a two billion dollar budget in New York State. Some of my Manhattan friends, who were wildly enthusiastic about "Rocky" in November, are beginning to hedge. If he's going to spend, as he seems intent on doing, what in the world will he do if he lands in the White House.

Reckless governmental extravagance may turn out to be as implacable a foe as communism. Rockefeller has the uplifting slogan, "Let's look at the horizon, not at our feet," but people who walk always with eyes on the stars can break their necks falling over obstacles in the road . . . like more and bigger taxes.

Let's be realistic. We can't go on as we have been for years without having to pay the piper, and by the time he presents his bill, we may have nothing left.

LAST YEAR Sen. Margaret Chase Smith blocked the promotion of movie star Jimmy Steward to brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve. Last week President Eisenhower again nominated Stewart.

I was on the staff of Lt. Gen. Ira Eaker, CG of the Eighth Air Force in London when Stewart reported for duty with Maj. Gen. Jimmy Hodges' Second Division. Because Hodges was a personal friend, though outranking me the way a maitre d' does a bus boy, I used to run up to his headquarters at Norwich once in a while to see him. It was then I learned what kind of a flier and officer Jimmy Stewart was.

He came into the outfit with two strikes on him because he was a movie star. The crews had a "you gotta show us attitude."

Stewart showed them. He piloted the lead plane on every mission his group flew . . . and proved his ability and courage to the highest degree. There isn't a man who served under him who wouldn't say that if anyone deserved promotion to general rank, it was the tall, graying actor. If Sen. Smith had troubled to check, she could have found that out, herself.

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF:

There is such an alcoholism problem in Melbourne, Australia, that bars are closed at 6 p.m. Some American movie stars on location there consider Melbourne a disaster area . . . President Eisenhower is paid $100,000 a year for the most difficult job in the world. Jackie Gleason rejected $50,000 a week at the Rivera Hotel in Las Vegas. Makes you wonder, doesn't it?

Perhaps Paul Robeson realizes how he has betrayed his country. Before he left for Moscow, reports from London said Robeson, though never much of a drinker in the past, got himself slopped every night in local pubs.

The San Francisco Giants are bragging that they'll win the National League pennant in 1959. With a pitching staff of Johnny Antonelli, Mike McCormick, Jack Sanford, Stu Miller, Billy Muffet and Al Worthington? Doesn't seem likely.

Mickey Rossman, Algiers coffee shop operator, suggested that the meeting of golfers Dwight Eisenhower and Perry Como should have been called "the Big Fore Conference" . . . On "Heart Sunday," Feb. 22, Bayshore and Normandy Shores linksmen will compete for "Heartrophies" arranged by Al Savage and Mrs. Julian Rickles.

New headquarters of the Prison Mission Society, of which Edward J. Curran is local chaplain, are at 753 NW Third St. . . . Note to an unnamed critic: The word in my copy was "tied," but it came out "ties" in print . . . "Why," a whodunit game, invented by Alfred Hitchcock, is expected to be the sensation of the Toy Fair.

QUESTION: Can there be culture without education? Are uneducated people necessarily uncultured? — E. C. E., Miami.

ANSWER: One of the meanings of culture is the sum total ways of a people's living — their art, values, knowledge, customs and techniques. A more limited meaning is the development or improvement of individuals within this civilization and their resulting enlightenment. This process, in its broadest sense, could be defined as education.

If it were so defined, the answer to your first question would have to be no and the answer to your second would have to be yes.

However, if culture is defined in the much narrower—and much commoner—sense of an aspiration toward and an appreciation of high esthetic and intellectual ideals, and if education is defined in the much narrower and much commoner meaning of schooling, then the answer to your first question would be yes and the answer to your second no.

All cultured people are educated, but they are not necessarily educated in school. The author of the Gettysburg Address was not an uncultured man, never mind how few days he had actually spent in classrooms.

Space Probers? 'They're Nuts'

GREENVILLE, Ohio —(P)— When it comes to earthmen exploring space, Park McGriff says: "They're nuts. They've got no business on the moon. The earth's a good enough place to live."

McGriff ought to know. He's lived on it 106 years and is looking ahead to his 80th wedding anniversary next October.

Lettuce Frills, Lemon Wedges and Cucumbers Set Off Shrimp-Tomato Ring

Salads That Jell

By JEANNE VOLTZ

Herald Homemaking Editor

Molded salads have two outstanding features. They are made ahead of time to unmold and garnish at the last minute. And molded salads always make a handsome showing.

For both reasons, they're a proven favorite for entertaining, from a bridge luncheon for the girls, through afternoon salad plates to buffet suppers and dinners. But don't pass them up for family meals, too.

Salads can be light, like the fruit salad below, to serve as a side dish to other foods. Many vegetable combinations, raw or cooked, make sparkling molded salads on the light side.

Or they can be heartier salads with meat, seafood, eggs or poultry in them.

Tangy and refreshing is the tomato aspic ring, pictured at left, with shrimp and crisp celery in it. This and other seafood salad molds on this page are bright ideas for lenten lunches and suppers.

Add Meat or Seafood For One-Dish Supper

Good looking molds will add to the glamor of these jellied salads.

But they are not necessary. Use a loaf pan, refrigerator tray or a baking dish for your salad if you don't have a mold. Cut the salad in squares or slices and decorate — with greens, dressing, an artful garnish of shrimp, olives or carrot curls.

And family and guests will enjoy seeing and eating these luncheon and supper salads.

Tomato-Shrimp Aspic Ring

4 cups tomato juice
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon or lime juice
Salt, pepper
1 cup chopped celery
2 7-ounce cans shrimp, drained, cleaned and coarsely chopped

Heat 3½ cups tomato juice. Soften gelatin in remaining ½ cup cold tomato juice and dissolve in hot juice. Add lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in the celery and shrimp.

Pour into a 1½-quart ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and fill center of ring with more lettuce. Garnish plate with lemon wedges and cucumber slices. Serve with salad dressing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Seafood Avocado Mold

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
1 medium avocado, mashed
2 to 4 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon old-fashion garlic salad dressing mix
2 tablespoons vinegar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 6½-ounce can king crab meat, drained

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Combine avocado, green pepper, salad dressing mix, vinegar, salt and crab meat. Fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Pour into a 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Makes 4 main dish servings.

Egg and Olive Loaf

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup lemon or lime juice
½ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
2 cups mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon grated onion
1½ cups finely diced celery
½ cup finely cut stuffed green olives
8 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat. Add salt, lemon juice and pepper sauce. Cool. Gradually add gelatin mixture to mayonnaise, stirring until blended. Mix in onion, celery, olives and chopped eggs. Turn into a 6-cup loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with sliced olives. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Zippy Frank Molded Salad

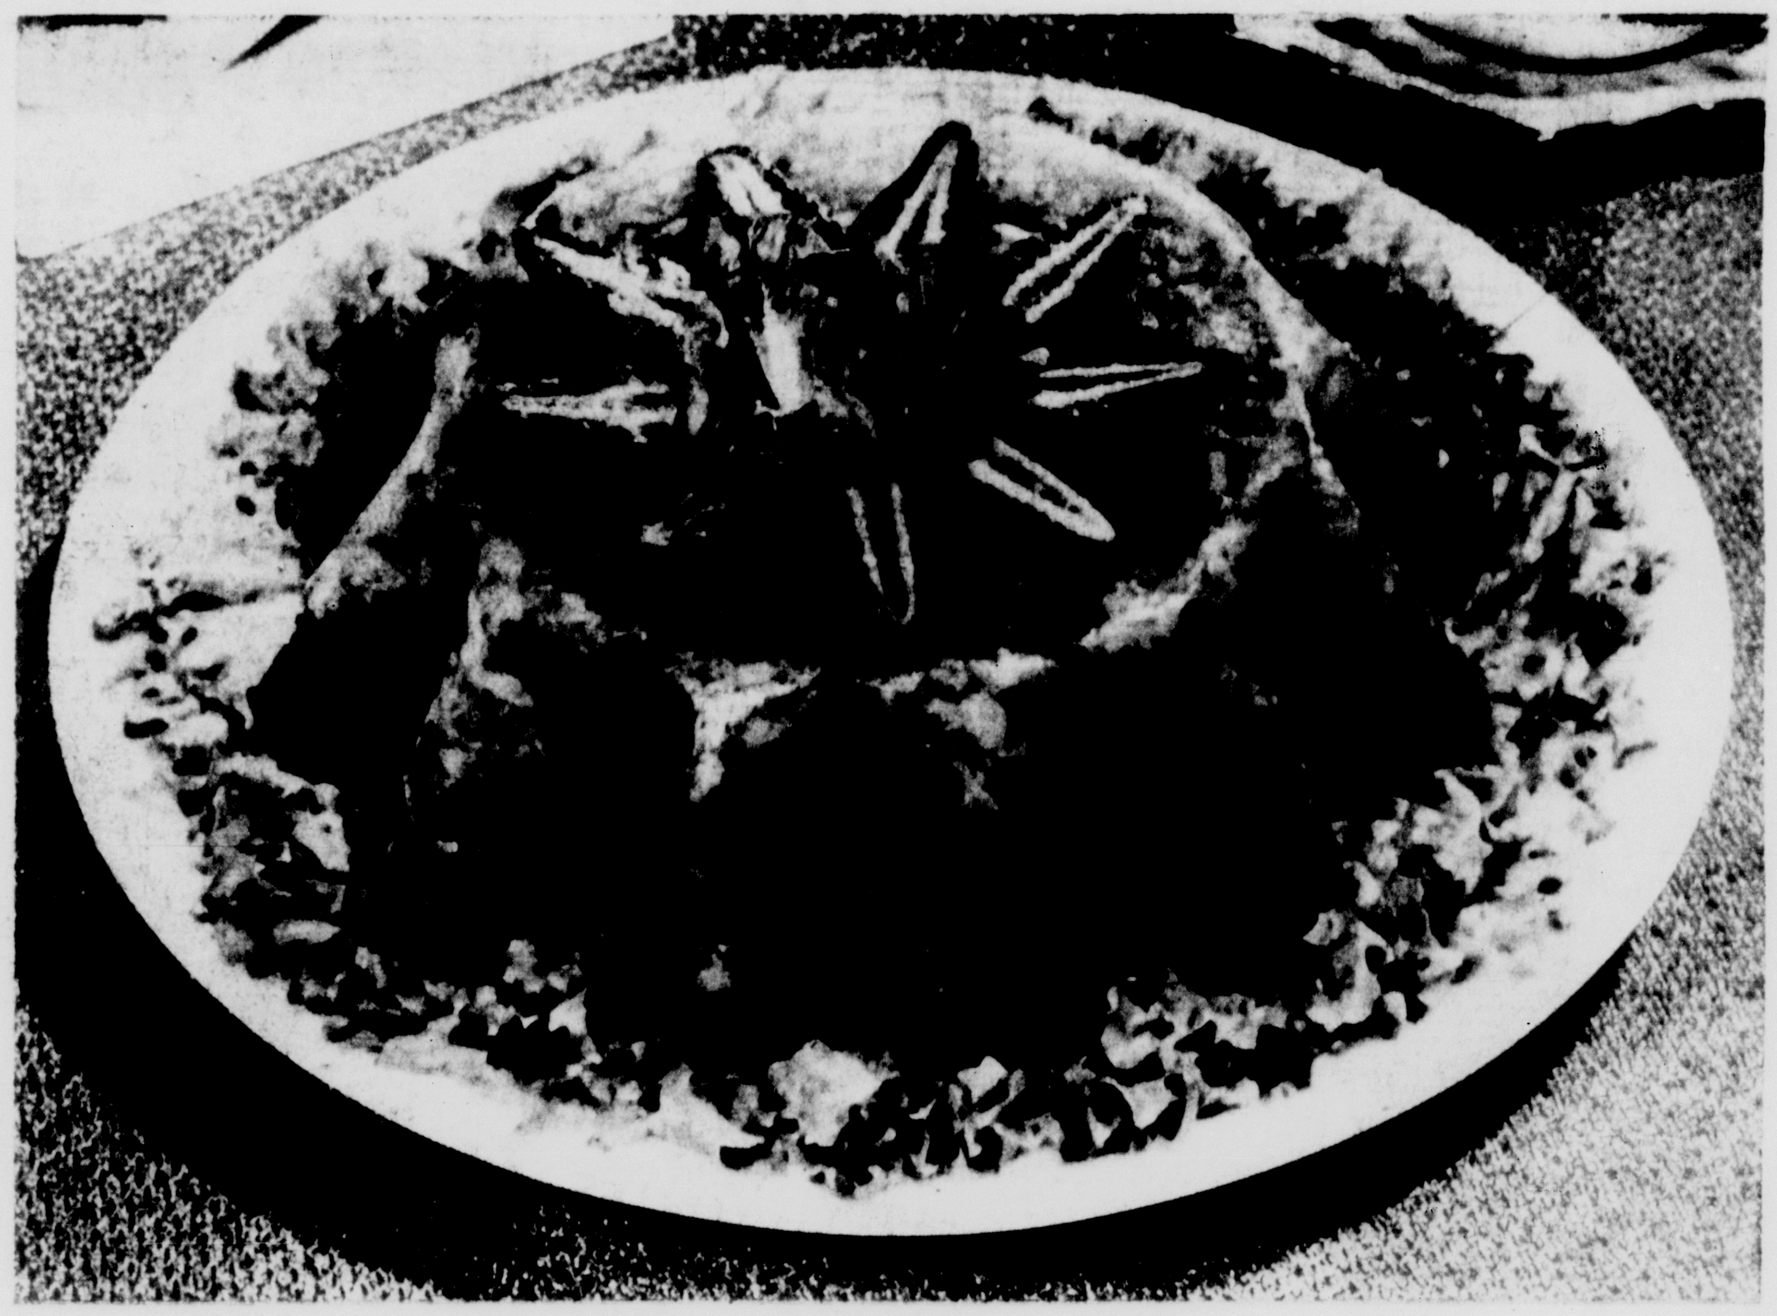
½ pound (5) frankfurters
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
2 cups (16 ounces) small curd cottage cheese
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon salad dressing
¼ cup finely chopped sweet pickle

Cut franks crosswise into slices. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Mix in franks, cottage cheese, horseradish, mustard, salad dressing and pickle. Turn into a 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Makes 6 servings..

Mustard Chicken Mousse

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
2½ cups hot chicken stock
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons lemon or lime juice
Dash cayenne pepper
2 teaspoons salt
⅓ cup diced black or green olives
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons paprika

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot chicken stock and stir until dissolved. Fold in garlic powder, onion, mustard, lemon juice, cayenne pepper and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in olives and chicken. Whip cream until it stands in soft peaks. Add paprika and fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into a 1½-quart mold. Chill until firm. Turn out on serving plate. Garnish with chicory, tomato wedges and cucumber slices. Makes 8 to 10 servings.



Strawberry Halves Crown Two-Toned Fruit Salad Mold

Fruit Salad or Dessert

Many clever cooks like to serve a fruit salad to double as both dessert and salad. And it's a good practice for simple meals.

Fruit salads also are favorites for luncheon parties or to go with ham, pork and sometimes poultry.

Mold a salad in two layers like this first one for an eye catching effect.

Strawberry-Lime Fruit Mold

1 package lime-flavored gelatin
3 cups hot water
1 cup drained canned crushed pineapple
1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
1 cup juice from canned fruit cocktail
1 cup drained fruit cocktail
Lettuce
Strawberries, cut in half
Salad dressing

Dissolve lime gelatin in 2 cups hot water. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in the pineapple. Pour into a 2-quart mold and chill until firm.

Dissolve strawberry gelatin in 1 cup hot water. Add fruit juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Add fruit cocktail. Pour over firm lime gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and surround with lettuce. Fill center of mold with small lettuce leaves and surround with strawberry halves. Serve with salad dressing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pineapple Nut Molds

1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
Dash salt
1 1-pound, 13-ounce can pineapple slices
¼ cup lemon or lime juice
2 tablespoons sliced stuffed olives
¼ cup salted cashew nuts
1 soft-ripe avocado
Salad greens

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add salt. Drain pineapple syrup into a 1-cup measure. Save out 1 tablespoon for salad dressing. Add lemon juice and enough water to fill cup. Stir into gelatin. Chill until slightly thickened. Stir in olives, cashew nuts and half the avocado, diced.

Pour into 6 small molds. Chill until firm. Place 6 pineapple rings on bed of lettuce. Unmold gelatin onto pineapple. Decorate plate with remaining pineapple and sliced avocado. Serve with Chutney Dressing. Makes 6 servings.

CHUTNEY DRESSING

½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon pineapple syrup
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons chopped chutney

Thin mayonnaise with pineapple syrup. Stir in sugar and chopped chutney with its syrup. Makes 6 servings.

Secular, Sacred Are Inseparable

By BILLY GRAHAM

GRAHAM

QUESTION: How would you recommend that a person distinguish between what is sacred and what is secular?

ANSWER: Many persons make this distinction, but it is not a valid distinction. You can never really separate one from the other. If a person is a Christian, he not only believes in Christ as a Saviour and counts on Him to take away all sin from his life, but he gives himself to God in that act of faith. This commitment of the whole self to

My Answer

God in a decisive act of faith makes all things take on a sacred aspect.

The Bible says that whatsoever we do in word or in deed, "Do all to the glory of God."

We cannot live part of the life for God and part for self, for salvation is as much being saved from the self-life as from sin.

Only in pagan religions is this fine line of distinction made and then for convenience only. It is just a neat way of putting Christ in a compartment away from the affairs of life, and the Christian does not do this. He is wholly Christ's. Thus all activity becomes sacred!

Insects Ruin Crop

TAMPICO, Mexico — (AP) — The Tomato Growers Association reports an insect plague has destroyed 90 per cent of the crop in Tamaulipas and losses will be about four million dollars (equivalent).

Food Applicants Set Mark

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The number of Americans on relief rolls receiving donations of government surplus foods at the end of 1958 was the largest since 1942.

Reporting this, the Agriculture Department said the number increased nearly 12 per cent during the last year. It was 5,230,044 compared with 4,719,300 a year earlier.

Pennsylvania had the most, 829,559. Numbers in other states and areas included: Puerto Rico, 596,076; Michigan, 538,385; Mississippi, 331,441; New York, 348,871; Oklahoma, 246,960; West Virginia, 278,223; Arkansas, 219,354; Kentucky, 254,377; Tennessee, 154,551; Texas, 127,698 and Louisiana, 137,713.

The department reported that it donated 347 million pounds of surplus foods to Americans during the last half of 1958 at a cost of 62 million dollars. The foods included dry beans, butter, cheese, corn meal, flour, dry milk, peanut butter and rice.

In addition to those on relief rolls, donations were made to school lunch programs feeding 14 million school children and to charitable institutions housing about 1,400,000.

Japanese Hope To Scale Peak

Now—Fry Without Fat!

Amazing New Fat-free Cooking Aid

PAM DRY FRY

A PURE VEGETABLE PRODUCT

1 Adds no calories to food
2 You don't use oils, fats, shortenings
3 Lets you enjoy fried foods safely and Prevents foods from sticking to pans

Cutting down on calories? Cutting down on fat? Now with PAM Dry Fry, a pure vegetable product, you can even fry without adding a single drop of grease, without adding a single extra calorie . . . because you fry "dry" without oils, fats, or shortenings!

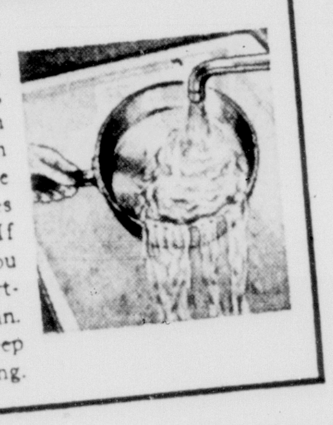
If you're a dieter and tired of monotonous menus, now you can enjoy fried foods again—eggs, meat, french toast, pancakes, even potatoes — you can fry them all without adding fat. Based on findings of a world-famous research laboratory*, PAM can't add a single calorie. And PAM has no taste of its own, so it can't change the natural flavor of food.

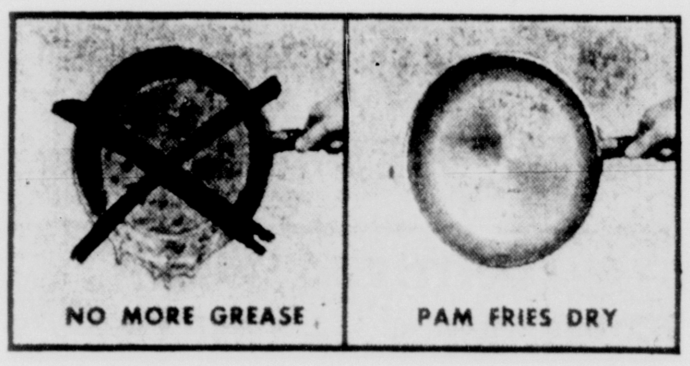
And here's an "extra"—PAM keeps food from sticking to cooking surfaces! Simply spray PAM Dry Fry not only on frying pans, but on sauce pans, pots, roasters, griddles, waffle irons—any kind of utensil. They'll actually come cleaner quicker, without hard work. Get PAM Dry Fry today for dieters in your family—for yourself!

*Name on request

PAM-TREATED PANS CLEAN EASY—
NO MORE HARD RUBBING, SCRUBBING, SCOURING

Just spray PAM on utensil before you fry, roast, bake, broil, or cook anything which might stick. Steaks, roasts, hamburgers, eggs, potatoes, even cooked cereal won't stick fast—even a casserole dish sticky with cheese and macaroni practically rinses clean in just a few seconds. If you're not a diet-watcher, you can add your favorite shortening to a Pam-treated pan. PAM works perfectly to keep foods from sticking.





Stop adding oil, fat, shortening when you fry. Put an end to messy pans and greasy foods. When you use PAM Dry Fry you don't add a single drop of grease, not a single calorie. Foods can't stick—and pans rinse clean under water!

PAM FAT-FREE COOKING AID
—adds no calories to food
DRY FRY
KEEPS FOODS FROM STICKING FAST TO COOKING SURFACES

PAM IS SO EASY TO USE —ECONOMICAL TOO!

Use PAM on any kind of cooking utensil, or surface. Just spray for a few seconds—then cook as you usually do. See what a difference PAM makes—food isn't greasy, pans aren't messy. A can of PAM should last up to eight weeks, depending upon usage.

CALORIE CHART*

Donut Hole Was Too Small

ROANOKE, Va. — (AP) — How big a hole should be allowed in a doughnut?

The question was put to the weights and measures department here by a lady who estimated she had lost $3.75 because one brand had oversized holes. The manufacturer gave her $4 worth as compensation.

Fire Alarms Helped Thief

TULSA, Okla. —(AP)— A fireman of five years seniority was charged here after he admitted turning in two false alarms within 17 minutes.

He was accused of rifling fellow workers' lockers while they were out looking for nonexistent blazes.

Hoffa's Like Teamsters Union--Bossy, Belligerent

Fifth in a series by the noted reporter, Jim Bishop, on Teamsters boss James Hoffa, whose aim is to "take over" Dade County.

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist
Copyright, 1959, by King Features Syndicate

Dan Tobin

Dave Beck

. . . they helped shape the Teamsters Union

Almost by accident, James R. Hoffa became one of the great contract negotiators of this era. After a little practice at table debate, he found that he liked it. His grammar wasn't professorial, but he always knew in advance the compromises he would make and the points beyond which he would not go.

He had no labor philosophy, and did not understand the term. He listened to high-blown speeches by his superiors, and he came away shaking his head. "The men want bread and butter," he said. "It's our job to get it for them. They don't want to know nothing about philosophy. We just gotta get the best contract we can for our guys, and that's all there is to it. I don't believe that we should hit a trucker if he's against a wall. If he can't pay, why force him? That way everybody ends up out of work. But if he can pay, I don't care what kind of big words he uses, he's going to pay or he's in trouble."

Throughout the war years, Hoffa grew bigger and bigger, first in Detroit, then in Michigan, then in the Midwest, and finally throughout the country. A lot of people were disturbed, including some vice presidents of the Teamsters International.

The Teamsters are 60 years old. Hoffa is 45. They are similar in many ways. Both were small for their age, until recently. Both are belligerent, bossy and boisterous. Both feel misunderstood. Both pretend not to care about being dispossessed from the house of labor. Both are dangerous opponents.

A white-haired Irishman named Daniel Tobin is the real father of the organization properly known as the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America. Mr. Tobin was a responsible union man. He guided the Teamsters from 1907 until 1952 and he ran the organization as though it was his family.

WHEN HOFFA won his first labor battle in 1930, the Teamster membership had increased to 86,209, less than 100 per cent growth in 17 years.

Tobin thought that only drivers should be in the Teamsters union and only carpenters in the Carpenters union, but he was old-fashioned and, as president, far beyond his bedtime.

The man who succeeded Dan Tobin in 1952 was David D. Beck, who had a knack for ruthlessness. Often, the opponents of Beck at a meeting were not beaten up until after the moon-headed man had left the premises.

David Beck was elected a vice president of the International Teamsters in 1940. Seven years later, when Dan Tobin was re-elected president, the convention passed a resolution "empowering" him to appoint an "executive" vice president to assist him. Tobin capitulated. At the end of 1947, he appointed Beck to the new job and everyone knew that Beck was the new, and real boss.

BEFORE the 1952 convention, Tobin realized that he was finished. He announced that he would not run for office again, and he also announced t'at he would support Dave Beck as his successor. At the convention, Dave Beck placed the name of old Dan Tobin in nomination. The gesture had overtones of co\tempt, because Beck knew that, besides his own Western votes, he had young Jimmy Hoffa's Midwestern votes in his pocket.

When the word reached Tobin, he withdrew his name and placed Beck's name in nomination. David Beck was elected unanimously. For the first time, the power of Jimmy Hoffa was decisive. His votes clinched the election of David Beck.

Beck inherited a tough, two-fisted, brawling union from Tobin. Hoffa, in 1957, inherited a dishonest union from Beck.

Big bluff David Beck, who had spent a lifetime trying to become a respectable millionaire, stood unmasked as a man who will take money from widows. Nothing was too small for the Beck brand of chiseling. He once charged a $3 bow tie to the Teamsters.

A SENATE committee also charged:

That Beck took $370,000 from union funds for his own use. He placed Teamster mortgages with a company which, in part, he owned. He secretly bought into a Seattle filling station and ordered Teamsters to patronize it. He and a friend administered the estate of a dead pal and enriched themselves by $11,500 from the widow's estate.

In all, Beck had $7,631,016 coming in as revenue, and $7,704,831 going out. So Mr. Beck had a yearly deficit of $73,815.

Beck left the union in an aura of larceny. Hoffa came in, swaggering and punchy, in a blaze of trouble, some of it inherited from Beck, some of it of his own devising.

The courts, for a time, stopped Hoffa from being elected president. Then they permitted his election as a sort of "provisional president." This part of the trouble came from a suit instituted by a dozen Teamsters in New York City. These have since been called the rank and file. If they proved nothing else, they displayed that Hoffa can be stopped, even by little men in his own organization.

Why Do Practices of Various Religious Denominations Differ?

Lola wants logical answers to her questions about churches. This is desirable, too, for religion, like medicine, has carried a lot of unwarranted inclusions in its ritual that are outmoded and no longer supported by logic. God is logical but some of his clergymen get biased notions, so mix a lot of "horse sense" with your church doctrines.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

RELIGION?
A-458

LOLA B., 17, is president of the Young People's Society in her church.

"Dr. Crane, why are there so many different religious denominations?" she began.

"We are to discuss this topic next Sunday night and I am to preside. So could you give us some ideas that we might use?

"Generally we have teenagers from several neighboring churches. So we'd like to know why Roman Catholic priests are forbidden to marry but Greek Catholic priests can marry.

"And why do some churches deny that members of any other denominations will ever go to heaven?"

COULD GALILEO have patented gravity and kept it away from other races?

No, that would have been a childish attempt to place the iron curtain around ideas.

Neither music nor mathematics, philosophy or law, medicine or religion can be a monoply of any race or creed.

All that any church sect can do is imitate the automobile manufacturers and make slight alterations in the "form," for autos are fairly efficient transportational vehicles.

Jewish, Catholic and Protestant doctrines vary in form. But they don't take the primitive idea that there are three separate gods. No, they admit there is just one God.

Some churches still view God as a dictatorial monarch and bow before him as an all-powerful King or Caesar, whereas others try to picture him as a more approachable, loving father.

But these are simply matters of individual opinion, like whether or not the clergy should marry.

St. Peter was a married man.

BOTH THE ROMAN Catholic and Greek Catholic priests folowed the example of Peter and had wives until Gregory the Great was elected Pope in September, 590 A.D.

Pope Gregory was the first monk to become Pope so he tried to make all priests remain unmarried like himself.

But there was much opposition to this rule for another 500 years. Then Pope Gregory VII (1073 A.D.) added his insistence on celibacy of priests.

Since then the Roman Catholic priests have not married, but the Greek Catholic priests still do, at the parish level, though the Greek bishops are likewise supposed to be celibate.

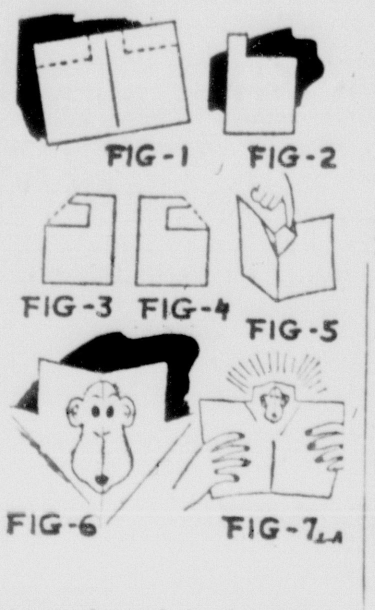
Secret of Pop-Up Is in the Folding

By CAPPY DICK

Hobby Club



BY FOLDING a piece of paper properly you can make a funny pop-up picture. When you pull the paper open a hidden picture will jump into view as shown in Figure 7.

The trick of making this amusing picture—which will be fun to take to school—is in folding the paper.

Begin with an oblong piece of paper. It can be any size you wish, but, as a suggestion, let it be seven inches long and five and half inches wide.

Fold it across the middle so it will appear as in Figures 1 and 2. When it is folded, use scissors to cut the top edge as in Figure 2. The cut is also indicated by the dotted lines in Figure 1. This will make a "smokestack" in the center of the top of the paper.

THE next fold is illustrated in Figure 3. After making it, turn the paper over and fold the smokestack in the opposite direction as shown in Figure 4. Open the paper and you will discover the last two folds have made a triangular crease with the smokestack at the top of it.

With your finger, gently press the triangle and the smokestack inward as indicated in Figure 5. As you press the smokestack in, also fold the sides of the paper across the middle once more (on the original fold). When the sides have been completely closed, the smokestack will be hidden between them.

Hold the folded paper with the open ends toward you. Grasp one side in each hand and pull the paper open. As you do so, the smokestack will pop into view.

Draw a funny face on the smokestack (Figure 6). When you open the paper and cause the smokestack to pop up, the face will appear. Draw the face on the side of the paper which will be toward anyone who watches as you open it.

Berle's Joke Explains Why Public Hasn't Demanded Halt to Inflation

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Milton Berle was having a lot of fun with President Eisenhower's $77 billion budget on his TV show and, at home, we were grinning along with him. Suddenly, during his monologue came this:

SYLVIA

"Inflation? That means your money today won't buy as much as it would have during the depression when you didn't have any."

My family howled — and I ran for pencil and paper to write it down. For as he so often has done during his long career, with one remark, the master comedian put into brilliant focus a basic aspect of our country and of us, its millions of citizens.

Why hasn't there been a great outcry against rising prices over the years since World War II, swelling public support for measures that really would stop the wage-price spiral? Why don't the many millions of average Americans feel as strongly as, say, former President Herbert Hoover that inflation is the most monstrous economic evil there is? Why has grumbling about price rises not been translated into a crusade for price stability or at least, buyers' resistance?

Why is it that most union members are utterly unmoved when the experts try to explain that a $10 pay rise doesn't mean anything if the cost of living goes up $10 at the same time?

The answer to the "why" lies behind Berle's wisecrack—and whoever created it ought to be called to Washington to help the President write his next speech about inflation. For listen to what I heard as I checked the response to the remark.

From the head of one of Wall Street's giant financial houses — a millionaire, a capitalist in every sense and a man thoroughly aware of every fluctuation in the dollar's value and of what the fluctuation means:

"Oh, that's a beauty, I wish I'd heard him say it. Yes, in the '30s, I could have bought four suits for what one costs today, and I could have had a mansion in the suburbs for the asking. But I didn't buy the four suits and I didn't take over the mansion because I didn't have the extra money then and, just as important, I didn't have the courage to splurge. I won't say it in public, but I'll say it to you if you dont' identify me. While I think what has been happening to the dollar is terrible, I personally am better off than I ever dreamed I'd be, and so is my family. I wouldn't turn the clock back for anything."

"I've always lived in this neighborhood, and I remember passing by the grocery once — it must have been in 1938 or 1939 — and seeing the whole window filled with eggs. On impulse, I wanted to go in and buy up the whole display, but Jim's pay had just been cut 10 per cent, we were trying to live on $32.50 a week and both kids were in high school and, well, I just stood and stared into the window. Now I buy in that grocery every day and I buy whatever I want. I don't like rising prices, but I'd rather pay more and have the money to buy than see prices cheaper and be worried again. I suppose it's wrong, but I'm happy the way it is."

Not until the majority of Americans feel they're being more hurt than helped by rising levels of wages and prices will the cry come, "Halt!"

Not until millions feel happier about stable prices than about fatter paychecks will there be a great public crusade against inflation.

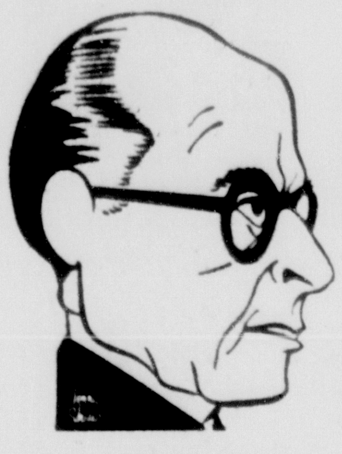
Today's Cele-Birthday

By JOY and JERRY SHAW
Of The Herald Staff



SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE, actor; born: Feb. 19, 1893, in Lye, Worcestershire, England.

Named a Shakespearean Knight by King George V in 1934, Sir Cedric made his debut in London in 1912. His first movie was "Dreyfus," in 1931. A close friend of George Bernard Shaw, the actor loves to do his plays and has directed and starred in them simultaneously. He was an officer in World War I, later a Cambridge University lecturer. He once wrote a book: "Let's Pretend."

Hunters Limited

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—(AP)—If you shoot another hunter you'd have to file a written report in 48 hours under a bill introduced in the California Legislature by Sen. Stanley Arnold (D., Susanville).

My Day

Poor Weather Hard on Traveler

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

MRS. FDR

NEW YORK — February does not seem to be the best month in which to travel in the Middlewest. We started our little trip a week ago Monday in a heavy New York fog; then ran into almost blizzard conditions in Wisconsin. Throughout the week we had a combination of fog and snow and rain and ice.

Friday was fairly mild throughout the day, until we were nearly in Columbia, Mo. The fog was almost like a London fog. We had left Topeka at 7 o'clock in the morning and on our 61-mile drive into Kansas City we saw little of the countryside.

We did, however, make good time on the Turnpike, and though we could not get breakfast before leaving Topeka we did get some in the railroad station before boarding our train in Kansas City. The train landed us in St. Joseph, Mo., about two hours later and we faced another 50-mile automobile drive to Maryville, home of Northwest Missouri State College.

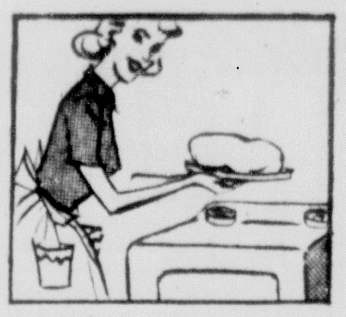
AT MARYVILLE, though, Mrs. J. W. Jones, wife of the president of the college, entertained us at a delightful luncheon before we went to speak before the student body. Unfortunately, Mr. Jones was away, so I did not have the pleasure of meeting him. The auditorium was packed, and I was happy to find great interest and a number of interesting questions from my young audience.

We had hoped to fly from Maryville to Columbia, where the University of Missouri is located, but that proved impossible, and we again drove through dense fog for five and a half hours, arriving in Columbia at 9 p.m.

Our drive was made as pleasant as possible by our kindly hosts, but considering the fact that we had begun our day at 6 o'clock that morning, had attended a luncheon and made a speech and had three long automobile rides through thick fog, we decided we were a little too late to join a group of journalists in the evening.

It was an affair we should like to have attended, celebrating the anniversary of the oldest journalism school in America, at the University of Missouri. But because of the late hour we went to bed instead with a feeling of gratitude that we had covered so many miles successfully and without incident.

Slick Trick



FOUND — an unexpected extra use for an automatic clothes drier. Make it the draftless, safe and warm hideaway for yeast dough while it rises. Turn on the drier for a few minutes before placing the bowl inside.

It's All New But the Altar

MEQUON, Wis. — (AP) — Everything is new at the recently-opened School Sisters of Notre Dame motherhouse here, except for the altar in the chapel.

The altar, a single heavy slab of Italian marble resting on pillars of Mexican onyx, was moved here from the old motherhouse in Milwaukee. At least two sisters had prayed at the altar at all times, day and night, since 1890.

Lenten Prayer for Today

Help Me, Oh God, to Help Others

Go With God

HARRY AMOS BULLIS was born in Hastings, Neb. in 1890. While attending college, he was a wholesale dealer in sewing machines. He carried on a business career after his graduation (with Phi Beta Kappa honors) and rose to be chairman of the board of General Mills Corp.

He is renowned as a philanthropist and public-minded citizen, and has served in numerous organizations for the betterment of mankind.

OH GOD, I ask not for easier tasks. I ask for stronger aptitudes and greater talents to meet any tasks which may come my way. Help me to help others so that their lives may be made easier and happier. Strengthen my confidence in my fellow men in spite of what they may do or say.

Give me strength to live according to the Golden Rule, enthusiasm to inspire those around me, sympathy to help lighten the burdens of those who suffer, and a spirit of joy and gladness to share with others.

Help me to make a worthwhile contribution in the world. Give me courage and confidence to meet adversity with a smile and wisdom to see the good in all things. Renew in me the resolve to do Thy will honestly and fearlessly and grant to me a peaceful mind.

Nobody makes macaroni like Mueller's

It's more delectable...so digestible

FOR KIDS!

FUNNY-FACE CASSEROLE

Make a Macaroni-and-Cheese Casserole from 1—8 oz. pkg. of Mueller's Elbow Macaroni, according to directions on package. On top, draw a funny face with fine bread crumbs and dot with butter or pour melted butter over crumbs so that they brown to a crisp. Children adore this special-for-them treat. You can make Tic-Tac-Toe or other designs with bread crumbs and get a great reception, too.

Nobody makes macaroni like Mueller's. What makes Mueller's Elbow Macaroni so much tastier...so much more tender...so digestible? It's the blend!

Not just one wheat—but two! Not just Semolina but Semolina plus easy-to-digest Farina. Delicious! Delectable! Vitamin-enriched. High in protein, too.

Give the kids a real treat. Make a Funny-Face Macaroni-and-Cheese Casserole and watch them eat! Dad will pass the plate for more, too!

Semolina plus Farina makes MUELLER'S tops for taste

Sneaky Interest At 82?

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a widow 64 years of age. Three years ago I married a widower, 82. He buried two wives and does not look his age.

ANN

I like this man a great deal but he aggravates me with his peculiarities. One thing I simply cannot abide is the way he cheats at solitaire. The problem I'm writing about, however, is his sneaky interest in the young woman next door.

She's in her 20s, very pretty, and the mother of three young children. So far as I know, he has only said good morning to her, but I notice when the weather is nice and she suns herself in the back yard, he invariably develops an interest in our crab grass.

I haven't said a word to him because I don't wish to appear jealous. It occurred to me recently, that perhaps my silence is a mistake. What do you say? MINNIE.

Dear Minnie: Why inflate the old goat by showing concern? (Did you say 82???) I don't think the neighbor lady wants him, so just relax and enjoy the joke privately.

DEAR ANN: A fellow I have known all my life is very much in love with me. I like him and respect him but I'm afraid I don't love him enough to get married.

A year ago he gave me a very big diamond and we were engaged. He worked a long time to save money for the ring because he knows I just love diamonds. I accepted the ring with the understanding that I would go out with other fellows once in a while. He said it was OK so long as I didn't date behind his back.

Now, he wants to get married in June. I'm 22 and he's 26. My mother says he's solid and would make a grand husband. I admire and respect him but this is no red-hot love affair and never was. Please oh please help me. — SEE-SAW SUE.

Dear See-Saw: He's solid all right—from the neck up. Any man who would give a girl a big rock, consider himself engaged and tell his fiancee it's OK to date others, has a bigger rock in his head.

If you were a widow in your 50's I wouldn't hesitate to condone or even encourage a marriage built on admiration and respect. But a gal 22 who can't work up anything beyond platonic feelings, would find such a marriage wanting and empty.

P.S. Give back the ring, Honeybunch.

DEAR ANN: My mother died a year ago. She was dearly loved by everyone. Dad is the greatest. He was completely broken up and everyone felt very sorry for him.

A couple of months ago Dad started to take out a woman who is so opposite to Mother that everyone is shocked. She is loud, crude and possessive. She paws Dad and acts like she owns him. I must admit he gives her plenty of encouragement.

He takes her all over and says "the kids are crazy about her." This is not true, but of course we don't say anything. We love Dad and don't want to see him hurt. We know he will never find a woman to compare with Mom — she was such a lady — but we'd like Dad to select someone where the contrast isn't quite so evident. Can you help us? — MINUS COURAGE.

Dear Minus Courage: It's your father's privilege to make his own selection and you must accept it, no matter how poor the choice.

If you don't care for this woman, why put on a show of affection? Be pleasant and polite. Period. But don't try to break up the relationship, because your Dad knows better than anyone else what he wants and needs.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Some, It's the Only Answer

History Repeats Itself! Towering Headdress Fad Is Back

By AMY VANDERBILT

AMY

HAS IT hit your community yet,—the fashion for wigs?

Some wigs being seen along New York's Madison and Park Avenues are in outrageous colors — a titian never meant to be human and an eerie green.

Recently at the International Debutantes' Ball at the Astor I saw some matrons, otherwise sensible-looking, with odd additions of hair on their crowns to make towering headdresses. I must say they looked a little self-conscious.

American hair, so often overbleached and overpermanented, seems to have been taking such a beating that wigs for some are the answer, although the fad actually started in Paris.

I was amused by a reference to false hair in times past in an old "Home Handbook of Domestic Hygiene" which says, "The ungainly masses of unnecessary material, which fashion has heaped upon the heads of those who bow to her authority, are a frightful cause of diseases of the scalp and brain. The immense loads of hair, jute or other material, which are attached to the head, cause a great increase of the temperature of the brain and scalp . . ."

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: It is with great interest that I read your column. I wonder if you will write something on good manners concerning the art of dressing properly for each occasion. Whenever I go out with my husband I am embarrassed by not knowing what kind of dress or costume to wear. Please help me. — Mme. C. L., Montreal, Canada."

Women who dress appropriately remember that — except for special occasions such as gala luncheons or teas or receptions — daytime dress is simple. In the winter attractive, undecorated wool dresses, sweaters and skirts — what the English call "walking suits" — are all good choices.

The conservative woman wears gold or silver jewelry or simple pearls in the daytime, not masses of rhinestones and other glittering bits of costume jewelry at ears and throat.

Even for dress occasions during the daytime, it is better to verge on the side of simplicity, good lines, good fabrics, rather than on fussy additions to the costume. A pretty hat, dress gloves and dress shoes can make a simple daytime suit quite acceptable for a luncheon party.

Even in the evening a truly smart woman under-dresses. She avoids furbelows, brocades and satins unless she is very sure that she has the figure and height to wear them well.

One of the most important things which makes a woman's wardrobe look appropriate is coordination of color. It is well to choose one, or possibly two, basic colors and build from them, rather than have a wardrobe with dresses and suits of all colors of the rainbow, difficult to accessorize.

One of the best books on dress is Claire McCardell's "What Shall I Wear?" This is what she wrote about zippers:

"Remember to sit down in the dress or suit before you say, 'I'll take it.' The most astonishing things can happen when you try sitting down in the skirt which looked perfect when you stood in front of the mirror.

Consider where the zipper is. You may live alone and like it, but you may regret it if you wrench your arm trying to zip a back zipper into place. If you do decide on the dress with a back zipper, be sure that the top has room to spare.

If the strain is too great, the zipper may slip and become a glaring indiscretion. If it sticks, you are really caught. At least a zipper misbehaving on the side can be covered with your arm.

I shall never forget the woman in pink satin, a little too plump, trying to look as if it hadn't happened when everyone on the dance floor could see the back zipper on her dress caught halfway."

ADELINE FITZGERALD
Special Fashion Correspondent

ROME — The Italians more than anyone have fun with their fashions.

And chief among the fun-makers this year are the Fontana Sisters.

Little sister Gioia, 20, presented her boutique creations. All her mannequins wore their hair in touseled braids hanging over their shoulders while modeling heavy linen skirts with French seams on the outside that were basted in contrasting color thread.

One of their fun hats was a cap made entirely of olive leaves, complete with olives. There was also a hat covered with seemingly every kind of grape grown in Italy.

For cocktails, the Fontana sisters proposed a bouffant tulle veil that covers the head and shoulders, much like a bride's face veil. The cocktail veil however, has a front opening to sip through.

Fontana cocktail shoes have "candelabra" heels. Fastened to the heels at random are crystal pendants which tinkle when in motion.

OTHER NOVELTY IDEAS from here and there:

Mr. Gilles, who makes some of the most engaging hats in Rome, has a head-hugging cloche with appleblossom ear flaps. Also an evening hat of six roses seemingly tucked into the hair.

Capucci is made for fringe. Sometimes fringe peeks from beneath the hem of a narrow skirt.

With sleeveless cocktail dresses, Simonetta uses above-the-elbow gloves of red glazed kid.

Why Are So Many X-Rays Taken for Chest Exams?

By DR. J. MOLNER, M.D.

Dr. J. G. Molner

A man writes concerning an X-ray taken by one of the mobile TB units. He was asked to take a second one — and then was sent to a private physician for yet another.

Why? The mobile units take a 70-millimeter X-ray film, giving a picture somewhat comparable in size to a snapshot you might put in a photograph album.

This size is about 95 per cent effective for all ordinary purposes. It shows up major faults. And, of course, by the law of averages most of these X-rays are of normal people.

When some defect appears, a life-size X-ray plate is in order, both to confirm the small X-ray, and to give more detailed information about the condition which needs treatment.

Problems other than TB are found in these so-called "TB X-rays." In today's case, the outward symptoms were a lot of sputum and coughing and hacking, and a very bad odor of breath and the mucus which was coughed up. Plus shortness of breath.

These are the usual symptoms of bronchiectasis. (There are some different forms, but this is the usual one). The bronchi, or bronchial passages, become dilated and damaged. It is quite common for infection to form.

Clearly it is imperative to control the infected areas where there are abcesses. In some cases it is very helpful to get the patient to virtually "stand on his head" to drain matter from the lungs.

In still other cases, where the trouble is limited to a moderate area, surgeons can remove the affected portion of a lung with very excellent results.

In other cases, my best advice is to regard this problem as what it is: A chronic condition which isn't going to be corrected by any medicine or operation, yet one which can be alleviated considerably if the patient will be conscientious in following steady treatment.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Always write to him in care of The Miami Herald.

Luxury Touch: Sliver Truffles

Feeling extravagant? Buy a small can of truffles and cut the delicacy into slivers. Mix them with cooked buttered wild rice to be served with rock Cornish game hens.

'My Parents Are Unfair...'

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

What does "dry behind the ears" mean, anyway? I am a 14-year-old girl and I am unhappy because I think my parents are very unfair.

They read letters I get from boys and then say, "You are too young to be writing to boys, wait until you are dry behind the ears."

Isn't it all right for a girl to write to a boy she likes who lives in another town? I don't write mushy letters, I am very well behaved and know how to take care of myself.

Do all teen-agers suffer like I do?

CARIL

All teen-agers go through a "suffering" stage when they believe their parents do not understand them. Sometimes they are right — more often they are wrong. You started something when you asked "What does dry behind the ears mean?" To my surprise no one seems to know when, or how, the expression originated — including my diligent librarian friends. (Hints from readers will be welcome.)

In your case, your parents meaning is quite clear. They actually are saying you are immature; too young to be interested in boys. I can see nothing wrong in answering a boy's letter providing the letters cannot be misinterpreted as chasing the boy.

There is a strange thing about parent-teen relationships. In many cases the day never comes when some parents are willing to admit (or believe) that their off-spring are "dry behind the ears" — even when married, holding down important jobs and intelligent, adult members of a community.

Breeze Ruffled Hair at Nautical Fashion Show

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

The Bay's freshest breezes always seem to pick Ladies Day at Coral Reef Yacht Club to work off their ginger.

Wednesday was no exception, but the atmosphere was tailor-made for the day's entertainment, a parade of nautical fashions.

A capacity luncheon crowd of 350 (maybe more watched from the terrace) sat under the flapping tent and watched the yachting fashion show which ran the gamut from shorts to cocktail dresses.

The ruffling of the models' carefully-coiffed hair definitely added to the day on the water atmosphere.

Fashion shows seem to bring out the style in women spectators, and Coral Reef's members were no exception.

An exceptionally attractive guest, in her broad-brimmed white hat and red linen suit, was Emily (Mrs. Martin Jr.) Shaw, sister-in-law of Mrs. James Lipscomb who was Beth Shaw.

Beth and Jim and their children Shawn, 11, and Jim, 15, are leaving for Europe June 1 where they'll travel for a year. The children will take extension courses and Beth will play teacher!

Among her other guests were Claudia (Mrs. James) Lancaster and Charlotte (Mrs. John) Duval.

"There's no one left in DuBois, Pa.—they're all here," insisted Mary Lou (Mrs. Ed) Harris. Seven in her party of 19 were present or former DuBois-ites, including the honor guest Sally (Mrs. James) Damus, now visiting her sister Virginia (Mrs. Wallace) Nimer. Virginia is from DuBois, as is their other sister Genevieve (Mrs. Anthony) Abraham. Mary Lou is married to their brother Ed.

No relation except for town origin was Louisa (Mrs. Nels) Walter.

Annette (Mrs. Aubrey) Maguire in a coffee colored straw hat with white flowers, was hostess to a baker's dozen at lunch. The two Mrs. Francis Calhouns — senior and junior — were among her guests, as were Mrs F. P. Atwell, Mrs. Helen Booth and guest of honor Mrs. Arthur Sullivan of Cincinnati.

New Post for Allan?

Overheard in Palm Beach . . . "they say" that Allan McNab, who has been acting director of the Chicago Art Institute for almost a year, is a leading candidate for one of the biggest museum jobs in the East this spring.

Allan was director of the UM Lowe Gallery and the Society of the Four Arts in Palm Beach before he went to Chicago.

A Review of Dr. Zhivago

Book reviewer extraordinary Florence Bourke Ellis is donating her services for a review at the Miami Woman's Club on Monday when the Vassar Club holds its annual brunch. Proceeds go to the scholarship fund.

On Wednesday Florence is reviewing Dr. Zhivago, the Nobel prize book written by the Russian author, Boris Pasternak. Florence claims that she sees something in the book which she believes others have overlooked, a sort of subtle propaganda pro, not anti, Russia.

Bettye Wins a Prize

Here's a picture of former Miamian, Bettye Esmond, now Mrs. Raymond W. Wells, with her prize winning picture entitled "Musa." It was judged one of the 10 most distinguished oils in the first annual exhibit of the Surburban Art League of the North Shore on Long Island, in Oyster Bay.

Bettye (Mrs. Raymond W.) Wells
. . . and prize painting, Musa

Warm Weather for a Change

They are guests at the home of Tony Hulman's mother, Mrs. Anton Hulman on N Bay Road. All the party except Mrs. Hulman, senior, and Nancy went to Nassau abroad a yacht.

Baby's Vinyl Panty Snaps On

By JEANNE VOLTZ
Herald Homemaking Editor

Separates now have come to baby's lingerie world.

The manufacturer calls them diaper-separates. The outfit consists of a new vinyl baby panty, a pre-folded gauze diaper and a disposable diaper pad.

Either the diaper or diaper pad tucks into straps inside the baby panty. The panty snaps on, so no pins are needed.

The panty is extra soft, washable and boilable. It stays white for the life of the panty. It comes in proportioned sizes for leakproof fit without binding or chafing.

Mother may want to use both diaper and disposable pad for extra absorbency at night or when baby is travelling. With the three diaper products, this is possible.

The panty can be used over ordinary pinned-on diapers. Or the gauze diaper may be pinned on, the disposable pad tucked inside an ordinary diaper for extra absorbency.

The diaper-separates can be bought all three at once or whichever part needed.

16 Dade Recipes Go To Citrus Semi-Finals

Recipes of 15 Dade women and one man have been picked for the semi-finals of the first All-Florida Orange Dessert Contest.

Charles MacWhorter, 1249 NW 11th St., is the lone man semi-finalist.

Two other semi-finalists have previously won prizes in national Bake-Offs. They are Mrs. O. O. Phelan, 107 NW 96th St., Miami Shores, and Helen V. Zymalski, 7324 SW 22nd St.

Among other semi-finalists are Mrs. Paul Cajacob, 333 W. 15th St., Hialeah, Mrs. Robert M. MacArthur, 74 NE 97th St.; Miss Helen Marcus, 9160 W. Bay Harbor Dr., Miami Beach; Mrs. Vivian A. Pieret, 360 NE 164th Ter.; Miss Dorothy Billheimer, 512 Mendoza Ave., Coral Gables.

Others are Mrs. Henry Clark Hull Sr., 681 E. 34th St., Hialeah; Mrs. Gabrielle Santina, 6031 SW 82nd Ave.; Mrs. Pearl Locke, 1115 NW 85th St.; Lenore S. Junior, 8809 Harding Ave., Surfside; Mrs. Marguerite Foster, 2318 SW 62nd Ave.; Susan V. Henry, 5250 SW 99th Ter.; Mrs. Martin Prieto, 2499 SW 234th Ave.

Semi-finals will be held March 3. Each contestant will bring his or her dish to be judged. Two semi-finals winners will be chosen to go to the state finals March 19 in Winter Haven.

Judges for the semi-finals were Jeanne Voltz, Herald Homemaking Editor; Bertha Hahn, News Food Editor; Olga Kent, Dade County Home Demonstration Agent; Martha Lee Henderson, coordinator of Homemaking Education for Dade schools, and Sister M. Eulalia, O.P., head of the Barry College Home Economics Department.

Semi-finals winners will receive electric ranges. The state winner will receive, in addition a refrigerator, water heater, garbage disposal, dishwasher and automatic washer and dryer.

The contest is sponsored by the Florida Citrus Commission in cooperation with Florida Power and Light Co. and other utility companies in the state.

3 Miamians Are Initiated Into Stetson Honorary

Seven members have been initiated into the Stetson University chapter of Scabbard and Blade, National Military Honorary Society. Capt. Kenneth L. Shepard, president of the society, presided over the ceremony at which Phil Yonge and Charles Fulton, both of Miami, were initiated.

Short Course in 'Menninger Health'

—Herald Staff Photo by Ray Fisher

Dr. William C. Menninger in Miami

. . . not everybody needs psychoanalysis

By ROBERTA APPLEGATE
Herald Staff Writer

If you understand yourself better you'll be able to do better work—and be happier, too.

Celebrity Parade

So says Dr. William C. Menninger, one of the nation's top psychiatrists. He is general secretary of the Menninger Foundation at Topeka, Kans., a research, training and treatment center for mental illness.

"But I don't prescribe psychiatric treatment or psychoanalysis for everyone," he says.

"It's expensive, and 90 per cent of the time we all can handle our problems reasonably well."

Dr. Menninger is a tall, big-boned man with piercing eyes under bushy eyebrows. Although he has held top offices in psychiatric societies he speaks in words and phrases the layman can understand.

People Forget The Rules

HE DOESN'T HAVE any pat answers, rules or formulas to pass on to the public.

"It's not that I'm unsympathetic to rules," he said with a smile.

"Most people know the general rules. They just don't pay much attention to them."

Then Dr. Will—as he's called to distinguish him from his older and equally famous psychiatrist brother Dr. Karl Menninger—added:

"But it would help if a person could increase his understanding of his own ability, and could know what he can expect to accomplish."

Reading Helps Understanding

"WHEN WE LEARN more about ourselves, we can be more effective. And the better we understand ourselves, the better we can understand other people."

He recommends reading to help bring about self-understanding. "A lot of things are written in lay language about personality structure and function."

Then Dr. Menninger talked briefly about mental and emotional health, the "modern rat race," a father's role—and reluctantly, a little about himself.

. . . "Anybody who is under pressure long enough begins to bend a bit.

"But nobody works himself sick.

"It's evidence of internal pressure that should be solved in other ways than by excessive work."

. . . "It doesn't make much sense for a man to be a wizard at business and a flop as a father.

"Most men consciously believe the great purpose of living is to have a home and a rich family life. But some are more married to their business than their family.

"I don't want to appear to be damning business men because many are aware of their problem. They're keenly disturbed, but they get trapped.

"Sometimes they need to re-evaluate their life programs and see where their priorities are."

2 Bottlenecks In Treatment

HE'S CONCERNED about two major bottlenecks in the treatment of mental illness and emotional problems.

The first bottleneck—lack of trained people — psychiatrists, social workers, nurses, therapists.

The second—"just a handful of research compared with the need. There are so many things we need to know—how to help people more effectively."

Dr. Will is a proud father. One of his sons is on the administrative staff of the Menninger Clinic, his older son is a psychiatrist there and his youngest son is receiving his psychiatric training at the clinic.

Menninger Talks Tonight

Dr. William C. Menninger will speak at 8:15 tonight in Dade County Auditorium, 2901 W. Flagler St.

His topic will be "You and Your Emotions."

The Mental Health Society of Greater Miami is sponsoring his lecture.

Tickets are available at the auditorium.

Speech Contest

Winner of the Greater Miami Toastmistress Club speech contest today will compete in a state level contest in April in Jacksonville. Today's contest is at 7:45 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Henry E. Schaefer, 1535 Trevino Ave., Coral Gables.

Saturday Is Party Day

The women who've made 147,492 cancer dressings this year will take a breather from work Saturday. That's when the United Order True Sisters, Greater Miami Cancer Circle, will celebrate its ninth birthday at a noon luncheon and games party in the Biscayne Terrace Hotel.

Mrs. John W. Kaiser, executive director of the local unit of American Cancer Society, will speak. During the past year, the circle members have given 5,613 volunteer hours to the cancer society, plus the 147,492 dressings. The order also supports the radioactive treatments for indigent cancer patients at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Mrs. Theodore Goldstone, 2015 Calais Dr., Miami Beach, is taking reservations for the luncheon.

Fish Cook-out Is Topic Of New Sound Movie

Fish cook-outs from Florida to Washington state can be a future program for your group or club.

A Florida mullet smoke is one of nine cook-outs in a sound-color 16 mm. film just released by the Department of the Interior. It is available for free loan.

The Florida portion of the move shows fish being caught near Stuart and Salerno. The mullet is smoked on a patio in Miami.

Other southern cook-outs are Carolina pine bark stew cooked in a bayou setting, a shrimp boil at Morgan City, La., and an oyster roast in Gloucester Point, Va. A New England clambake and Maine lobster boil are in the movie.

For cold weather fans is a sequence on ice fishing for smelt and cooking perch in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. There's a political rally-fish fry in Ohio and an Indian salmon barbecue on Neah Bay, Wash.

The film is 16th in a series produced by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries. The movie runs in 28 minutes.

All Women Are Good--

GRENOBLE, France — (WNS) — Male members of the Don Juan Club, who profess to have researched the subject, have issued the following report on the behavior of foreign women for the benefit of fellow French students at the University of Grenoble:

The German woman is good to her children.

The British woman is good to her dog.

The Dutch woman is good to her house.

And the American woman? She's good to herself.

'Children Can Break-- Or Make a Marriage'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I have read with interest letters about mother love and children in your column lately. But I don't think any woman can realize that children can break a marriage, just as they can make one, unless she's been through my experience.

I have two children. Until this fall, I was the symbol of perfect motherhood. I would have been the first to tell anyone how I had sacrificed for mine, how devoted I was to them.

The children ruled the roost. What they need, or what I thought they needed, they got. Nothing was too good. My daughter had baton lessons, dancing lessons, Scouts.

My son was a Scout and I was a den mother. I lost contact with old friends, since I had no time for my alumnae club, sorority or woman's club. My life was dedicated.

Last spring my husband started to play softball with his company's team. He gave up being scoutmaster to do it. I was outraged, for there were the children.

I had failed to notice that my husband was not a part of my life like he once was. I just assumed that passion goes out of marriage when you pass 35. Besides, I was so tired from all my children's activities, I couldn't be bothered.

My husband asked me to go to the games with him, but they always conflicted with PTA or something, and I didn't. Much to my dismay, his secretary and her son had time to go. By the end of the season, they had grown very attached.

In the fall, my husband asked for a divorce, saying, "You'll always have the kids."

I was hurt beyond belief. I fumbled for months, and then my husband agreed to go to a marriage counselor. The root of our problem was our children. My husband resented the fact that they took too much of my time.

I agreed to the demands he made for returning to me. I gave up being a den mother, cut out baton and dancing lessons, the PTA . . . I put adult plans before the children's.

It was hard. It meant giving up what I thought was essential for happy childhood living for my children. The first time my husband and I announced we were going to the movies without them, there was an awful scene. I couldn't believe they could be that ugly.

When we went on vacation without them, the girl pretended to be ill, the boy had hysterics.

Four months have passed and things are getting better. My husband no longer sees his secretary, and she has been replaced at the office.

If the children's plans conflict with adult plans, the children do without. The temper tantrums have ceased, and having seen my children for what they were really were—spoiled, ill-tempered tyrants, I do a better job of being a mother.

The whole thing was painful, and I still ache at times, but my marriage is saved.

If more women could realize that their husband comes first, "foresaking all others," there would be less problems with children and fewer "other women" to contend with. I learned the hard way.

VERY LUCKY

Letters like yours are the answer to a marriage counselor's prayer—living proof of what two people can do if they really want to save a marriage. Thank you for telling us your story.

Eleanor Hart.

Recipe of the week

from March Better Homes & Gardens

A tasty new way with tuna to please family or guests

Hot Tuna Salad

- 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1 6½-, 7-, or 9¼-ounce can tuna, drained
- 1 cup diced celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

- 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 1 cup crushed potato chips

Mix soup, tuna, celery, onion, salad dressing, and seasonings; fold in egg slices. Pile lightly into individual baking shells or casseroles.* Sprinkle with crushed potato chips. Bake in very hot oven (450°) 10 minutes or till hot. Top with additional egg slices and parsley. Makes 6 servings.

* Or bake in a 1½-quart casserole in hot oven (400°) 25 minutes.

This is just one of 67 Taste-tested Recipes in March Better Homes & Gardens. And be sure to clip the recipe for Perfect Apple Pie in this big issue. Nothing earns you those loving smiles like a just-from-the-oven piece of apple pie.

Wealthy Astor Widow Talented, Too

By Cholly Knickerbocker

NEW YORK — As Vincent Astor's newly widowed Brooke prepares to go to Arizona, she is wearing mourning for the third time in only a few years.

CHOLLY

First, Vincent's sister, Alice Astor Bouverie died in 1956, then his mother, Lady Ribblesdale, passed on last June. Now Vincent is gone. Brooke has the added worry of her own mother, who has been ill.

Speculation about the Astor estate continues despite printed reports that Brooke is receiving the interest on 100 million dollars and two million in cash for her lifetime. That should certainly more than enable her to keep up the Arizona place, the New York apartment and the house in Rhinebeck.

Even if Mrs. Astor were penniless, she wouldn't have to worry. The talented Brooke Marshall was once an editor of House and Garden magazine and is a fine decorator, too. It was she who did over the St. Regis roof. Speaking of the St. Regis — everyone is still wondering just what will become of the famous hotel that is part of the Astor estate.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor swayed beneath the sheltering palms of El Morocco at a party the other night given by Elsa Maxwell. Everyone was talking about the large "emerald" necklace the Duchess was wearing — it must have been imitation, for the real thing would have been worth about 10 million dollars. The Duke was very smart in his dinner jacket and patent leather loafers. Among the guests were Sir Robert Pierson Dixon and his Lady, the Duke de Verdura, the Valerian Stux-Rybars, those lovebirds Denny Slater and Ann Holloway, Japan's U.N. Ambassador Koto Matsudaira, Reinaldito Herrera, Norman Winston, Italian Consul Marchese Ruggiero Farace de Villa Foreste, etc.

ELSA MAXWELL

SIR ROBERT DIXON

DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

A very nice true story about the Duke and Duchess is making the rounds. It seems they flew some of the country's leading specialists to the beside of their Haitian chauffeur's ailing mother. Sidney, who has been with them for years, was also sent along and the Windsors footed all the bills.

* * *

Reports elsewhere that the visit to the U.S. of Grand Duke Vladimir (senior surviving member of the Romanoff family and pretender to the nonexistent throne of Russia) was called off because the U.S.S.R.'s Anastas Mikoyan already stole the show and ruined the grand duke's timing, are silly. The visit has been canceled because the Grand Duke, who lives in Madrid, is wed to a commoner of princely Georgian nobility (she is called the "Grand Duchess" as a courtesy), and he is afraid his wife might be snubbed by some of New York's protocol-conscious White Russian colony. Most of them don't recognize her.

Dulles' Top Lieutenants, Herter and Dillon, Are of Same Breed

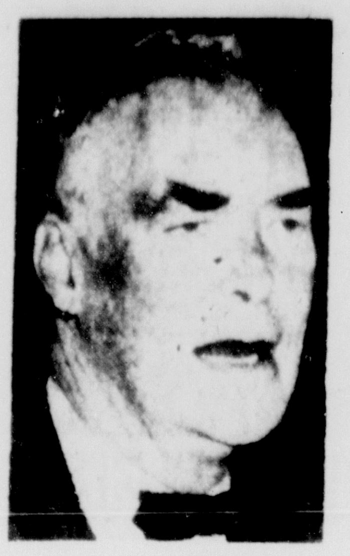
By PETER LISAGOR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Christian Archibald Herter and Clarence Douglas Dillon, who at the moment occupy the No. 1 and 2 operating roles in the State Department, are men of similar background and breeding.

LISAGOR

Both were born abroad — Herter in Paris 63 years ago, Dillon in Geneva, Switzerland, 49 years ago. Both were graduated from Harvard cum laude, and both are eminent examples of the cultured elegance of the eastern Republican internationalist.

Herter is the more experienced in politics, government service and diplomacy.



Christian Herter
. . . knows politics

Born of parents who were studying art in Paris, Herter was 10 and fluent in French before he returned to the U.S. He entered diplomacy as a young man serving as an attache in the U.S. embassy in Berlin before World War I.

He was one of the last Americans to leave Berlin in 1916. Because he was 6 feet 6 inches tall and over the height limit, as well as underweight, he was rejected for military service.

He continued, instead, as a State Department official acting in turn as the secretary to a commission that negotiated a prisoner-of-war agreement with Germany and chief aide to the American Commission to Negotiate Peace in 1918-19.

It was at Versailles that he first met John Foster Dulles, a young man about to launch a career in foreign affairs to culminate in his becoming secretary of state in 1953.

Herter later worked with Herbert Hoover in European relief. When Hoover became secretary of commerce in 1921, Herter stayed with him as an assistant.

After a period as a private citizen and lecturer at Harvard on international affairs, Herter entered Massachusetts politics in 1931. He spent 12 years in that state's House of Representatives.

In 1942 he became a Republican member of Congress and distinguished himself as chairman of a select committee on European aid, which visited 18 European Countries and laid the groundwork for the Marshall Plan for Europe's post-war recovery.

On that Committee was a young freshman House member from California, Richard M. Nixon.

In 1956, much to his embarrassment, Herter was the unwitting center of an effort by Harold E. Stassen to promote him as the GOP vice presidential candidate.

In 1952, Herter was elected governor of Massachusetts for the first of two terms. He came to Washington as undersecretary of state in February, 1957, in the belief that he was to be groomed for the top spot.

In recent years he has been a victim of arthritis, which has forced him to use arm crutches when he gets tired in the late afternoon. Associates say it has not handicapped his work.

Herter is a slender man of great charm and friendliness, with graying brown hair and brown eyes. He prefers bow ties.

He is a brilliant bridge player and once found a fascination in shooting ducks.

He is reserved but has quick flashes of humor and enjoys a good story. He has four children and 12 grandchildren.

Dillon went from Harvard in 1931 directly into the world of international finance as a member of his father's banking firm, Dillon, Read & Co.

He served in World War II with the air arm of the Seventh Fleet in the Pacific. He worked with Dulles in the 1948 GOP presidential campaign for Thomas E. Dewey. He was an alternate delegate-at-large from New Jersey to the 1952 GOP convention that nominated Dwight D. Eisenhower.

C. Douglas Dillon

His first diplomatic experience was as ambassador to Paris in 1953 where he presided over U.S. interests in bringing Germany into the Western Alliance.

He came to the State Department two years ago and became quickly responsible under Dulles for U.S. foreign economic policy. He has won wide congressional approval for his performance in that role.

A handsome man slightly over 6 feet, with thinning brown hair, he is amiable but gives the impression of being preoccupied. He speaks in a slow, halting manner with long pauses.

His diversions are golf, tennis, sailing, art appreciation and visiting his 300-acre farm in the foothills around Somerset City, N.J. He has two daughters and is an Episcopalian.

No Regrets-- She's Expecting

NORMAN, Okla. — (AP) — At a city commission meeting a letter of resignation from Mrs. A. F. Gerken, a member of the safety council, was read.

It was suggested it be accepted with regret.

"Oh, no, not with regret," said Commissioner June Benson. "She's leaving to have a baby." The resignation was accepted with congratulations.

Big Bosses of Crime Going 'Respectable'

By EDWARD RANZAL
The New York Times Service

NEW YORK — The pattern of organized crime in the U.S. has undergone startling changes since World War II. Some of the most important crime syndicate leaders today are men of outstanding public reputation with no criminal records.

N. Y. Times News Service

The changing pattern and the details of its operation have been brought to light in a nation wide drive on crime.

To lull people into a state of apathy toward organized racketeering, syndicate leaders eschew public violence, prosecutors have found.

To create the appearance of successful business men, the leaders have resorted to the techniques of modern high-pressure public relations. They have infiltrated legitimate businesses to an amazing degree.

Some of the legitimate businesses in which the syndicate leaders are engaged are trucking, garment manufacturing, exporting and importing, restaurants, bars and grills, fuel companies, building construction, produce markets, insurance and real estate.

In the operation of these businesses they are often tied up with crooked labor leaders who see to it that they can operate at a profit.

These are some of the conclusions drawn by Attorney General William P. Rogers' special group to prosecute organized crime in the 10 months of its existence.

Milton R. Wessel, head of the special group, refuses to discuss pending problems, explaining that "those will be made public only at the proper time and place."

The group was set up last April as a temporary body to proceed nationally against the country's 100 top racketeers.

District attorneys, police departments and all federal agencies have been cooperating with the group. Thus for the first time there is an appearance of unification in the fight against organized crime.

With four federal grand juries operating in the U.S. courthouse at Foley Square here, and with offices in Chicago, Los Angeles, Miami and Washington, the group has established the existence of several nationwide crime syndicates.

Members of modern syndicates have moved into the lucrative areas created by the growing national wealth.

To avoid prosecution, the syndicates have turned largely to risk-free crimes in which there is no one victim. Conspiracy brings the victim into the syndicate's fold as a co-conspirator, as in bookmaking and narcotics traffic.

There is public apathy towards bookmaking. Thus, a seemingly innocuous crime can lead to corruption in public office. Once corrupted, a public official must continue his illegal cooperation even when the syndicate engages in extreme underworld violence.

Except to enforce its code, syndicate crime has largely eliminated actual violence as a weapon of crime, although the threat of violence is often implied. This tends to make syndicate crime appear even more innocuous, lulling the public and making it difficult for vigorous law enforcement to find support.

Experience has taught syndicate members to acquire the services of highly qualified lawyers and accountants, to cloak them in legitimacy. To hoodwink public officials, substantial contributions are made to charities and political organizations. Membership in religious, fraternal and civic organizations is necessary in the life of a syndicate leader.

Profits from crime are poured into legitimate investments in business and industry. The result is that some of the most important syndicate leaders are men of outstanding public reputation with no criminal records, or at least none for two or more decades.

Your Child Unhappy?

CHICAGO —(AP)— Psychiatry is shedding new light on the emotional difficulties of children.

Dr. Victor Balaban of the National Association for Mental Health says parent's care is essential to a growing child, but if overdone it could strangle his security.

How can a parent tell when a child needs help with an emotional problem?

Prolonged unhappiness, frequent crying over trifles, signs of withdrawal, unreasonable fears, more-than-normal agressiveness, severe truancy, and signs of tension are some of the most common symptoms.

Dr. Balaban suggests if you don't know anyone to consult if there's something about your child that worries you, ask your local medical society or mental health group.

Hoffa Hurls Strike Threat At Carpenters

Aims Squeeze Against Groves That Union Owns in Florida

Hoffa told reporters the Carpenters Union owns some of the biggest citrus groves in Florida.

We're going to organize the Carpenters citrus groves, and put them on strike if they won't negotiate with us," Hoffa said.

He didn't say whether he planned to recruit, into the Teamsters Union, employes other than truck drivers at the groves.

Hoffa linked his statement with a declaration he believes the AFL-CIO ought to take his scandal-scarred union back into its ranks "on the same basis as the Carpenters."

He said he had read news reports that the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Puerto Rico has decided not to expel the Carpenters if they will clean up their own ranks.

"The Teamsters ought to be taken back into the AFL-CIO on the same basis the Carpenters have remained in," he said. "Are there two sets of ethics?"

The AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters, denouncing it as a corrupt union and a disgrace to organized labor.

In reply to questions, Hoffa, said he will not ask President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to take back the Teamsters. "I have nothing to say to him," he said.

But Hoffa contended that neither expulsion from the parent organization, nor corruption charges aimed at the Teamsters by the Senate Rackets Committee, has hurt his union's organizational drives.

He said the Teamsters have recruited more new members since they were expelled than have been added by all of the remaining AFL-CIO unions combined. He reported the membership of the Teamsters increased 135,000 in the last year to 1,632,000.

Hoffa made his statements to newsmen as he visited the Senate Office Building to deliver a two-foot stack of manila envelopes containing documents he said the rackets committee had requested.

Ike Leaves On Goodwill Mexico Trip

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Eisenhower left Wednesday for a goodwill trip to Mexico.

His plane, Columbine III, took off at 2:14 p.m., heading for Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex. After an overnight stop there the President will go on to Acapulco, Mexico.

With the President on the Texas leg of the journey were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, who lives near Austin, and Rep. Homer Thornberry (D., Tex.).

Shortly before takeoff Eisenhower said his talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos today and Friday will serve primarily to permit him to pay his respects.

Eisenhower will spend the night at Bergstrom, then take off again early today on a four-hour flight to Acapulco. The President plans a two-day stay.

This will be the first meeting of Eisenhower and Lopez Mateos, who took office last December.

Gen. George Marshall

Marshall Is Hit by 2nd Stroke

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — (UPI) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that Gen. George C. Marshall has suffered a second and more severe stroke and is in "serious condition."

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was conscious and there was no evidence of paralysis, according to the medical bulletin issued at Womack General Hospital here.

But Col. George Powell, chief of medicine at Womack, said Marshall's condition was "serious and prognosis depends on future developments."

Powell said that Marshall had some difficulty in swallowing and seeing but his blood pressure and pulse were stable.

The bulletin said Marshall suffered a "more severe stroke than the previous one he suffered a month ago" at his winter home in nearby Pinehurst. The latest stroke came Tuesday afternoon after Powell had reported that Marshall had become "moderately weaker."

'Dulles The Man I Want'

Even Sick, He's Tops With Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to stay on as secretary of state as long as Dulles "believes that he is in shape to carry on."

The President told his news conference he would rather have a sick Dulles as secretary of state than anyone else.

"I know of no man . . . in the world," Eisenhower said, who can equal Dulles' "wisdom and knowledge" in foreign affairs.

"Therefore as long as Secretary Dulles believes that he is in shape to carry on, he is exactly the person I want."

He denied reports that Dulles tried to resign last week after learning he had cancer again. And as for himself, the President said he has not discussed the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles "with anyone."

The President answered "No" when asked if he had given any thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin and German problems.

He said he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday that plans for the meeting should go "right ahead."

He said Dulles' views are well known and he is "backed up by able men of his own choosing" who can carry out his policies. For this reason, he said, it was not likely there would be any need to hold the foreign ministers conference in the U. S. because of Dulles' illness.

As for the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting in that city, it will be the Russians who start it. But he made plain again that the U. S. and its allies intend to remain in Communist-encircled West Berlin even though the Russians carry out their threat to turn over access routes to the East German Communists May 27.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed Wednesday that if the Allies resorted to force to keep open access routes to West Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower commented that "we are not saying we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go on and continue carrying out our responsibilities" accepted in 1945 to maintain the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin."

Eisenhower, with a jibe at Union Chief Walter Reuther, turned thumbs down on any attempt to revive at this time emergency unemployment compensation for the jobless.

Declaring the nation was in a period of mounting prosperity, he also scoffed at Reuther's proposal for a march of the unemployed on Washington to seek more federal aid. He said he didn't see how any good could come out of such a demonstration.

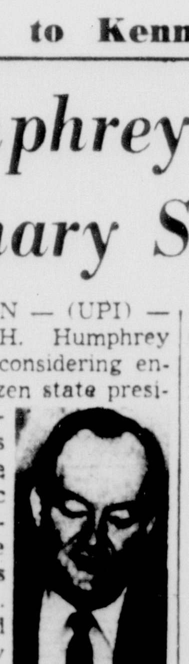
Challenge to Kennedy

Humphrey May Test Primary Strength

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.), is considering entering half a dozen state presidential primaries to test his strength in the 1960 Democratic presidential race, the senator's friends said Wednesday.



HUMPHREY

They reported he probably would enter the Democratic primary in his home state of Minnesota, provided the Legislature does not do away with it, as well as those in Wisconsin and South Dakota.

Farther west, he was said to be considering either the Oregon or Montana primary, and perhaps both. Pennsylvania was listed as a possible site for an Eastern bid.

A decision by Humphrey to jump into the primary race probably would make him the most active challenger to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D., Mass.) for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Many Democrats expect Kennedy to enter primary contests outside his home state. They have doubts about such other potential contenders as Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Orchard Villa School Integration Ordered

Board Decrees Admission of 4 Negroes in Fall

The admission of four Negro pupils to all-white Orchard Villa Elementary School was approved Wednesday by the Dade County School Board in Florida's first move to integrate a public school below college level.

Acting unanimously on a motion by member Dr. Robert S. Butler, the board voted to admit the pupils at the opening of school next September.

However, the possibility existed that there would be practically no white pupils left by next fall. Enrollment has already dropped from 235 to 171 this year.

Many white families have been leaving the area as Negroes move in.

School officials said that white children would be able to go to other, segregated schools in the county "if there is room and if they provide their own transportation."

A board survey last fall showed that all but about 50 of the white families then living there would send their children elsewhere in the event of integration.

The children who will be admitted to Orchard Villa are Sherry Joseph, six, Irene Amanda Glover, seven, Jan Glover, eight, and Gary Range, six. Two will be in the second grade, one in the third, one in the fifth.

They live less than two blocks from Orchard Villa but have been walking more than a mile to the nearest Negro school.

Butler said his motion to integrate was the only alternative under existing state laws. "The particular students meet the criteria set forth in the Pupil Assignment Law," he said.

There was no discussion on the motion, except for a comment from Superintendent Joe Hall, who said, "it would be most in order."

"We are operating under the Pupil Assignment Law, which we must follow," he said.

The assignment law, passed by a special session of the Legislature in 1956, was designed to hold integration to a minimum by letting local boards assign pupils according to factors other than race, but which closely correspond to race.

The Dade board's action met both applause and angry reaction from state officials.

The four pupils enrolled at Orchard Villa last fall, but were reassigned to Holmes Elementary, the Negro school a mile away. It is crowded and has been operating on double sessions.

Backed by NAACP legal assistance, the four Negroes' parents appealed the reassignment at a school board hearing in September. The decision was delayed pending a series of studies of the neighborhood.

Hall said Wednesday that "on the basis of these studies,"

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

But Governor Voices Approval

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

The Dade school Board's plan for token integration won approval Wednesday from the governor and the author of Florida's pupil assignment law, but drew bitter criticism from legislative leaders.

The dissenters promised a last-ditch fight for extremist legislation to prevent integration at any cost.

Senate President Dewey Johnson of Quincy said he felt every county should be allowed to decide for itself by referendum what it wants to do.

Johnson said he feels the action of the Dade School Board "has openly violated the intent of the people of Florida."

"I hate to see them throw in the sponge when it is not absolutely necessary," he added.

Sen. Joe Eaton of Miami, stressing that he has always felt separate but equal facilities for whites and Negroes preferable, called for an objective study of the situation.

"It is my hope that regardless of our pesonal attitudes, we may review this decision calmly and objectively," he said.

"The progress of our state and the security of our nation depend in large measure on a system of public education."

Eaton said the school board decision apparently was to follow the course of North Carolina and Texas rather than the flat-footed, ill-fated resistance of Virginia.

Virginia, after closing down its schools, was forced to reopen integrated.

House Speaker Tom Beasley of DeFuniak Springs said he is now ready to vote for a "last resort" bill which would permit schools to close down rather than integrate.

He opposed it at the 1957 legislative session which passed the Pupil Assignment Law allowing school boards to put students in whatever schools the board members thought best.

Beasley labled the Dade School Board's action "outrageous."

But L. L. Fabisinski, retired Pensacola judge who is chairman of the governor's committee on race relations, stepped forward to praise the Dade School Board's action.

"There is no question that this strengthens our Pupil Assignment Law," he said.

"This state law was designed to give us a constitutional safeguard against mass, indiscriminate desegregation of our public schools."

Fabisinski was chairman of the committee which drafted the law.

Gov. LeRoy Collins, from his sick bed in Tallahassee, said he concurred with Fabisinski's thinking. He made no immediate elaboration.

Dade Rep. George Hollahan said he felt the school board had acted "on good advice" and with the thought of pre-

Meeting With Collins Paved Way

Months of Preparation Led To School Board's Action

Months of preparation went into the Dade School Board's unanimous decision to crack the color barrier in Florida's public schools.

The action admitting four Negroes to a white school took less than two minutes, and with only three sentences of discussion.

But the final decision to take the step was made Monday morning when a group of board members met secretly at a Miami hotel with Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Insiders reported that Dr. Robert S. Butler, who made Wednesday's motion, engineered the unanimous action by persuading dissenting members to help present a united front. Butler has long favored token integration to preserve the Pupil Assignment Law.

Last year, Dade school leaders met in Tallahassee with the governor to discuss the need for token integration in some community. Groundwork for the Dade action was laid there.

Last Friday, Collins said Florida should undertake a voluntary program of limited integration.

Failure to do so, he said, could mean local boards would lose their right to choose the time and place of integration. Instead, federal courts, through suits filed by the NAACP, would make the decisions.

"I am not willing to surrender this power or authority to the NAACP," he said.

Churchmen Hail Decision

NAACP: It'll Be Peaceful

And ADON TAFT
Herald Staff Writers

Peaceful integration of the Orchard Villa elementary school next September was predicted Wednesday by G. E. Graves, local attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"We expect the people on both sides to accept this thing as the law," he said. "We don't expect any violence or mass hysteria."

Graves expressed himself as "satisfied" with the action of the school board. It came as a surprise to him.

"But," he added, "it's nothing to be jubilant about."

He would not reply directly when asked if he considered the move an encouraging one in the fight for integrated schools.

"That's a very hot question," he said.

"As far the people immediately involved, we are happy with the results," he added. "As to date we have not concerned ourselves with other students because they have not applied."

The four pupils to be admitted, Graves explained, are the only ones who followed through on all procedures required under Florida's pupil assignment law.

Graves said he did not know whether pressure would be brought soon to admit more Negroes to Orchard Villa or other all white schools.

But he said if such action was pending in the immediate future he was not aware of it.

No trouble is expected at Orchard Villa, said Graves, because the white and Negro students already know each other.

"Those children play together all day long," he said. "Everybody out there gets along fine."

Miami church leaders, meanwhile came forward with general approval of the action.

Here is what they said:

THE REV. A. E. GYSAN, president of the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church:

"When both the Biblical, legal and practical points are fully considered, one willingly accepts the decision of the school board and, furthermore, is willing to uphold the hands of our public servants in this matter, for I am convinced they did not make this decision hastily or without the fullest possible deliberation of all the matters involved."

THE REV. J. CALVIN ROSE, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, pastor of the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church:

"It would appear to me that it is in the best interest of the community that we uphold the unanimous action of our school board of men and women who are sufficiently informed of the state laws and the local situation to make a decision evidently in the best interest of the community."

* * *

"Something like this was inevitable. I don't believe it means a wholesale move to integrate."

DR. JOSEPH R. NAROT, president of the Greater Miami Rabbinical Association, rabbi at Temple Israel:

"This is compliance with the law of the land and I hope this will be the beginning of a process of 'moderation and reconciliation' which will resound to the well being of the whole community."

Staph Infection Closes Nursery

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The nursery of University Hospital was closed Wednesday after officials reported the finding of staphylococcal infection among staff members and infants.

A new temporary nursery was to be set up and operated until the older unit can be disinfected.

All those found to be infected are under treatment. Dr. Robert Lowe, hospital superintendent, said the disease among infants is under control and sick babies isolated.

Novice Driver Kills Children

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — A truck loader with a sudden urge to drive ran over and killed two children and crashed a big truck into a house.

He slipped behind the wheel while his boss was in a store.

"It was easy to start," he said later, "but when it got up speed, I couldn't control it."

Sosa's Last Order: 'Fire!'

Commands His Own Execution

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad Wednesday, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time Tuesday as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request—that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabana fortress:

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited. He told them:

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me."

Then he calmly told the executioners:

"Get ready . . . Aim . . . Fire!"

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.

Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up with the same guilty verdict.

Resigned to his fate, Sosa Blanco refused to make a personal plea for his life. "I shall go with a clear conscience," he said.

In his last hours, he was visited by a Franciscan priest and his wife and sister. The priest said the condemned man was calm. Only official witnesses saw the execution, and it was not announced until two hours after.

On the diplomatic front, Cuba directly challenged three Latin American countries which Castro charges are oppressed by dictatorships.

Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte said that Cuba would withdraw from the Organization of American States if Paraguay, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic remain members.

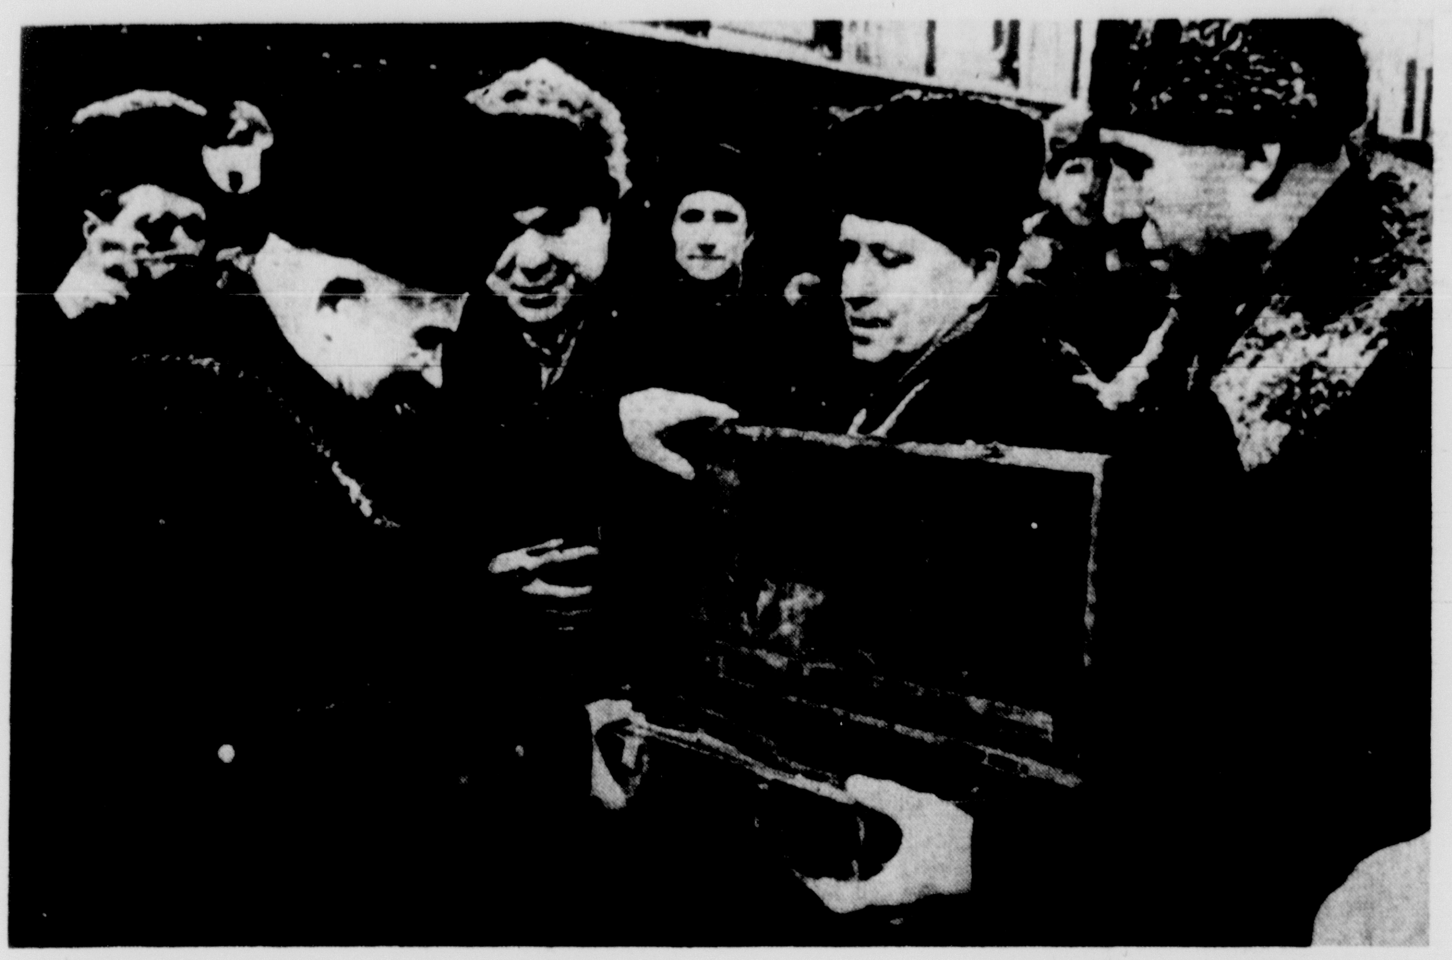
'95 Per Cent With Castro'

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— An official in the foreign ministry said Wednesday claims that a revolution is spawning against Fidel Castro's regime are not being taken seriously.

Nicholas Rivero, press coordinator for the foreign ministry, made the statement in commenting on statements attributed to Rafael del Pino, a former Castro companion. Del Pino reportedly has turned against Castro because of his alleged connections with Communists.

"This sounds like Batista propaganda," Rivero declared.

"The revolutionary army, which is a people's army, has replaced the old army of repression and is 100 per cent with Fidel Castro. At least 95 per cent of the Cuban people are with Castro."



A Shotgun for Nikita

Workers at Tula, an industrial center south of Moscow, present a shotgun to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, left. It was an apt coincidence, for Khrushchev spoke of guns to a Tula audience, saying that any attempt by Western powers to shoot their way into West Berlin by land or air will mean war with the Soviet Union.

Integration Ordered by Dade Board

the Negroes should be admitted.

Chairman C. Raymond Van Dusen left the meeting after the unanimous vote to make a prepared statement. He said that the decision had been made under the Pupil Assignment Law and that it was unanimous.

He declined to elaborate further.

"I don't want to make any more of a statement," he said. "We're trying to keep this thing as dignified and impersonal as we possibly can."

Butler said that "without this action, the Pupil Assignment Law wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on."

Other members asked for comment had the same reply: "The action speaks for itself."

Orchard Villa will be Florida's first integrated school below the graduate level. Two Negroes are now attending the University of Florida graduate school, but none have been admitted to elementary or high schools anywhere in the state.

We'll Dun Russians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. will send Russia a bill for about three million dollars for the Air Force transport plane downed in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2, officials said Wednesday.

Its chances of collecting are virtually nil. Since World War II, U.S. claims of nearly eight million dollars have been lodged against Moscow for five U.S. planes shot down by Soviet fighters. Russia has paid only $724,947, or half of one claim.

State Department officials declined to speculate on compensation which will be asked for the 17 airmen aboard the plane. Russia has returned six bodies and has said it had no information on the other 11. The Soviets claim the plane crashed after violating the Soviet border.

No Whites Show Up

22 Negroes Alone In Virginia School

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—(UPI) — Historic Warren County gave up its only public high school — a modern building capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils—to 22 Negroes Wednesday to maintain racial segregation.

It complied with Federal Court orders to reopen Warren County High School, but met a total boycott by white pupils who refused to yield to racial mixing in the classrooms. Not a single white pupil showed up for classes.

The 22 Negro pupils and nine white teachers gathered in the library for formal registration. The school's 30 classrooms were empty. Its corridors were ghostly silent.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque announced that Warren County in the rural Shenandoah Valley, has complied with the court's order to reopen the million dollar school plant. The school was closed last September under Virginia's "massive resistance" laws when the Federal Court ordered 24 Negro pupils admitted.

In downtown Front Royal, about half a mile away, some 800 white pupils attended the private, makeshift classes set up for them when the high school was closed six months ago.

Virginia's integration was directed by Federal Court order. Three Virginia metropolitan areas — Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria — admitted 30 Negroes to 10 schools earlier this month.

Front Royal, however, was the first predominantly rural locality in the South to face court-ordered integration.

Al He Needed Was Air

Not a Drink and He Got A Jag, Teetotaler's Gripe

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A teetotaler asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.

He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, that he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day.

He said things were getting so bad that his wife threatened to leave him and his boss accused him of tippling.

The health department discovered why the work was so intoxicating.

The man worked with trichlorethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

The man was not identified.

Boy Sentenced In Bomb Hoax

CHARLESTON, W.Va.—(AP)— James Patrick Fouts Jr., 16-year-old sophomore who admitted telephoning a false bomb report to his high school, was sentenced Wednesday to stay in a correctional institution until he is 21.

Juvenile Court Judge Herbert W. Richardson ordered him to the boys industrial school at Pruntytown. Founts pleaded guilty to causing the bomb scare.

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

serving the validity of the Pupil Assignment Law.

"It was obvious to me that upholding that law is the very best way of preserving segregation in the vast majority of cases," Hollahan said.

Rep. David Eldredge of Miami, who defeated former Rep. John B. Orr on an all-out segregation stand, called the school board's decision a step toward eventual social integration.

"I am not now, nor have I ever been, nor will I ever be in favor of bringing about in any way the social equality of the white and black races.

"This decision is a step in that direction and also is the ultimate goal of the NAACP."

Sumter Lowry of Tampa, candidate for governor in 1956 who campaigned on a one-plank segregation platform, blamed Gov. Collins for the Orchard Villa situation.

"His policy of token integration can lead only to the complete breakdown of segregation of the races," Lowry charged.

He said Collins "has violated his oath of office" by condoning any form of integration.

State Attorney General Richard Ervin said the Orchard Villa situation "points up the need for other alternative legislation including parent option."

Ervin, with Florida School Superintendent Thomas Bailey, is the author of the "parent option" plan which will be presented to the legislature as a proposed constitutional amendment.

It calls for the state to partially reimburse parents who send their children to private schools rather than to an integrated school.

In Washington, U.S. Rep. Dante B. Fascell of Miami said "the school board is the best instrumentality to determine the local situation and I hope this action will help resolve a very difficult problem."

Banker's Quizzing Continues

FCC Pushing Boston Probe

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday sought further information from Investment Banker Forrester A. Clark on his TV company's policy to steer clear of politicking during the four-way contest for Channel 5 in Boston.

Clark was slated for a second day on the witness stand at reopened FCC hearings on possible influence peddling in the award of the Boston channel.

He followed Boston Herald-Traveler Publisher Robert B. Choate, whose company — WHDH, Inc., — won the grant April 24, 1957. Former FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey is waiting to be called after Clark.

Clark testified that the board of directors of his firm — Massachusetts Bay Telecasters, Inc. — decided not to seek political aid in connection with its FCC application.

But he said when rumors began to fly that other contestants had been "active politically in Washington," the board decided MBT had better "touch all bases with our friends."

The idea, he said, was not to ask favors but simply to suggest that everyone "play by the same rules." He said he had no knowledge that anyone he saw did anything for anybody so far as Channel 5 was concerned.

Under questioning by assistant FCC General Counsel Edgar A. Holtz, Clark related how he first consulted a friend, U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., about the company's "no politics" policy.

"Lodge said in his opinion the administration would frown on any political activities at all," Clark testified.

Later, however, he said the board decided he had better see other people. These included, he said, Presidential Assistant Robert Cutler; former Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks; and McConnaughey.

Clark testified Cutler took a memo on the Channel 5 matter to Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. Adams telephoned McConnaughey in Cutler's presence and told him he (McConnaughey) was "appointed to do a job and could count on no influence whatever from the White House."

Dr. Libby Resigns From AEC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Dr. Willard F. Libby has resigned from the Atomic Energy Commission. He said he had to go back to teaching and research "if I am to remain a scientist."

Libby, the only member of the five-man commission with an extensive scientific background, made his resignation effective June 30.

The resignation was announced at the White House.

President Eisenhower, saying it was a "difficult task," to accept the resignation, did not immediately announce a successor.

Libby, from the University of Chicago, will have completed three years of his five-year term June 30. He is 50.

In a letter to Eisenhower, Libby gave no explanation for his resignation beyond saying that "if I am to remain a scientist I must return to teaching and research in the near future."

Miami and Beach Shadow Box While Bookies Work On

By GENE MILLER
and JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writers

While The Herald again made bets with bookies Wednesday, the City Commission in Miami and the City Council in Miami Beach sloughed off pleas to stamp out illegal gambling.

Four Beach councilmen sat in amused silence as fellow Councilman Mel Richard asked for an ordinance requiring mandatory jail sentences for convicted bookies.

His motion failed for lack of a second.

Richard charged that Beach bookies were so bold that a high school student learned the names of the horses by watching bets being taken at a lunch counter near the school.

Mayor Kenneth Oka alternately praised the Beach police for a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in 1958 and denounced the force for poor gambling and B-girl enforcement.

"I asked the police about a narcotics operation several weeks ago," said Oka, "and my information was better than theirs.

"It is distressing and embarrassing to have to read The Herald to find out what's going on around here."

Richard told the council that Police Chief Mike Fox told him personally he was in favor of a mandatory jail sentence for convicted bookies.

So Fox was called from his office to the council meeting.

"Are you in favor of it?" Richard asked Fox.

"That's up to the judge, Mel," replied Fox.

After explaining that the council—not the judge—makes ordinances, Richard said, "It is obvious Fox doesn't know the meaning of the word 'mandatory.'

Fox smiled.

"Would it (mandatory jail sentences) help?" Richard asked again.

"I don't know," said Fox. "I don't know the feeling of the bookies."

While the audience laughed, Fox again and again replied to questions by Richard and Oka, "I'll do what the city manager and Council tell me."

"That's an evasive answer, Mike," Oka said. "We're telling you now. Enforce the laws."

During the entire hour and ten minute discussion, Councilmen Harold Spaet, Harold Shapiro, Bernie Frank and Marcie Lieberman said nothing. They uttered not a peep.

Councilman D. Lee Powell said, "I am unalterably opposed to gambling."

Powell, Spaet, Shapiro, Frank and Lieberman all voted for Fox's appointment as chief 20 months ago.

At the Miami City Commission meeting, Mayor High said, "Apparently the police chief (Headley) is not able to stop the gambling.

"Therefore, I suggest that the city manager suspend the police chief."

Commissioner Otis W. Shiver said he favors a thorough investigation.

"But we just can't pussyfoot around on this thing," said Mayor High.

Chimed in Councilman James High, "Don't forget that we as commissioners are subject to a 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine for interfering in administration matters."

"This is a matter for the grand jury," Commissioner George DuBreuil said.

"George, don't you ever get tired of running down there every minute?" James High asked.

Then City Manager E. A. Evans said he already is investigating.

"I anticipated that this would happen," said Evans. "It comes out every year almost to the same day, and I was prepared for it."

And there the matter dropped.

Bets Easy Even if the 'Heat's On'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

If the "heat is on" as the police say, bookmakers on both sides of Biscayne Bay still weren't worried about it Wednesday.

They were doing business almost as usual when a Herald reporter placed three bets with them.

Two of the bookies were in Miami; one in Miami Beach. The wagers were put down within a three-hour period.

Bets placed by The Herald with comparative ease in the past five days now total 15.

Both Miami and Miami Beach police still contend, however, that bookmaking in their own bailiwicks is still on a "sneak" basis—that is, off and on.

Wednesday's bets were made:

AT THE CORNER of West 39th St. and Alton Rd. in Miami Beach. A runner known as Shortstop took a $5 win bet on Risk Again in the first Hialeah race.

AT JACK'S BAR, 1361 NE Second Ave., Miami. A patron who said "Just call me John," accepted a $5 bill from the reporter, marked the nag's name in a wire-hinged notebook. The horse was Oil Burner, running in the fourth at 4 to 1 odds.

* * *

ON THE SIDEWALK in the 100 block of NE 14th St. Little Jimmy, a Negro handyman, said he would "look after" getting a $5 win bet down on Big Winner, an 8 to 1 shot in the ninth.

But he advised this Herald reporter:

"You better watch yourself when you come again . . . You know what the papers been sayin' lately about bookmakin'."

In Jack's Bar, the conversation touched on the recent disclosures by The Herald of wide-open bookmaking in almost every area of the county—but nobody was worried.

"The cops don't check us that closely around here," said John, who admitted he was "just starting out in this (bookmaking) business."

But on the Beach, Shortstop was concerned about bettors "contacting me right out in the open like this.

"We can operate . . . but we were told to keep it down." He said he did not have time to explain.

National Summary

Arctic air is again on the move, concentrated in high pressure over the northern plains and pushing through the Gulf and Atlantic states, scheduled to lower temperatures over most of the eastern half of the country.

Temperatures at midday were as much as 5 to 10 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana and a 15 to 20 below range is forecast from Montana to Wisconsin.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for parts of New York and Pennsylvania and colder air should cover the Florida peninsula Thursday, nudging into 80 degree warmth reported.

Low pressure off the northwest coast continues to feed moisture inland and showers with snow in the mountains again extended over the Pacific states and into the northern Appalachians.

Showery weather should retreat from all but extreme northern parts of California, but rain is expected to move back into central sections of the state Thursday while rain or snow will be featured in the northern and central plateau states.

'Vacation Is Ideal Time'

Tourists Learn to Fly in Sunny Skies

By BILL BECK
Delray Bureau Chief

LANTANA — A brand new concept in learning to fly has taken wing at the Lantana Airport.

It's called "learn to fly on your vacation."

Behind that unassuming name is a jet-powered idea that could revolutionize flying in America.

The possibilities for Florida — with its unequaled flying weather and millions of vacationers — are unlimited.

This new approach is predicted on two factors. First, the vacation period is the ideal time to learn to fly. Second, and even more important, beginners want to learn in new, modern planes.

Instead of flying on the occasional weekends when the weather is right, the student can take two or three lessons in a single day.

Instead of getting the flying counterpart of a model T Ford — which is so often the cast at flying schools — he sails through his lessons in a 1959 model, luxury equipped air-limousine.

It boils down to more interest in flying by more people. Plane sales, rentals and the teaching business naturally benefit from the increased business.

Authors of this new concept of a flying school are Piper Aircraft Corp. and Steve Gentle, operator of Palm Beach Aviation Flight Center.

Piper tried it out last year on an experimental basis at Gentle's airport at Martha's Vineyard. The results were so good that Piper joined in the operation here, and has launched plans for setting up similar flight centers all over the country.

. . . under watchful eye of Steve Gentle

Airport operators predict it won't be long before other plane manufacturers jump on the bandwagon for the very good reason that the plane the student learns to fly in is the one he will more than likely buy.

According to Gentle, 20 years of being an instructor has taught him there are "thousands of people who have always wanted to fly, but never seem to get around to it."

They might, Gentle said, if they lived closer to airports, the weather wasn't lousy most of the year, their wives didn't disapprove, the training planes were modern, and if they weren't so tied up with business.

"We've found that the vacation period is the ideal time to learn," the veteran instructor said.

"They don't have any worries then and they can't swim all the time. And, you know, most people want to feel that they have accomplished something on their vacation."

For the students who have apprehensive wives, Gentle suggests they bring along the "better half" as well as the children while they are learning.

"That way," Gentle said, "the wives enjoy the sighseeing and in the process gain enough confidence to fly with their husbands after they get their licenses. Surprisingly enough, the wives make pretty good back seat drivers."

State Losing Millions To 'Tax Dodge' Artists

Wide Crackdown Planned by Green

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Tax-evading, "dishonest" Florida businessmen are costing the state millions of dollars yearly, Comptroller Ray E. Green said in Miami Wednesday.

"You often read about dishonest public officials, but when I got into this I found there are more dishonest businessmen than I ever dreamed of," he declared.

Ray E. Graan
. . . hunts tax dodgers

"We are trying to plug the loopholes with some stringent auditing and checking," he said.

Tax dodgers operate statewide, he said, with the most flagrant violators in the larger counties such as Dade, where business is bigger and the angle-shooters sharper.

"Some of these fellows down here think up new escape tactics faster than you can counter them," Green said.

"You train them better down here," he added wryly.

The comptroller, here from Tallahassee on an inspection tour, said he is adding 10 auditors to his staff at an annual cost of $100,000 in an effort to clamp down on tax dodgers.

"For the $100,000 cost, I guarantee we can collect an additional million dollars," he declared.

Five of the new men will be assigned to the 72-member staff in Miami. One will operate at large and one each will be added to Fort Lauderdale, Jacksonville, Orlando and Tampa.

Most of the evasion comes from falsifying reports of sales tax collections, Green said.

He said "dishonesty" has been uncovered in all types of business ranging from the country grocery store to big merchants.

Green pointed out that the state is suffering financially due to a near disastrous "season" last year and a poor start for this winter's tourist business.

Can Florida hold the line without additional taxes?

"Yes, I believe it can be done," he said.

Legislators are more economy-minded now than at any time Green can recall. They, like he, are concerned over the below-estimates state income during December and January.

Business now appears on a definite upswing in Florida, Green said. But he cautioned against too much optimism.

He said his greatest worry is the small amount of state cash on hand to meet current expenses.

"We had a 62 million dollar reserve in July of 1957," he said. "A year later, we had 27 million dollars reserve and by July of this year, we will have only two or three million left.

"That means we are spending more than we are taking in."

Green said he will ask the Legislature to set up a reserve fund to provide for the lean months or a setback such as suffered by Florida last winter when cold weather virtually killed the tourist business.

All Prisons See Morals Problems

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — The Southern Conference on Corrections at Florida State University was told Wednesday that sexual misconduct flourishes at all penal institutions.

Donald E. J. MacNamara of the New York Institute of Criminology, told prison people from all over the South sex deviation "is engaged in not only by inmates, but by staff. Most is voluntary, sometimes for cash or favors. Not a little is forced. Attempts to control or eliminate sex activity have proved futile."

The New Yorker, also program coordinator for the Association for the Psychiatric Treatment of Offenders, said that, as a result of such sex activity, the inmate suffers, along with his family, society and the whole prison community.

"What can be done about it?" he asked. "Only a basic reorientation of our society's sex attitudes, which will permit a healthier sex activity program within our penal institutions — or at least a healthier attitude toward the alternative and substitutive activity necessarily associated with unisexual confinement."

The correctional meeting, attended by prisons, pardon and parole people, social workers, juvenile court officers and social scientists, from over the South, winds up its two days of discussions today.

Before adjourning the conference will hear a panel discuss the question of whether capital punishment should be abolished.

Gov. LeRoy Collins has indicated he will ask the 1959 Legislature to remove the death penalty in Florida.

New Road Fund Plan Attacked

The plan was advanced by Chairman Joe Grotegut of the State Road Board. He gave details to members of the fifth road district Wednesday after previously going over the proposal with the State Association of County Commissioners.

'he said the plan would reduce the problem in the present setup, in which counties must buy rights-of-way before the state can build roads.

Grotegut suggested the road department have complete jurisdiction over 80 per cent of two cents of Florida's 7-cent gas tax. This would amount to about 15 million dollars a year, and could be used for rights-of-way and other expenditures.

The state highway system would be the present primary system, plus about 1,000 miles of secondary roads.

The plan gave the counties the other 20 per cent of those two cents, in addition to all of another penny of the tax, instead of the 20 per cent they now get.

This would give them about 12 million dollars more than they now get. This would be used for building and maintaining county roads.

Grotegut also suggested an eighth cent could be levied in counties where needs would require addtiional financing.

The road chairman said the plan "will provide the greatest possible equalization and efficiency in meeting road problems within present revenue in most counties. The third measure would be for counties having abnormal needs for new roads."

Florida's constitution requires two cents of the tax be spent in the county to which it is allocated under a formula. bechangedbyGrotegut'splan. be changed by Grotegut's plan.

Grotegut said many counties don't have secondary road funds; some counties aren't interested in acquiring rights-of-ways for through highways; and there is confusion when one governmental unit obtains a right-of-way while another unit stands idle.

Eliminate Milk Rule --Odham

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Milk Commission Chairman J. Brailey Odham of Sanford said Wednesday the most constructive step the Legislature can take would be to eliminate board power to fix prices housewives pay for milk.

But Odham doubted the Legislature would do so. "They could do it," he said, "but when they get to Tallahassee the voice of eight or 10 farmers or distributors rings clearer than the 20 to 30 thousand people who elected them."

The commission held a public hearing to determine whether the people of Florida want to keep state milk control, or prefer federal administration.

Sen. Tom Adams of Orange Park, chairman of an interim committee which proposed abolishment of the commission, said he did not think the commission was the answer to

He said the present commission was doing a good job, but when its personnel changed, administration could get worse, not better.

Odham said if the power to set retail prices is removed, "anyone can administer the law."

At present there are no retail price controls. The commission dropped them a year ago, but continued to control prices distributors pay farmers. However, the power to set retail prices remains.

Two areas in the state, Miami and Pensacola, have voted out state controls, and a petition is being circulated in the Tallahassee area for the same thing.

The commission was told by F. E. Willis, Tallahassee independent dairy owner, Bordens and Foremost dairies are offering Tallahassee farmers an 18-month contract if they will vote to end commission control.

For 'Non-Essentials'

Jax Attorney Hits Waste in Schools

JACKSONVILLE —(UPI) — A possible 1960 candidate for governor said Wednesday taxes sufficient to support "non-essential" functions of Florida's school system would "drive people out of Florida" faster than they have been moving in.

Fred H. Kent, Jacksonville attorney, said he had found that "money is being wasted by our schools in teaching nonessential subjects and performing non-educational functions at a ridiculous rate."

Addressing the Meninak Club, Kent said if proposed taxes to finance these programs were approved they "would drive people out of Florida during the next 10 years faster than they moved in during the past 10."

He said this program of "non-essential education is cutting down on the money which should be going to the teachers and is "lowering academic standards to such a level our public schools are no longer turning out enough properly educated graduates to justify their continued existence as now operated."

As a solution, Kent suggested creation of a group which would supervise public schools as the State Board of Control does oclleges and universities.

He said the citizens committee which preparted the minimum flundation program "recommended substantially such a lay board."

But, he said the Legislature "because of opposition from one person, then was a member of the constitutional board of education, enacted instead an innocuous statute which provided for such a board but gave it nothing but advisory powers."

Dixie Exodus Heavy

Southerners Are 'Movingest' Folk

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — Southern people were pictured as among the "movingest" in the country Wednesday night by a Florida State University sociologist, who said most of the "movers" had gone to other parts of the country.

Although hard to believe in Florida, which is drawing many more people than it is losing, the South, as a whole, has been able to maintain, or increase, its population through the years only by a heavy excess of births over deaths, Dr. Charles M. Grigg said.

He told the American Studies Lecture series, which is devoted this spring to a study of the South and the nation 100 years after the Civil War:

"For every decade since 1860, except two, 1890-1900 and 1930-1940, the Southeast has grown at a slower rate than the nation. This has occurred in spite of the fact that the South has had a high birth rate during this 100-year period.

"The reason is obvious. The South has lost its native born population to other parts of the country."

Dr. Grigg, director of the Center for Social Research at FSU and a researcher in population problems, said, on the question of mobility, that some 25 million Americans in 1950 lived outside the state of their birth.

In the Southeast alone five million had, as of 1950, moved from one state to another, while another 7,344,125 had moved outside the South. The South has well earned the title "the seed bed of the nation," he said.

It has been the rural South which has furnished most of the people for urbanization within the South, and has also contributed greatly to urbanization of other sections of the country, he said.

Many of the movers have been Negroes. In 1860 the South had 88 per cent of the nation's Negro population, but in 1950 only 61 per cent of the 15 million Negroes lived in the South.

Looking at the racial composition of people who have moved from the South, he said the 1950 figures show "four out of 10 were Negroes, but the non-white migrants outnumbered the whites in a number of states."

The heavy exodus of Negroes has made for a Negro population outside the South four times as large as at the beginning of the century.

Of the Negroes remaining in the South, there has been a heavy trend toward the cities, especially large metropolitan areas.

Mutual: Let Juice Unit End

LAKELAND —(UPI)— Florida Citrus Mutual's advisory board recommended Wednesday that the controversial Concentrators Advisory Committee be allowed to die a natural death this summer.

The board recommended Mutual's directors oppose efforts at the 1959 Legislature to renew the committee for another two years. Unless the Legislature takes action, the committee's life will end this summer.

The board acted at the suggestion of Sam Banks of the Lakeland Packing Co., who said it was wrong for an industry committee to have the power to tell the commission what it could or could not do.

The committee was established by the 1957 Legislature and given power to recommend proposals to regulate the concentrate industry.

Under the act the commission could not pass regulations affecting manufacture of concentrate not approved by the committee.

The commission has proposed that the committee be continued but that the commission be able to initiate regulations controlling concentrate manufacture.

Mutual and the committee were opposed last month in the squabble over raising of orange quality standards for fruit going into concentrate, a measure proposed by the committee at the urging of the Florida Canners Association.

The Advisory Board also recommended the directors approve a proposal by Mutual's legislative committee dealing with the composition of the Citrus Commission.

The commission is composed of seven "simon pure" growers, two grower-canners, two grower-shippers and one grower-concentrator.

Mutual would ask the Legislature to keep seven pure growers, but of the five remaining members, three would be grower-processors, and two would be grower-shippers.

Mutual General Manager Robert W. Rutledge said that one half of the state's citrus crop has now been harvested.

He also reported that if the current government crop estimate of 83 million boxes of oranges is correct, the Florida concentrators this season will pack 70,500,000 gallons, compared with slightly more than 57 million gallons last season.

Lower Bus Fares Ordered at Jax

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — City bus fares have been ordered lowered by the City Council. Single fares remain 20 cents but tokens will cost 18 cents instead of 19 and transfers 5 cents instead of 10.

Reduction was ordered after the city auditor reported the privately owned bus company made $36,000 in the third quarter and $78,000 in the fourth quarter of last year.

Four Acquitted

BUNNELL —(UPI)— Four truck drivers charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of a Teamsters union organizer were acquitted Tuesday by an all male jury that deliberated two hours.

Organizer George K. Jones, 31, was killed in a shooting which left another man dead and three others wounded outside his trailer home Dec. 5.

Howard Glisson, a truck driver, died in the shooting and Alex Faircloth Jr., 24, one of the defendants, was critically wounded. The other defendants were Robert Drake, 26, Sidney McCraney, 31, and Jack Johnson, 33, all of the Bunnell area.

Years Haven't Dimmed Voice Appeal, Judy Garland Proves

THIS GARLAND GIRL named Judy still packs the potent punch of a heavyweight in the talent department—and this is the only subtle nod we'll make toward an obvious matter of avoirdupois in this review after first challenging any calory-conscious overweights in the reading audience who might have the temerity to throw the first "stone" (British measure) at Judy for wearing a few sizes larger than she did in the 30's of "Over the Rainbow" and "Trolley Song" days. Who doesn't in these days of plenty? Wear larger sizes, that is.

Talent in the unprecise arts should be weighed without irrelevant thumbs pressing on the scales and with concern only for its effect on an audience. In her Fontainebleau La Ronde debut Miss Garland effectively moved her audience to what could have been a standing ovation with a trifle more organization. And it was an earned hit.

Joe E. Lewis, in from his own stand at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii next door, blended 100 proof fact with the fun with which he feels he must toughen all sentiment in testifying that Judy's charm and singing had brought a tear to his eye even though the lump in his throat could very well have been scotch.

Today's Judy isn't the irrepressible song and dance darling of yesteryear. She has no corps of boy dancers to assist her and her movement and manner are subdued. But the song still has the vigor of old once she has warmed into it. There is nothing flashily explosive in her performance — and yet it generates, from the warmth of its mounting intensity, a power to lift from a take-off level of a well-wishing doubtful Thomas at the start to the completely sold and devoted role of a Boswell, eager to sing deserved praises, at the finish.

Amusements

Catchy Break Still There

THERE IS MUCH to praise. "You Made Me Love You" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," for instance, sung with the same pathetic little vocal break that was Judy's contrived stock in trade long before life had time and opportunity to etch it there for real . . . the hard way.

Then, for a gayer and tantalizing touch, Judy never did a more persuasive job than she does currently with a teasingly tempoed "Do It Again" or a livelier "Day In, Day Out." Add the inevitable "Trolley Song," "Zing Went the Strings" and "Over the Rainbow" — the last off microphone—and a climaxing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" and you have a repertoire that scored a Garlanded victory.

Oh sure, we personally didn't care for her "Rock-a-bye My Baby" or "Suwannee." That might have been not so much a lack of appreciation for Judy, however, as it might have been a greater appreciation for the memory of hearing Al Jolson do these numbers. After all, Jolie didn't sing "Over the Rainbow" or "You Made Me Love You." Or did he?

If he did then we've forgotten in the light of Judy's greater talent with them. Be that as it may—Judy Garland, who has had her share of ups and her downs, is on the up-beat at the Fontainebleau.

Hoffa Hurls Strike Threat At Carpenters

Aims Squeeze Against Groves That Union Owns in Florida

Hoffa told reporters the Carpenters Union owns some of the biggest citrus groves in Florida.

• "We're going to organize the Carpenters citrus groves, and put them on strike if they won't negotiate with us," Hoffa said.

He didn't say whether he planned to recruit, into the Teamsters Union, employes other than truck drivers at the groves.

Hoffa linked his statement with a declaration he believes the AFL-CIO ought to take his scandal-scarred union back into its ranks "on the same basis as the Carpenters."

He said he had read news reports that the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Puerto Rico has decided not to expel the Carpenters if they will clean up their own ranks.

"The Teamsters ought to be taken back into the AFL-CIO on the same basis the Carpenters have remained in," he said. "Are there two sets of ethics?"

The AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters, denouncing it as a corrupt union and a disgrace to organized labor.

In reply to questions, Hoffa, said he will not ask President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to take back the Teamsters. "I have nothing to say to him," he said.

But Hoffa contended that neither expulsion from the parent organization, nor corruption charges aimed at the Teamsters by the Senate Rackets Committee, has hurt his union's organizational drives.

He said the Teamsters have recruited more new members since they were expelled than have been added by all of the remaining AFL-CIO unions combined. He reported the membership of the Teamsters increased 135,000 in the last year to 1,632,000.

Hoffa made his statements to newsmen as he visited the Senate Office Building to deliver a two-foot stack of manila envelopes containing documents he said the rackets committee had requested.

Gen. George Marshall

Marshall Is Hit by 2nd Stroke

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — (UPI) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that Gen. George C. Marshall has suffered a second and more severe stroke and is in "serious condition."

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was conscious and there was no evidence of paralysis, according to the medical bulletin issued at Womack General Hospital here.

But Col. George Powell, chief of medicine at Womack, said Marshall's condition was "serious and prognosis depends on future developments."

Powell said that Marshall had some difficulty in swallowing and seeing but his blood pressure and pulse were stable.

He said a "very mild pneumonia" had appeared practically concurrently with the second stroke.

'Dulles The Man I Want'

Even Sick, He's Tops With Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to stay on as secretary of state as long as Dulles "believes that he is in shape to carry on."

The President told his news conference he would rather have a sick Dulles as secretary of state than anyone else.

"I know of no man . . . in the world," Eisenhower said, who can equal Dulles' "wisdom and knowledge" in foreign affairs.

"Therefore as long as Secretary Dulles believes that he is in shape to carry on, he is exactly the person I want."

He denied reports that Dulles tried to resign last week after learning he had cancer again. And as for himself, the President said he has not discussed the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles "with anyone."

The President answered "No" when asked if he had given any thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin and German problems.

He said he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday that plans for the meeting should go "right ahead."

He said Dulles' views are well known and he is "backed up by able men of his own choosing" who can carry out his policies. For this reason, he said, it was not likely there would be any need to hold the foreign ministers conference in the U. S. because of Dulles' illness.

As for the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting in that city, it will be the Russians who start it. But he made plain again that the U. S. and its allies intend to remain in Communist-encircled West Berlin even though the Russians carry out their threat to turn over access routes to the East German Communists May 27.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed Wednesday that if the Allies resorted to force to keep open access routes to West Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower commented that "we are not saying we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go on and continue carrying out our responsibilities" accepted in 1945 to maintain the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin."

Eisenhower, with a jibe at Union Chief Walter Reuther, turned thumbs down on any attempt to revive at this time emergency unemployment compensation for the jobless.

Declaring the nation was in a period of mounting prosperity, he also scoffed at Reuther's proposal for a march of the unemployed on Washington to seek more federal aid. He said he didn't see how any good could come out of such a demonstration.

Novice Driver Kills Children

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—A truck loader with a sudden urge to drive ran over and killed two children and crashed a big truck into a house.

He slipped behind the wheel while his boss was in a store.

"It was easy to start," he said later, "but when it got up speed, I couldn't control it."

She Needed Insurance, All Right

More State News, P. 1B, 11C

While he was on his way to see her, she was having her troubles on an isolated road southwest of here.

A 40-mile wind blew over a pine tree on top of her car as she drove along. Some nearby citrus grove workers came to the rescue but had to chop through the tree to get Mrs. Kamrradt, about 40, out of the automobile.

When they cut through the trunk, the top of the tree crashed on some powerlines. This caused a brush fire which burned over several acres.

The flames blew away from Mrs. Kamrradt but she was hospitalized with injuries from the tree accident which left the roof and windows of her car smashed.

The unidentified insurance man didn't say what kind of policy he wanted to sell Mrs. Kamrradt, but she probably wishes she had it.

Shoots Set for June

Air Force to Fire 2 Probes at Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL —(AP)— The Air Force will make two daring stabs to shoot space probes to the planet Venus this June, informed sources said Wednesday.

The Venus tests, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's busy satellite program for 1960, will be made using two-stage versions of both the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM.

One official close to the program identified the launching vehicles as the Atlas-Able and Thor-Able. A second stage for the powerful Atlas currently is being developed by Convair Astronautics.

The Thor-Able has already been used with promising results on three Air Force lunar probes and four nose cone reentry tests at intercontinental range. A mouse was aboard on three of the latter flights but it never was recovered.

The two shoots will be attempted sometime in the middle of June when Venus and Earth are in the best positions, the source said.

One probe probably will be aimed at swinging a satellite around the planet while the other may go past Venus and far out into space.

Another version of the two-stage Thor will be fired on a polar orbit satellite test soon from the Pacific missile range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The admission of four Negro pupils to all-white Orchard Villa Elementary School was approved Wednesday by the Dade County School Board in Florida's first move to integrate a public school below college level.

Acting unanimously on a motion by member Dr. Robert S. Butler, the board voted to admit the pupils at the opening of school next September.

However, the possibility existed that there would be practically no white pupils left by next fall. Enrollment has already dropped from 235 to 171 this year.

Many white families have been leaving the area as Negroes move in.

School officials said that white children would be able to go to other, segregated schools in the county "if there is room and if they provide their own transportation."

A board survey last fall showed that all but about 50 of the white families then living there would send their children elsewhere in the event of integration.

The children who will be admitted to Orchard Villa are Sherry Joseph, six, Irene Amanda Glover, seven, Jan Glover, nine, and Gary Range, six. Two will be in the second grade, one in the third, one in the fifth.

They live less than two blocks from Orchard Villa but were assigned last fall to a Negro school a mile away.

Butler said his motion to integrate was the only alternative under existing state laws. "The particular students meet the criteria set forth in the pupil assignment law," he said.

There was no discussion on the motion, except for a comment from Superintendent Joe Hall, who said, "it would be most in order."

"We are operating under the pupil assignment law, which we must follow," he said.

The assignment law, passed by a special session of the Legislature in 1956, was designed to hold integration to a minimum by letting local boards assign pupils according to factors "overlapping" the race factor.

The Dade board's action met both applause and angry reaction from state officials.

The four pupils enrolled at Orchard Villa last fall, but were reassigned to Holmes Elementary, the Negro school a mile away. It is crowded and has been operating on double sessions.

Backed by NAACP legal assistance, the four Negroes' parents appealed the reassignment at a school board hearing in September. The deci-

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

But Governor Voices Approval

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Dade School Board's plan for token integration won approval Wednesday from the governor and the author of Florida's pupil assignment law, but drew bitter criticism from some legislators.

Key segregation leaders predicted the Legislature will revive and pass next April the so-called "last resort" bill to close Florida's public schools rather than integrate them.

Gov. LeRoy Collins vetoed this measure last session, but segregation leaders say the threat of voluntary integration in Miami will give them the votes to override a veto next time.

"It's an outrage," declared House Speaker-designate Thomas D. Beasley of Walton, a strong foe of legislation two years ago to close the schools. "I will vote for it this time if no other solution presents itself."

Senate President-designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said the School Board violated the intent of the Florida Constitution which requires separate schools for whites and Negroes.

Gov. LeRoy Collins and his race relations committee appeared to be the only ones in favor of the School Board action. Collins said he agreed "completely" that the move was "sound and wise," and will help stave off indiscriminate, mass desegregation.

Key legislators disagreed, almost to a man, charging the threatened admittance of four Negroes to Orchard Villa "is just a foot in the door to topple segregation everywhere."

Many of them blamed the governor who apparently tried to prepare the public last week for the School Board decision. He said then that the people must permit some voluntary integration or have it forced on them indiscriminately by court edict.

Reaction began minutes after the School Board action was announced — and just about all of it was negative.

"This lends urgency to the need for a parent option plan" to let parents withdraw their children from integrated schools and educate them privately with state financial help, commented Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum, Florida's chief expert on segregation law.

Sen. Johnson said it shows clearly that the pupil assignment law was "just a stopgap law and we need something much stronger. This law served as a delay for a while, but we can see now that it has served its purpose."

Attorney General Richard Ervin agreed.

"Under the pupil assignment law, it lay within the discretion of the School Board to assign

Meeting With Collins Paved Way

Months of Preparation Led To School Board's Action

Months of preparation went into the Dade School Board's unanimous decision to crack the color barrier in Florida's public schools.

The action admitting four Negroes to a white school took less than two minutes, and with only three sentences of discussion.

But the final decision to take the step was made Monday morning when a group of board members met secretly at a Miami hotel with Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Insiders reported that Dr. Robert S. Butler, who made Wednesday's motion, engineered the unanimous action by persuading dissenting members to help present a united front. Butler has long favored token integration to preserve the pupil assignment law.

Last year, Dade school leaders met in Tallahassee with the governor to discuss the need for token integration in some community. Groundwork for the Dade action was laid there.

Last Friday, Collins said Florida should undertake a voluntary program of limited integration.

Failure to do so, he said, could mean local boards would lose their right to choose the time and place of integration. Instead, federal courts, through suits filed by the NAACP, would make the decisions.

"I am not willing to surrender this power or authority to the NAACP," he said.

Churchmen Generally Approve

NAACP Split on Decision

By JUANITA GREENE
and ADON TAFT
Herald Staff Writers

Miami and state leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People differed sharply Wednesday over the decision to integrate Orchard Villa Elementary School.

Rev. A. Leon Lowry, of Tampa, state NAACP president, said the integration decision was "only a token thing," and urged Negroes to "press toward total compliance."

But G. E. Graves, Miami attorney who represents the NAACP, said he is "satisfied" with the Dade School Board action, and added he expects integration to be peaceful.

"We expect the people on both sides to accept this thing as the law," he said. "We don't expect any violence or mass hysteria."

"But," he added, "it's nothing to be jubilant about."

He would not reply directly when asked if he considered the move an encouraging one in the fight for integrated schools.

"That's a very hot question," he said.

"As for the people immediately involved, we are happy with the results," he added. "As to date we have not concerned ourselves with other students because they have not applied."

The four pupils to be admitted, Graves explained, are the only ones who followed through on all procedures required under Florida's pupil assignment law.

Graves said he did not know whether pressure would be brought soon to admit more Negroes to Orchard Villa or other all white schools.

But he said if such action is pending in the immediate future he is not aware of it.

No trouble is expected at Orchard Villa, said Graves, because the white and Negro students already know each other.

"Those children play together all day long," he said. "Everybody out there gets along fine."

Miami church leaders, meanwhile came forward with general approval of the action.

Here is what they said:

THE REV. A. E. GYSAN, president of the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church:

"When both the Biblical, legal and practical points are fully considered, one willingly accepts the decision of the School Board and, furthermore, is willing to uphold the hands of our public servants in this matter, for I am convinced they did not make this decision hastily or without the fullest possible deliberation of all the matters involved."

* * *

THE REV. J. CALVIN ROSE, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, pastor of the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church:

"It would appear to me that it is in the best interest of the community that we uphold the unanimous action of our School Board of men and women who are sufficiently informed of the state laws and the local situation to make a decision evidently in the best interest of the community."

* * *

"Something like this was inevitable. I don't believe it means a wholesale move to integrate."

* * *

DR. JOSEPH R. NAROT, president of the Greater Miami Rabbinical Association, rabbi at Temple Israel:

"This is compliance with the law of the land and I hope this will be the beginning of a process of 'moderation and reconciliation' which will redound to the well being of the whole community."

* * *

"Since this is the law of the land, the School Board is merely doing its duty. Most of the people will see the matter in that light."

"I believe the School Board action is in line with the pupil placement law of 1956 in this state. I believe that the court also held the law is valid but must not be used for circumvention.

"The assignment of these four Negro children to the Orchard Villa School, I suppose, can be viewed as a trial balloon.

"Not any of us can say now what the complexion of that school will be by next September, since so many of the White families have moved out of that community.

"If this is an honest effort on the part of the school board to obey the laws of the land, then this is a good beginning. The unanimous vote of the board is a point which deserves notice."

Collins to Speak At Demo Dinner

From Our Washington Bureau

Some 1,500 people are expected at the $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

The list of speakers is headed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. Included are four governors, two senators, three representatives and two other state officials.

Collins and Rayburn are the only southerners on the list.

Sosa's Last Order: 'Fire!'

Commands His Own Execution

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad Wednesday, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time Tuesday as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request—that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabana fortress:

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited. He told them:

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me."

Then he calmly told the executioners:

"Get ready . . . Aim . . . Fire!"

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.

Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up with the same guilty verdict.

Resigned to his fate, Sosa Blanco refused to make a personal plea for his life. "I shall go with a clear conscience," he said.

'95 Per Cent With Castro'

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— An official in the foreign ministry said Wednesday claims that a revolution is spawning against Fidel Castro's regime are not being taken seriously.

Nicholas Rivero, press coordinator for the foreign ministry, made the statement in commenting on statements attributed to Rafael del Pino, a former Castro companion. Del Pino reportedly has turned against Castro because of his alleged connections with Communists.

"This sounds like Batista propaganda," Rivero declared.

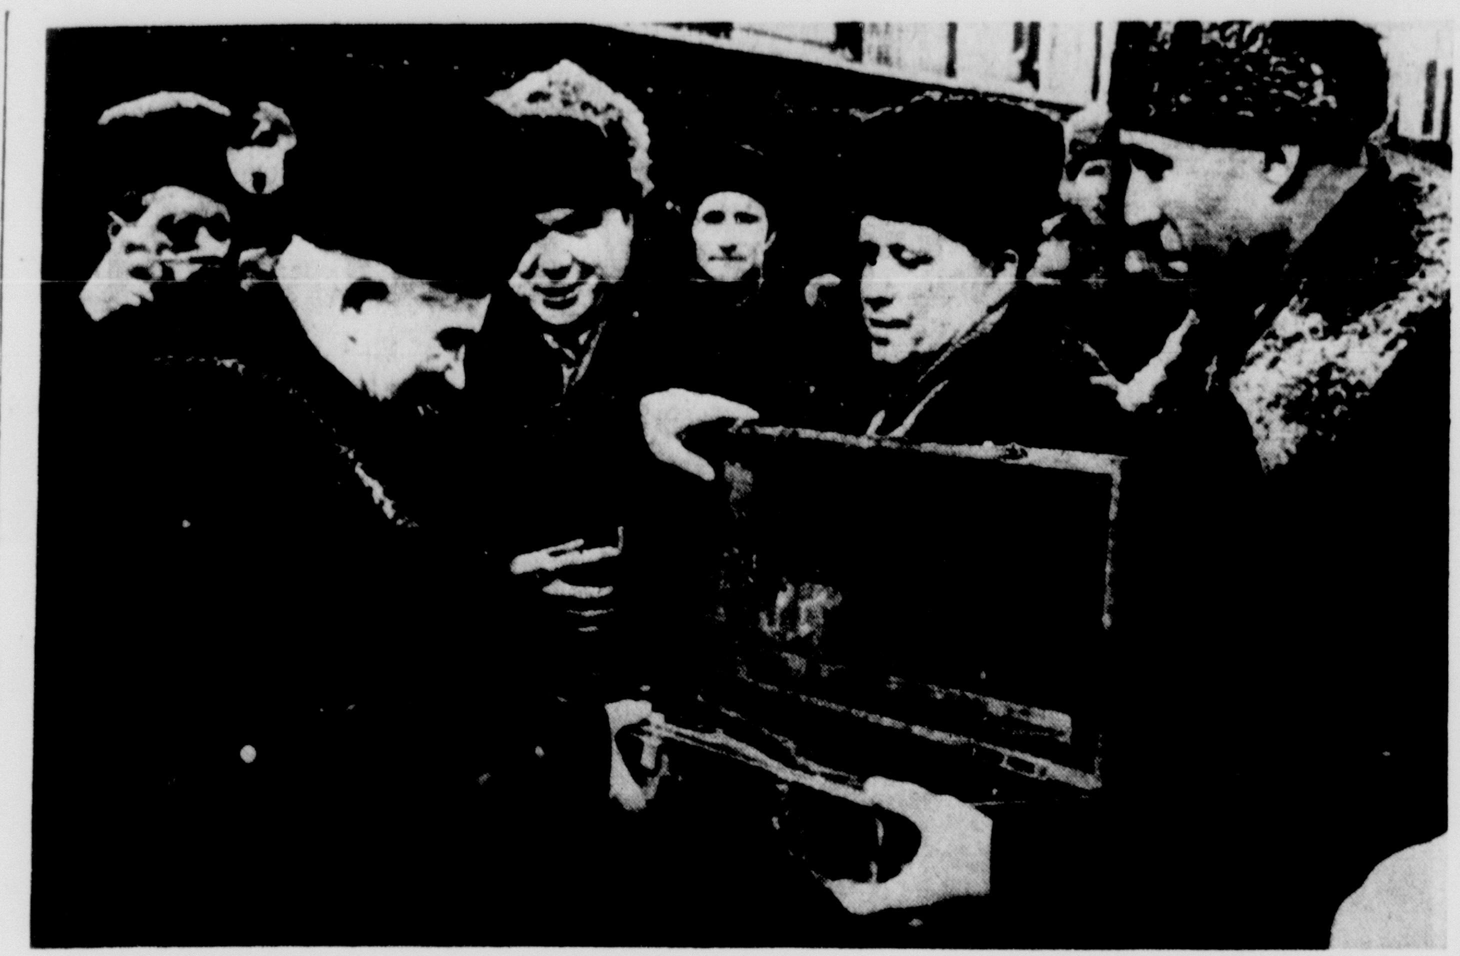
"The revolutionary army, which is a people's army, has replaced the old army of repression and is 100 per cent with Fidel Castro. At least 95 per cent of the Cuban people are with Castro."

Staph Infection Closes Nursery

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The nursery of University Hospital was closed Wednesday after officials reported the finding of staphylococcal infection among staff members and infants.

A new temporary nursery was to be set up and operated until the older unit can be disinfected.

All those found to be infected are under treatment. Dr. Robert Lowe, hospital superintendent, said the disease among infants is under control and sick babies isolated.



A Shotgun for Nikita

Workers at Tula, an industrial center south of Moscow, present a shotgun to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, left. It was an apt coincidence, for Khrushchev spoke of guns to a Tula audience, saying that any attempt by Western powers to shoot their way into West Berlin by land or air will mean war with the Soviet Union.

sion was delayed pending a series of studies of the neighborhood.

Hall said Wednesday that "on the basis of these studies," the Negroes should be admitted.

Chairman C. Raymond Van Dusen left the meeting after the unanimous vote to make a prepared statement. He said that the decision had been made under the Pupil Assignment Law and that it was unanimous.

He declined to elaborate further.

"I don't want to make any more of a statement," he said. "We're trying to keep this thing as dignified and impersonal as we possibly can."

Butler said that "without this action, the Pupil Assignment Law wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on."

Other members asked for comment had the same reply: "The action speaks for itself."

Orchard Villa will be Florida's first integrated school below the graduate level. Two Negroes are now attending the University of Florida graduate school, but none have been admitted to elementary or high schools anywhere in the state.

Alabama to Keep Records Secret

MONTGOMERY, Ala. —(AP)— A defiant legislature took drastic action Wednesday to keep Alabama voter records out of the hands of federal agents.

Without a dissenting vote and without even debating the issue, the House passed and sent to the governor a bill giving voter registration officials the right to throw away old records.

The vote was 84-0 on the measure which a week ago had sailed through the Senate with the unanimous approval of its 31 members.

Gov. John Patterson had promised in advance to sign the bill.

No Whites Show Up

22 Negroes Alone In Virginia School

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—(UPI) — Historic Warren County gave up its only public high school — a modern building capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils—to 22 Negroes Wednesday to maintain racial segregation.

It complied with Federal Court orders to reopen Warren County High School, but met a total boycott by white pupils who refused to yield to racial mixing in the classrooms. Not a single white pupil showed up for classes.

The 22 Negro pupils and nine white teachers gathered in the library for formal registration. The school's 30 classrooms were empty. Its corridors were ghostly silent.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque announced that Warren County in the rural Shenandoah Valley, has complied with the court's order to reopen the million dollar school plant. The school was closed last September under Virginia's "massive resistance" laws when the Federal Court ordered 24 Negro pupils admitted.

In downtown Front Royal, about half a mile away, some 800 white pupils attended the private, makeshift classes set up for them when the high school was closed six months ago.

Virginia's integration was directed by Federal Court order. Three Virginia metropolitan areas — Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria — admitted 30 Negroes to 10 schools earlier this month.

Front Royal, however, was the first predominantly rural locality in the South to face court-ordered integration.

All He Needed Was Air

Not a Drink and He Got A Jag, Teetotaler's Gripe

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP) —A teetotaler asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.

He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, that he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day.

He said things were getting so bad that his wife threatened to leave him and his boss accused him of tippling.

The health department discovered why the work was so intoxicating.

The man worked with trichlorethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

The man was not identified.

these children to Orchard Villa school," Ervin said. "I assume the board, after an investigation, determined that it had no alternative."

"However, I think this points up the need for other legislation, including parent-option to meet the problems in other communities where some integration is incompatible to local opinion."

Sen. Verle Pope, St. Augustine, a Collins floor leader who votes with the governor more than any other senator, said Florida should never voluntarily accept integration.

"The purpose of the pupil assignment law was to delay and keep to a minimum integration of schools. I do not feel any school board should accept integration unless forced to under court order. Their action was premature and apt to have a very bad effect on legislation affecting the public school system."

Enlarging on his comments, Johnson said that even though the U.S. Supreme Court has declared the segregation provision of Florida's Constitution invalid "it does not remove that fact that integration is still against the intent of the people of Florida."

"I hate to see Dade County throw in the sponge at a time when it was not absolutely necessary."

Beasley said the Miami action was "bad for the Negroes involved."

"What chance will four Negroes have in a school with 150 white children?" he asked. Beasley predicted the Orchard Villa school will be closed before next fall's scheduled integration date.

Sumter Lowry of Tampa, runner-up for governor in 1956, attributed the integration move in Miami to "Gov. Collins' lack of leadership." He predicted it will lead to a complete breakdown of segregation in Florida and charged Collins has "violated his oath of office by advocating any integration whatever in the schools."

Mexicans Eagerly Await Ike

President Due In Acapulco Today

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

ACAPULCO, Mexico — This resort town and all the rest of Mexico ran a high temperature of excitement over the impending visit of President Eisenhower, who arrives here this morning.

The President left Washington Wednesday afternoon in the presidential plane Columbine III, and landed Wednesday evening in Austin, Tex. He is slated to leave Austin this morning for Acapulco.

Traveling with the President on the first leg of his trip to Acapulco and meetings with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Homer Thornberry.

The two Texas Democrats were invited to accompany the President to Austin.

From the enthusiasm, bordering on hysteria, with which Mexicans await Eisenhower, a stranger would suspect that Ike was coming down here to return Texas and California to the Mexicans, the original operators of those valuable properties.

Mexican police have rounded up every potential agitator around here and taken them out of circulation, for fear of embarrassing the visit between President Eisenhower and President Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

The Mexican president drove down to this coast resort with his entourage from Mexico City Wednesday evening.

President Lopez Mateos will be on hand with the entire diplomatic corps at Acapulco's picture-postcard airport when the Eisenhower plane touches here.

The shiniest cannons in Mexico will blast a 21-gun salute for Eisenhower, and the shiniest band instruments in the republic will play the U.S. National Anthem and other tunes.

Although this visit by Eisenhower is strictly a handshaking assignment, it is of utmost political importance to the Mexicans, as one can understand from the fervent newspaper accounts of the visit.

Mexico and most other Latin American republics think wistfully of making true equality and friendship with the U.S. a living reality instead of a slogan.

And this visit by President Eisenhower apparently will give the Mexicans a great boost in their national morale, if the public accounts of the importance of the visit are taken at face value. The President and his party will stay at a plush coastal hotel during this two-day visit.

Mass Missiles Out-Doolittle

COCOA BEACH —(UPI)— Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, World War II aviator turned missile man, said Wednesday it is unlikely the nation will ever mass produce missiles in the numbers it once turned out fighters and bombers.

Doolittle, who led the daring American bombing attack on Tokyo in 1942, said missiles with hydrogen warheads pack one million times the punch of a World War II bomber armed with TNT bombs.

As board chairman of the Space Technology Laboratories, Doolittle visited the nearby Air Force missile test center for a closeup of some of the nation's most powerful missiles.

By GENE MILLER
and JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writers

While The Herald again made bets with bookies Wednesday, the City Commission in Miami and the City Council in Miami Beach sloughed off pleas to stamp out illegal gambling.

Four Beach councilmen sat in amused silence as fellow Councilman Mel Richard asked for an ordinance requiring mandatory jail sentences for convicted bookies.

His motion failed for lack of a second.

Richard charged that Beach bookies were so bold that a high school student learned the names of the horses by watching bets being taken at a lunch counter near the school.

Mayor Kenneth Oka alternately praised the Beach police for a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in 1958 and decounced the force for poor gambling and B-girl enforcement.

"I asked the police about a narcotics operation several weeks ago," said Oka, "and my information was better than theirs.

"It is distressing and embarrassing to have to read The Herald to find out what's going on around here."

Richard told the council that Police Chief Mike Fox told him personally he was in favor of a mandatory jail sentence for convicted bookies.

So Fox was called from his office to the council meeting. "Are you in favor of it?" Richard asked Fox.

"That's up to the judge, Mel," replied Fox.

After explaining that the council—not the judge—makes ordinances, Richard said, "It is obvious Fox doesn't know the meaning of the word 'mandatory.'

Fox smiled.

"Would it (mandatory jail sentences) help?" Richard asked again.

"I don't know," said Fox. "I don't know the feeling of the bookies."

While the audience laughed, Fox again and again replied to questions by Richard and Oka, "I'll do what the city manager and Council tell me."

"That's an evasive answer, Mike," Oka said. "We're telling you now. Enforce the laws."

During the entire hour and ten minute discussion, Councilmen Harold Spaet, Harold Shapiro, Bernie Frank and Marcie Lieberman said nothing. They uttered not a peep.

Councilman D. Lee Powell said, "I am unalterably opposed to gambling."

Powell, Spaet, Shapiro, Frank and Lieberman all voted for Fox's appointment as chief 20 months ago.

At the Miami City Commission meeting, Mayor High said, "Apparently the police chief (Headley) is not able to stop the gambling.

"Therefore, I suggest that the city manager suspend the police chief."

Commissioner Otis W. Shiver said he favors a thorough investigation.

"But we just can't pussyfoot around on this thing," said Mayor High.

Chimed in Councilman James High, "Don't forget that we as commissioners are subject to a 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine for interfering in administration matters."

"This is a matter for the grand jury," Commissioner George DuBreuil said.

"George, don't you ever get tired of running down there every minute?" James High asked.

Then City Manager E. A. Evans said he already is investigating.

"I anticipated that this would happen," said Evans. "It comes out every year almost to the same day, and I was prepared for it."

And there the matter dropped.

Bets Easy Even if the 'Heat's On'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

If the "heat is on" as the police say, bookmakers on both sides of Biscayne Bay still weren't worried about it Wednesday.

They were doing business almost as usual when a Herald reporter placed three bets with them.

Two of the bookies were in Miami; one in Miami Beach. The wagers were put down within a three-hour period.

Bets placed by The Herald with comparative ease in the past five days now total 15.

Both Miami and Miami Beach police still contend, however, that bookmaking in their own bailiwicks is still on a "sneak" basis—that is, off and on.

Wednesday's bets were made:

AT THE CORNER of West 39th St. and Alton Rd. in Miami Beach. A runner known as Shortstop took a $5 win bet on Risk Again in the first Hialeah race.

AT JACK'S BAR, 1361 NE Second Ave., Miami. A patron who said "Just call me John," accepted a $5 bill from the reporter, marked the nag's name in a wire-hinged notebook. The horse was Oil Burner, running in the fourth at 4 to 1 odds.

* * *

ON THE SIDEWALK, in the 100 block of NE 14th St. Little Jimmy, a Negro handyman, said he would "look after" getting a $5 win bet down on Big Winner, an 8 to 1 shot in the ninth.

But he advised this Herald reporter:

"You better watch yourself when you come again . . . You know what the 'papers been sayin' lately' about bookmakin'."

In Jack's Bar, the conversation touched on the recent disclosures by The Herald of wide-open bookmaking in almost every area of the county—but nobody was worried.

"The cops don't check us that closely around here," said John, who admitted he was "just starting out in this (bookmaking) business."

But on the Beach, Shortstop was concerned about bettors "contacting me right out in the open like this.

"We can operate . . . but we were told to keep it down." He said he did not have time to explain.

Aga in Egypt

CAIRO — (AP) — Aga Khan IV has arrived in Egypt to attend the reburial of his grandfather, Aga Khan III, beside the Nile at Aswan on Friday. The old Aga's body is being transferred to a permanent resting place at his favorite midwinter sunning place.

National Summary

Arctic air is again on the move, concentrated in high pressure over the northern plains and pushing through the Gulf and Atlantic states, scheduled to lower temperatures over most of the eastern half of the country.

Temperatures at midday were as much as 5 to 10 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana and a 15 to 20 below range is forecast from Montana to Wisconsin.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for parts of New York and Pennsylvania and colder air should cover the Florida peninsula Thursday, nudging into 80 degree warmth reported.

Low pressure off the northwest coast continues to feed moisture inland and showers with snow in the mountains again extended over the Pacific states and into the northern Appalachians.

Showery weather should retreat from all but extreme northern parts of California, but rain is expected to move back into central sections of the state Thursday while rain or snow will be featured in the northern and central plateau states.

In Brevard County

Mosquitoes Dealt Big Blow

Brevard County is making rapid strides in its war against the pesky salt marsh mosquitoes. Its methods of controlling them has had such success that it is being recommended by the state to other Florida areas.

Here's the first of a two-part series reporting on Brevard's mosquito battle plan.

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — Brevard County ahs learned how to get rid of those pesky little salt march mosquitoes — and for good.

In fact, the county's mosquito control district program of permenent control is rated so highly that the Florida Board of Health and the U.S. Department of Agriculture recommend that other Florida areas follow suit.

This battle plan on the salt water skeeter comes as a result of a five-year experiment in South Brevard, which now is almost free of the day-in-day-out invasions of the pest, claims Control Director Jack Salmela.

County Commissioner Joe Wickham, control committee chairman, said the war was waged in the marsh areas west of Grant and other adjoining sections to the north and south.

"This has made a remarkable difference in the number of mosquitoes in the Melbourne-Eau Gallie - Patrick Air Force Base area," he said.

"South Brevard was picked for the big experiment. "Salmela said, "because the breeding areas are more concentrated than elsewhere in the county."

The program of diking, drainage or raising the water table in the swampy breeding areas is about 95 per cent complete in the South end of Brevard.

The director explained that now the southern Brevard residents only will have to live with the much less troublesome fresh water variety. These mosquitoes, too, can be fought with drainage and spray.

Besides the salt water mosquito experiment, Brevard is hailed as having the most ambitious all - around control program of any county in Florida.

This year Brevard plans on spending $400,000 in local and state monies, and the figure for the last five years is in excess of $2 million for countywide spraying and permanent control.

The county also is recognized as a pioneer in the development of new and less expensive spray equipment than commercial manufacturing plants turn out.

And Al Sidlow, Titusville area supervisor and county airplane and engine mechanic, is the man behind the equipment experiments.

Commissioner Wickham said Sidlow has developed a truck fogging unit that costs the county $500 against the $2,000 commercial units. Sidlow has applied for a patent on his unit.

Not only did he save the county money, but the Florida Entomological Research Center at Vero Beach said Sidlow's fog unit did as good a job as the $2,000 ones.

During the last five years the county has added equipment gradually, and now there are eight airplanes, 18 truck fogging units, six drag lines and two 10-inch dredges in the battle.

Fort Pierce Port Gets Boost As Stock Is OKd

Securities To Be Sold On Market

Price of Shares Will Be $1.25 Each

By DOUG SILVER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — Development of the port of Fort Pierce received a big push Wednesday with the announcement by M. A. Ramsey that the SEC had registered the common stock of the Fort Pierce Port and Terminal Co.

Ramsey, company president, said that SEC registration permits sales of the stock throughout the country. A total of 2,138,500 shares at a unit price of $1.25 will be issued.

Other company officers include Joseph C. Mackey, president of Mackey Air Lines and M. E. Murphy, president of Murphy Construction Co. in West Palm Beach. Mackey is board chairman and Murphy the secretary-treasurer of Fort Pierce port and terminal.

Ramsey said the company plans to proceed as soon as possible with the construction of modern deep water ship terminal facilities.

Plans call for spending over $1,500,000 for a quarter mile of deep water steel bulkheaded docks, and transit shed, and bonded warehouse.

Pier facilities will connect directly with the FEC railway.

Construction of nearly 800 feet of spur track to the water front was started Feb. 12 and will be finished by Sunday.

The new track has been rushed to handle an immediate shipment of 10,000 tons of rock scheduled to be moved via rail to the port, and by barge to Sebastian.

Projected docking facilities will handle from three to five deep water vessels at a time.

Ramsey said Wednesday:

"We feel there is a great need for a deep water port at Fort Pierce and that the construction of modern port terminals will bring new business to this entire area along with much needed payrolls. Registration of our securities with the SEC is a tremendous step on this path of progress."

Erosion Study of Inlet Eyed

Herald Bureau

MELBOURNE —Experts may be engaged to thoroughly investigate Sebastian Inlet erosion problems and discover permanent construction defenses to eliminate them in the future.

For years the Sebastian Inlet Commission has been fighting sand deposited in the waterway by the ocean and Indian River. Florida erosion authorities have hailed previously completed jetty work there, but the entire problem has not yet been solved.

The commission is investigating the possibility of engaging Coastal Engineering Laboratory Extension of the University of Florida to make a 10-year study of the inlet.

Harry C. Goode, commission chairman, said the laboratory study would include the building of a model of the inlet so engineers would be able to use both practice and theory. The model method of attacking engineering problems has made this lab famous, said Goode.

Such a study would cost the commission — which operates on funds from taxes levied in Brevard and Indian River Counties — about $1,000 annually for the 10 years."

The commission chairman also said this study could include the proposed inlet bridge, linking A1A sections in Brevard and Indian River Counties. There is debate on whether a fixed or draw bridge should be built if the span is approved.

In Circuit Court

Trial of 4 Suits Opens at Vero

By THELMA FROSCHER
Herald Correspondent

VERO BEACH — Trial began Wednesday in Circuit Court here today for four law suits involving about five miles of a stretch of land about five miles long on state road A1A just north of Vero Beach.

Twelve major issues are included in the four combined suits, Judge D. C. Smith announced during Wednesday's session.

The suits are between purchasers in December, 1956, of the 3,500 hundred acres comprising the town of Indian River Shores from Fred Tuerk.

Kennith Frank, the developer, is suing Vero Investors Ltd. the financial backer, in two suits; Arthur Lynch who paid for the original option on the property, is suing Vero Investors; and Vero Investors is suing Frank.

Frank and Marshall Mitchell, who has been a Vero Beach attorney for 20 years, were the only witnesses called Wednesday.

Interrogated by his attorney Herbert Nadeau Frank, who said he now is living in Miami Beach, recounted his story of his first dream early in 1955 of an exclusive development in Florida. He told of finding the Tuerk property with the help of Arnold White, a Miami real estate broker; and of joining in May, 1956, with Lynch who supplied the funds in a $25,000 option holding the acreage for three months.

The $25,000 was forfeited when the original $900,000 down payment on the total of $4,500,000 for the property originally agreed upon cold not be raised in time.

But later part of the forfeited money was used to pay expenses incurred by Frank, he said under cross questioning by Bruce Jones, one of the attorneys for Vero Investors.

They also are being represented by John Gould.

Frank told of his meeting in September, 1956, with some of those who later became partners in Vero Investors.

In the trial they are being referred to as "The Connecticut group."

They finally supplied $600,000 which added to $100,000 Lynch paid under a new agreement in October was accepted as a down payment by Tuerk. There was a mortgage for $3,950,000.

Four hundred acres of the property was released from the mortgage.

Frank said he made it clear that $500,000 more would be needed for development of the property but he was assured by the Connecticut group that there would be plenty of cash forthcoming. However, while the St. Francis Corp., formed to develop the property, was building its fourth house funds stopped and only five houses were completed. Early in 1947 there was constant disagreement and then litigation which has stymied further development.

Lynch is expected to testify today as are several other witnesses. Court will reconvene at 9:30 a.m.

Accident Victim Dies

STUART — Mrs. Clyde Ernest Drager, 56, of Cumberland, Iowa, died Wednesday at St. Marys Hospital at West Palm Beach of injuries received in a car-truck collision Tuesday near Indiantown.

Sheriff Roy C. Baker said Mr. and Mrs. Drager who were traveling sout on State Road 710, crossed the Indiantown Bridge over the St. Lucie Canal and failed to stop at the intersection at State Road 7.

Their car hit a State Road Department truck driven by James H. Lyles of Indiantown which was traveling east on SR 76. The car hit the truck on the right hand side with such force that it traveled 68 feet after the impact.

Mrs. Drager suffered head injuries, cuts and bruises. Mr. Drager who was also taken to the West Palm Beach Hospital received multiple injuries.

Mr. Lyles is in Martin Memorial Hospital, Stuart, suffering from a fractured face and other injuries.

Opposition Looms to Tax Plan

Petitions Given Commisioners

MELBOURNE — The proposal to create a special road and bridge tax district to help finance a $1.5 million toll bridge over Sebastian Inlet has drawn some stiff opposition from North Beach residents The Herald learned Wednesday.

The first of several petitions, protesting the proposed district boundries, have been turned over to county commissioner Joe Wickham of Eau Gallie, accoridng to Steve Kosinski, beach civic leader.

Besides, state Rep. James H. Pruitt reported that he has received numerous telephone calls from beach residents who claim they are against the tax district.

Pruitt and Sen. Douglas Stenstrom have been asked to introduce a permissive bill during the coming legislative session that would pave the way for creation of the tax district. It would run from a point south of Patrick Air Force Base to Sebastian Inlet, and bounded on the west by Indian River and the Ocean on the west.

According to Kosinski, the petitions turned in to Wickham ask that the district be expanded to include all of the commissioners district five.

This would make it cover the beaches as well as the mainland, from New Haven Ave. in Melbourne north to a point north of Eau Gallie.

Kosinski said "we are not opposed to the bridge," but hinted that expansion of the district to include the mainland might block any future tax district success."

It is actually a state road department function to build such a span," the civic leader stated.

He said initial petitions contain 200 names and others still are being circulated in the thickly populated sections some 20 miles north of the inlet.

Cocoa Hopes Sale of This Building Will Help City Improvements
. . . it'll be up for grabs on April 14

Need a City Hall? Here's Your Chance

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — Anybody want an old city hall? Cocoa has one for sale.

The old building at King St. and Delannoy Ave. is up for bids April 14, and city officials are hoping the sale will touch off a $350,000 program of city facelifting.

No price tag has been set on the old building, but if it brings $75,000 it can retire a bank loan used two years ago for filling and bulkheading the city's river-front property.

The loan is secured by the city's Florida Power & Light Co. franchise — which produces $32,000 a year — and can be used to secure much larger loans.

Mayor Gary Bennett plans to use the franchise to borrow $350,000 from the housing finance agency, a federal agency which loans money to small cities.

His plan calls for sinking about $150,000 into street improvements and for undertaking four $50,000 projects — a community building, a fire station, a marina, and a new library.

City headquarters moved from the old building early this year when renovation of a colonial mansion was completed, and left the old building ready for a sale.

The building, a two-story structure, stands on a 70-by-90-foot lot on Cocoa's busiest intersection. It was built in 1934 by the WPA.

Vero Furniture Dealer Dies

VERO BEACH — Services for William M. Launius, 60, a prominent Vero Beach furniture store owner, who died Tuesday night at a Fort Pierce Hospital, will be at 10 a.m. Friday at Floyd Funeral Home Chapel.

Burial will be in Orlando.

He moved here 12 years ago from Gainesville and was a member of the Presbyterian Church and was a Mason.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy, a son, William Jr. of Vero Beach, a daughter, Dorothy Ann Ewing of Orlando, two sisters, and a brother.

Not in Monroe

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Rockana Carriers, Tampa, was authorized to transport phosphate, dolomite and other minerals from Polk and Hillsborough counties to all points in Florida, except Monroe County and counties west of Holmes, Bay and Washington.

Bills in Condemnation Suit Questioned

Board Favors Handing Dispute to Circuit Court

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — The St. Lucie County Commission Wednesday unanimously backed up County Attorney Ralph Wilson, who recommended that disputed appraisers' bills in the Okeechobee Road condemnation suits, be referred to the circuit court for a ruling.

The State Road Department and the attorney questioned bills submitted by Henry Jernigan for $5,250 and Otis Kelley, for $1,725; and, by Walter Puckett of West Palm Beach for $1,968.

The three appraisers have stood firm on the amounts of the bills, and the attornies who employed them in the cases said last week that the bills were fair and reasonable, and urged their payment.

However, attorney Wilson pointed out that the bills were considerably higher than those submitted by county and court appraisers.

The county attorney told the commission Wednesday that the Fort Pierce city commission also wanted to let the court decide on the bills.

The city has a large stake in the decision, since a considerable part of the land condemned is inside the city limits.

Commissioner N. W. Jorgensen made the motion to refer the disputed bills to the circuit court.

He commented that since the city and road department preferred court decision, he felt the county should agree. He also commented he felt the court would make a fair decision.

STUART —Mrs. Ivey Baker Priest—treasurer of the United States will speak via telephone at the Soroptimist Club of Stuart today at 12:30 p.m. at the coffee house.

Mrs. Priest will be called long distance by the Stuart club in connection with the program arranged by Carl Fremaux of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, Zola Swarthout, club president, announced.

On March 1 Stuart will adopt a dial system which includes the direct long distance dialing service. Program chairman for the meeting is Miss Marion Tschescheck.

Group Plans Protest Today

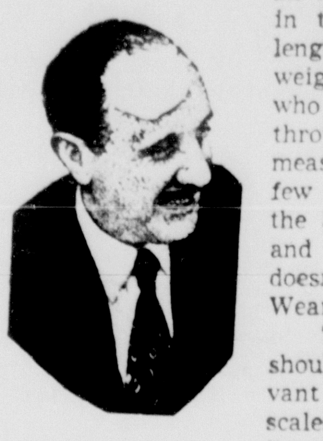
TITUSVILLE — The Brevard bulkhead committee will call on the Brevard County Commission today to reconsider a bulkhead line which allows real estate developers to fill nearly half the Banana River at Cocoa Beach.

Committee spokesmen will present a petition which charges the proposed filling will harm fish and wildlife and points out the Banana River is nationally known for its game birds and game fish.

The Brevard Bulkhead Committee, a private group headed by Cocoa Mayor Gary Bennett, plans to ask the Florida Internal Improvement Board to outlaw the line if today's bid for commission reconsiderations fails.

Nightlife with George Bourke

Years Haven't Dimmed Voice Appeal, Judy Garland Proves



THIS GARLAND GIRL named Judy still packs the potent punch of a heavyweight in the talent department —and this is the only subtle nod we'll make toward an obvious matter of avoirdupois in this review after first challenging any calory-conscious overweights in the reading audience who might have the temerity to throw the first "stone" (British measure) at Judy for wearing a few sizes larger than she did in the 30's of "Over the Rainbow" and "Trolley Song" days. Who doesn't in these days of plenty? Wear larger sizes, that is.

Talent in the unprecise arts should be weighed without irrelevant thumbs pressing on the scales and with concern only for its effect on an audience. In her Fontainebleau La Ronde debut Miss Garland effectively moved her audience to what could have been a standing ovation with a trifle more organization. And it was an earned hit.

Joe E. Lewis, in from his own stand at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii next door, blended 100 proof fact with the fun with which he feels he must toughen all sentiment in testifying that Judy's charm and singing had brought a tear to his eye even though the lump in his throat could very well have been scotch.

Today's Judy isn't the irrepressible song and dance darling of yesteryear. She has no corps of boy dancers to assist her and her movement and manner are subdued. But the song still has the vigor of old once she has warmed into it. There is nothing flashily explosive in her performance — and yet it generates, from the warmth of its mounting intensity, a power to lift from a take-off level of a well-wishing doubtful Thomas at the start to the completely sold and devoted role of a Boswell, eager to sing deserved praises, at the finish.

Amusements

Catchy Break Still There

THERE IS MUCH to praise. "You Made Me Love You" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," for instance, sung with the same pathetic little vocal break that was Judy's contrived stock in trade long before life had time and opportunity to etch it there for real . . . the hard way.

Then, for a gayer and tantalizing touch, Judy never did a more persuasive job than she does currently with a teasingly tempoed "Do It Again" or a livelier "Day In, Day Out." Add the inevitable "Trolley Song," "Zing Went the Strings" and "Over the Rainbow" — the last off microphone—and a climaxing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" and you have a repertoire that scored a Garlanded victory.

Oh sure, we personally didn't care for her "Rock-a-bye My Baby" or "Suwannee." That might have been not so much a lack of appreciation for Judy, however, as it might have been a greater appreciation for the memory of hearing Al Jolson do these numbers. After all, Jolie didn't sing "Over the Rainbow" or "You Made Me Love You." Or did he?

If he did then we've forgotten in the light of Judy's greater talent with them. Be that as it may—Judy Garland, who has had her share of ups and her downs, is on the up-beat at the Fontainebleau.

Daughters to Wear Colonial Costumes At Feb. 22 Tea

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

THE PALM BEACHES—This is the season of the hatchet and the cherry tree, and Seminole Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will have the annual Washington's Birthday card party Saturday—a bridge tea at 2 p.m. at the Legion Home.

MRS. SMITH

Mrs. Willis Browne, Mrs. Walter Whitney, Mrs. H. M. Tschirgi and Miss Eva Vaughn are busy taking reservations. Mrs. George S. Brockway is arranging the tea table, while Mrs. Philip North and Mrs. Herbert Gee have charge of the decorations of the auditorium.

Many of the members will wear colonial costumes, and displayed on a mannequin will be the genuine colonial costume — handsome but very frail — belonging to Mrs. C. B. Mayberry, and worn by an ancestor in the days when men wore brocaded satin and lace.

They'll All Watch Murrow

WOMAN'S CLUB members are planning to tune in on Ed Murrow's "Person to Person" program Friday night, when he will interview Miss Chloe Gifford, president of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs. Miss Gifford is in Washington, and Mr. Murrow will be conducted on a tour of General Federation headquarters.

Velma (Mrs. Vincent) Welp is calling all the club members she can. "I'm just a town crier," she said.

On Wednesday, Feb. 25, the club is having its annual antique and hobby show. Luncheon will be served, and there will also be a "White Elephant" sale. Pink elephants not accepted.

Next Monday (Feb. 23) Sen. F. O. (Bud) Dickinson will tell the club members what efforts are being made in the Legislature to curb pornographic films and literature.

Lake Worth Woman's Club is having a fashion show and dessert card party Friday at the Palm Beach Terrace Hotel, 2830 S. Ocean Blvd. Club members will model resort wear from Mar-Jons in Lake Worth. Committee chairmen are Mrs. Louis Langer, Mrs. Louis Pfeifer, and Mrs. Frank Smith.

Hats, Hats and More Hats

MISS ETHEL C. MABIE gave a lecture on hats recently at the Lake Worth Womans Club, wearing authentic reproductions of headgear worn through the ages.

Mrs. B. Mote also modeled some of the hats which represented the pre-Christian Egyptian and Roman eras, also the Middle ages, the Renaissance, French Empire, Victorian, Edwardian, and early American, down to the present.

She said men wore the first headgear. Jeweled turbans were a mark of wealth and distinction.

The audience enjoyed the lavishly trimmed hats, the willow plumes and the birds of paradise feather, the cart wheels, the Merry Widow sailors, and hats trimmed with aigrette feathers. (The Auduboners don't allow that any more.)

Miss Mabie, the lecturer was formerly an insurance woman, and "hats" are her hobby. She lectures on this headline subject extensively.

He's Back on Legitimate Stage

WILLIS TOWNSEND, localite who has made good in films, TV and legitimate theater in New York and on tour, says "it's good to be back on a legitimate stage again."

He has been signed by the Rita Allen productions for a part in "Harlequinade," and "Electra." These two long one-act plays opened at the Rita Allen theater recently, starring Murray Matheson (familiar to Playhouse audiences) Judith Evelyn and Jean Wetmore.

Six New Toast Mistresses

THE PALM BEACHES Toast Mistress Club is growing. It has six new members: Mrs. Faye Jones, Mrs. Mary Hutton, Mrs. Yneta Kirwin, Mrs. Neon Glady, Mrs. Georgia Brannon and Malvine Hamlin.

Club members learn to speak in public with a minimum of ers and ahs. And they learn to do so by doing.

Mrs. A. A. Minner, education, chairman of the local National Secretaries Association, says that the Thursday study sessions at Belle Ile Business College will be continued.

These sessions are preparatory for the Certified Professional Secretary examination to be given in Miami next May. There's some cramming to do between now and then.

Happy Birthday, Russell Martin

A WOMAN CAN, TOO, keep a secret. Lucile (Mrs. Russell M.) Martin proved it. She succeeded in giving her husband a surprise birthday party, and he was genuinely surprised.

One friend baked the ham, another, the turkey, still another the casserole dishes, and another made hors d'oeuvres. Guests arrived at 6 o'clock and parked quietly on N. Flagler, back of the Martin's lake front home.

The Martins and the Sydney Trownsells were on the lake front terrace (by Lucile's arrangement) discussing where they would go for dinner.

Russell's back was to the window where the curtains were drawn.

So when everybody arrived, it was a case of "Happy Birthday," sung in many different keys.

Hearts and Flowers All Pink

HELEN (Mrs. W. R.) MASER likes to feature pink in her parties as her house features pink, even to the beamed ceilings. So a Valentine bridge luncheon was a natural, with hearts and flowers all in the pretty tint. Mrs. Maser, too, was dressed in pink.

Stores in Palm Beach are distinctive. One is a series of boutiques. Not a show case in sight. Instead there are French Provincial tables, wrought iron chairs on which articles are draped casually, and specially designed fixtures of brass and silver.

Shoes are displayed on reproductions of French bakery racks and shoe customers sit in little white chairs that are replicas of those in the Luxembourg Gardens.

Plantation shutters, crystal chandeliers and sconces add atmosphere.

Everything a woman could desire is spread before you— everything except pins, needles, tape, thread—In Palm Beach you just don't have a notion about shopping for notions. It takes a Geiger counter to find them.

Shell Flowers Brighten Tables

PALM BEACH — The flowers that bloomed in the spring, tra la, at the Everglades Club Wednesday all came from the deep blue sea.

Occasion was the annual shell show of Opportunity, Inc. Proceeds from the sale of the beautiful opalescent blooms go to Opportunity philanthropies.

The deep red flowers that centered the dinner table arranged by Mrs. Abram Nesbitt III; were lucine shells used with old royal Worcester china and 1815 crystal. Mrs. Mrs. Thomas B. Gilchrist used mother-of-pearl shells for a green and white luncheon table.

Lucine and mud shells were fashioned into spring flowers for Mrs. Clarence Chauncey's breakfast table.

Large bouquets of showy shell flowers flanked Mrs. W. Gill Wylie's low Japanese table, while Mrs. Horace J. Mulder's tea table was dainty with a plum blossom bouquet made of the versatile lucine shells, and used with Chippendale bone china and small Georgian silver tea service.

For her lovely spring table Mrs. Marco W. Johannsen used limpet and candy shell flowers with Copeland china.

Mrs. Edward F. Hutton arranged a patio table using mud and lucine shell flowers, and Mrs. Joseph Frederick Gunster's garden table was centered with a bouquet of green limpet shell blossoms.

The yellow sun shell lilies added charm to Mrs. Roscoe T. Anthony's child's table, centered with a goldfish bowl complete with goldfish. The two small Swedish chairs belong to her grandchildren.

Pectins and jingle shells were used by Mrs. Duggett Benson on her Polynesian table.

Mrs. Ann Poeller, crafts chairman of Opportunity, had charge of arrangements.

Sculptor To Exhibit

HOBE SOUND — Carl Cramer, noted Louisiana sculptor and portrait painter will be among the few selected artists exhibiting their work at the estate of Mrs. Charles Payson Feb. 22-26. The private exhibit is by invitation only.

Cramer's bust of Eisenhower—commissioned in observance of the Louisiana Sesquicentennial — is on permanent display at the Cabaldo in New Orleans. His most recent painting is done in fused glass and plastic, depicting Icarus flying and the sun's rays melting his wings.

Following the showing, Cramer will tour Florida for architectural study.

Eliminate Milk Rule -- Odham

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Milk Commission Chairman J. Brailey Odham of Sanford said Wednesday the most constructive step the Legislature can take would be to eliminate board power to fix prices housewives pay for milk.

But Odham doubted the Legislature would do so. "They could do it," he said, "but when they get to Tallahassee the voice of eight or 10 farmers or distributors rings clearer than the 20 to 30 thousand people who elected them."

The commission held a public hearing to determine whether the people of Florida want to keep state milk control, or prefer federal administration.

Sen. Tom Adams of Orange Park, chairman of an interim committee which proposed abolishment of the commission, said he did not think the commission was the answer to

He said the present commission was doing a good job, but when its personnel changed, administration could get worse, not better.

Odham said if the power to set retail prices is removed, "anyone can administer the law."

At present there are no retail price controls. The commission dropped them a year ago, but continued to control prices distributors pay farmers. However, the power to set retail prices remains.

Two areas in the state, Miami and Pensacola, have voted out state controls, and a petition is being circulated in the Tallahassee area for the same thing.

The commission was told by F. E. Willis, Tallahassee independent dairy owner, Bordens and Foremost dairies are offering Tallahassee farmers an 18-month contract if they will vote to end commission control.

New Road Fund Plan Attacked

ORLANDO —(AP)— A new plan of financing Florida road building met immediate opposition.

The plan was advanced by Chairman Joe Grotegut of the State Road Board. He gave details to members of the fifth road district Wednesday after previously going over the proposal with the State Association of County Commissioners.

He said the plan would reduce the problem in the present setup, in which counties must buy rights-of-way before the state can build roads.

Grotegut suggested the road department have complete jurisdiction over 80 per cent of two cents of Florida's 7-cent gas tax. This would amount to about 15 million dollars a year, and could be used for rights-of-way and other expenditures.

The state highway system would be the present primary system, plus about 1,000 miles of secondary roads.

The plan gave the counties the other 20 per cent of those two cents, in addition to all of another penny of the tax, instead of the 20 per cent they now get.

This would give them about 12 million dollars more than they now get. This would be used for building and maintaining county roads.

Grotegut also suggested an eighth cent could be levied in counties where needs would require additional financing.

The road chairman said the plan "will provide the greatest possible equalization and efficiency in meeting road problems within present revenue in most counties. The third measure would be for counties having abnormal needs for new roads."

Florida's constitution requires two cents of the tax be spent in the county to which it is allocated under a formula. This requirement would not be changed by Grotegut's plan.

Grotegut said many counties don't have secondary road funds; some counties aren't interested in acquiring rights-of-ways for through highways; and there is confusion when one governmental unit obtains a right-of-way while another unit stands idle.

Boca Guild Readying Art Exhibit

BOCA RATON—The ninth annual Boca Raton Art Guild exhibit opens Friday at the Boca Raton Hotel.

Some 170 paintings and exhibits of 18 crafts will be on display.

All proceeds of the exhibit, which is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Feb. 20-24, go into a building fund for a proposed cultural center in Boca Raton.

Awards winners in the various divisions will be announced Thursday at a preview party. Serving on the awards jury are Allen D. Albert, director of the Sheldon Swope Museum of Terre Haute, Ind., Aaron T. Smock, Delray Beach artist, and Walter B. Colebrook of West Palm Beach.

Missile Film

DELRAY BEACH — A talk and film on the nation's missile program at Cape Canaveral will be presented by John O. Gray Friday at 8 p.m. at the public library.

Gray is attached to the missile test center at the space technical laboratories, Patrick Air Force Base. Library officials said this would be the first of a series of five Friday night programs.

Comedy-Mystery 'Post Road' Opens at Delray Playhouse

By MIRIAM COHEN
Herald Special Writer

DELRAY BEACH — "Post Road," an old but still very entertaining comedy - mystery, opened Tuesday night at the Delray Beach Playhouse and will run through Saturday.

Perhaps some judicious editing on the part of Director J. Stuart Warrington was responsible for the lack of datedness in the script. Whatever the reason, the laughs are still there and the kidnaping suspense just as timely today as a quarter century ago, when the Lindbergh kidnaping inspired Authors Wilbur Daniel Steele and Norma Mitchell to write the play.

Dominating character in the play is the spinster who "hates brats," bitingly and brilliantly portrayed by Betsey Weekes.

After an absence of three years from playhouse work, Miss Weekes returned with a bang, much to the gratification of an enthusiatic first-night audience.

Although Miss Weekes' portrayal of Emily Madison dominates the play, it never overshadows the fine supporting performance of other members of the cast. Howard Crouch, in his third and best Playhouse role, is very credible as a waspish, out-of-work relative, hen-pecked by both his wife and sister-in-law.

Dorothy McDonald as his wife turns in a fine straight performance. A high spot in their portrayals is provided by their reactions and side glances in a scene where they are questioned by police.

The pithy mouthings of an over-pious preacher without a pastorate spout forth in fine fashion from Stephen J. Sanford, a Playhouse regular from whom one expect and always gets a good performance.

Gilbert Swem, another well-known playhouse performer, also returned after an absence of three years, to give the role of the mysterious Dr. Spender the polish and authority it needed.

On the distaff side, Martha Carroll showed more of her versatility and talent as an authoritative actress in her role of the girl.

Able handling of the role of Nurse Martin was provided by Jan Scott.

A handsome set designed by Director Warrington added to the reputation of the Playhouse for fine stage settings. Robert Overdorf as production manager and Harry E. Graf as technical manager can be credited with smoothness of many technical operations.

Curtain time at the Playhouse on the shores of Lake Ida is 8:30 p.m.

Hungarians To Perform

DELRAY BEACH — A family of Hungarian entertainers whose careers were cut off by the Communists more than two years ago return to the stage at the Briny Breezes Auditorium Saturday night in a program entitled "Songs From Around the World."

Jules and Hildegard Gyori, who escaped from their Communist-dominated homeland in 1956, will sing songs in a half dozen languages. Accompanying them in their comeback will be their two young sons.

The couple were prominent actors at the Budapest National Theater before their roles as Freedom Fighters forced them to flee.

Orchard Villa School Integration Ordered

The admission of four Negro pupils to all-white Orchard Villa Elementary School was approved Wednesday by the Dade County School Board in Florida's first move to integrate a public school below college level.

Acting unanimously on a motion by member Dr. Robert S. Butler, the board voted to admit the pupils at the opening of school next September.

However, the possibility existed that there would be practically no white pupils left by next fall. Enrollment has already dropped from 235 to 171 this year.

Many white families have been leaving the area as Negroes move in.

School officials said that white children would be able to go to other, segregated schools in the county "if there is room and if they provide their own transportation."

A board survey last fall showed that all but about 50 of the white families then living there would send their children elsewhere in the event of integration.

The children who will be admitted to Orchard Villa are Sherry Joseph, six, Irene Amanda Glover, seven, Jan Glover, nine, and Gary Range, six. Two will be in the second grade, one in the third, one in the fifth.

They live less than two blocks from Orchard Villa but were assigned last fall to a Negro school a mile away.

Butler said his motion to integrate was the only alternative under existing state laws. "The particular students meet the criteria set forth in the pupil assignment law," he said.

There was no discussion on the motion, except for a comment from Superintendent Joe Hall, who said, "it would be most in order."

"We are operating under the pupil assignment law, which we must follow," he said.

The assignment law, passed by a special session of the Legislature in 1956, was designed to hold integration to a minimum by letting local boards assign pupils according to factors "overlapping" the race factor.

The Dade board's action met both applause and angry reaction from state officials.

The four pupils enrolled at Orchard Villa last fall, but were reassigned to Holmes Elementary, the Negro school a mile away. It is crowded and has been operating on double sessions.

Backed by NAACP legal assistance, the four Negroes' parents appealed the reassignment at a school board hearing in September. The deci-

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

But Governor Voices Approval

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Dade School Board's plan for token integration won approval Wednesday from the governor and the author of Florida's pupil assignment law, but drew bitter criticism from some legislators.

Key segregation leaders predicted the Legislature will revive and pass next April the so-called "last resort" bill to close Florida's public schools rather than integrate them.

Gov. LeRoy Collins vetoed this measure last session, but segregation leaders say the threat of voluntary integration in Miami will give them the votes to override a veto next time.

"It's an outrage," declared House Speaker-designate Thomas D. Beasley of Walton, a strong foe of legislation two years ago to close the schools. "I will vote for it this time if no other solution presents itself."

Senate President-designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said the School Board violated the intent of the Florida Constitution which requires separate schools for whites and Negroes.

Gov. LeRoy Collins and his race relations committee appeared to be the only ones in favor of the School Board action. Collins said he agreed "completely" that the move was "sound and wise," and will help stave off indiscriminate, mass desegregation.

Key legislators disagreed, almost to a man, charging the threatened admittance of four Negroes to Orchard Villa "is just a foot in the door to topple segregation everywhere."

Many of them blamed the governor who apparently tried to prepare the public last week for the School Board decision. He said then that the people must permit some voluntary integration or have it forced on them indiscriminately by court edict.

Reaction began minutes after the School Board action was announced — and just about all of it was negative.

"This lends urgency to the need for a parent option plan" to let parents withdraw their children from integrated schools and educate them privately with state financial help, commented Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum, Florida's chief expert on segregation law.

Sen. Johnson said it shows clearly that the pupil assignment law was "just a stopgap law and we need something much stronger. This law served as a delay for a while, but we can see now that it has served its purpose."

Attorney General Richard Ervin agreed.

"Under the pupil assignment law, it lay within the discretion of the School Board to assign

Meeting With Collins Paved Way

Months of Preparation Led To School Board's Action

Months of preparation went into the Dade School Board's unanimous decision to crack the color barrier in Florida's public schools.

The action admitting four Negroes to a white school took less than two minutes, and with only three sentences of discussion.

But the final decision to take the step was made Monday morning when a group of board members met secretly at a Miami hotel with Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Insiders reported that Dr. Robert S. Butler, who made Wednesday's motion, engineered the unanimous action by persuading dissenting members to help present a united front. Butler has long favored token integration to preserve the pupil assignment law.

Last year, Dade school leaders met in Tallahassee with the governor to discuss the need for token integration in some community. Groundwork for the Dade action was laid there.

Last Friday, Collins said Florida should undertake a voluntary program of limited integration.

Failure to do so, he said, could mean local boards would lose their right to choose the time and place of integration. Instead, federal courts, through suits filed by the NAACP, would make the decisions.

"I am not willing to surrender this power or authority to the NAACP," he said.

Churchmen Generally Approve

NAACP Split on Decision

By JUANITA GREENE and ADON TAFT
Herald Staff Writers

Miami and state leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People differed sharply Wednesday over the decision to integrate Orchard Villa Elementary School.

Rev. A. Leon Lowry, of Tampa, state NAACP president, said the integration decision was "only a token thing," and urged Negroes to "press toward total compliance."

But G. E. Graves, Miami attorney who represents the NAACP, said he is "satisfied" with the Dade School Board action, and added he expects integration to be peaceful.

"We expect the people on both sides to accept this thing as the law," he said. "We don't expect any violence or mass hysteria."

"But," he added, "it's nothing to be jubilant about."

He would not reply directly when asked if he considered the move an encouraging one in the fight for integrated schools.

"That's a very hot question," he said.

"As for the people immediately involved, we are happy with the results," he added. "As to date we have not concerned ourselves with other students because they have not applied."

The four pupils to be admitted, Graves explained, are the only ones who followed through on all procedures required under Florida's pupil assignment law.

Graves said he did not know whether pressure would be brought soon to admit more Negroes to Orchard Villa or other all white schools.

But he said if such action is pending in the immediate future he is not aware of it.

No trouble is expected at Orchard Villa, said Graves, because the white and Negro students already know each other.

"Those children play together all day long," he said. "Everybody out there gets along fine."

Miami church leaders, meanwhile came forward with general approval of the action.

Here is what they said:

THE REV. A. E. GYSAN, president of the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church:

"When both the Biblical, legal and practical points are fully considered, one willingly accepts the decision of the School Board and, furthermore, is willing to uphold the hands of our public servants in this matter, for I am convinced they did not make this decision hastily or without the fullest possible deliberation of all the matters involved."

* * *

THE REV. J. CALVIN ROSE, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, pastor of the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church:

"It would appear to me that it is in the best interest of the community that we uphold the unanimous action of our School Board of men and women who are sufficiently informed of the state laws and the local situation to make a decision evidently in the best interest of the community."

* * *

"Something like this was inevitable. I don't believe it means a wholesale move to integrate."

* * *

DR. JOSEPH R. NAROT, president of the Greater Miami Rabbinical Association, rabbi at Temple Israel:

"This is compliance with the law of the land and I hope this will be the beginning of a process of 'moderation and reconciliation' which will redound to the well being of the whole community."

* * *

"Since this is the law of the land, the School Board is merely doing its duty. Most of the people will see the matter in that light."

"I believe the School Board action is in line with the pupil placement law of 1956 in this state. I believe that the court also held the law is valid but must not be used for circumvention.

"The assignment of these four Negro children to the Orchard Villa School, I suppose, can be viewed as a trial balloon.

"Not any of us can say now what the complexion of that school will be by next September, since so many of the White families have moved out of that community.

"If this is an honest effort on the part of the school board to obey the laws of the land, then this is a good beginning. The unanimous vote of the board is a point which deserves notice."

Collins to Speak At Demo Dinner

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Gov. LeRoy Collins has been chosen as one of 11 speakers for the Democratic party's national victory dinner here Feb. 28.

Some 1,500 people are expected at the $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

The list of speakers is headed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. Included are four governors, two senators, three representatives and two other state officials.

Collins and Rayburn are the only southerners on the list.

Hoffa Hurls Strike Threat At Carpenters

Aims Squeeze Against Groves That Union Owns in Florida

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Teamster President James R. Hoffa threatened Wednesday to call a strike against the Carpenters Union at Carpenter-owned citrus groves at Lakeland, Fla.

Hoffa told reporters the Carpenters Union owns some of the biggest citrus groves in Florida.

"We're going to organize the Carpenters citrus groves, and put them on strike if they won't negotiate with us," Hoffa said.

He didn't say whether he planned to recruit, into the Teamsters Union, employes other than truck drivers at the groves.

Hoffa linked his statement with a declaration he believes the AFL-CIO ought to take his scandal-scarred union back into its ranks "on the same basis as the Carpenters."

He said he had read news reports that the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Puerto Rico has decided not to expel the Carpenters if they will clean up their own ranks.

"The Teamsters ought to be taken back into the AFL-CIO on the same basis the Carpenters have remained in," he said. "Are there two sets of ethics?"

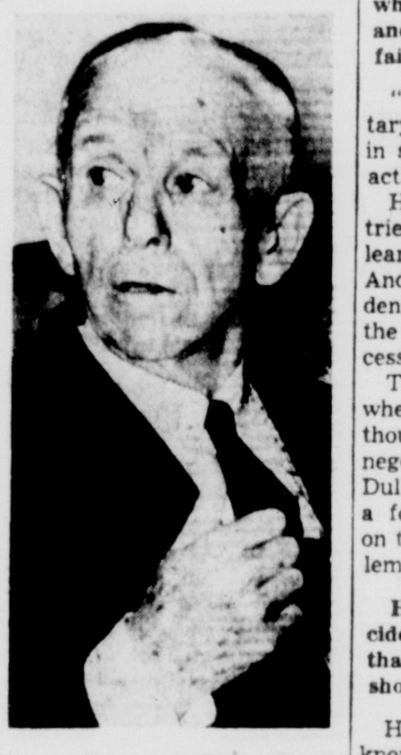
The AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters, denouncing it as a corrupt union and a disgrace to organized labor.

In reply to questions, Hoffa, said he will not ask President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to take back the Teamsters. "I have nothing to say to him," he said.

But Hoffa contended that neither expulsion from the parent organization, nor corruption charges aimed at the Teamsters by the Senate Rackets Committee, has hurt his union's organizational drives.

He said the Teamsters have recruited more new members since they were expelled than have been added by all of the remaining AFL-CIO unions combined. He reported the membership of the Teamsters increased 135,000 in the last year to 1,632,000.

Hoffa made his statements to newsmen as he visited the Senate Office Building to deliver a two-foot stack of manila envelopes containing documents he said the rackets committee had requested.



Gen. George Marshall

Marshall Is Hit by 2nd Stroke

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — (UPI) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that Gen. George C. Marshall has suffered a second and more severe stroke and is in "serious condition."

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was conscious and there was no evidence of paralysis, according to the medical bulletin issued at Womack General Hospital here.

But Col. George Powell, chief of medicine at Womack, said Marshall's condition was "serious and prognosis depends on future developments."

Powell said that Marshall had some difficulty in swallowing and seeing but his blood pressure and pulse were stable.

He said a "very mild pneumonia" had appeared practically concurrently with the second stroke.

She Needed Insurance, All Right

More State News, P. 1B, 11C

While he was on his way to see her, she was having her troubles on an isolated road southwest of here.

A 40-mile wind blew over a pine tree on top of her car as she drove along. Some nearby citrus grove workers came to the rescue but had to chop through the tree to get Mrs. Kamrradt, about 40, out of the automobile.

When they cut through the trunk, the top of the tree crashed on some powerlines. This caused a brush fire which burned over several acres.

The flames blew away from Mrs. Kamrradt but she was hospitalized with injuries from the tree accident which left the roof and windows of her car smashed.

The unidentified insurance man didn't say what kind of policy he wanted to sell Mrs. Kamrradt, but she probably wishes she had it.

Wedding Bells For Liz, Eddie?

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — A movie critic said Wednesday, Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher would be married in Acapulco this month.

Luis Guevara, writing in Diario de la Tarde, said he got word from close friends of the couple that they would be married in the home of Cantinflas, famous Mexican comic.

'Dulles The Man I Want'

Even Sick, He's Tops With Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to stay on as secretary of state as long as Dulles "believes that he is in shape to carry on."

The President told his news conference he would rather have a sick Dulles as secretary of state than anyone else.

"I know of no man . . . in the world," Eisenhower said, who can equal Dulles' "wisdom and knowledge" in foreign affairs.

"Therefore as long as Secretary Dulles believes that he is in shape to carry on, he is exactly the person I want."

He denied reports that Dulles tried to resign last week after learning he had cancer again. And as for himself, the President said he has not discussed the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles "with anyone."

The President answered "No" when asked if he had given any thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin and German problems.

He said he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday that plans for the meeting should go "right ahead."

He said Dulles' views are well known and he is "backed up by able men of his own choosing" who can carry out his policies. For this reason, he said, it was not likely there would be any need to hold the foreign ministers conference in the U. S. because of Dulles' illness.

As for the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting in that city, it will be the Russians who start it. But he made plain again that the U. S. and its allies intend to remain in Communist-encircled West Berlin even though the Russians carry out their threat to turn over access routes to the East German Communists May 27.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed Wednesday that if the Allies resorted to force to keep open access routes to West Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower commented that "we are not saying we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go on and continue carrying out our responsibilities" accepted in 1945 to maintain the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin."

Eisenhower, with a jibe at Union Chief Walter Reuther, turned thumbs down on any attempt to revive at this time emergency unemployment compensation for the jobless.

Declaring the nation was in a period of mounting prosperity, he also scoffed at Reuther's proposal for a march of the unemployed on Washington to seek more federal aid. He said he didn't see how any good could come out of such a demonstration.

Novice Driver Kills Children

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—A truck loader with a sudden urge to drive ran over and killed two children and crashed a big truck into a house.

He slipped behind the wheel while his boss was in a store.

"It was easy to start," he said later, "but when it got up speed, I couldn't control it."

Shoots Set for June

Air Force to Fire 2 Probes at Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL —(AP)— The Air Force will make two daring stabs to shoot space probes to the planet Venus this June, informed sources said Wednesday.

The Venus tests, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's busy satellite program for 1960, will be made using two-stage versions of both the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM.

One official close to the program identified the launching vehicles as the Atlas-Able and Thor-Able. A second stage for the powerful Atlas currently is being developed by Convair Astronautics.

The Thor-Able has already been used with promising results on three Air Force lunar probes and four nose cone reentry tests at intercontinental range. A mouse was aboard on three of the latter flights but it never was recovered.

The two shoots will be attempted sometime in the middle of June when Venus and Earth are in the best positions, the source said.

One probe probably will be aimed at swinging a satellite around the planet while the other may go past Venus and far out into space.

Another version of the two-stage Thor will be fired on a polar orbit satellite test soon from the Pacific missile range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Sosa's Last Order: 'Fire!'

Commands His Own Execution

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad Wednesday, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time Tuesday as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request—that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabana fortress:

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited. He told them:

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me."

Then he calmly told the executioners:

"Get ready . . . Aim . . . Fire!"

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.

Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up with the same guilty verdict.

Resigned to his fate, Sosa Blanco refused to make a personal plea for his life. "I shall go with a clear conscience," he said.

'95 Per Cent With Castro'

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— An official in the foreign ministry said Wednesday claims that a revolution is spawning against Fidel Castro's regime are not being taken seriously.

Nicholas Rivero, press coordinator for the foreign ministry, made the statement in commenting on statements attributed to Rafael del Pino, a former Castro companion. Del Pino reportedly has turned against Castro because of his alleged connections with Communists.

"This sounds like Batista propaganda," Rivero declared. "The revolutionary army, which is a people's army, has replaced the old army of repression and is 100 per cent with Fidel Castro. At least 95 per cent of the Cuban people are with Castro."

Staph Infection Closes Nursery

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The nursery of University Hospital was closed Wednesday after officials reported the finding of staphylococcal infection among staff members and infants.

A new temporary nursery was to be set up and operated until the older unit can be disinfected.

All those found to be infected are under treatment. Dr. Robert Lowe, hospital superintendent, said the disease among infants is under control and sick babies isolated.

A Shotgun for Nikita

Workers at Tula, an industrial center south of Moscow, present a shotgun to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, left. It was an apt coincidence, for Khrushchev spoke of guns to a Tula audience, saying that any attempt by Western powers to shoot their way into West Berlin by land or air will mean war with the Soviet Union.

Integration Ordered by Dade Board

sion was delayed pending a series of studies of the neighborhood.

Hall said Wednesday that "on the basis of these studies," the Negroes should be admitted.

Chairman C. Raymond Van Dusen left the meeting after the unanimous vote to make a prepared statement. He said that the decision had been made under the Pupil Assignment Law and that it was unanimous.

He declined to elaborate further.

"I don't want to make any more of a statement," he said. "We're trying to keep this thing as dignified and impersonal as we possibly can."

Butler said that "without this action, the Pupil Assignment Law wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on."

Other members asked for comment had the same reply: "The action speaks for itself."

Orchard Villa will be Florida's first integrated school below the graduate level. Two Negroes are now attending the University of Florida graduate school, but none have been admitted to elementary or high schools anywhere in the state.

Alabama to Keep Records Secret

MONTGOMERY, Ala. —(AP)— A defiant legislature took drastic action Wednesday to keep Alabama voter records out of the hands of federal agents.

Without a dissenting vote and without even debating the issue, the House passed and sent to the governor a bill giving voter registration officials the right to throw away old records.

The vote was 84-0 on the measure which a week ago had sailed through the Senate with the unanimous approval of its 31 members.

Gov. John Patterson had promised in advance to sign the bill.

No Whites Show Up

22 Negroes Alone In Virginia School

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—(UPI) — Historic Warren County gave up its only public high school — a modern building capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils—to 22 Negroes Wednesday to maintain racial segregation.

It complied with Federal Court orders to reopen Warren County High School, but met a total boycott by white pupils who refused to yield to racial mixing in the classrooms. Not a single white pupil showed up for classes.

The 22 Negro pupils and nine white teachers gathered in the library for formal registration. The school's 30 classrooms were empty. Its corridors were ghostly silent.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque announced that Warren County in the rural Shenandoah Valley, has complied with the court's order to reopen the million dollar school plant. The school was closed last September under Virginia's "massive resistance" laws when the Federal Court ordered 24 Negro pupils admitted.

In downtown Front Royal, about half a mile away, some 800 white pupils attended the private, makeshift classes set up for them when the high school was closed six months ago.

Virginia's integration was directed by Federal Court order. Three Virginia metropolitan areas — Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria — admitted 30 Negroes to 10 schools earlier this month.

Front Royal, however, was the first predominantly rural locality in the South to face court-ordered integration.

All He Needed Was Air

Not a Drink and He Got A Jag, Teetotaler's Gripe

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A teetotaler asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.

He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, that he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day.

He said things were getting so bad that his wife threatened to leave him and his boss accused him of tippling.

The health department discovered why the work was so intoxicating.

The man worked with trichlorethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

The man was not identified.

Deaths Elsewhere

KATHRYN ADAMS, 65, former film actress, who appeared in "The Squaw Man," Hollywood's first feature length film, produced in 1914, at Hollywood, Calif.

RADFORD S. HALL, 52, executive secretary of the American National Cattlemen's Association at Denver.

these children to Orchard Villa school," Ervin said. "I assume the board, after an investigation, determined that it had no alternative."

"However, I think this points up the need for other legislation, including parent-option to meet the problems in other communities where some integration is incompatible to local opinion."

Sen. Verle Pope, St. Augustine, a Collins floor leader who votes with the governor more than any other senator, said Florida should never voluntarily accept integration.

"The purpose of the pupil assignment law was to delay and keep to a minimum integration of schools. I do not feel any school board should accept integration unless forced to under court order. Their action was premature and apt to have a very bad effect on legislation affecting the public school system."

Enlarging on his comments, Johnson said that even though the U.S. Supreme Court has declared the segregation provision of Florida's Constitution invalid "it does not remove that fact that integration is still against the intent of the people of Florida."

"I hate to see Dade County throw in the sponge at a time when it was not absolutely necessary."

Beasley said the Miami action was "bad for the Negroes involved."

"What chance will four Negroes have in a school with 150 white children?" he asked. Beasley predicted the Orchard Villa school will be closed before next fall's scheduled integration date.

Sumter Lowry of Tampa, runner-up for governor in 1956, attributed the integration move in Miami to "Gov. Collins' lack of leadership." He predicted it will lead to a complete breakdown of segregation in Florida and charged Collins has "violated his oath of office by advocating any integration whatever in the schools."

Mexicans Eagerly Await Ike

President Due In Acapulco Today

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

ACAPULCO, Mexico — This resort town and all the rest of Mexico ran a high temperature of excitement over the impending visit of President Eisenhower, who arrives here this morning.

The President left Washington Wednesday afternoon in the presidential plane Columbine III, and landed Wednesday evening in Austin, Tex. He is slated to leave Austin this morning for Acapulco.

Traveling with the President on the first leg of his trip to Acapulco and meetings with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Homer Thornberry.

The two Texas Democrats were invited to accompany the President to Austin.

From the enthusiasm, bordering on hysteria, with which Mexicans await Eisenhower, a stranger would suspect that Ike was coming down here to return Texas and California to the Mexicans, the original operators of those valuable properties.

Mexican police have rounded up every potential agitator around here and taken them out of circulation, for fear of embarrassing the visit between President Eisenhower and President Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

The Mexican president drove down to this coast resort with his entourage from Mexico City Wednesday evening.

President Lopez Mateos will be on hand with the entire diplomatic corps at Acapulco's picture-postcard airport when the Eisenhower plane touches here.

The shiniest cannons in Mexico will blast a 21-gun salute for Eisenhower, and the shiniest band instruments in the republic will play the U.S. National Anthem and other tunes.

Although this visit by Eisenhower is strictly a handshaking assignment, it is of utmost political importance to the Mexicans, as one can understand from the fervent newspaper accounts of the visit.

Mexico and most other Latin American republics think wistfully of making true equality and friendship with the U.S. a living reality instead of a slogan.

And this visit by President Eisenhower apparently will give the Mexicans a great boost in their national morale, if the public accounts of the importance of the visit are taken at face value. The President and his party will stay at a plush coastal hotel during this two-day visit.

Mass Missiles Out—Doolittle

COCOA BEACH —(UPI)— Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, World War II aviator turned missile man, said Wednesday it is unlikely the nation will ever mass produce missiles in the numbers it once turned out fighters and bombers.

Doolittle, who led the daring American bombing attack on Tokyo in 1942, said missiles with hydrogen warheads pack one million times the punch of a World War II bomber armed with TNT bombs.

As board chairman of the Space Technology Laboratories, Doolittle visited the nearby Air Force missile test center for a closeup of some of the nation's most powerful missiles.

Miami and Beach Shadow Box While Bookies Work On

By GENE MILLER
and JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writers

While The Herald again made bets with bookies Wednesday, the City Commission in Miami and the City Council in Miami Beach sloughed off pleas to stamp out illegal gambling.

Four Beach councilmen sat in amused silence as fellow Councilman Mel Richard asked for an ordinance requiring mandatory jail sentences for convicted bookies.

His motion failed for lack of a second.

In Miami, Mayor Robert King High demanded the ouster of Police Chief Walter E. Headley. He got nowhere.

Richard charged that Beach bookies were so bold that a high school student learned the names of the horses by watching bets being taken at a lunch counter near the school.

Mayor Kenneth Oka alternately praised the Beach police for a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in 1958 and denounced the force for poor gambling and B-girl enforcement.

"I asked the police about a narcotics operation several weeks ago," said Oka, "and my information was better than theirs.

"It is distressing and embarrassing to have to read The Herald to find out what's going on around here."

Richard told the council that Police Chief Mike Fox told him personally he was in favor of a mandatory jail sentence for convicted bookies.

So Fox was called from his office to the council meeting. "Are you in favor of it?" Richard asked Fox.

"That's up to the judge, Mel," replied Fox.

After explaining that the council—not the judge—makes ordinances, Richard said, "It is obvious Fox doesn't know the meaning of the word 'mandatory.'

Fox smiled.

"Would it (mandatory jail sentences) help?" Richard asked again.

"I don't know," said Fox. "I don't know the feeling of the bookies."

While the audience laughed, Fox again and again replied to questions by Richard and Oka, "I'll do what the city manager and Council tell me."

"That's an evasive answer, Mike," Oka said. "We're telling you now. Enforce the laws."

During the entire hour and ten minute discussion, Councilmen Harold Spaet, Harold Shapiro, Bernie Frank and Marcie Lieberman said nothing. They uttered not a peep.

Councilman D. Lee Powell said, "I am unalterably opposed to gambling."

Powell, Spaet, Shapiro, Frank and Lieberman all voted for Fox's appointment as chief 20 months ago.

At the Miami City Commission meeting, Mayor High said, "Apparently the police chief (Headley) is not able to stop the gambling.

"Therefore, I suggest that the city manager suspend the police chief."

Commissioner Otis W. Shiver said he favors a thorough investigation.

"But we just can't pussyfoot around on this thing," said Mayor High.

Chimed in Councilman James High, "Don't forget that we as commissioners are subject to a 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine for interfering in administration matters."

"This is a matter for the grand jury," Commissioner George DuBreuil said.

"George, don't you ever get tired of running down there every minute?" James High asked.

Then City Manager E. A. Evans said he already is investigating.

"I anticipated that this would happen," said Evans. "It comes out every year almost to the same day, and I was prepared for it."

And there the matter dropped.

Bets Easy Even if the 'Heat's On'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

If the "heat is on" as the police say, bookmakers on both sides of Biscayne Bay still weren't worried about it Wednesday.

They were doing business almost as usual when a Herald reporter placed three bets with them.

Two of the bookies were in Miami; one in Miami Beach. The wagers were put down within a three-hour period.

Bets placed by The Herald with comparative ease in the past five days now total 15.

Both Miami and Miami Beach police still contend, however, that bookmaking in their own bailiwicks is still on a "sneak" basis—that is, off and on.

Wednesday's bets were made:

AT THE CORNER of West 39th St. and Alton Rd. in Miami Beach. A runner known as Shortstop took a $5 win bet on Risk Again in the first Hialeah race.

AT JACK'S BAR, 1361 NE Second Ave., Miami. A patron who said "Just call me John," accepted a $5 bill from the reporter, marked the nag's name in a wire-hinged notebook. The horse was Oil Burner, running in the fourth at 4 to 1 odds.

* * *

ON THE SIDEWALK in the 100 block of NE 14th St. Little Jimmy, a Negro handyman, said he would "look after" getting a $5 win bet down on Big Winner, an 8 to 1 shot in the ninth.

But he advised this Herald reporter:

"You better watch yourself when you come again . . . You know what the papers been sayin' lately about bookmakin'."

In Jack's Bar, the conversation touched on the recent disclosures by The Herald of wide-open bookmaking in almost every area of the county—but nobody was worried.

"The cops don't check us that closely around here," said John, who admitted he was "just starting out in this (bookmaking) business."

But on the Beach, Shortstop was concerned about bettors "contacting me right out in the open like this.

"We can operate . . . but we were told to keep it down." He said he did not have time to explain.

Aga in Egypt

National Summary

Arctic air is again on the move, concentrated in high pressure over the northern plains and pushing through the Gulf and Atlantic states, scheduled to lower temperatures over most of the eastern half of the country.

Temperatures at midday were as much as 5 to 10 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana and a 15 to 20 below range is forecast from Montana to Wisconsin.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for parts of New York and Pennsylvania and colder air should cover the Florida peninsula Thursday, nudging into 80 degree warmth reported.

Low pressure off the northwest coast continues to feed moisture inland and showers with snow in the mountains again extended over the Pacific states and into the northern Appalachians.

Showery weather should retreat from all but extreme northern parts of California, but rain is expected to move back into central sections of the state Thursday while rain or snow will be featured in the northern and central plateau states.

Dixie Exodus Heavy

Southerners Are 'Movingest' Folk

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — Southern people were pictured as among the "movingest" in the country Wednesday night by a Florida State University sociologist, who said most of the "movers" had gone to other parts of the country.

Although hard to believe in Florida, which is drawing many more people than it is losing, the South, as a whole, has been able to maintain, or increase, its population through the years only by a heavy excess of births over deaths, Dr. Charles M. Grigg said.

He told the American Studies Lecture series, which is devoted this spring to a study of the South and the nation 100 years after the Civil War:

"For every decade since 1860, except two, 1890-1900 and 1930-1940, the Southeast has grown at a slower rate than the nation. This has occurred in spite of the fact that the South has had a high birth rate during this 100-year period.

"The reason is obvious. The South has lost its native born population to other parts of the country."

Dr. Grigg, director of the Center for Social Research at FSU and a researcher in population problems, said, on the question of mobility, that some 25 million Americans in 1950 lived outside the state of their birth.

In the Southeast alone five million had, as of 1950, moved from one state to another, while another 7,344,125 had moved outside the South. The South has well earned the title "the seed bed of the nation," he said.

It has been the rural South which has furnished most of the people for urbanization within the South, and has also contributed greatly to urbanization of other sections of the country, he said.

Many of the movers have been Negroes. In 1860 the South had 88 per cent of the nation's Negro population, but in 1950 only 61 per cent of the 15 million Negroes lived in the South.

Looking at the racial composition of people who have moved from the South, he said the 1950 figures show "four out of 10 were Negroes, but the non-white migrants outnumbered the whites in a number of states."

The heavy exodus of Negroes has made for a Negro population outside the South four times as large as at the beginning of the century.

Of the Negroes remaining in the South, there has been a heavy trend toward the cities, especially large metropolitan areas.

'Newcomers' Breakfast Set

Meter Changes Coming Up

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — There'll be some meter changes made.

At the request of Police Chief S. B. Caruthers the Council on Wednesday approved changing over meters in the Fifth Avenue Parkway area from one hour to allow parking up to 12 hours.

Councilmen Arnie Haynes offered the chief's suggestion and noted the metered area now yields about $12 a month from about 50 meters.

The chief said the change to allow two hours for a nickel, four hours for 10 cents, and up to 12 hours for a quarter would allow merchants to park without running out every hour to put money in the meters.

Neither official mentioned that most parkers now prefer to park in adjoining vacant lots and pay nothing.

Sporbert Rites Today

NAPLES — Funeral for Dr. Curtis P. Sporbert, 47, of 373 Third Ave., N., will be held at 8 p.m. today at Pittman Funeral Chapel. The Masonic lodge will be in charge.

Dr. Sporbert, a retired dentist from Westport, Conn., died Tuesday at his home. He had been a resident of Naples for two and a half years.

He is survived by his wife, Caroline, a brother, William, of Garden City, N.Y. A Navy veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Masons and Psi Omega dental fraternity.

Four Casualties

If It Wasn't Friday The 13th It Felt Like It

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — Maybe it isn't Friday the 13th but Charlie Folkerts isn't sure.

He called an electrician to check on a non-functioning washer. The electrician, splashing around in water spilling from a broken water heater next to the washer, found a disassembled rat caught in the washer's works.

"Don't touch the refrigerator," warned Charlie, "The handle's shorted and it'll shock you."

"It can't do that," said Electrician Ralph Stumbo, —but it did.

The four casualties are all being repaired. Folkerts said the electrician was least damaged.

City Board Has Ball On Studio

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — The Easterly Dance Studio case has been reopened with a half dozen angles. The city council has been able to solve only about two of the questions raised.

Mrs. Jean Easterly three years ago built a "studio-residence" in Lake Forest, resulting in neighbors' complaints the studio was in violation. She was arrested, refused to post bond, and spent several days in jail before her husband bailed her out.

Police records show she was fined $50 for operating a dance school without a license and acquitted of occupying the studio withouta permit.

Mrs. Easterly revived the whole affair Wednesday, with a complaint her house was unfairly assessed. She said it had cost $9,114, while the city declared it was worth $11,780 and assessed it at $6,800.

The red-headed dancer admitted, when questioned by Councilman Arnie Haynes, she was offering to sell it, furnished, for $14,700.

Council agreed all it could do was allow the four per cent reduction for paying taxes ahead of time, and ask county indulgence there, too, since Mrs. Easterly said she had thought she was to get a hearing and hadn't.

Then she asked for "lifting of the blot on me and the city." She meant the city's refusal to allow her to use the house for a dance studio. Councilmen said she had been told to limit pupils to four, not to classes of 30 or more.

Her husband, Byron Easterly, denied telling City Attorney Bill Berry she is now using the studio for classes. That section of the debate ended with Mrs. Easterly claiming the "whole story was never brought out."

Not mentioned in the talks was the fact Easterly faces trial at 2 p.m. today in City Court on a disorderly conduct charge.

Bert Pinkston, deputy tax assessor, swore out the warrant Monday when he said Easterly became abusive in discussing the $153 tax bill.

Dade Judge Gets Bond, Tax Cases

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — The city bond validation suit and the law suit to clarify validity of the petition to repeal the utility tax will be heard before Circuit Judge John J. Kehoe sometime next week.

Judge Kehoe, of Miami, was assigned Wednesday to sit in Circuit Court here between Feb. 22-28 by Chief Justice Glenn Terrell of the Florida Supreme Court. He will replace Judge Aquilino Lopez, who disqualified himself.

City Attorney Hilary Albury Wednesday said he would get in touch with Judge Kehoe today to arrange hearing dates for the two cases.

The validation proceeding seeks approval of a proposed bond issue of $2,750,000 for a capital improvement program.

The other case asks a court ruling on validity of a voters' petition, rejected by the city for lack of sufficient signatures. The petition asked repeal of a recently levied utility tax.

Judge Lopez disqualified himself in both cases because close relatives had signed the contested petition.

Murderer Gets Life

WEAT PALM BEACH — A Circuit Court jury after 72 minutes deliberation Wednesday convicted a 35-year-old husband of first degree murder but recommended mercy.

C. J. Ward, Negro, 1020 Ninth St., was charged with killing his common law wife, Rosa Lee, 33, last October. The jury verdict carries a life sentence.

Ward claimed the fatal shooting was an accident. He testified his wife pulled a gun on him and that the weapon went off during an ensuing struggle. She was shot three times.

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Rockana Carriers, Tampa, was authorized to transport phosphate, dolomite and other minerals from Polk and Hillsborough counties to all points in Florida, except Monroe County and counties west of Holmes, Bay and Washington.

Rev. Harrison To Leave Post

NAPLES — The Rev. Kee H. Harrison, rector of Trinity-by-the-Cove Episcopal Church, has been forced to leave his post due to illness it was announced Wednesday by the wardens and vestry.

A supply rector will be temporarily in charge.

TALLAHASSEE — Frank S. Havely of Okeechobee was appointed a member of the Okeechobee County Welfare board by Gov. LeRoy Collins Wednesday.

Attorneys Will Study Charter

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — Proposals for a new city charter will be studied by two attorneys before public consideration — but not by the head of the taxpayer's group which financed half the cost of the proposals.

The two lawyers who will check the document will be Bill Berry, new city attorney and former councilman, and Billy Hixon, former city attorney.

Left out will be Carl O. Hoffmann, president of the Collier County Citizen's Research, taxpayers' group which paid half the basic research cost. It was argued Hoffmann is a lawyer but has not been admitted to practice in Florida.

However, at Berry's suggestion, the 84-page charter will have recommendations given after study by city officials and department heads.

"We'd better just hold tight until we get a chance to get together and form a plan," said Mayor W. Roy Smith of CCCR's proposal to include Hoffmann in the study committee.

The mayor has often said "The best charter for the City of Naples is the one we now have," but others have said the 1949 document is too loose and indefinite.

Berry finally suggested he and Nixon go over the proposal first and then meet with the council "and one or perhaps two representatives of CCCR."

"I think that's a good suggestion," said the mayor, ending the discussion.

The council also received resignation of Andrew Ejde from the park board and Earl F. Adams from the zoning board.

The council informed a representative of the "Fishermen's League of Naples" beach groins are not open to fishermen and, in some cases, are private property.

Council approved a request of Rich Robinson for two new docks at Crayton Cove.

Federal Pledge Was For a Third

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST—The City Commission Wednesday awarded a contract to Charley Toppino & Sons, Inc., of Key West for construction of a bathing beach along S. Roosevelt Blvd.

The contract was based on Toppino's low bid of $427,500 for 4,500 feet of sand beach, 300 feet wide. Bids were opened by the commission Nov. 17.

The contract, however, stipulates that construction may be discontinued after 3,000 feet of beach are finished if appropriation of federal funds for the project is still uncertain.

Under a 1955 congressional authorization, the federal government is to pay one-third of the cost of the beach.

The other two-thirds will come from the cigaret tax money, designated by legislative action for beach construction.

Congress, however, has not yet appropriated the U.S. share of the money — about $150,000.

Payment to Toppino for 3,000 feet would be proportional to the bid for the full 4,500 feet, and amounts to $285,000, a little under the $300,000 now in the city beach fund.

City Manager Dave King Wednesday questioned wording of the contract, in regard to clearly stipulating that, if construction could not go beyond the 3,000 feet, the contractor would be paid on a proportionate basis.

After some discussion, City Attorney Hilary Albury assured King and the commission the provision needed no further carification.

Construction of the beach, 500 feet east of Bertha St. on the boulevard is expected to begin within the next 10 days. The contract calls for completion within nine months.

The beach has been designed and planned in conjunction with U.S. Army Engineers. Special provisions in the contract call for the use of fine-grain manufactured sand and a minimum layer of eight inches of "natural sand topping."

A performance bond for $285,000 was required of the contractor.

C.C. Backs Salt Water Plant Try

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — The Chamber of Commerce Wednesday endorsed efforts being made to secure a federal salt water conversion plant in Key West.

The Chamber's board of directors unanimously agreed to inform Florida's congressional delegation it supports the Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission.

The commission has made several offers of a site for water conversion installation in the Keys.

Action came after Director Joe Pinder said the cause would be helped by letting Washington know that not only official agencies here, but the people also were interested in having the plant in Key West.

The Chamber also:

APPROVED a resolution of the Miami Beach chamber, calling for repeal of the federal 10 per cent excise tax on local and long distance telephone service.

ENDORSED a resolution by the state chamber calling on the Legislature to repeal its 1957 amendment, doubling the tax on intangibles.

Fill Approved

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— The State Park Board trustees has granted permission to the Crops of Engineers to take about 100,000 cubic yards of fill material from Caxambas Pass and the gulf of Mexico in Collier County for an Air Force missile tracking station at Marco Island.

Zone Laws Get Study In Monroe

KEY WEST — Several proposed acts designed to set up proper zoning procedure in Monroe County, are under consideration by the County Commission.

The acts were drawn up by Jessie Yarborough, county zoning consultant.

Once approved by the board, the acts would go before the Legislature. At present the county has no zoning regulations.

The four acts designate procedure for zoning, establish rules and codes for platting and building, specify the authority for enforcement, and provide for appeal and review.

Man Enters Guilty Plea

WEST PALM BEACH — Alfred Dexter Jr., 44, of Belle Glade, pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in Circuit Court Wednesday on the date he was scheduled to be tried for first degree murder. Judge Culver Smith ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Dexter was indicted for first degree murder by a grand jury for the gunshot killing of his wife, Sally Ann Palmer, last Oct. 18.

The guilty plea to the lesser charge of manslaughter which provides for a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison—was submitted by Dexter with the consent of State Attorney Phil O'Connell.

Key West Musical Do-It-Yourself

Brains and Talent Produce A Show

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — "I've done much more than that old bore, Delilah," the feminine lineup choruses.

The point they're trying to make is that a gal can get a lot accomplished with "A Little Brains, A Little Talent."

These assets, plus a lot of time, effort and energy are making what promises to be a sparkling musical production, "Red Garter Cabaret" for presentation March 6-7 at the Casa Marina.

Some 40 Key West men and women—professionals, housewives, businessmen—are lending their talents to the annual musical creation, sponsored by the Junior Women's Club for charity.

In the past the JWC's show, called Musicana, has been produced and directed by a professional outfit.

But this year's production is entirely homegrown. "We're making all our own costumes and doing all the work ourselves to save money," says ViAnn Youmans, who is directing the "Little Brains, Little Talent" number.

One result is that cast members are getting more chance to experiment with their theatrical talents.

For example, Bill Chappell, businessman, city commissioner and veteran of past Musicanas, is the "choreographer" for one skit.

"We're putting on a fast-paced, one-hour show with a Parisian theme," says Mrs. Youmans, an energetic brunette. "We're not having one of those shows where the MC comes out and says, 'Now I want you to meet . . .'"

The production includes group skits and solos, with music from popular Broadway musicals.

Funds from the ticket sales on the two-night run go into the JWC welfare fund, library fund, and child care center fund.

Nightlife with George Bourke

Years Haven't Dimmed Voice Appeal, Judy Garland Proves

THIS GARLAND GIRL named Judy still packs the potent punch of a heavyweight in the talent department—and this is the only subtle nod we'll make toward an obvious matter of avoirdupois in this review after first challenging any calory-conscious overweights in the reading audience who might have the temerity to throw the first "stone" (British measure) at Judy for wearing a few sizes larger than she did in the 30's of "Over the Rainbow" and "Trolley Song" days. Who doesn't in these days of plenty? Wear larger sizes, that is.

Talent in the unprecise arts should be weighed without irrelevant thumbs pressing on the scales and with concern only for its effect on an audience. In her Fontainebleau La Ronde debut Miss Garland effectively moved her audience to what could have been a standing ovation with a trifle more organization. And it was an earned hit.

Joe E. Lewis, in from his own stand at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii next door, blended 100 proof fact with the fun with which he feels he must toughen all sentiment in testifying that Judy's charm and singing had brought a tear to his eye even though the lump in his throat could very well have been scotch.

Today's Judy isn't the irrepressible song and dance darling of yesteryear. She has no corps of boy dancers to assist her and her movement and manner are subdued. But the song still has the vigor of old once she has warmed into it. There is nothing flashily explosive in her performance — and yet it generates, from the warmth of its mounting intensity, a power to lift from a take-off level of a well-wishing doubtful Thomas at the start to the completely sold and devoted role of a Boswell, eager to sing deserved praises, at the finish.

Amusements

Catchy Break Still There

THERE IS MUCH to praise. "You Made Me Love You" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," for instance, sung with the same pathetic little vocal break that was Judy's contrived stock in trade long before life had time and opportunity to etch it there for real . . . the hard way.

Then, for a gayer and tantalizing touch, Judy never did a more persuasive job than she does currently with a teasingly tempoed "Do It Again" or a livelier "Day In, Day Out." Add the inevitable "Trolley Song," "Zing Went the Strings" and "Over the Rainbow" — the last off microphone—and a climaxing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" and you have a repertoire that scored a Garlanded victory.

Oh sure, we personally didn't care for her "Rock-a-bye My Baby" or "Suwannee." That might have been not so much a lack of appreciation for Judy, however, as it might have been a greater appreciation for the memory of hearing Al Jolson do these numbers. After all, Jolie didn't sing "Over the Rainbow" or "You Made Me Love You." Or did he?

If he did then we've forgotten in the light of Judy's greater talent with them. Be that as it may—Judy Garland, who has had her share of ups and her downs, is on the up-beat at the Fontainebleau.

Orchard Villa School Integration Ordered

Board Decrees Admission of 4 Negroes in Fall

The admission of four Negro pupils to all-white Orchard Villa Elementary School was approved Wednesday by the Dade County School Board in Florida's first move to integrate a public school below college level.

Acting unanimously on a motion by member Dr. Robert S. Butler, the board voted to admit the pupils at the opening of school next September.

However, the possibility existed that there would be practically no white pupils left by next fall. Enrollment has already dropped from 235 to 171 this year.

Many white families have been leaving the area as Negroes move in.

School officials said that white children would be able to go to other, segregated schools in the county "if there is room and if they provide their own transportation."

A board survey last fall showed that all but about 50 of the white families then living there would send their children elsewhere in the event of integration.

The children who will be admitted to Orchard Villa are Sherry Joseph, six, Irene Amanda Glover, seven, Jan Glover, nine, and Gary Range, six. Two will be in the second grade, one in the third, one in the fifth.

They live less than two blocks from Orchard Villa but were assigned last fall to a Negro school a mile away.

Butler said his motion to integrate was the only alternative under existing state laws. "The particular students meet the criteria set forth in the pupil assignment law," he said.

There was no discussion on the motion, except for a comment from Superintendent Joe Hall, who said, "it would be most in order."

"We are operating under the pupil assignment law, which we must follow," he said.

The assignment law, passed by a special session of the Legislature in 1956, was designed to hold integration to a minimum by letting local boards assign pupils according to factors "overlapping" the race factor.

The Dade board's action met both applause and angry reaction from state officials.

The four pupils enrolled at Orchard Villa last fall, but were reassigned to Holmes Elementary, the Negro school a mile away. It is crowded and has been operating on double sessions.

Backed by NAACP legal assistance, the four Negroes' parents appealed the reassignment at a school board hearing in Septemb-r. The deci-

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

But Governor Voices Approval

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Dade School Board's plan for token integration won approval Wednesday from the governor and the author of Florida's pupil assignment law, but drew bitter criticism from some legislators.

Key segregation leaders predicted the Legislature will revive and pass next April the so-called "last resort" bill to close Florida's public schools rather than integrate them.

Gov. LeRoy Collins vetoed this measure last session, but segregation leaders say the threat of voluntary integration in Miami will give them the votes to override a veto next time.

"It's an outrage," declared House Speaker-designate Thomas D. Beasley of Walton, a strong foe of legislation two years ago to close the schools. "I will vote for it this time if no other solution presents itself."

Senate President-designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said the School Board violated the intent of the Florida Constitution which requires separate schools for whites and Negroes.

Gov. LeRoy Collins and his race relations committee appeared to be the only ones in favor of the School Board action. Collins said he agreed "completely" that the move was "sound and wise," and will help stave off indiscriminate, mass desegregation.

Key legislators disagreed, almost to a man, charging the threatened admittance of four Negroes to Orchard Villa "is just a foot in the door to topple segregation everywhere."

Many of them blamed the governor who apparently tried to prepare the public last week for the School Board decision. He said then that the people must permit some voluntary integration or have it forced on them indiscriminately by court edict.

Reaction began minutes after the School Board action was announced — and just about all of it was negative.

"This lends urgency to the need for a parent option plan" to let parents withdraw their children from integrated schools and educate them privately with state financial help, commented Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum, Florida's chief expert on segregation law.

Sen. Johnson said it shows clearly that the pupil assignment law was "just a stopgap law and we need something much stronger. This law served as a delay for a while, but we can see now that it has served its purpose."

Attorney General Richard Ervin agreed.

"Under the pupil assignment law, it lay within the discretion of the School Board to assign

Meeting With Collins Paved Way

Months of Preparation Led To School Board's Action

Months of preparation went into the Dade School Board's unanimous decision to crack the color barrier in Florida's public schools.

The action admitting four Negroes to a white school took less than two minutes, and with only three sentences of discussion.

But the final decision to take the step was made Monday morning when a group of board members met secretly at a Miami hotel with Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Insiders reported that Dr. Robert S. Butler, who made Wednesday's motion, engineered the unanimous action by persuading dissenting members to help present a united front. Butler has long favored token integration to preserve the pupil assignment law.

Last year, Dade school leaders met in Tallahassee with the governor to discuss the need for token integration in some community. Groundwork for the Dade action was laid there.

Last Friday, Collins said Florida should undertake a voluntary program of limited integration.

Failure to do so, he said, could mean local boards would lose their right to choose the time and place of integration. Instead, federal courts, through suits filed by the NAACP, would make the decisions.

"I am not willing to surrender this power or authority to the NAACP," he said.

NAACP Split on Decision

Miami and state leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People differed sharply Wednesday over the decision to integrate Orchard Villa Elementary School.

Rev. A. Leon Lowry, of Tampa, state NAACP president, said the integration decision was "only a token thing," and urged Negroes to "press toward total compliance."

But G. E. Graves, Miami attorney who represents the NAACP, said he is "satisfied" with the Dade School Board action, and added he expects integration to be peaceful.

"We expect the people on both sides to accept this thing as the law," he said. "We don't expect any violence or mass hysteria."

"But," he added, "it's nothing to be jubilant about."

He would not reply directly when asked if he considered the move an encouraging one in the fight for integrated schools.

"That's a very hot question," he said.

"As for the people immediately involved, we are happy with the results," he added. "As to date we have not concerned ourselves with other students because they have not applied."

The four pupils to be admitted, Graves explained, are the only ones who followed through on all procedures required under Florida's pupil assignment law.

Graves said he did not know whether pressure would be brought soon to admit more Negroes to Orchard Villa or other all white schools.

But he said if such action is pending in the immediate future he is not aware of it.

No trouble is expected at Orchard Villa, said Graves, because the white and Negro students already know each other.

"Those children play together all day long," he said. "Everybody out there gets along fine."

Miami church leaders, meanwhile came forward with general approval of the action.

Here is what they said:

THE REV. A. E. GYSAN, president of the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church:

"When both the Biblical, legal and practical points are fully considered, one willingly accepts the decision of the School Board and, furthermore, is willing to uphold the hands of our public servants in this matter, for I am convinced they did not make this decision hastily or without the fullest possible deliberation of all the matters involved."

* * *

THE REV. J. CALVIN ROSE, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, pastor of the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church:

"It would appear to me that it is in the best interest of the community that we uphold the unanimous action of our School Board of men and women who are sufficiently informed of the state laws and the local situation to make a decision evidently in the best interest of the community."

* * *

"Something like this was inevitable. I don't believe it means a wholesale move to integrate."

* * *

DR. JOSEPH R. NAROT, president of the Greater Miami Rabbinical Association, rabbi at Temple Israel:

"This is compliance with the law of the land and I hope this will be the beginning of a process of 'moderation and reconciliation' which will redound to the well being of the whole community."

* * *

"Since this is the law of the land, the School Board is merely doing its duty. Most of the people will see the matter in that light."

* * *

"I believe the School Board action is in line with the pupil placement law of 1956 in this state. I believe that the court also held the law is valid but must not be used for circumvention.

"The assignment of these four Negro children to the Orchard Villa School, I suppose, can be viewed as a trial balloon.

"Not any of us can say now what the complexion of that school will be by next September, since so many of the White families have moved out of that community.

"If this is an honest effort on the part of the school board to obey the laws of the land, then this is a good beginning. The unanimous vote of the board is a point which deserves notice."

Collins to Speak At Demo Dinner

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Gov. LeRoy Collins has been chosen as one of 11 speakers for the Democratic party's national victory dinner here Feb. 28.

Some 1,500 people are expected at the $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

The list of speakers is headed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. Included are four governors, two senators, three representatives and two other state officials.

Collins and Rayburn are the only southerners on the list.

Prime Suspect In Broward Slaying Caught

Tells Two FBI Men in Md.: 'I'd Have Killed You Both'

More Broward News, Pages 11C, 1B and The Broward Sec.

By RICK TUTTLE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — John Thomas Freeman, prime suspect in the murder of an ex-convict pal here last year, was captured by two FBI agents Wednesday in Hillside, Md.

He had been placed on the Bureau's list of 10 most wanted criminals only 24 hours earlier.

He was armed with a snub-nosed revolver.

"I'd have killed you both if I'd reached the gun," Freeman told the two agents after a brief struggle.

The federal men closed in on the gunman as he stepped out of his apartment, where he was living under the alias "Jack H. Williams."

Broward sheriff's office said local criminal investigators will go to Maryland immediately to interview Freeman about the killing here.

Freeman had been sought by local authorities since the battered corpse of Glenn Roy Maynard was found in a wooded spot of State Road 84 last Sept. 17.

Maynard and Freeman were suspected of pulling a series of Midwestern robberies together.

Maynard turned up dead a few days after the last job. Freeman had eluded capture until Wednesday.

Maynard's throat had been cut, his teeth kicked in, his left cheekbone cracked, and he had been shot through the head.

The FBI wanted the 40-year-old Freeman in connection with the robbery of a Joplin, Mo., drug store last Sept. 7. Narcotics were stolen from the firm.

Freeman, 40, an admitted user of narcotics, was taken to Baltimore where he will be arraigned.

Sheriff's deputies believe Freeman and Maynard came here together after the midwest crime spree.

When named to the FBI list Tuesday, Freeman was described as "extremely dangerous."

"He is a fast-moving far-ranging felon who apparently considers a gun part of being well-dressed," the FBI said.

His record dates back to 1936 and includes pistol-whipping women, stabbings and bawdy-house operations.

The sheriff's office said Freeman would probably be returned to Missouri since he was arrested on the Joplin fugitive warrant.

Marshall Is Hit by 2nd Stroke

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — (UPI) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that Gen. George C. Marshall has suffered a second and more severe stroke and is in "serious condition."

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was conscious and there was no evidence of paralysis, according to the medical bulletin issued at Womack General Hospital here.

But Col. George Powell, chief of medicine at Womack, said Marshall's condition was "serious and prognosis depends on future developments."

Powell said that Marshall had some difficulty in swallowing and seeing but his blood pressure and pulse were stable.

He said a "very mild pneumonia" had appeared practically concurrently with the second stroke.

Boy Sentenced In Bomb Hoax

CHARLESTON, W.Va.—(P)— James Patrick Fouts Jr., 16-year-old sophomore who admitted telephoning a false bomb report to his high school, was sentenced Wednesday to stay in a correctional institution until he is 21.

Juvenile Court Judge Herbert W. Richardson ordered him to the boys industrial school at Pruntytown. Founts pleaded guilty to causing the bomb scare.

We'll Dun Russians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. will send Russia a bill for about three million dollars for the Air Force transport plane downed in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2, officials said Wednesday.

Its chances of collecting are virtually nil. Since World War II, U.S. claims of nearly eight million dollars have been lodged against Moscow for five U.S. planes shot down by Soviet fighters. Russia has paid only $724,947, or half of one claim.

State Department officials declined to speculate on compensation which will be asked for the 17 airmen aboard the plane. Russia has returned six bodies and has said it had no information on the other 11. The Soviets claim the plane crashed after violating the Soviet border.

'Dulles The Man I Want'

Even Sick, He's Tops With Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to stay on as secretary of state as long as Dulles "believes that he is in shape to carry on."

The President told his news conference he would rather have a sick Dulles as secretary of state than anyone else.

"I know of no man . . . in the world," Eisenhower said, who can equal Dulles' "wisdom and knowledge" in foreign affairs.

"Therefore as long as Secretary Dulles believes that he is in shape to carry on, he is exactly the person I want."

He denied reports that Dulles tried to resign last week after learning he had cancer again. And as for himself, the President said he has not discussed the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles "with anyone."

The President answered "No" when asked if he had given any thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin and German problems.

He said he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday that plans for the meeting should go "right ahead."

He said Dulles' views are well known and he is "backed up by able men of his own choosing" who can carry out his policies. For this reason, he said, it was not likely there would be any need to hold the foreign ministers conference in the U. S. because of Dulles' illness.

As for the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting in that city, it will be the Russians who start it. But he made plain again that the U. S. and its allies intend to remain in Communist-encircled West Berlin even though the Russians carry out their threat to turn over access routes to the East German Communists May 27.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed Wednesday that if the Allies resorted to force to keep open access routes to West Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower commented that "we are not saying we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go on and continue carrying out our responsibilities" accepted in 1945 to maintain the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin."

Eisenhower, with a jibe at Union Chief Walter Reuther, turned thumbs down on any attempt to revive at this time emergency unemployment compensation for the jobless.

Declaring the nation was in a period of mounting prosperity, he also scoffed at Reuther's proposal for a march of the unemployed on Washington to seek more federal aid. He said he didn't see how any good could come out of such a demonstration.

Novice Driver Kills Children

MEXICO CITY—(P)—A truck loader with a sudden urge to drive ran over and killed two children and crashed a big truck into a house.

He slipped behind the wheel while his boss was in a store.

"It was easy to start," he said later, "but when it got up speed, I couldn't control it."

Shoots Set for June

Air Force to Fire 2 Probes at Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL —(P)— The Air Force will make two daring stabs to shoot space probes to the planet Venus this June, informed sources said Wednesday.

The Venus tests, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's busy satellite program for 1960, will be made using two-stage versions of both the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM.

One official close to the program identified the launching vehicles as the Atlas-Able and Thor-Able. A second stage for the powerful Atlas currently is being developed by Convair Astronautics.

The Thor-Able has already been used with promising results on three Air Force lunar probes and four nose cone reentry tests at intercontinental range. A mouse was aboard on three of the latter flights but it never was recovered.

The two shoots will be attempted sometime in the middle of June when Venus and Earth are in the best positions, the source said.

One probe probably will be aimed at swinging a satellite around the planet while the other may go past Venus and far out into space.

Another version of the two-stage Thor will be fired on a polar orbit satellite test soon from the Pacific missile range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Sosa's Last Order: 'Fire!'

Commands His Own Execution

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad Wednesday, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time Tuesday as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request—that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabana fortress:

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited. He told them:

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me."

Then he calmly told the executioners:

"Get ready . . . Aim . . . Fire!"

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.

Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up with the same guilty verdict.

Resigned to his fate, Sosa Blanco refused to make a personal plea for his life. "I shall go with a clear conscience," he said.

'95 Per Cent With Castro'

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— An official in the foreign ministry said Wednesday claims that a revolution is spawning against Fidel Castro's regime are not being taken seriously.

Nicholas Rivero, press coordinator for the foreign ministry, made the statement in commenting on statements attributed to Rafael del Pino, a former Castro companion. Del Pino reportedly has turned against Castro because of his alleged connections with Communists.

"This sounds like Batista propaganda," Rivero declared. "The revolutionary army, which is a people's army, has replaced the old army of repression and is 100 per cent with Fidel Castro. At least 95 per cent of the Cuban people are with Castro."

Staph Infection Closes Nursery

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The nursery of University Hospital was closed Wednesday after officials reported the finding of staphylococcal infection among staff members and infants.

A new temporary nursery was to be set up and operated until the older unit can be disinfected.

All those found to be infected are under treatment. Dr. Robert Lowe, hospital superintendent, said the disease among infants is under control and sick babies isolated.

A Shotgun for Nikita

Workers at Tula, an industrial center south of Moscow, present a shotgun to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, left. It was an apt coincidence, for Khrushchev spoke of guns to a Tula audience, saying that any attempt by Western powers to shoot their way into West Berlin by land or air will mean war with the Soviet Union.

Integration Ordered by Dade Board

sion was delayed pending a series of studies of the neighborhood.

Hall said Wednesday that "on the basis of these studies," the Negroes should be admitted.

Chairman C. Raymond Van Dusen left the meeting after the unanimous vote to make a prepared statement. He said that the decision had been made under the Pupil Assignment Law and that it was unanimous.

He declined to elaborate further.

"I don't want to make any more of a statement," he said. "We're trying to keep this thing as dignified and impersonal as we possibly can."

Butler said that "without this action, the Pupil Assignment Law wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on."

Other members asked for comment had the same reply: "The action speaks for itself."

Orchard Villa will be Florida's first integrated school below the graduate level. Two Negroes are now attending the University of Florida graduate school, but none have been admitted to elementary or high schools anywhere in the state.

Alabama to Keep Records Secret

MONTGOMERY, Ala. —(AP)— A defiant legislature took drastic action Wednesday to keep Alabama voter records out of the hands of federal agents.

Without a dissenting vote and without even debating the issue, the House passed and sent to the governor a bill giving voter registration officials the right to throw away old records.

The vote was 84-0 on the measure which a week ago had sailed through the Senate with the unanimous approval of its 31 members.

Gov. John Patterson had promised in advance to sign the bill.

No Whites Show Up

22 Negroes Alone In Virginia School

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—(UPI) — Historic Warren County gave up its only public high school — a modern building capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils—to 22 Negroes Wednesday to maintain racial segregation.

It complied with Federal Court orders to reopen Warren County High School, but met a total boycott by white pupils who refused to yield to racial mixing in the classrooms. Not a single white pupil showed up for classes.

The 22 Negro pupils and nine white teachers gathered in the library for formal registration. The school's 30 classrooms were empty. Its corridors were ghostly silent.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque announced that Warren County in the rural Shenandoah Valley, has complied with the court's order to reopen the million dollar school plant. The school was closed last September under Virginia's "massive resistance" laws when the Federal Court ordered 24 Negro pupils admitted.

In downtown Front Royal, about half a mile away, some 800 white pupils attended the private, makeshift classes set up for them when the high school was closed six months ago.

Virginia's integration was directed by Federal Court order. Three Virginia metropolitan areas — Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria — admitted 30 Negroes to 10 schools earlier this month.

Front Royal, however, was the first predominantly rural locality in the South to face court-ordered integration.

All He Needed Was Air

Not a Drink and He Got A Jag, Teetotaler's Gripe

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A teetotaler asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.

He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, that he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day.

He said things were getting so bad that his wife threatened to leave him and his boss accused him of tippling.

The health department discovered why the work was so intoxicating.

The man worked with trichlorethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

The man was not identified.

these children to Orchard Villa school," Ervin said. "I assume the board, after an investigation, determined that it had no alternative."

"However, I think this points up the need for other legislation, including parent-option to meet the problems in other communities where some integration is incompatible to local opinion."

Sen. Verle Pope, St. Augustine, a Collins floor leader who votes with the governor more than any other senator, said Florida should never voluntarily accept integration.

"The purpose of the pupil assignment law was to delay and keep to a minimum integration of schools. I do not feel any school board should accept integration unless forced to under court order. Their action was premature and apt to have a very bad effect on legislation affecting the public school system."

Enlarging on his comments, Johnson said that even though the U.S. Supreme Court has declared the segregation provision of Florida's Constitution invalid "it does not remove that fact that integration is still against the intent of the people of Florida."

"I hate to see Dade County throw in the sponge at a time when it was not absolutely necessary."

Beasley said the Miami action was "bad for the Negroes involved."

"What chance will four Negroes have in a school with 150 white children?" he asked. Beasley predicted the Orchard Villa school will be closed before next fall's scheduled integration date.

Sumter Lowry of Tampa, runner-up for governor in 1956, attributed the integration move in Miami to "Gov. Collins' lack of leadership." He predicted it will lead to a complete breakdown of segregation in Florida and charged Collins has "violated his oath of office by advocating any integration whatever in the schools."

Mexicans Eagerly Await Ike

President Due In Acapulco Today

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

ACAPULCO, Mexico — This resort town and all the rest of Mexico ran a high temperature of excitement over the impending visit of President Eisenhower, who arrives here this morning.

The President left Washington Wednesday afternoon in the presidential plane Columbine III, and landed Wednesday evening in Austin, Tex. He is slated to leave Austin this morning for Acapulco.

Traveling with the President on the first leg of his trip to Acapulco and meetings with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Homer Thornberry.

The two Texas Democrats were invited to accompany the President to Austin.

From the enthusiasm, bordering on hysteria, with which Mexicans await Eisenhower, a stranger would suspect that Ike was coming down here to return Texas and California to the Mexicans, the original operators of those valuable properties.

Mexican police have rounded up every potential agitator around here and taken them out of circulation, for fear of embarrassing the visit between President Eisenhower and President Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

The Mexican president drove down to this coast resort with his entourage from Mexico City Wednesday evening.

President Lopez Mateos will be on hand with the entire diplomatic corps at Acapulco's picture-postcard airport when the Eisenhower plane touches here.

The shiniest cannons in Mexico will blast a 21-gun salute for Eisenhower, and the shiniest band instruments in the republic will play the U.S. National Anthem and other tunes.

Although this visit by Eisenhower is strictly a handshaking assignment, it is of utmost political importance to the Mexicans, as one can understand from the fervent newspaper accounts of the visit.

Mexico and most other Latin American republics think wistfully of making true equality and friendship with the U.S. a living reality instead of a slogan.

And this visit by President Eisenhower apparently will give the Mexicans a great boost in their national morale, if the public accounts of the importance of the visit are taken at face value. The President and his party will stay at a plush coastal hotel during this two-day visit.

Mass Missiles Out–Doolittle

COCOA BEACH —(UPI)— Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, World War II aviator turned missile man, said Wednesday it is unlikely the nation will ever mass produce missiles in the numbers it once turned out fighters and bombers.

Doolittle, who led the daring American bombing attack on Tokyo in 1942, said missiles with hydrogen warheads pack one million times the punch of a World War II bomber armed with TNT bombs.

As board chairman of the Space Technology Laboratories, Doolittle visited the nearby Air Force missile test center for a closeup of some of the nation's most powerful missiles.

Miami and Beach Shadow Box While Bookies Work On

By GENE MILLER
and JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writers

While The Herald again made bets with bookies Wednesday, the City Commission in Miami and the City Council in Miami Beach sloughed off pleas to stamp out illegal gambling.

Four Beach councilmen sat in amused silence as fellow Councilman Mel Richard asked for an ordinance requiring mandatory jail sentences for convicted bookies.

His motion failed for lack of a second.

In Miami, Mayor Robert King High demanded the ouster of Police Chief Walter E. Headley. He got nowhere.

Richard charged that Beach bookies were so bold that a high school student learned the names of the horses by watching bets being taken at a lunch counter near the school.

Mayor Kenneth Oka alternately praised the Beach police for a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in 1958 and decounced the force for poor gambling and B-girl enforcement.

"I asked the police about a narcotics operation several weeks ago," said Oka, "and my information was better than theirs.

"It is distressing and embarrassing to have to read The Herald to find out what's going on around here."

Richard told the council that Police Chief Mike Fox told him personally he was in favor of a mandatory jail sentence for convicted bookies.

So Fox was called from his office to the council meeting. "Are you in favor of it?" Richard asked Fox.

"That's up to the judge, Mel," replied Fox.

After explaining that the council—not the judge—makes ordinances, Richard said, "It is obvious Fox doesn't know the meaning of the word 'mandatory.'

Fox smiled.

"Would it (mandatory jail sentences) help?" Richard asked again.

"I don't know," said Fox. "I don't know the feeling of the bookies."

While the audience laughed, Fox again and again replied to questions by Richard and Oka, "I'll do what the city manager and Council tell me."

"That's an evasive answer, Mike," Oka said. "We're telling you now. Enforce the laws."

During the entire hour and ten minute discussion, Councilmen Harold Spaet, Harold Shapiro, Bernie Frank and Marcie Lieberman said nothing. They uttered not a peep.

Councilman D. Lee Powell said, "I am unalterably opposed to gambling."

Powell, Spaet, Shapiro, Frank and Lieberman all voted for Fox's appointment as chief 20 months ago.

At the Miami City Commission meeting, Mayor High said, "Apparently the police chief (Headley) is not able to stop the gambling.

"Therefore, I suggest that the city manager suspend the police chief."

Commissioner Otis W. Shiver said he favors a thorough investigation.

"But we just can't pussyfoot around on this thing," said Mayor High.

Chimed in Councilman James High, "Don't forget that we as commissioners are subject to a 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine for interfering in administration matters."

"This is a matter for the grand jury," Commissioner George DuBreuil said.

"George, don't you ever get tired of running down there every minute?" James High asked.

Then City Manager E. A. Evans said he already is investigating.

"I anticipated that this would happen," said Evans. "It comes out every year almost to the same day, and I was prepared for it."

And there the matter dropped.

Bets Easy Even if the 'Heat's On'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

If the "heat is on" as the police say, bookmakers on both sides of Biscayne Bay still weren't worried about it Wednesday.

They were doing business almost as usual when a Herald reporter placed three bets with them.

Two of the bookies were in Miami; one in Miami Beach. The wagers were put down within a three-hour period.

Bets placed by The Herald with comparative ease in the past five days now total 15.

Both Miami and Miami Beach police still contend, however, that bookmaking in their own bailiwicks is still on a "sneak" basis—that is, off and on.

Wednesday's bets were made:

AT THE CORNER of West 39th St. and Alton Rd. in Miami Beach. A runner known as Shortstop took a $5 win bet on Risk Again in the first Hialeah race.

* * *

AT JACK'S BAR, 1361 NE Second Ave., Miami. A patron who said "Just call me John," accepted a $5 bill from the reporter, marked the nag's name in a wire-hinged notebook. The horse was Oil Burner, running in the fourth at 4 to 1 odds.

* * *

ON THE SIDEWALK in the 100 block of NE 14th St. Little Jimmy, a Negro handyman, said he would "look after" getting a $5 win bet down on Big Winner, an 8 to 1 shot in the ninth.

But he advised this Herald reporter:

"You better watch yourself when you come again . . . You know what the papers been sayin' lately about bookmakin'."

In Jack's Bar, the conversation touched on the recent disclosures by The Herald of wide-open bookmaking in almost every area of the county—but nobody was worried.

"The cops don't check us that closely around here," said John, who admitted he was "just starting out in this (bookmaking) business."

But on the Beach, Shortstop was concerned about bettors "contacting me right out in the open like this.

"We can operate . . . but we were told to keep it down." He said he did not have time to explain.

National Summary

Arctic air is again on the move, concentrated in high pressure over the northern plains and pushing through the Gulf and Atlantic states, scheduled to lower temperatures over most of the eastern half of the country.

Temperatures at midday were as much as 5 to 10 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana and a 15 to 20 below range is forecast from Montana to Wisconsin.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for parts of New York and Pennsylvania and colder air should cover the Florida peninsula Thursday, nudging into 80 degree warmth reported.

Low pressure off the northwest coast continues to feed moisture inland and showers with snow in the mountains again extended over the Pacific states and into the northern Appalachians.

Showery weather should retreat from all but extreme northern parts of California, but rain is expected to move back into central sections of the state Thursday while rain or snow will be featured in the northern and central plateau states.

HENRY KINNEY

Fine Offense Best Defense,

THE ODDEST SUGGESTION yet put forward for protecting the home buyer against mechanic's liens or unreliable contractors comes from a Hollywood real estate broker. It sounds implausible, but he says he has done it and it works.

It assumes that the customer owns a lot on which a building is to be erected. Before any construction begins — at least 31 days before — he gives a mortgage on the property to a relative or a friend. The mortgage is for more than the property's worth. If anyone attempts to place an unjust lien on the property, the owner has the relative who holds the mortgage foreclose on it. This wipes out the lien.

That should keep a few people awake nights . . .

Broward Products Are Surprising

SPONSORS OF THE FORTHCOMING Broward County Trade Fair — March 7-8 at the War Memorial — have been pleasantly surprised at the variety of products being made or grown in the county.

Just a Confusing Numbers Game

THE NEW EDGEWATER ARMS CO-OP, the first building between Palm Beach and Miami to reach as high as 13 stories (it's 16) as no floor numbered 13, true to the ancient superstition. The Radice family, which has developed it, has been consistent in this notion; they own 4,700 rental units up north, and none of those buildings has a floor No. 13 either.

This could arouse a midly interesting debate in a group which had little else to do.

The fact that there is no floor numbered 13 doesn't mean that the 13th floor doesn't exist. It's the one right above the 12th. Now then, do the people residing on that floor have any superstitions about living on it, whatever its number may be? If they do, are they justified? . . .

Port Hit By Old Contract

'Astronomical' Sums Involved

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Port Commission girded for battle Wednesday as a union sought to invoke a 17-year-old contract.

The Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes has uncovered a provision of a 1942 contract which provides that all maintenance work at the port must be done by them.

The employes presented the commission with a claim that compensation for any maintenance work done at the port must be paid to them, regardless of whether they do the work.

Port Attorney Ted Cabot said, "the claim is reasonably well founded. It's a serious problem."

At Wednesday's meeting, the commissioners voted unanimously to send Cabot and Port Manager R. T. Spangler to Washington to confer with the American Short Line Railroad Association on the problem.

They also authorized the two to employ an expert in Washington to study the problem, provided the cost is not excessive.

The employes' claim covers every form of maintenance work done at the port. However, only railroad employes at the port are members of the union, said Cabot.

Cabot said the employes are claiming wages from all other maintenance work, beginning Jan. 1 of this year.

"They don't say how much they want, probably because the figure would be astronomical," said Cabot.

Set 'em Up, Rock!

WEST HOLLYWOOD — Latest of hard-hitting Rocky Marciano's prize possessions is a three-quarter million-dollar bowling lane here.

The former world's heavyweight champion Tuesday took over operation of a six-month old, 36-lane establishment in West Hollywood Shopping Plaza.

At the same time he became chief stockholder of Bowlers, Inc., owners of this and six other lanes, in Pennsylvannia and New York.

The undefeated champion announced his new title just as the first round of a cocktail party got underway in the building's ultra-modern lounge.

It was the fourth new business venture for the stocky ex-slugger in the past year.

He runs a potato farm in Homestead, a Packinghouse in Salem, Va., and has an interest in a new frozen food firm in Asbury Park, N.J.

But it was his first venture into the executive end of the sports world.

Marciano said he would schedule a reopening of the lanes for next month. He will change the name from West Hollywood Lanes to Rocky Marciano Lanes.

"This will be my job from now on," said Rocky, who recently purchased a home in Fort Lauderdale. He had been livingi n Miami.

"The business world is quite different than boxing, but my interests are beginning to show a profit," he said.

When asked how much he invested in the bowling concern, Marciano was as tight-lipped as one of his opponents down for the count.

"I'd rather you didn't say," Leo Plosky, president of Bowlers Inc., of Buffalo, told the boxing great.

Marciano flexed those famous muscles — which bulged beneath his short - sleeved white shirt — and clammed up.

He did say he expects the lanes and his other interest to bring in around $40,000 before taxes) this year.

Reform Sparked By Herald Series

FORT LAUDERDALE — The County Bar Association's committee on criminal law and procedure has recommended legislation insuring the right of an arrested person to a preliminary hearing.

Committee Chairman Clayton Nance said the proposal, which would have statewide effect, will be presented at the association's next meeting.

The legislative amendments were drafted by member Ray Sandstrom, who sparked a debate on the issue two months ago.

Sandstrom, a former assistant county solicitor, has sent Gov. LeRoy Collins copies of the proposal.

He asked for the governor's attention to "a condition which prevails in Florida and particularly in Broward County."

Existing statutes require that an arresting officer take a suspect before a magistrate for a preliminary hearing "without unnecessary delay." The magistrate must inform the defendant of his rights, and determine if there is probable cause to send him to trial.

Preliminary hearings have not be held in the county since the abolition of the offices of justice of the peace in 1956.

Since the recent debate, the county solicitor's office has been issuing capiases for arrests. The capias is issued only after study by the solicitor's office. It postpones the need for a preliminary hearing for 30 days.

The changes now proposed by the committee would:

1. Prohibit the filing of an information or indictment against an arrested person until he is given, or waives, a preliminary hearing.
2. Enable a defendant arrested by capias to apply for a preliminary hearing "which shall thereupon be allowed him."

Sandstrom's letter to the governor charged:

". . . Law enforcement officers and the prosecutor's office by any and every connivance wilfully endeavor to avoid the preliminary hearing for one accused of an offense against the laws of Florida.

"This evasion of compliance with the statutes . . . has of late become open, flagrant and notorious," he continued.

"The situation is not limited to Broward County, but is particularly manifest there," Sandstrom added.

His letter proceeded to quote sworn testimony from Ben Grigsby, Sheriff's chief criminal investigator, to the effect that arrested persons are filed on by direct information, not taken before a magistrate.

Wallace Allbritton, chief assistant county solicitor, is a member of the five-man criminal law committee. He said Wednesday that the amendments should settle the hearing question.

County Solicitor Tom Coker, who has defended existing procedures, declined comment until he has firsthand information on the amendments.

All Bids On School Tossed Out

By GREG TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—The School Board Thursday rejected all bids for construction of an addition to Hollywood Hills Elementary School.

John Calvin, who made the motion, said, "the bids exceed the budget and the number of bidders was fewer than usually bid on such a job."

The board instructed that plans for the addition be reviewed and bids be readvertised.

The action came in a continuation of a special meeting Monday when the board accepted a second low bid for another school job. Low bids on both that job and the Hollywood Hills job were submitted by Blankenship and Edwards of Miami and Hollywood.

The newly organized firm's bid on Hollywood Hills of $188,500 was $10,940 lower than the second low bid from Richardson Construction Co. of Fort Lauderdale.

At last Monday's meeting, four board members contended Blankenship and Edwards failed to prove it could carry out the contract.

Before Monday's meeting, the board conferred with School Attorney Ted Bavid on legal aspects of handling the bids.

Charles Lowery, school planner, told the board he thought the bids received were as low as they would get.

Gems, Furs Lost at Hotel

HOLLYWOOD — Between $4,000 and $5,000 worth of jewelry and furs were stolen from two Connecticut women staying at Hollywood Beach Hotel, city detectives learned Wednesday.

They said the theft occurred some time between 1 and 6 p.m. Tuesday, but was not reported to police until Wednesday afternoon.

Detective Glenn Lightle said the hotel was preparing an inventory of missing articles. Two mink stoles were taken along with assorted jewelry, he said.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Seymor Jurlss and Mrs. Morris Goldman of Bridgeport, Conn.

'Blackout' Charges Hit City Charter Authors

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — Authors of a proposed city charter were accused in a heated Chamber of Commerce session Tuesday of keeping the public in the dark.

Some chamber members charged that two of the attorneys—Bob Fegers and Harvey Ford—did not consult anyone else before drafting the charter.

"No one but the two of you know what is in that charter. The taxpayers have the right to see it in order to know whether they are for it or against it," said Jim Maggee, a businessman.

A public forum on incorporation will be held Feb. 26.

"The charter should have been drafted and presented to the people long before the formu," said Banker Henry Perry, a chamber director.

"A complete draft won't be ready until that meeting," Ford replied.

Fegers said a charter in its final legal form would be difficult for laymen to understand. He said the chamber does not have funds for printing a large number of copies.

Paul Manning and Don W. Hulmes, listed on the charter committee, were not present.

"I've been to one meeting where the charter was discussed but I have never been informed that I was on the committee," Manning said.

"If I'm on the committee, it's news to me," said Hulmes. "I haven't been consulted at all and I have not seen a draft."

Fegers said there would be additional meetings before the final approval of the charter.

City Race Starting to Shape Up

By PAT MANGAN

FORT LAUDERDALE — City commissioners are shying away from commitments about running for reelection, but it's more than probably four of them will be in the race.

Charles E. Knight is the only one to state definitely he doesn't plan to run again. Commeetings "interfere with my Tuesday," he said.

So far only one candidate, Robert Serge, has filed.

Major John V. Russell said, "If I do run, I'll qualify late."

Commissioner Porter G. Reynolds: "I'm leaning toward filing."

Commissioner Robert A. Childers: "I think I will."

Commissioner Edward H. Johns couldn't be reached, but he is expected to run.

Other likely starters include Al Starts, James L. Leavitt, son of H. D. "Pop" Leavitt and a member of the Planning and Zoning Board; Carl Rehard, in what would be his fourth try for a commission seat, and Nathaniel Wilkerson, in 1957 the first Negro ever to make a bid for election here.

FORT LAUDERDALE — While Dade County's School Board has decided to experiment with integration, the board in Broward County doesn't even want to talk about it.

Local board members hesitated to comment Thursday on the unanimous vote in Dade to admit four Negro students to Orchard Villa School next September.

Broward Board Member Mrs. Virginia Young said, "Dade County is about five years ahead of us in experiments in education and other fields."

John Calvin said, "We haven't discussed it recently," and Dean Dessenberger said, "it will be interesting to watch their experiment."

Other members declined comment.

Council OKs Resolution

OAKLAND PARK — City Council Wednesday passed four resolutions aimed at protecting the water supply and saving the town money.

One ends the city's policy of paying developers for water systems they build but does not affect present contracts for about $200,000.

The others asked the South Florida Flood Control District for devices to control salt intrusion in Middle River and instruct the county's legislative delegation to support the State Bureau of Water Conservation.

500-Acre Tract

Hallandale May Drop Annexation

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

HALLANDALE—The city may throw in the towel in its fight to annex a 500-acre tract to the west.

City commissioners said Wednesday they have reconsidered the question in view of stiff opposition voiced at a public hearing Tuesday night before the Broward legislative delegation.

"Most of the people there seem to be against it, and I doubt if we'll try to go through with it," said Vice Mayor Russell Wilson.

"I see no reason to go ahead," commented Commissioner Clifford Julian. Commissioner Jack Lawrence said "it's likely" that the matter will be dropped.

"I would like to see at least part of the area annexed," said Commissioner Jake Sowards. He added, however, that even partial annexation probably would not succeed in view of the opposition.

The tract, which would extend the city's west city limits to State Rd. 9, is the only area available for expansion.

The opposition, led by former Piece Justice H. E. Bouldin, large property owner, urged the city fathers to call an election "to settle the matter once and for all."

Under the existing annexation amendment to the city charter the city has until June 1960 to call an election or the matter will die.

Wilson said the city would not receive any "immediate benefit" by annexing the tract, and "we may just let the idea drop." The property owners said they are satisfied with county services.

Man Found Guilty of Scalding

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Circumstantial evidence convicted a 35-year-old man of cruelty to a neighbor's dog Wednesday in Court of Crimes.

Gordon Clements, 4224 SW 49th St., was found guilty by Judge Thomas Tompkins and sentenced to five days in jail plus a $100 fine. The court ordered another 30 days in jail if the fine is not paid.

Thomas Wagner accused Clements of throwing scalding water on his thoroughbred Eskimo dog. He said he found the dog in great pain, with steam rising from it.

Prosecutor Doug Lambeth said Clements and his wife denied the charge, but offered no explanation of how the dog was hurt on their property. It recovered after it was put to sleep for three days, Lambeth added.

Hal Bowen, Humane Society president, said he believed the conviction was the first of its kind in the county.

Pest Chomping on Lawn Again

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — That doggoned nocturnal hole-digger is up to his old tricks at the G. N. Coley home, 6206 SW 25th St.

For one blissful weekend, the Coley family thought they were rid of the mysterious pest who had been digging deep holes in their lawn — almost nightly for three weeks.

Mrs. Coley filled in all the old holes, neatly covering them with grass.

Mr. Coley sprinkled the lawn with poison.

But, alas, this week all the holes were dug up again, and a few new ones added.

"Apparently poison doesn't faze this animal — whatever he is. If it keeps up much longer we won't have any grass at all."

At first the neat round pits, some two feet deep, were restricted to the Coley yard. Lately the nightly visitor has been taking an occasional whack at the next door neighbor's yard, Mrs. Coley said.

The mystified couple have been unable to catch the culprit at work. Mrs. Coley said they received many queries since they reported the holes to The Herald three weeks ago.

"But no one has any ideas as to what it might be," she said.

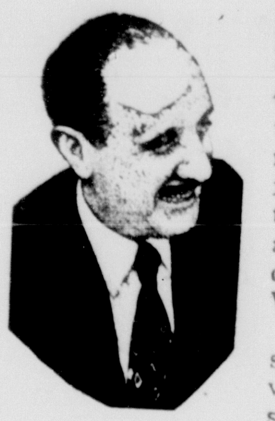
Years Haven't Dimmed Voice Appeal, Judy Garland Proves



THIS GARLAND GIRL named Judy still packs the potent punch of a heavyweight in the talent department —and this is the only subtle nod we'll make toward an obvious matter of avoirdupois in this review after first challenging any calory-conscious overweights in the reading audience who might have the temerity to throw the first "stone" (British measure) at Judy for wearing a few sizes larger than she did in the 30's of "Over the Rainbow" and "Trolley Song" days. Who doesn't in these days of plenty? Wear larger sizes, that is.

Talent in the unprecise arts should be weighed without irrelevant thumbs pressing on the scales and with concern only for its effect on an audience. In her Fontainebleau La Ronde debut Miss Garland effectively moved her audience to what could have been a standing ovation with a trifle more organization. And it was an earned hit.

Joe E. Lewis, in from his own stand at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii next door, blended 100 proof fact with the fun with which he feels he must toughen all sentiment in testifying that Judy's charm and singing had brought a tear to his eye even though the lump in his throat could very well have been scotch.

Today's Judy isn't the irrepressible song and dance darling of yesteryear. She has no corps of boy dancers to assist her and her movement and manner are subdued. But the song still has the vigor of old once she has warmed into it. There is nothing flashily explosive in her performance — and yet it generates, from the warmth of its mounting intensity, a power to lift from a take-off level of a well-wishing doubtful Thomas at the start to the completely sold and devoted role of a Boswell, eager to sing deserved praises, at the finish.

Amusements

Catchy Break Still There

THERE IS MUCH to praise. "You Made Me Love You" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," for instance, sung with the same pathetic little vocal break that was Judy's contrived stock in trade long before life had time and opportunity to etch it there for real . . . the hard way.

Then, for a gayer and tantalizing touch, Judy never did a more persuasive job than she does currently with a teasingly tempoed "Do It Again" or a livelier "Day In, Day Out." Add the inevitable "Trolley Song," "Zing Went the Strings" and "Over the Rainbow" — the last off microphone—and a climaxing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" and you have a repertoire that scored a Garlanded victory.

Oh sure, we personally didn't care for her "Rock-a-bye My Baby" or "Suwannee." That might have been not so much a lack of appreciation for Judy, however, as it might have been a greater appreciation for the memory of hearing Al Jolson do these numbers. After all, Jolie didn't sing "Over the Rainbow" or "You Made Me Love You." Or did he?

If he did then we've forgotten in the light of Judy's greater talent with them. Be that as it may—Judy Garland, who has had her share of ups and her downs, is on the up-beat at the Fontainebleau.

The Solution — Swamp Filling — Expensive

Better Learn to Live with Sand Flies

By ART ROBINSON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Last year more than $50,000 was spent to fight mosquitoes and sand flies in undrained swamps extending from Port Everglades to Johnson St. in Hollywood, the county's mosquito control director reported Wednesday.

If the land were filled, as it has been most of the way from Port Everglades through Deerfield Beach, the money would be saved, Glenn D. Souder Jr., director, said.

Sand fly breeding in the area now is as bad as it has been in recent years, Souder said. Residents within a radius of more than a mile of the port are being plagued by the worst sand fly infestation in months.

There were indications Wednesday that the county will continue to have the problem for several years. Hollywood Inc., the biggest single owner of the vast area, has no immediate plans to develop it, Stanley Beckerman, president, said.

"It will be in the distant future," Beckerman said. "You're talking about $5 million worth of fill when there's no demand for the property.

"There would be no possible use for the land until sidewalks and sewers are in."

He also said Hollywood Inc. has no plans for a piecemeal development of the area, as the Las Olas Blvd. islands in Fort Lauderdale were developed from similar swamps.

The total cost of mosquito and sand fly control work in the county in 1958 was $98,081.91, Souder's annual report showed. Nearly all of the district's equipment and 12 employes are concentrated in the area south of Port Everglades, he said. More than half of the total expenditure went for ditching and larvaciding in the mangrove swamp, Souder said.

Almost all of this property lies within the Hollywood city limits, which extend inside the port. Sand flies became so bad in the late fall, Souder's report discloses, that $8,115.94 was spent on a single campaign to reduce sand fly breeding in the area.

Some 26,000 pounds of clay granules, impregnated with 10 per cent Dieldrin, were dropped from an airplane to mix with the mud of the swampland in which the flies breed.

The Dieldrin granules alone cost $6,559.80. The treatment took place over five days in November and five in December. In spite of it, the infestation remains acute.

Since the sand fly problem is continuing to be a major headache, Souder said he's trying to get a meeting called of mosquito control directors at the State Board of Health laboratory at Vero Beach to discuss other measures to be used against them.

Although the sand fly problem was worse, the number of salt marsh mosquitoes breeding in the mangrove swamps was down, Souder's report notes. Reason for this was decreased rainfall last year. Also, the high seasonal tides in the fall were not as high as usual.

The decrease in rainfall last summer and fall also meant fewer fresh water mosquitoes from the Everglades, Souder's report shows.

Mother Held For Penning 2 Baby Girls

FORT LAUDERDALE — (UPI) — Sheriff's investigators Wednesday arrested a 30-year-old mother and charged her with penning her 14-month-old twin daughters "like animals in indescribably filthy" cages in a dirt-littered bedroom.

Officers held Mrs. May Matt for investigation of insanity and charged her with child neglect.

Captain Frank Ridenour said three other young children lived in the home. Two were away at school when officers raided the home.

Ridenour said the animal-like cages were improvised from chicken wire hung over vermin-ridden wooden beds. Human refuse and other filth covered the floor of the stifling, unventilated room, he said.

He said the twins apparently were fed through slits in the cages.

Neighbors told officers that the little red-headed girls were never allowed out of doors.

Officers were called to the scene after neighbors in the tidy, wellkept neighborhood reported the abuse.

Juvenile Investigator Helen Pancoast said she warned Mrs. Matt about similar abuses when the family lived in another home in the area.

"There is no way to describe the home except that is was really filthy," Miss Pancoast said. "The stench was enough to knock you down."

When officers arrived, the little girls were in the cages. Miss Pancoast said they apparently were never let out. They appeared to be normal.

The juvenile investigator said Mrs. Matt has been ill for some time with a heart needs mental help. condition and apparently Officers said they did not plan to arrest the father pending further investigation. They permitted him to keep custody of the two older boys. The three girls in the home at the time were taken to a juvenile home.

The father told officers he built the cages to serve as cribs because he did not have enough money to buy cribs.

Bum Checks

HOLLYWOOD — Detectives were searching Wednesday for a Negro who passed $250 worth of forged money orders here last month. The suspect also passed a worthless check for $15. He hit one store for $100, another for $65, and others for $50 each, Detective Louis Ottuso said.

Night Spot Accused By Visitor

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A winter visitor complained to Fort Lauderdale police Wednesday that he was "taken" for $94 at the Torch Club on Federal Hwy. Tuesday night.

However, the club is in Dania and local officers could not act on the complaint. Dania Police Chief George Williams said he did not receive a complaint.

Robert S. Marshall, 23, staying here at 421 S. Atlantic Blvd., told police that after entering the club he was approached by a girl who asked him to buy her a bottle of champagne.

Later, he said, he bought her two more and ordered three drinks for himself.

Marshall said when he complained about the size of his bill he was told that the champagne cost $25 a bottle. The $19 difference apparently was the cost of his three drinks.

Marshall said the girl was part of the floor show at the club.

Dania has an ordinance against entertainers soliciting drinks.

But Dania Chief Williams said it has been over a year since he's had a complaint from a Torch Club patron.

"If anybody comes to us with a complaint we'll sure do something about it," he said.

The chief said that as far as he knows the club is not violating the city's ordinance against so-called "B" girls soliciting drinks from customers.

Six Months, Fine Given For Bolita

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A bolita convict has been sentenced to a $2,500 fine and six months in jail by Court of Crimes Judge Thomas Tompkins.

Edward B. Waddell, 59, of 521 NW 13th Ave., was found guilty by a jury of possessing lottery tickets. Prosecutor Doug Lambeth said Waddell had previous similar convictions.

Defense Attorney Robert Davis said the verdict will be appealed. The maximum term for the offense is $5,000 plus one year in jail.

In other court action, Robert D. Martin, 34, a dairy employe who lives at Racetrack Rd., Pompano Beach, was sentenced on five charges.

He got three months for reckless display of a deadly weapon; and fines totaling $450 or 170 days in jail on two counts of driving while intoxicated and two of not having a driver's license.

Leonard Parham, 38, of 1400 NW 13th Pl., was sentenced to $250 or 60 days for violating the pharmacy laws. The state charged that he filled a prescription without a licesne.

The trial of Leslie Dean, 49, of 4037 SW 25th Ave., was reset for May 5. He is charged with violating the county zoning act.

Third Concert Scores

Bowles Precise, 'Dignified'

By BOB FREUND
Special To The Herald

FORT LAUDERDALE — In its third subscription concert of the season, the Fort Lauderdale Symphony Orchestra continued its program of contrasting the old and well-known with the relatively new and unfamiliar.

Michael Bowles, the third guest conductor, displayed a precise, dignified manner on the podium. His subtlety of approach was a definite switch from the last concert, wherein the boyish impetuousness of Robert Mandell fired the orchestra to emotional heights.

Mr. Bowles substituted taste and elegance for fire in the program Tuesday night at War Memorial Auditorium. His musical knowledge was "inside," and he communicated his wishes to the orchestra through deft, small motions. His command through such means bespeaks the years he has on young Mandell.

Vaughan Williams' overture to "The Wasps" opened the program on a Quixotic note. The strings were at their mellowest here and horn and woodwind work was fine.

Delius' "On Hearing the First Cuckoo in Spring" likewise brought out the superb resonance of strings and full orchestra.

Sibelius' "En Saga" was a workout for the orchestra, and showed more than any other number just what professional acumen the group has achieved.

Though we have not heard "En Saga" before, we felt that Mr. Bowles got just what was demanded.

The Brahms Second Symphony occupied the entire second half of the concert. Mr. Bowles and the orchestra carried this noble and melodic work to an exciting conclusion.

Throughout, the symphony was played with a depth of feeling and immaculate taste.

When Is It Service?

POMPANO BEACH—When does a service station's service cease being that and begin being repair work?

That's a question of definitions posed by owners of about 10 stations on Federal Hwy. who protested strict enforce-pair work" from being done in ordinance which prohibits "rement of the city's zoning a service station in a B-2 or a B-3 zone.

"It's only auto service," the station men told City Manager James Hughes and Building Inspector Howard Lane in an afternoon conference Wednesday.

Hughes said the City Commission will be asked to amend the zoning ordinance to allow minor work in service stations, such as ignition work, carbureter adjustments, muffler installation, etc.

7 Children Win Damages

AROUND BROWARD

The children of two fathers killed in separate accidents were awarded damages Wednesday by Circuit Court juries.

A sum of $12,000 was granted to two minor children left by James E. Pridemore, of POMPANO BEACH, who was killed in an auto-train collision last April. The suit was brought against the railroad and its employe, B. A. Perry.

The five minor children of Laborer Willie Ford were awarded $1,250. He was electrocuted in POMPANO BEACH in 1956. A crane touched a high-tension wire while lowering pipe into a ditch where Ford was working. The defendants were the Florida Power and Light Co. and Contractor A. P. Benedetto, doing business as Crane Service and Engineering Co.

Two teenage boys walked off with top honors in the second annual science fair at Sunrise Junior High School.

Gold Trophies were awarded Wednesday to David Vogt, 13, an eighth grade student, and John Martin, 15, a ninth grader.

David's exhibit featured a homemade rocket which has reached a height of 1,000 feet. John's exhibit showed inner workings of a television set on a large display panel. The fair will be open for the last time today from 7 to 9 p.m.

Lower Bus Fares Ordered at Jax

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — City bus fares have been ordered lowered by the City Council. Single fares remain 20 cents but tokens will cost 18 cents instead of 19 and transfers 5 cents instead of 10.

Reduction was ordered after the city auditor reported the privately owned bus company made $36,000 in the third quarter and $78,000 in the fourth quarter of last year.

Their Sentences End With Question Marks

FORT LAUDERDALE — How much time a prisoner serves of his sentence depends largely on his behavior.

A parole plan is discussed with the convict as soon as he arrives at the prison.

It offers a ray of hope for a man faced with a long term — maybe 25 years.

If his conduct and attitude are good, he can be considered for parole after serving about a third of his time.

Good conduct alone will chop a 20-year term almost in half. Here are some standard sentences and savings:

Two years — One year, eight months, two days.

Five years — Three years, six months, nine days.

10 years — Six years and 20 days.

20 years — 11 years, one month and 14 days.

Parolees and probationers are not required to check into the parole office. This would cut into their working time, Supervisor William Kyle said.

Instead, parole officers visit them at home and at work to see first-hand what progress is being made. Detailed reports are required in writing at specified intervals.

Here are other rules for a probationer:

No change of address or employment without consent.

Use no drugs at all, and no intoxicants to excess. Avoid places where drugs are sold, dispensed or used unlawfully.

Avoid injurious or vicious habits. Do not associate with bad characters.

Live honorably, work diligently, support dependents.

No weapons to be owned or carried without consent.

Keep away from gambling places or juke joints.

Live and remain at liberty without violating the law.

Answer all supervisory questions promptly and truthfully. Carry out all the supervisor's instructions.

The parolee must observe the same rules and, in addition, obtain permission to marry, to get a driver's license, or to own or operate a motor vehicle.

Anyone convicted of, or pleading guilty to, a felony loses his civil rights until they are restored by the State Parole Board — even if he is put on probation or given a withheld sentence.

He cannot vote or hold public office. He is also prohibited from possessing a pistol, a sawed-off shotgun or a sawed-off rifle.

Anxious Moment: Does X-Ray Reveal Flaw in This Lad's Heart?

Young Hearts Now Can Beat With Hope

By AL BURT
Broward Bureau Chief

Does the boy have heart trouble?

The doctors hold the X-ray to the light and study the shadows that may shape his life.

This is the moment when parents' own hearts may skip a throb or two — as they wait for the doctors' careful words.

Have they given the child proper care? If something is wrong, is it their fault?

Will his "normal life" be full of stethoscopes and X-rays, or athletic romps out-of-doors?

Will the parents live in anxiety and caution, with medical expenses eternal?

This mother, Mrs. L. R. Wickert, watched Dr. R. F. Kidder, chairman of the medical committee of the Florida Heart Association, frown and study the X-rays.

Dr. Frank Hernandez, clinical director of the National Children's Cardiac Hospital, tilted his head back and peered through the bottoms of his glasses down his nose, across the top of a little pencil moustache and into the shadowy negative that looked through little Walter.

Mrs. Wickert and her son were there because a routine school examination discovered he had a heart murmur.

Their news was good. Dr. Kidder and Dr. Hernandez were able to tell Walter he could play as he liked.

For thousands of others, in that same scene of suspense, the news has not been good.

"It must be stressed that diseases of the heart, prior to birth, are only about one out of 1,000, and with the exception of german measles during the first month of pregnancy, there is no specific cause except happenstance or a quirk of nature," Dr. H. R. Cooper, children's cardiologist, said.

"Parents must be assured that they 'did no wrong' . . ."

Examinations and clinical studies of children's hearts continue here every day. The Broward County Heart Association and others in the country support this research.

Because of it, a half-million school-aged children who are victims of heart disease have hope.

Broward's Last Pig Farmer Fighting Off Own 'Wolf'

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — The "big bad wolf" is huffing and puffing but he's not going to blow down this piggy palace if Charlie Wogisch can help it

The "wolf" is the housing developments closing in around Wogisch's 20-acre pig farm, the only one in Broward County. It is along the turnpike, just south of Sterling Rd.

"Real Estate men are after me to sell, but I'm not going to," said Wogisch.

It was nearing 4 p.m., the end of his work day. He had been up since 3 a.m., collecting garbage for his pigs from beach hotels in North Miami.

"I can't even afford to eat food from the Deauville Hotel," he quipped.

He said real estate men have offered him more than $100,000 for the 20 acres. "It would cost too much to move. I wouldn't make anything."

Besides the encroachment of large housing developments, a new Seminole Indian community of frame and CBS block homes is taking shape just a stone's throw from the pig stalls.

Until two years ago, Wogisch's farm was tucked amid tall pines and thick underbrush, and couldn't be seen from the highway.

But the pigs' lives became an open book when the roadside was cleared for turnpike right-of-way.

His father, Charles, 68, still works on the farm. Two hired hands help them raise the 1,500 hogs that roam the farm.

Wogisch buys baby pigs (shoats), fattens them to about 300 pounds and then sells them to a pork house in Miami.

A resident of North Dade, Wogisch started the pig farm here in 1949. He's proud of the farm's neat appearance — no thanks to the pigs.

Parolees Making Good in Broward

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Your neighbor may be a murderer who was once sentenced to prison for life, but don't worry about it.

Eight one-time lifers are county residents today. Parole officers say they are excellent citizens.

All were first offenders. They paid their debt to society.

It's unlikely they will ever be in trouble with the law again — not even for a minor offense.

Once faced with the threat of ending their days behind prison bars, they are now leading useful, profitable, almost-normal lives.

Including the lifers, there are an even 300 current cases in the files of the county probation and parole office — 187 probationers and 113 parolees.

Each presents a vital, human challenge to Supervisor William Kyle and his three associate officers. Each file tells the story of a life that took a wrong turning.

THE PROBLEM: Which way will the 300 lives go now?

It can be a tense situation, and it sometimes is. One serious slip can undo years of progress, and land the offender in jail with little hope of a second chance.

But Kyle's office is encouraged by the hundreds of cases successfully concluded and off the books — where rehabilitation and readjustment appear complete.

"Our job is to keep them from going to prison," he explained. "We don't spy on them or keep them underfoot.

"If we see trouble coming, we try to head it off. But if they're set on a violation, we can't stop it. It's up to them."

The parolee is the person who gets a chance to leave jail before his term is up. Usually, he is considered after serving about one-third of the sentence.

THE LAW PROVIDES that any prisoner — even if sentenced to 99 years — is eligible for parole after serving six months, but each case is individually decided by the Florida Parole Commission.

"It's harder to rehabilitate a convict who has served more than five years," Kyle said. "He becomes institutionalized. The dependence on prison routine gets too ingrained."

A prisoner has the choice of staying in jail and hoping for time off for good conduct; or, going on parole and remaining under supervision for the full length of his original term.

"I've never heard of one yet who elected to stay in jail," Kyle noted.

There is one big obstacle in the way of a convict's parole — he must have a job guarantee signed by an employer. And this has to be arranged by his family or his friends.

"There are hundreds of prisoners stuck in jail now because they have no one on the outside to help them," Kyle said.

Most employers, he said, are wary at first of hiring parolees, but soon find they are as trustworthy as other employes — sometimes more.

* * *

"THEY HAVE A LOT to lose," Kyle said. "A parolee will fight to keep out of prison — all he needs is a chance."

The federal peonage law protects the paroled employe from discrimination over pay, hours and working conditions.

Before organized parole supervision existed, almost 60 per cent of the released prisoners were back in jail within six years.

Today, Kyle said, the figure has been cut to 12 or 13 per cent. He considers his job is to chop it still further.

"About two out of every three who go bad on us commit another offense," Kyle said. "The others show bad conduct — usually fighting or drinking."

* * *

IF HE IS DEPRIVED OF PAROLE, he stays there to finish his term — losing any good-conduct remission he earned before.

Apart from supervising offenders, Kyle's office conducts extremely thorough pre-sentence and pre-parole investigations.

Last year it made 273 PSI's. It made 167 in 1956.

"This is a most valuable tool for a judge," Kyle said. "He's confronted with a guilty man he knows nothing about. The PSI gives him a complete history and background on which to base a decision."

Kyle's three assistants are Franklin McKain, Nathan Edens and H. Squier Hanni. Each is responsible for the supervision of about 75 offenders.

Kyle is proud that last year their charges earned $622,000, spending $552,000 in the county's economy. Victims of their offenses got some $25,000 in restitution.

"Look at it this way," Kyle said. "It costs $2.68 a day to maintain a prisoner in jail. It costs 38 cents to supervise him on the outside."

Cure for Fear of Snakes Is Snake Pet
. . . it worked for one couple, Tallmadge says

Business? Full Of Pet Likes

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

Deathly afraid of snakes? Then buy one as a pet.

That's what a Fort Lauderdale man did recently to overcome his fear of snakes.

And that's but one of the odd incidents reported locally in the pet business. It is a business that more often than not is dictated by neighborhood fads.

How else can you explain the recent "run" on white mice experienced by Donald Tallmadge, who runs the Pet Service in Fort Lauderdale?

"We had 150 white mice on our hands," he explains, "and we were wondering if we'd ever get rid of them. Then all of a sudden there was a demand for mice, we sold all 150 in a week, and were looking for more."

The same thing happens with hampsters, one of the more popular pets. One youngster gets one, and soon all his friends want one, too.

There's a steady demand for white mice, not only as pets, but for school experiments.

Tropical fish are popular too, but mostly with adults.

And surprisingly, girls take as much an interest in snakes as pets as do the boys.

Some parents prefer to buy snakes for a child who is allergic to fur or feathers, and cannot have any other kind of pet.

A Fort Lauderdale man recently bought a snake — a boa constrictor, yet — for an entirely different reason.

He explained he and his wife were deathly afraid of snakes, and wanted to buy one to overcome the fear. His wife also bought some white mice — not as pets, but to raise as food for the snake.

The man explained to the pet shop owner that "the snake made my hair stand on end at first, but after a few weeks, I got to handle it without fear."

With his objective accomplished, the man sold the snake.

Good Conduct Medal: Freedom

Their Sentences End With Question Marks

FORT LAUDERDALE — How much time a prisoner serves of his sentence depends largely on his behavior.

A parole plan is discussed with the convict as soon as he arrives at the prison.

It offers a ray of hope for a man faced with a long term — maybe 25 years.

If his conduct and attitude are good, he can be considered for parole after serving about a third of his time.

Good conduct alone will chop a 20-year term almost in half. Here are some standard sentences and savings:

Two years — One year, eight months, two days.

Five years — Three years, six months, nine days.

10 years — Six years and 20 days.

20 years — 11 years, one month and 14 days.

Parolees and probationers are not required to check into the parole office. This would cut into their working time, Supervisor William Kyle said.

Instead, parole officers visit them at home and at work to see first-hand what progress is being made. Detailed reports are required in writing at specified intervals.

Here are other rules for a probationer:

No change of address or employment without consent.

Use no drugs at all, and no intoxicants to excess. Avoid places where drugs are sold, dispensed or used unlawfully.

Avoid injurious or vicious habits. Do not associate with bad characters.

Live honorably, work diligently, support dependents.

No weapons to be owned or carried without consent.

Keep away from gambling places or juke joints.

* * *

Live and remain at liberty without violating the law.

Answer all supervisory questions promptly and truthfully. Carry out all the supervisor's instructions.

The parolee must observe the same rules and, in addition, obtain permission to marry, to get a driver's license, or to own or operate a motor vehicle.

Anyone convicted of, or pleading guilty to, a felony loses his civil rights until they are restored by the State Parole Board — even if he is put on probation or given a withheld sentence.

He cannot vote or hold public office. He is also prohibited from possessing a pistol, a sawed-off shotgun or a sawed-off rifle.

Anxious Moment: Does X-Ray Reveal Flaw in This Lad's Heart?

Young Hearts Now Can Beat With Hope

By AL BURT
Broward Bureaus Chief

Does the boy have heart trouble?

The doctors hold the X-ray to the light and study the shadows that may shape his life.

This is the moment when parents' own hearts may skip a throb or two — as they wait for the doctors' careful words.

Have they given the child proper care? If something is wrong, is it their fault?

Will his "normal life" be full of stethoscopes and X-rays, or athletic romps out-of-doors?

Will the parents live in anxiety and caution, with medical expenses eternal?

This mother, Mrs. L. R. Wickert, watched Dr. R. F. Kidder, chairman of the medical committee of the Florida Heart Association, frown and study the X-rays.

Dr. Frank Hernandez, clinical director of the National Children's Cardiac Hospital, tilted his head back and peered through the bottoms of his glasses down his nose, across the top of a little pencil moustache and into the shadowy negative that looked through little Walter.

Mrs. Wickert and her son were there because a routine school examination discovered he had a heart murmur.

Their news was good. Dr. Kidder and Dr. Hernandez were able to tell Walter he could play as he liked.

For thousands of others, in that same scene of suspense, the news has not been good.

"It must be stressed that diseases of the heart, prior to birth, are only about one out of 1,000, and with the exception of german measles during the first month of pregnancy, there is no specific cause except happenstance or a quirk of nature," Dr. H. R. Cooper, children's cardiologist, said.

"Parents must be assured that they 'did no wrong' . . ."

Examinations and clinical studies of children's hearts continue here every day. The Broward County Heart Association and others in the country support this research.

Because of it, a half-million school-aged children who are victims of heart disease have hope.

Broward's Last Pig Farmer Fighting Off Own 'Wolf'

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — The "big bad wolf" is huffing and puffing but he's not going to blow down this piggy palace if Charlie Wogisch can help it.

The "wolf" is the housing developments closing in around Wogisch's 20-acre pig farm, the only one in Broward County. It is along the turnpike, just south of Sterling Rd.

"Real Estate men are after me to sell, but I'm not going to," said Wogisch.

It was nearing 4 p.m., the end of his work day. He had been up since 3 a.m., collecting garbage for his pigs from beach hotels in North Miami.

"I can't even afford to eat food from the Deauville Hotel," he quipped.

He said real estate men have offered him more than $100,000 for the 20 acres. "It would cost too much to move. I wouldn't make anything."

Besides the encroachment of large housing developments, a new Seminole Indian community of frame and CBS block homes is taking shape just a stone's throw from the pig stalls.

Until two years ago, Wogisch's farm was tucked amid tall pines and thick underbrush, and couldn't be seen from the highway.

But the pigs' lives became an open book when the roadside was cleared for turnpike right-of-way.

His father, Charles, 68, still works on the farm. Two hired hands help them raise the 1,500 hogs that roam the farm.

Wogisch buys baby pigs (shoats), fattens them to about 300 pounds and then sells them to a pork house in Miami.

A resident of North Dade, Wogisch started the pig farm here in 1949. He's proud of the farm's neat appearance — no thanks to the pigs.

Parolees Making Good in Broward

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Your neighbor may be a murderer who was once sentenced to prison for life, but don't worry about it.

Eight one-time lifers are county residents today. Parole officers say they are excellent citizens.

All were first offenders. They paid their debt to society.

It's unlikely they will ever be in trouble with the law again — not even for a minor offense.

Once faced with the threat of ending their days behind prison bars, they are now leading useful, profitable, almost-normal lives.

Including the lifers, there are an even 300 current cases in the files of the county probation and parole office — 187 probationers and 113 parolees.

Each presents a vital, human challenge to Supervisor William Kyle and his three associate officers. Each file tells the story of a life that took a wrong turning.

THE PROBLEM: Which way will the 300 lives go now?

It can be a tense situation, and it sometimes is. One serious slip can undo years of progress, and land the offender in jail with little hope of a second chance.

But Kyle's office is encouraged by the hundreds of cases successfully concluded and off the books — where rehabilitation and readjustment appear complete.

"Our job is to keep them from going to prison," he explained. "We don't spy on them or keep them underfoot.

"If we see trouble coming, we try to head it off. But if they're set on a violation, we can't stop it. It's up to them."

The parolee is the person who gets a chance to leave jail before his term is up. Usually, he is considered after serving about one-third of the sentence.

THE LAW PROVIDES that any prisoner — even if sentenced to 99 years — is eligible for parole after serving six months, but each case is individually decided by the Florida Parole Commission.

"It's harder to rehabilitate a convict who has served more than five years," Kyle said. "He becomes institutionalized. The dependence on prison routine gets too ingrained."

A prisoner has the choice of staying in jail and hoping for time off for good conduct; or, going on parole and remaining under supervision for the full length of his original term.

"I've never heard of one yet who elected to stay in jail," Kyle noted.

There is one big obstacle in the way of a convict's parole — he must have a job guarantee signed by an employer. And this has to be arranged by his family or his friends.

"There are hundreds of prisoners stuck in jail now because they have no one on the outside to help them," Kyle said.

Most employers, he said, are wary at first of hiring parolees, but soon find they are as trustworthy as other employes — sometimes more.

* * *

"THEY HAVE A LOT to lose," Kyle said. "A parolee will fight to keep out of prison — all he needs is a chance."

The federal peonage law protects the paroled employe from discrimination over pay, hours and working conditions.

Before organized parole supervision existed, almost 60 per cent of the released prisoners were back in jail within six years.

Today, Kyle said, the figure has been cut to 12 or 13 per cent. He considers his job is to chop it still further.

"About two out of every three who go bad on us commit another offense," Kyle said. "The others show bad conduct — usually fighting or drinking."

* * *

IF HE IS DEPRIVED OF PAROLE, he stays there to finish his term — losing any good-conduct remission he earned before.

Apart from supervising offenders, Kyle's office conducts extremely thorough pre-sentence and pre-parole investigations.

Last year it made 273 PSI's. It made 167 in 1956.

"This is a most valuable tool for a judge," Kyle said. "He's confronted with a guilty man he knows nothing about. The PSI gives him a complete history and background on which to base a decision."

Kyle's three assistants are Franklin McKain, Nathan Edens and H. Squier Hanni. Each is responsible for the supervision of about 75 offenders.

Kyle is proud that last year their charges earned $622,000, spending $552,000 in the county's economy. Victims of their offenses got some $25,000 in restitution.

"Look at it this way," Kyle said. "It costs $2.68 a day to maintain a prisoner in jail. It costs 38 cents to supervise him on the outside."

Cure for Fear of Snakes Is Snake Pet

Business? Full Of Pet Likes

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

Deathly afraid of snakes? Then buy one as a pet.

That's what a Fort Lauderdale man did recently to overcome his fear of snakes.

And that's but one of the odd incidents reported locally in the pet business. It is a business that more often than not is dictated by neighborhood fads.

How else can you explain the recent "run" on white mice experienced by Donald Tallmadge, who runs the Pet Service in Fort Lauderdale?

"We had 150 white mice on our hands," he explains, "and we were wondering if we'd ever get rid of them. Then all of a sudden there was a demand for mice, we sold all 150 in a week, and were looking for more."

The same thing happens with hampsters, one of the more popular pets. One youngster gets one, and soon all his friends want one, too.

There's a steady demand for white mice, not only as pets, but for school experiments.

Tropical fish are popular too, but mostly with adults.

The kids stick with mice, hampsters, and snakes.

And surprisingly, girls take as much an interest in snakes as pets as do the boys.

Some parents prefer to buy snakes for a child who is allergic to fur or feathers, and cannot have any other kind of pet.

A Fort Lauderdale man recently bought a snake — a boa constrictor, yet — for an entirely different reason.

He explained he and his wife were deathly afraid of snakes, and wanted to buy one to overcome the fear. His wife also bought some white mice — not as pets, but to raise as food for the snake.

The man explained to the pet shop owner that "the snake made my hair stand on end at first, but after a few weeks, I got to handle it without fear."

With his objective accomplished, the man sold the snake.

Catastrophe . . . Or Spurned by Tiger

PERHAPS YOU'VE suffered the pain and humiliation of being rejected by society.

It's a dreadful, heartbreaking experience.

I know.

People have been shunning me for years.

But never, until last weekend, was I ever rejected by a cat.

* * *

A Tiger for Tiger

A FEW WEEKS AGO I mentioned here that our five-year-old son is a cat lover, and that he has been pestering us to get him one.

Well, I didn't think much about it until a girl in our office, Helen Bowen, asked if we'd like to have her cat, Tiger.

Tiger, it seems, is a good cat, but has been getting in the way since Helen's mother came here for a visit.

Helen's mother, a delightful woman, is getting up in years, and spends most of her free time around the Bowen's backyard swimming pool.

Tiger, a playful little cuss, plays around Mrs. Crawford's feet, and Helen was afraid he might trip her mother and send her sprawling into the pool.

So, Helen decided to make the supreme sacrifice and give her little Tiger to our little tiger.

A Long Cat Chat

BEING CAUTIOUS PEOPLE, my wife and I had a long cat chat before agreeing to adopt Helen's kitten.

It wasn't until we were within a block of the Bowen home—at 9 p.m. Sunday—that we decided to go through with it.

As we drove up the driveway we spotted Tiger taking a cat nap on top of the Bowen car. It was cute and we both enjoyed it.

Inside, Helen started telling us what a fine, gentle, loveable cat we were getting. She said Tiger adored people and she never knew him to scratch anyone.

Then she handed Tiger to me and we had a great time. I stroked his head and rubbed his tummy and he purred contentedly—just as though we were going to be great pals.

Everything was going fine until we got into the car and I turned on the ignition switch.

* * *

A Fast Feline

THEN SWISH—like a bolt of lightning—Tiger sprang through an open window and disappeared into darkness.

Where he went, or why, I know not. But he did. I didn't do anything to him. I swear I didn't.

The only explanation I can offer is that Tiger, like people I've known, didn't want anything to do with me.

I didn't cry, but I felt badly.

When a guy can't even list cats among his friends, he hasn't much left.

Legislature To 'Split Up' Two Families

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The 1959 legislative session will mean separations for the families of two of Broward County's legislators, but Sen. George Tedder's family will be in Tallahassee with him.

Mrs. Emerson Allsworth and Mrs. A. J. Ryan Jr. are staying here. Both have young babies and feel the move to the state capital would be "too hectic" right now.

"I'm not looking forward to it," says Shirley Allsworth of her husband's two-month absence from Fort Lauderdale.

New babies have kept Jo Ryan home in Dania during two legislative sessions. In 1957, Jeffrey was six weeks old when the session started. This time, it's Christopher. He's two weeks old.

"Six years ago when A. J. was a legislative assistant in the attorney general's office we had an apartment in Tallahassee," Jo said. "It was a wonderful place."

But there were only two children then. Now there are five. Timothy is 3, Archie 6 and Michael 4.

The Allsworths' baby is Terry, four months. Their Scott is 4 and Johnny is 2.

Sue Tedder is taking Kathy, 3, and George III, 2, to Tallahassee, where the Tedders have rented a house.

"We started early and didn't have any trouble finding it," she said. "It's not too far out of town and I believe it's near the O'Connells." (Supreme Court Justice Stephen C. O'Connell.)

"I'm not looking forward to the packing, but I'm looking forward to being in Tallahassee," Sue said. "I've been interested ever since George decided to run for the Senate and I want to learn all about it."

Sue said she plans to attend several sessions.

Both Jo Ryan and Shirley Allsworth hope to visit Tallahassee occasionally and their husbands will be able to come back to Broward County on weekends.

2 Clergymen Pushing For Slum Clearance

By FRAN LASLIE
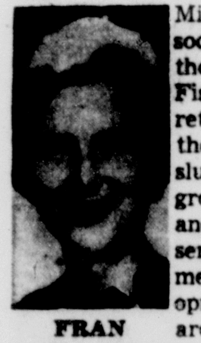
Herald Staff Writer

SLUM CONDITIONS, a ticklish problem in many cities, has two West Hollywood clergymen urging local groups to organize their interests in an effort to clear the area of urban decay.

The Rev. C. E. Muncy, president of the West Hollywood Ministerial Association; and the Rev. W. A. Fisackerly, secretary, said they feel the slum district is growing worse and becoming a serious detriment to development of the area.



FRAN

"To clean up slum areas here, we need to become a city—or else give the county the power to condemn substandard housing," said Fisackerly.

"To do nothing is a tragedy," he said.

Both men expressed concern that as West Hollywood increases in population, it might become hardened to the filth, rubble and dirt of some rundown residential sections.

Muncy, whose church is near what county authorities called a "slum problem," said his congregation gives assistance to many of the families who live there.

"But as a group of ministers are not particularly trained in slum clearance," Fisackery said, "the best thing we can to is to inspire the layman to push for a clean-up program."

The ministers said they are urging civic leaders to press for some change in the governmental setup — whether it be incorporation, annexation or county rule — to facilitate slum clearance.

Banker Refuses Chamber Post

HENRY PERRY, who has been one of the staunchest supporters for a West Hollywood municipality, says he will turn down the Chamber of Commerce chairmanship of a committee to post copies of the proposed city charter.

Perry was not present when he was appointed at a board meeting last week.

Earlier, the well - known West Hollywood banker and dairyman, had opposed a board decision to use chamber funds to finance printing costs of 10,000 brochures on incorporation.

A public forum on incorporation is slated Feb. 26 at McArthur High School.

SOUTH FLORIDA Hospital patients are being helped back to reality through a unique program — play-acting.

"We're starting the program from scratch — letting patients make up their shows, then act in them," said Robert Prettyman, director of the institution's recreational therapy.

Prettyman also tossed a belated valentine at Hollywood Little Theater which recently presented the "Reluctante Debutante" for patient benefit.

"The show was an excellent form of group therapy," he said.

Firemen Need Dollar Support

WEST HOLLYWOOD Volunteer Fire Department, responsible for 10,000 homes, has gained only $755 in a slow but-not-so-sure drive to raise $10,000 for operating expenses this year.

Steve Coar, who is directing the campaign, said that $3,500 is needed by March 15, when a fire truck payment falls due.

He said the one-dollar per house drive has brought many contributions from oldsters.

"We're hoping the young families will get behind the drive now and push us over the top," he said.

VOICE OF BROWARD

Equal Space Wanted For Good Teeners

DEAR SIR: Why don't newspapers cover the better points of teen-age activities rather than publicizing every wrong deed committed by a few of the "bad apples"?

Why play down the good points, such as various scholastic achievements and civic works that our youths participate in, and instead play up such things as car thefts and acts of vandalism?

If it is at all necessary to print every wrong done, why not at least give equal space to printing the good side of the teens?

I personally feel that many of those who do wrong haven't the real intent to go on committing the acts of the really evil-minded youths, but rather they are trying to draw attention to themselves through the public medium of newspapers.

Also, if fewer of those wrong deeds were printed it would somewhat lessen the actions of the publicity seeking, attention craving youths.

Sincerely Yours,
CAROL O'HARA

Opera Needs A New Voice

EDITOR: When Purdue opinion panel of Purdue University questioned in a nationwide survey of high school students, they found one per cent of the thousands of representative teenagers queried said they liked opera best. Only one per cent of the future leading citizens.

In over 100 years of presenting opera in this country we have made little or no progress, therefore if we have failed should we close our eyes and continue, or should we stop and look and ask what have we been doing wrong for these 100 years, what can we do to interest more people in opera?

If it is to be a reality it must be practical. Therefore let's take a look at the countries that have been more successful in creating interest in opera than we, how they do it. Do they do it different than we? If so, how do they present opera so as to create far more interest than we do in America? The answer is that in Italy they do the operas in Italian, in France in French, in Germany in German, in Sweden in Swedish and in Denmark in Danish.

These countries are more successful because they present opera in their native tongue and this country can do the same thing . . .

If you are unable to sell movies, legitimate theater, or magazines in foreign tongue to the masses, how do you expect to sell opera in a foreign tongue to the masses? . . .

Thank You From Builders

GENTLEMEN: As chairman of the craftsmanship awards committee, I wish to express my personal appreciation, and that of the Broward Builders Exchange, the Broward County Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and Broward County Chapter of the Florida Engineering Society, for your excellent coverage of the 1958 program.

This jointly sponsored program is a common meeting ground for the designers, contractors and workmen who produce Broward County's construction program.

It affords an opportunity to give credit where credit is due for excellence in construction, and by cooperative effort and incentive, improve the quality of construction in this area.

We believe that your recognition of this program is an expression of positive journalism which helps to build a better community.

Sincerely,
ROBERT E. HANSEN, A.I.A.

We All Benefit, He Says

Flood Control Project Defended by Engineer

By ART ROBINSON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Is the flood control project in the Everglades really a big rat hole swallowing millions in taxpayers' dollars?

One of the leading authorities on it, John C. Stephens, says no. Stephens, a drainage engineer attached to the Plantation Field Laboratory, has spent more than 20 years studying drainage problems and soil subsidence in the Everglades.

Recently a writer in Harper's magazine "exposed" the whole project as an immense boondoggle on which $43 million has been spent and $83.3 authorized. Before it's completed, the total cost will come to "at least $362 million," says the writer, L. Boyd Finch, whose home is in Ventura, Calif.

Most of this money is being spent to benefit a few large land owners and commercial interests, Finch writes.

Stephens disagrees. Everybody living within the vast Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District benefits, he says.

This is an area of 15,570 square miles and includes all or part of 17 counties with about 40 per cent of the state's population and nearly half of its wealth.

The levee system is designed to protect their cities from floods, to reclaim some lands for agricultural use, to provide vast water conservation areas and wildlife refuges.

Through the conservation of water resources everyone living in the area benefits, Stephens says.

In the great water reservoirs, there will be another benefit — it will prevent the loss of organic soils that took thousands of years to build up.

Because of over-drainage, the ground level in some parts of the Everglades has dropped as much as 11 feet. A small part of the loss was caused by fire. The greatest part of it resulted from oxidation. The peat dries and oxidizes in the hot sunlight.

It takes 400 years for one foot of organic soil to build up, Stephens says. It takes just a fraction of that for it to disappear.

Studies made at the Everglades Experiment Station at Belle Glade showed the ground level dropped 3¼ feet in 30 years.

"If soil subsidence continues at present rates, most of the northern Everglades will be worthless for agricultural purposes in less than 50 years," Stephens has predicted.

Well-regulated water tables, he says, "offer the best means of minimizing subsidence."

Stephens is a research project supervisor with the Soil and Water Conservation Research Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Three Way Protection

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (AP) — Sam Weisenberg of San Diego hooked a ride with three men in a jeep during a hunting trip in Utah. He fell off the jeep and injured his back before he was introduced to the trio and learned they were all from San Diego.

But by then he felt quite secure. One was a doctor. Another was a priest. And the third was an undertaker.

GI Insurance Good for Loan

FORT LAUDERDALE — Veterans holding permanent GI insurance needn't surrender their policies for cash to raise money needed during financial emergencies.

Phil Campbell, manager of the Veterans Administration office here, said veterans may borrow up to 94 per cent of their policies' cash surrender value.

Interest on loans is four per cent.

Further information can be obtained at Campbell's office.

20 Limit In School Zones?

FORT LAUDERDALE—The traffic committee of the Broward County Chiefs of Police Association is to study the advisability of raising the maximum speed in school zones from 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Pompano Beach Chief James Boggs, association president, said the topic arose recently at a City Commission meeting there.

"I think 20 miles an hour today is as safe as 15 was years ago," Boggs said. Modern cars have better braking power, he explained.

Any change would have to be on a statewide basis, he explained. No legislative action is likely this year because of lack of time, he said.

Pompano Chamber Picks 10

POMPANO BEACH—Twenty persons have been nominated for 10 seats on the Chamber of Commerce board.

Ballots will be mailed to chamber members by March 1, and must be returned by March 31.

The Balloting will be for nine three-year terms, and one unexpired two-year term.

There are 24 members on the board.

After the new directors are elected, a nominating committee will be appointed to select a slate for voting on the chamber's officers.

Public to Meet Exhibit Sculptors At Art Center Fete

By MARGARET WALKER
Broward Society Editor

FORT LAUDERDALE—Personal appearances of the artists whose work is on exhibition at the Fort Lauderdale Art Center adds a glamorous touch for first night audiences.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Come Tuesday, another cocktail preview will unveil to members some fascinating sculpture and introduce to them the sculptors who created it.

KONI

Nicolaus Koni, who has just returned to his winter home in Palm Beach from Florence, where he also maintains a studio, will come down early Tuesday to be honor guest at a small dinner party Mrs. Dorothy MacKechnie is giving at the Holiday Hotel.

Other guests will include Professor Everett Fritzberg or Palm Beach, who was piano soloist with the Fort Lauderdale Symphony Orchestra several years ago; Mrs. Frank D. Brown and her sister, Mrs. T. L. Garth, who has just arrived from Dallas to be her house guest in Rio Vista.

Young Miami Sculptor Albert Vrana, whose abstract conceptions will be exhibited, will also be here, possibly engaged in some lively discussions anent abstractions with the connoisseur.

This fourth show of the season at the Junior League-sponsored center will also present paintings by Peter Takal and Philip Hicken. Takal, a Hungarian painter who works in Cleveland, is more traditional than Hicken, who's of the very modern school in Massachusetts.

While some art enthusiasts are planning supper parties before the preview, others are entertaining afterward. Among the late-hour hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gardner, who will have a champagne party at their home in Coral Ridge.

'Writ Out' Author Goes Fishing

FAMED SHORT STORY WRITER Everett Rhodes Castle, from whose pen came such popular characters as Colonel Flack (the colonel is now hero of a TV series starring Alan Mowbray), has "gone fishing" in Pompano Beach.

"I guess he's 'writ out' at present," remarked his attractive wife with a smile. She and Mr. Castle are wintering in the same pine-paneled beach cottage they have occupied for a number of years.

The prominent Clevelanders make frequent drives to Fort Lauderdale to see their close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Luce, who had a small dinner party for them recently at their home on Banyan St.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes chatted about their forthcoming trip to the Orient with those inveterate globetrotters, the Myrt Prindles. Last year Mr. and Mrs. Prindle visited many places in the Far East which are marked on the Castles' itinerary next fall.

Other former Clevelanders at the party were the Arthur Ogles.

Ty-Coon Does Banking by Boat

WHEN BYRON S. COON, chairman of the board of General Finance Corp. (a 200-million-dollar business), comes down to relax at his winter home in Fort Lauderdale, he combines banking business with pleasure.

Visiting banks throughout the state while he's here, Mr. Coon zips up to Palm Beach or other coastal cities in his fast new boat, which zooms along at 50 miles an hour. The sleek, 27-footer was especially designed for Mr. Coon, who finds it great fun to handle a boat himself.

The pert-looking newcomer is tied up at the Coons' dock on NE 22nd St. alongside their handsome 54-foot yact "On Time." Captain and crew have not been too busy since Mr. Coon took over the helm of his smaller boat.

Weekends their son Tom, a senior at the University of Miami, comes home to cruise with his family. He sometimes brings with him pretty Judy Weiland of Coral Gables, a junior at the university.

The Coons live in Evanston, Ill., from where Mr. Coon commutes during the season. They often cruise to the Key Largo Anglers' Club, where they are members . . . "but we go there when there aren't any big parties."

Loathe to speak of business, Mr. Coon is enthusiastic about his "souped up" cruiser. "She has two V-8 engines with 450 H. P. each," he said, pleased about the record time of five hours in which he "made" Marathon last week.

PEO Units To Honor Leaders

FORT LAUDERDALE — The two top international officers of PEO sisterhood, who by coincidence are vacationing in South Florida at the same time, will be guests at a luncheon here Wednesday.

They are president Mrs. C. E. Rinehard of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and first vice president Mrs. Simpson Stoner of Greencastle, Ind.

EPO chapters AU and BL will be hostesses at the luncheon in their honor at 12:30 p.m. in the Sierra Inn. All visiting PEOs and unaffiliated members are invited.

Other honor guests will be Mrs. Laura Storms Knapp of Ames, Iowa, past international president, and Mrs. Floyd W. Davis of Fort Lauderdale, Mrs. C. D. Stilwell and Mrs. Herbert Sawyer of Miami, Mrs. Glenn Kuhl of Coral Gables, and Mrs. Scott Bishop of Miami Shores, past Florida president.

Another Florida vacationer, Mrs. Inez Showers, Pennsylvania past president, will also be present.

Reservations are to be made by Monday with Mrs. William S. Setchfield.

Antal Dorati
. . . Minneapolis conductor

Concert Membership To Open

FORT LAUDERDALE — Memberships for the 1959-60 season of Community Concert Association, formerly Civic Music Association, will be taken Monday at this season's second concert, a performance by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Antal Dorati will conduct at 8:30 p.m. at War Memorial Auditorium. Soloist will be Hungarian Pianist Louis Kentner.

Announcement has been made by Miss Faustine Lasseter, president, that next season's series will include the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy and a concert by Pianist Rudolf Serkin.

Renewals of subscriptions will be taken in the lobby before Monday's concert and during intermission. Memberships will also be available at the association office, which will be set up Monday at 710 E. Las Olas Blvd. preparatory to the annual membership drive the week of March 2.

One of the world's famous orchestras, the Minneapolis Symphony is in its 56th season. Its home is in Northrop Auditorium on the campus of the University of Minnesota, where the average attendance at its concerts is 4,000.

Monday's program will open with Beethoven's Overture to "Lenore," Opus 72A, No. 3. Kentner will play the famous "Emperor Concerto," Beethoven's concerto for piano and Orchestra No. 5 in E-Flat Major.

The orchestra will conclude with Symphony No. 5 in E Minor, Opus 64 by Tschaikovsky.

Fashion, Fun, Fund For '21 and Over'

FORT LAUDERDALE — "Twenty-One and Over" will be the theme of a champagne showing of fashions Saturday at the Terrace Patio.

The figure 21 also represents a goal of the show—to raise $2,100 for the purchase of a portable electro-cardiograph for the hospitals of Broward County. All proceeds from the afternoon (hours are 4 to 6 p.m.) will go to the Broward County Heart Association.

In the scenic patio at 2400 E. Las Olas Blvd., models will display fashions by Bettye McGarvey, including dramatic oriental trends, chic sports clothes and neat, new cotton swim ensembles designed especially for splash parties.

On the fashion scene for the first time will be printed leather chiffon, a paperweight washable kidskin. This chiffon-soft leather is used to fashion one of the ensembles by Samuel Robert.

Interesting golf ensembles will be shown in French and Italian knitted wear.

Commentator will be Darcy Shean. Darcy mannequins will wear hats from Leeta and hair styles by Sheila.

Committee members assisting are Mrs. Thomas Huey, Mrs. Lloyd Dutcher and Mrs. Edward Born.

Handsome prizes donated for the event will be awarded by Teddy Morde, small heart patient known as "Little Billy Hart.

One of the prizes was sent by Peter Kriendler of the famed "21" in New York, who is a patron of the Heart Fund in New York.

Can You Wait?

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average person spends about 12 to 13 hours without hearty food between the dinner meal and breakfast.

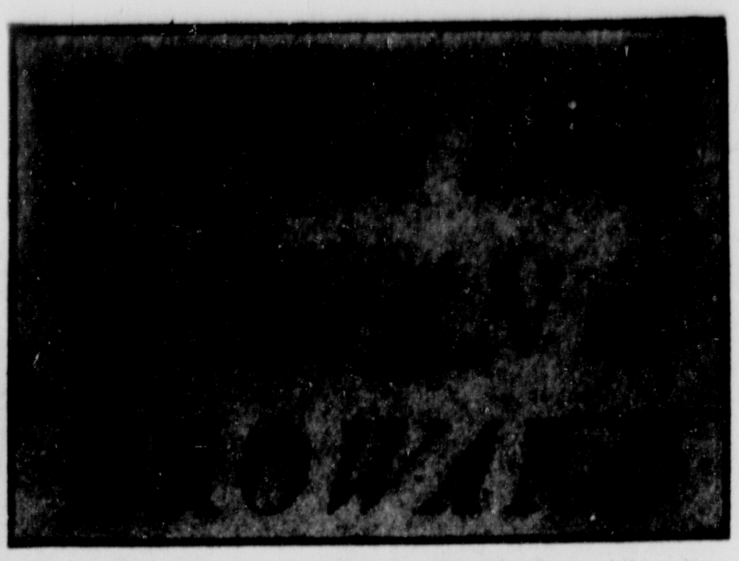
Borgschultes to Host St. Louis Club Sunday

FORT LAUDERDALE — Members of the St. Louis Club of Broward County will be guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Borgschulte, formerly of St. Louis, who will give a Washington's birthday dinner party at the Lorelei Room, 3233 N. Atlantic Blvd.

Miss Adele Hauck is taking reservations.

Guests will be greeted by their hosts and the club's governors, Mrs. Arthur Schmid, Mrs. Lynn Russler, Clay Wilson and A. J. Heinermann.

Visiting guests from St. Louis will be honorees.



Jewish Women Pick Delegate

Geometry, Diamond in Rough at McArthur

By MARY RUNYAN
Herald Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — McArthur juniors have discovered that geometry, no matter how wicked to learn, does come in handy on occasions.

Connie Anderson reports that Bernard Simon, assistant principal and former geometry teacher at McArthur, helped a group of 11th graders survey ground for the school's new baseball diamond in the northwest section of the school property. Soon we'll be set for spring baseball, says Connie.

Call it anything you like — A fashion parade, Dracula Day or a preview of summer fashions — but McArthur was in a hubbub last week when the Drill Corps took in several new membrs.

Warned a day ahead, the girls came to school clad in their fathers' shirts, neatly tucked into an upside down, plaid skirt, tied by a rope.

Since dad's shirt is plain, a bright tie, safety pins and babushka really gave class to the outfits. The corps officers did an expert make-up job on their future sister corps members with black eyebrow pencil and lipstick.

But the initiation antics paid off the next day when Capt. Joyce Lavoie presented each new member with a pin and ribbon, proof of membership.

Disc Jockey Bob Greene was guest at McArthur last week, says Sue Pansa. Bob conducted a dance session on the school patio and later several contests. The sophs sponsored the affair.

Big news are the new members of the McArthur chapter of the National Honor Society. Those inducted this week include Mary Amantea, Judy Beach, Al Bianchi, Val Broderson, Bill Burkhardt, Leo Cash, Milton Chasin, Kathy Clancy, Vernon Cope, Sid Decker, Roseann Dickerson, David Ericson, Pat Fallis, Fred Glavin, Jon Gola.

South Broward Takes Tests

NERVOUSLY AWAITING results of placement tests are South Broward seniors, who wracked their brains Tuesday to prove they're college material.

According to Rita Mannheim, only those graded in the upper 40 per cent of their class are ready for college.

The sweethearts of sweethearts were chosen Saturday night at South Broward's Sweetheart Dance held at the Rotary Club. Picked from the school's club sweethearts were Marilee Bluhm and Dic Fischell, seniors.

Sweethearts Named at LHS

BOB BARNETT and Sandy Koch reigned as 1959 sweethearts of Lauderdale High's Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Sweetheart Dance Saturday night in Oddfellows Hall, announces Barb Roman.

And, speaking of sweethearts, candidates for the 1959 basketball queen are Judy Colby, Noel Doepke and Kathy Fairfield. The winner selected by the junior varsity and varsity teams will be crowned during the halftime of the last home game.

Clubs at LHS have been busily putting the finishing touches on their skits for the 1959 Flying L Follies Saturday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Highlight of the evening will be the coronation of Miss Lauderdale High.

Vicki Fuhrer reports that rehearsals are under way for the junior class play, "The Curious Savage." Setting for the three-act comedy is a rest home for psychotics.

A preview matinee for sophs March 12 will be followed by evening performances March 12 and 13 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

LOUELLA PARSONS

Sandra Dee to Star In 'Summer Place'

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — Sandra Dee, considered just about the most popular of the young teen-age actresses, has made her first appearance on the Warner Bros. lot. Sandra has been borrowed by Jack Warner from Universal-International for the top ingenue lead in "Summer Place."

This is the Sloan Wilson story which Delmer Daves has been busy casting for weeks. There are two teenagers—a boy and a girl—and then the mother of the boy who has a romance with the girl's father and marries him. The boy's own father is a hopeless alcoholic.

So many people have read the Wilson book, maybe this brief synopsis isn't necessary, so skip it if you've read the novel.

FRANK SINATRA has a new title, vice president of the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas (in which he holds a five per cent interest). Got a chuckle out of the added detail that Frankie boy's new duties, along with President-Producer Jack Entratter, will include "public relations!" If this means with the press, Jack's going to have to give Frankie some lessons.

Anyway, Sinatra is an asset to any organization—he's hot these days. Dean Martin, who has brought some crowds into the Sands, will also be made a partner.

Frank is starting "Never So Few" with his pal Sammy Davis Jr. shortly and immediately after he'll make "Oceans 11," also with Sammy. And they are both booked into Miami nightclubs, not at the same spot, however.

NOT IN A LONG TIME has a young actor had as much praise heaped on his young shoulders as Bobby Crawford who starred in "Child of Our Time" on Playhouse 90. The New York Times gave him a special article.

It is only natural after all this praise that this brilliant 11-year-old boy should be summoned for motion pictures. He was on the MGM lot for conferences recently.

Bobby was on screen almost continually in "Child of Our Time." He had to have his head shaved when he played the Nazi child and he wore two wigs, one that was unkempt and another that was smooth. He won the admiration of everyone at CBS with his intelligence, the ease with which he learned his role and his politeness.

"LITTLE TYRONE is so like the big Tyrone," Annabella told me. I had a tear as I thought if only Tyrone who wanted a boy so much had lived to see his son—the image of him—how happy he would have been.

Annabella is a wonderful girl, and I have such pleasant memories of when she lived here as the first Mrs. Tyrone Power. She gave such wonderful small dinner parties where we had such good times.

She is the houseguest of Watson Webb, a close friend of Ty. She stopped to see Tyrone's sister, Mrs. Anne Hardenbergh, and Ty's mother, Mrs. Patia Power, on her way here. You can be sure Annabella won't be suing the Power estate for money, although her alimony stopped with Ty's death. She's not that kind of person.

THE NEWS that Foxey Leshin's son Steve Sondheim's lyrics for "Gypsy" are great, has given her a lot of comfort since the loss of her husband.

Cole Porter, Anita Loos told me, has said that Steve's lyrics are as beautiful as anything he'd ever heard. They are for the Ethel Merman Broadway show and when I tell you that Ethel is simply delighted, you know they must be good, because my friend Ethel is a real critic.

Steve is seen everywhere in New York with Mary Rodgers, Dick Rodgers' daughter, and the talk around New York is that they will marry. He and Mary were childhood sweethearts, and then she married unhappily, but now they are seeing each other again. I knew her when she was a little girl.

SMALL WONDER Piper Laurie is walking on clouds! The little gal who got her first movie publicity "eating flowers" in salads, will co-star with the great Maurice Evans in "Caesar and Cleopatra," George Bernard Shaw's classic, for GE Theater April 12.

Mitch Leisen is the director and both he and Maurice want to give Pipe every chance possible to shine. Because GE Theater is a half-hour TV show, only the first act of Shaw's play can be presented.

SUSAN HAYWARD screams for her life as two matrons drag her to the death cell in "I Want To Live," which opens Friday at the Hollywood Theater. The film is a dramatic version of the life of Barbara Graham, the fourth woman to be executed in the gas chamber in California.

Right Reply To Wrong Voice . . .

DENVER —(AP)— For years H. Ray Baker, editor of The Denver Post's Empire Magazine, has been told his voice sounds just like movie actor Walter Brennan's.

Finally Baker met Brennan at a cocktail party here and they decided on an experiment.

Brennan pointed out his wife with her back to them across the room and suggested Baker sneak up behind and make a voice test.

Baker eased up and said: "Would you like another drink, dear?"

Mrs. Brennan half turned her head and replied: "No, thanks, dear — and my husband always calls me honey."

Dog's Life Hard Work For Owners

By DICK MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

HALLANDALE — Dog racing is a gamble for greyhound owners, too.

One can make a good living or go broke . . . just like bettors.

Orville Moses, owner of world record holder Feldcrest, is among the few lucky owner-trainers.

He quit a job as an oil driller 10 years ago to breed, train and campaign greyhounds, and today he is reasonably happy with the choice.

Other owners and trainers contend the dog-player has the better chance of hitting it big.

"I've made a living because I've had two good ones — Clydesdale and Feldcrest, both American Derby champions," Moses explained. "Feldcrest has surprised everybody who said a spotted dog won't become a money-winner."

Although Orville will campaign Feldcrest for only one more season, he claims he wouldn't part with her for $25,000. He will send her to his breeding farm in Ocala, hoping for promising whelplings; but the breeding of racing dogs also represents a big gamble.

"Dogmen" have learned to mix business and pleasure only in moderation.

Moses long ago swore off betting. It's too easy to lose purse money to pari-mutuel maws.

Otis Harmon, trainer for the Harmon Kennels, claims a dog race is "strictly a gamble." He doesn't wager often, but when he feels one of his dogs is placed right, makes an across the board bet — getting three shots at winning rather than one.

"Really, the only information we dogmen have that the bettor doesn't is whether, in our opinion, a dog is in his right grade," Otis explained.

Dog masters have one tip that could, or could not, be helpful to the two-buck plunger.

They say a dog that doesn't waste his energy by doing a lot of barking is generally more intelligent than his kennel-mates, and probably is apt to pick his way through the pack to get closest to the mechanical bunny.

The average dogman got into the business because purses are attractive.

Mrs. Lillian A. Ryan's dogs, handled by her two sons, have collected roughly $20,000 in purses so far during the Hollywood Kennel Club season.

For the first 52 nights of the meeting there, nightly purses have averaged $3,606. This is about two per cent of the handle.

Expenses are high, though, and it's usually unprofitable for a dog owner with a business to devote his full time to campaigning hounds. A good number of the owners make dog racing an avocation, not a vocation.

Professional dogmen enter into this picture. They take dogs "on the road" to tracks around the country, usually on a deal whereby they get 65 per cent of purse money, but pay all expenses, including transportation, training, track fees, food, medicine and kennel help and rent.

It's not an easy life.

Dogs go into a turnout pen at 7 a.m. for the first of four exercise runs during the day. Sulky dogs must be exercised and fed before the others.

Back in their individual cages, dogs are fed a mixture of meal, bran and horse meat, but a canine to race that night gets very little until after the bunny chase. Then the dogs settle down to listen to disc jockeys.

Radios blare music throughout the day to accustom dogs to voices and crowd noise. The music also calms the dogs as they are brushed, dusted and fed.

Safety Times Goes for Curtis Aspy's Chow
. . . it's a mixture of meal, bran and horse meat

After late-morning walks, pups in training and racers without recent starts are "hand schooled." In hand schooling, greyhounds aren't placed in starting boxes, but instead are held by their trainers until the lure rushes by and they are permitted to give chase.

Dogs due to race have their toenails clipped so they won't injure themselves running. Before 6 p.m., they are lifted into a trailer and hauled to the track. They are weighed in a couple of hours before running, and those with a marked variance in weight are scratched, for they may not be in top racing form.

Pups ready to begin racing and dogs without recent starts (generally because of distemper or injury) school before the regular program, giving bettors a line on how they'll do in formal competition.

Dogmen keep busy at the track. They catch dogs at a cross-track curtain stopping them after a race, and take them to a cool-out walking ring west of the track.

Following the final race, dogs are vanned back to home kennels and are fed a big meal. By then it's midnight, and trainers and handlers get a few hours sleep before beginning another day of around-the-clock care of their animals.

It's a long ride back for dogmen whose dogs ran out of the money. Purse money goes only to the first four finishers — on a percentage breakdown of 55, 25, 15 and 5.

These people can lose big without even buying a ticket!

Diamond Hopes Shining Bright For Flying L's

FORT LAUDERDALE — Coach Paul Davis, whose high school teams have won 115 of 136 baseball games, looks for the 1959 Fort Lauderdale High team to be stronger than a fine '58 nine.

"We have more pitching depth," Paul explained. "Pitching is particularly important in prep baseball."

Last season, the Flying L's compiled a 16-3 record. In Davis' two other seasons here, they went 17-2 and 18-6.

Davis-coached Key West High teams won state titles in two of the three seasons he was there. The Conchs had a 74-10 over-all standing under his direction.

The deep-voiced diamond foreman predicts Blue and White fans will thrill to the tight defense of his current L's, who open March 20 by hosting Norland at Holiday Park.

"If we get a few base hits in the right spots, we'll do fine," he said. "Last year, the boys didn't hit much, but they hit when it counted, and most of these come-through kids are back."

Dene and Gene Ekholm, twins from Houston, will bolster the FLHS defense. Dene's a smoothie shortstop who batted .391 in Texas, while Gene won all eight games he pitched for Houston's Jones High.

With Dene available, Bobby Barnett, a sure fielder who has trouble making long throws, has been moved to second base. Billy Jarrell, a lefty, is at first, in place of graduated Eddie Braddy, and Dwight Hott and Doug Cook will battle it out for the third base job.

The first string outfield of Paul Woodall, Pat Mulcahy and John Doel is gone, but good replacements are on hand. Included are Bob Perrigo, Dave Jackson, Hal Fugate and Ron Hartnett.

Tom Crawford is back at backstop and Danny Roettle is the sole '58 pitcher lost to graduation.

Lefty Bill Valentine, Leo Burkey, Gene Ekholm and Bobby Longo are the hurlers still in basketball togs, but already working out in a staff of righthanders, including Tom Scott, Pete Anderson, Don Colquitt and Mike West.

The schedule:

MARCH — 20, Norland; 25, North Miami.

APRIL — 3, Central Catholic; 7, Pompano Beach; 10, South Broward; 14, McArthur; 17, at West Palm Beach; 21, at North Miami; 24, Edison.

MAY — 1, Stranahan; 2, at Pompano Beach; 5, at McArthur; 8, at South Broward; 12, at Southwest; 14, West Palm Beach; 19, at Stranahan; 21, at Edison.

Amateurs To Drive

HOLLYWOOD — Tyro drivers will be in the spotlight at the Hollywood Speedway Saturday night.

Two feature races for novice wheelmen are on the seven-race slate, to start at 8:30. Off past performances, Bill Hess of Miami is considered a heavy favorite.

A two-event jalopy card is scheduled. About 30 cars are entered in this "drive for fun" division.

2 to Climb On Haystack

FORT LAUDERDALE — Haystack Calhoun, one of the mat dodge's biggest gate draws, tonight makes his second seasonal appearance at War Memorial Auditorium. The 600-pound plus ex-farmer is to take on Jack Vansky and Gypsy Joe at the same time.

The show starts at 8:45, with Kitty Adams wrestling Rita Cortez. In a family tag team affair, the Grahams meet the Anayas.

W. 4th Street, Fort Lauderdale, Florida up to 4:00 p.m., the 4th day of March, 1959, for all materials and labor necessary for the construction of Pine Ridge Elementary School 1251 S. W. 42nd Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the Director of Schoolhouse Planning, School Administration Building, 1320 S. W. 4th Street, Fort Lauderdale, Florida, upon the deposit of $50.00 for each set of plans. Said deposit on the first set of plans will be returned to the contractor upon the return of the plans and specifications in good condition within ten days after the opening of bids, providing that said contractor has presented the Board of Public Instruction with a bona fide bid. For each additional set of plans and specifications, a portion of the deposit in the amount of $25.000 may be returned, the remainder used to offset the cost of printing of the plans.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a Certified Check or Bid Bond in the amount of 5% of the bid, payable to the Board of Public Instruction of Broward County, Florida, as evidence of good faith and guaranteeing that the successful bidder will execute and furnish to the Board of Public Instruction of Broward County, Florida, a bond issued by a Surety Company approved by the U. S. Treasury Department and licensed to do business in Florida, for 100% of the contract price, said bond being conditioned for both performance and payment, within ten (10) days after being awarded the contract, said bond guaranteeing the performance of said contract; the premium of said bond to be paid by the said contractor.

All bids should be placed in an envelope, sealed, and addressed to The Board of Public Instruction, Broward County, Florida, c-o County Superintendent, 1320 S. W. 4th Street, Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and the name of the project should be placed on the outside of the envelope and words indicating that the envelope contains a bid for said project. Should the bid be mailed in, the sealed envelope containing the bid and so marked shall be placed inside another envelope to be delivered by registered mail.

The contractor will be required to build and complete said project within the time set forth in the special conditions.

The successful bidder, if any, will be notified within five (5) days after the bid is accepted. No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for Receipt of Bids for thirty (30) days.

The Board of Public Instruction of Broward County, Florida, reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informalities.

10 LHS Seniors Reach Scholarship 'Finals', Receive Certificates

FORT LAUDERDALE — Ten seniors at Fort Lauderdale High School have reached the finals of the 1958-59 National Merit Scholarship program and have been awarded certificates of merit, Principal Joseph A. Brewer announced Tuesday.

They are Vincent Antonielli, Patricia Booth, Eric Ericson, Squire Knox, Robert Lewis, Nancy Pell, David Pender, Gayle Sawyer, David Zwick and LeRoy (Skip) Gaede.

The National Merit Scholarship competition is sponsored by a number of large business and industrial firms to provide scholarships for gifted students who lack means to attend college.

The seniors distinguished themselves by their high scores on the two college aptitude tests used in the National Merit Scholarship competition. About six-tenths of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the awards. A national total of 10,000 students were honored.

More than 478,000 students were tested throughout the country in the 1958-59 competition which began last April. Some 700 of the finalists will be named merit scholars this spring.

They, and the colleges they have chosen, will share in $3.5 million in scholarship funds offered by more than 80 different organizations and individuals. The winners will be determined by the results of final judging now being conducted. The merit scholars will be announced about May 1.

The names of the certificate of merit winners are being sent to more than 1,500 colleges, universities and other scholarship-granting agencies for consideration for thousands of other privately financed scholarships offered outside of the merit program.

School Board Member Goes Back to School

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — School Board member Don Moore practices what he preaches.

The 47-year-old ex-restaurant and trailer park owner returned to school last week.

And when he finishes he hope to end up with a college degree in mechanical engineering.

Moore was graduated from high school in Westfield, N.Y., 30 years ago.

"I always wanted to continue my education but didn't have the time until I sold my trailer park last month," he explained. "Now I hope to do some of the things I've wanted to."

If things go well, Moore figures he can finish his schooling in eight years.

He's enrolled in the University of Miami extension here, and attends English and mathematics classes two nights a week.

Moore's wife is a guidance teacher at McNicol Junior High School, and his mother and father-in-law were educators.

A Dania resident, Moore came here from Allentown, Pa., in 1944, and was elected to the County School Board in 1956.

Jets Get Instant Recorder

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — New jets to be put into service by United Air Lines will be equipped with flight data recorders which will give a complete history of a plane's flight every half second.

The recorders are expected to be available in maintenance work. They will report up to 14 different facts on a metallic tape. The tape and its housing will be resistant to damage by fire, salt water and shock.

Factors to be shown on the tape will include rate of climb, compass heading, air speed, altitude, time, temperature of each jet's exhaust, cabin temperature and pressure, engine RPM's and flow of fuel.

The recorder is a 20-pound unit manufactured by Waste King Corporation's Technical Products Division in Los Angeles. It fits into the plane's radio rack and requires less than one - half cubic foot of space.

Now 65, He's Not So Retiring

MOUNT WASHINGTON, Mass. —(UPI)— Town selectman Gilbert Isaacson, 65, has decided to let younger men run for his office this year. He has held the post since 1915.

But Isaacson announced he will seek re-election to his three other jobs: chairman of the board of assessors, road commissioner and tree warden.

League To Hear Planner

DEERFIELD BEACH — Community Planning Specialist George Emery of Fort Lauderdale will be speaker at the annual meeting of the Deerfield Beach Civic League at 7:45 tonight at the Woman's Club Building on Hillsboro Ave.

Emery will speak on "What Comprehensive City Planning Means to You."

Deerfield Mayor Paul Stalter will outline the city's progress.

During the league's business meeting, five directors will be elected.

All Smoke —No Fire

HOLLYWOOD—Here's your chance to see a roaring, smoke-spouting missile.

A working model will be displayed at the eighth annual Irish Fair, March 14-17 at Young Circle.

The 60-foot Liberty Stinger, a loan from Warner Robins Air Force Base, Macon, Ga., will be one of 62 events at the fair, said Pat Heneghan, Recreation Department director.

"The projectile roars and smokes but it won't take off," said Sgt. Paul Gonnsen, Broward County Air Force recruiter, who will be on hand to answer questions.

Other events include a pet show, a cake sale and 33 athletic contests.

Methodists Break Ground for Church

DEERFIELD BEACH—Seventeen lay leaders and top church officials attended the groundbreaking ceremonies Sunday for the $50,000 building representing the first unit of the Trinity Methodist Church.

The 4,500-square foot building will be on a 2½-acre plot in Venetian Isles, at NE 39th St. and 22nd Ave.

James Hartley, architect, planned the structure which will be a pleasing combination of contemporary and traditional architecture.

The building will utilize a variety of new and interesting materials, some of which have been developed especially for this area.

Vic Maffey Construction Co. is general contractor.

Hoffa Hurls Strike Threat At Carpenters

Aims Squeeze Against Groves That Union Owns in Florida

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Teamster President James R. Hoffa threatened Wednesday to call a strike against the Carpenters Union at Carpenter-owned citrus groves at Lakeland, Fla.

Hoffa told reporters the Carpenters Union owns some of the biggest citrus groves in Florida.

"We're going to organize the Carpenters citrus groves, and put them on strike if they won't negotiate with us," Hoffa said.

He didn't say whether he planned to recruit, into the Teamsters Union, employes other than truck drivers at the groves.

Hoffa linked his statement with a declaration he believes the AFL-CIO ought to take his scandal-scarred union back into its ranks "on the same basis as the Carpenters."

He said he had read news reports that the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Puerto Rico has decided not to expel the Carpenters if they will clean up their own ranks.

"The Teamsters ought to be taken back into the AFL-CIO on the same basis the Carpenters have remained in," he said. "Are there two sets of ethics?"

The AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters, denouncing it as a corrupt union and a disgrace to organized labor.

In reply to questions, Hoffa, said he will not ask President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to take back the Teamsters. "I have nothing to say to him," he said.

But Hoffa contended that neither expulsion from the parent organization, nor corruption charges aimed at the Teamsters by the Senate Rackets Committee, has hurt his union's organizational drives.

He said the Teamsters have recruited more new members since they were expelled than have been added by all of the remaining AFL-CIO unions combined. He reported the membership of the Teamsters increased 135,000 in the last year to 1,632,000.

Hoffa made his statements to newsmen as he visited the Senate Office Building to deliver a two-foot stack of manila envelopes containing documents he said the rackets committee had requested.

Gen. George Marshall

Marshall Is Hit by 2nd Stroke

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — (UPI) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that Gen. George C. Marshall has suffered a second and more severe stroke and is in "serious condition."

The 78-year-old retired soldier-statesman was conscious and there was no evidence of paralysis, according to the medical bulletin issued at Womack General Hospital here.

But Col. George Powell, chief of medicine at Womack, said Marshall's condition was "serious and prognosis depends on future developments."

Powell said that Marshall had some difficulty in swallowing and seeing but his blood pressure and pulse were stable.

He said a "very mild pneumonia" had appeared practically concurrently with the second stroke.

Hoffa Union Beaten at Auto Firms

More Palm Beach News, 1B, 11C

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH—Workers for three auto firms in West Palm Beach Wednesday voted down Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters Union.

Elections in two other companies will be conducted by the National Labor Relations Board today.

Balloting Wednesday were service department employes of Florida Dodge-Chrysler Inc.; Blank and Smith Inc.; and Stewart Pontiac Co.

The Teamsters were whipped 15 to 5 at Stewart Pontiac. Union representatives challenged one vote and it was discarded.

In the Blank and Smith vote, the Teamsters were defeated 16 to 1. The Dodge-Chrysler results were 11 to 3.

Voting today will be non-sales employes of Gulf Stream Motors and Palm Beach Motors Inc.

'Dulles The Man I Want'

Even Sick, He's Tops With Ike

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he wants cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles to stay on as secretary of state as long as Dulles "believes that he is in shape to carry on."

The President told his news conference he would rather have a sick Dulles as secretary of state than anyone else.

"I know of no man . . . in the world," Eisenhower said, who can equal Dulles' "wisdom and knowledge" in foreign affairs.

"Therefore as long as Secretary Dulles believes that he is in shape to carry on, he is exactly the person I want."

He denied reports that Dulles tried to resign last week after learning he had cancer again. And as for himself, the President said he has not discussed the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles "with anyone."

The President answered "No" when asked if he had given any thought to appointing a "chief negotiator" to substitute for Dulles if the Russians agree to a foreign ministers conference on the Berlin and German problems.

He said he and Dulles decided during a talk Tuesday that plans for the meeting should go "right ahead."

He said Dulles' views are well known and he is "backed up by able men of his own choosing" who can carry out his policies. For this reason, he said, it was not likely there would be any need to hold the foreign ministers conference in the U. S. because of Dulles' illness.

As for the Berlin crisis itself, the President said that if there is any shooting in that city, it will be the Russians who start it. But he made plain again that the U. S. and its allies intend to remain in Communist-encircled West Berlin even though the Russians carry out their threat to turn over access routes to the East German Communists May 27.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said in a speech disclosed Wednesday that if the Allies resorted to force to keep open access routes to West Berlin, it would mean the beginning of war.

Eisenhower commented that "we are not saying we are going to shoot our way into Berlin. We say we are just going to go on and continue carrying out our responsibilities" accepted in 1945 to maintain the independence and welfare of the people of West Berlin."

Eisenhower, with a jibe at Union Chief Walter Reuther, turned thumbs down on any attempt to revive at this time emergency unemployment compensation for the jobless.

Declaring the nation was in a period of mounting prosperity, he also scoffed at Reuther's proposal for a march of the unemployed on Washington to seek more federal aid. He said he didn't see how any good could come out of such a demonstration.

Shoots Set for June

Air Force to Fire 2 Probes at Venus

CAPE CANAVERAL —(AP)— The Air Force will make two daring stabs to shoot space probes to the planet Venus this June, informed sources said Wednesday.

The Venus tests, part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's busy satellite program for 1960, will be made using two-stage versions of both the Atlas ICBM and Thor IRBM.

One official close to the program identified the launching vehicles as the Atlas-Able and Thor-Able. A second stage for the powerful Atlas currently is being developed by Convair Astronautics.

The Thor-Able has already been used with promising results on three Air Force lunar probes and four nose cone reentry tests at intercontinental range. A mouse was aboard on three of the latter flights but it never was recovered.

The two shoots will be attempted sometime in the middle of June when Venus and Earth are in the best positions, the source said.

One probe probably will be aimed at swinging a satellite around the planet while the other may go past Venus and far out into space.

Another version of the two-stage Thor will be fired on a polar orbit satellite test soon from the Pacific missile range at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Orchard Villa School Integration Ordered

The admission of four Negro pupils to all-white Orchard Villa Elementary School was approved Wednesday by the Dade County School Board in Florida's first move to integrate a public school below college level.

Acting unanimously on a motion by member Dr. Robert S. Butler, the board voted to admit the pupils at the opening of school next September.

However, the possibility existed that there would be practically no white pupils left by next fall. Enrollment has already dropped from 235 to 171 this year.

Many white families have been leaving the area as Negroes move in.

School officials said that white children would be able to go to other, segregated schools in the county "if there is room and if they provide their own transportation."

A board survey last fall showed that all but about 50 of the white families then living there would send their children elsewhere in the event of integration.

The children who will be admitted to Orchard Villa are Sherry Joseph, six, Irene Amanda Glover, seven, Jan Glover, nine, and Gary Range, six. Two will be in the second grade, one in the third, one in the fifth.

They live less than two blocks from Orchard Villa but were assigned last fall to a Negro school a mile away.

Butler said his motion to integrate was the only alternative under existing state laws. "The particular students meet the criteria set forth in the pupil assignment law," he said.

There was no discussion on the motion, except for a comment from Superintendent Joe Hall, who said, "it would be most in order."

"We are operating under the pupil assignment law, which we must follow," he said.

The assignment law, passed by a special session of the Legislature in 1956, was designed to hold integration to a minimum by letting local boards assign pupils according to factors "overlapping" the race factor.

The Dade board's action met both applause and angry reaction from state officials.

The four pupils enrolled at Orchard Villa last fall, but were reassigned to Holmes Elementary, the Negro school a mile away. It is crowded and has been operating on double sessions.

Backed by NAACP legal assistance, the four Negroes' parents appealed the reassignment at a school board hearing in September. The deci-

Legislators Will Fight Dade Plan

But Governor Voices Approval

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Dade School Board's plan for token integration won approval Wednesday from the governor and the author of Florida's pupil assignment law, but drew bitter criticism from some legislators.

Key segregation leaders predicted the Legislature will revive and pass next April the so-called "last resort" bill to close Florida's public schools rather than integrate them.

Gov. LeRoy Collins vetoed this measure last session, but segregation leaders say the threat of voluntary integration in Miami will give them the votes to override a veto next time.

"It's an outrage," declared House Speaker-designate Thomas D. Beasley of Walton, a strong foe of legislation two years ago to close the schools. "I will vote for it this time if no other solution presents itself."

Senate President-designate Dewey Johnson of Quincy said the School Board violated the intent of the Florida Constitution which requires separate schools for whites and Negroes.

Gov. LeRoy Collins and his race relations committee appeared to be the only ones in favor of the School Board action. Collins said he agreed "completely" that the move was "sound and wise," and will help stave off indiscriminate, mass desegregation.

Key legislators disagreed, almost to a man, charging the threatened admittance of four Negroes to Orchard Villa "is just a foot in the door to topple segregation everywhere."

Many of them blamed the governor who apparently tried to prepare the public last week for the School Board decision. He said then that the people must permit some voluntary integration or have it forced on them indiscriminately by court edict.

Reaction began minutes after the School Board action was announced — and just about all of it was negative.

"This lends urgency to the need for a parent option plan" to let parents withdraw their children from integrated schools and educate them privately with state financial help, commented Assistant Attorney General Ralph Odum, Florida's chief expert on segregation law.

Sen. Johnson said it shows clearly that the pupil assignment law was "just a stopgap law and we need something much stronger. This law served as a delay for a while, but we can see now that it has served its purpose."

Attorney General Richard Ervin agreed.

"Under the pupil assignment law, it lay within the discretion of the School Board to assign

Meeting With Collins Paved Way

Months of Preparation Led To School Board's Action

Months of preparation went into the Dade School Board's unanimous decision to crack the color barrier in Florida's public schools.

The action admitting four Negroes to a white school took less than two minutes, and with only three sentences of discussion.

But the final decision to take the step was made Monday morning when a group of board members met secretly at a Miami hotel with Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Insiders reported that Dr. Robert S. Butler, who made Wednesday's motion, engineered the unanimous action by persuading dissenting members to help present a united front. Butler has long favored token integration to preserve the pupil assignment law.

Last year, Dade school leaders met in Tallahassee with the governor to discuss the need for token integration in some community. Groundwork for the Dade action was laid there.

Last Friday, Collins said Florida should undertake a voluntary program of limited integration.

Failure to do so, he said, could mean local boards would lose their right to choose the time and place of integration. Instead, federal courts, through suits filed by the NAACP, would make the decisions.

"I am not willing to surrender this power or authority to the NAACP," he said.

NAACP Split on Decision

By JUANITA GREENE and ADON TAFT
Herald Staff Writers

Miami and state leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People differed sharply Wednesday over the decision to integrate Orchard Villa Elementary School.

Rev. A. Leon Lowry, of Tampa, state NAACP president, said the integration decision was "only a token thing," and urged Negroes to "press toward total compliance."

But G. E. Graves, Miami attorney who represents the NAACP, said he is "satisfied" with the Dade School Board action, and added he expects integration to be peaceful.

"We expect the people on both sides to accept this thing as the law," he said. "We don't expect any violence or mass hysteria."

"But," he added, "it's nothing to be jubilant about."

He would not reply directly when asked if he considered the move an encouraging one in the fight for integrated schools.

"That's a very hot question," he said.

"As for the people immediately involved, we are happy with the results," he added. "As to date we have not concerned ourselves with other students because they have not applied."

The four pupils to be admitted, Graves explained, are the only ones who followed through on all procedures required under Florida's pupil assignment law.

Graves said he did not know whether pressure would be brought soon to admit more Negroes to Orchard Villa or other all white schools.

But he said if such action is pending in the immediate future he is not aware of it.

No trouble is expected at Orchard Villa, said Graves, because the white and Negro students already know each other.

"Those children play together all day long," he said. "Everybody out there gets along fine."

Miami church leaders, meanwhile came forward with general approval of the action.

Here is what they said:

THE REV. A. E. GYSAN, president of the Greater Miami Ministerial Association, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church:

"When both the Biblical, legal and practical points are fully considered, one willingly accepts the decision of the School Board and, furthermore, is willing to uphold the hands of our public servants in this matter, for I am convinced they did not make this decision hastily or without the fullest possible deliberation of all the matters involved."

* * *

THE REV. J. CALVIN ROSE, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, pastor of the Miami Shores Presbyterian Church:

"It would appear to me that it is in the best interest of the community that we uphold the unanimous action of our School Board of men and women who are sufficiently informed of the state laws and the local situation to make a decision evidently in the best interest of the community."

* * *

"Something like this was inevitable. I don't believe it means a wholesale move to integrate."

* * *

DR. JOSEPH R. NAROT, president of the Greater Miami Rabbinical Association, rabbi at Temple Israel:

"This is compliance with the law of the land and I hope this will be the beginning of a process of 'moderation and reconciliation' which will redound to the well being of the whole community."

* * *

"Since this is the law of the land, the School Board is merely doing its duty. Most of the people will see the matter in that light."

* * *

"I believe the School Board action is in line with the pupil placement law of 1956 in this state. I believe that the court also held the law is valid but must not be used for circumvention.

"The assignment of these four Negro children to the Orchard Villa School, I suppose, can be viewed as a trial balloon.

"Not any of us can say now what the complexion of that school will be by next September, since so many of the White families have moved out of that community.

"If this is an honest effort on the part of the school board to obey the laws of the land, then this is a good beginning. The unanimous vote of the board is a point which deserves notice."

Collins to Speak At Demo Dinner

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Gov. LeRoy Collins has been chosen as one of 11 speakers for the Democratic party's national victory dinner here Feb. 28.

Some 1,500 people are expected at the $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

The list of speakers is headed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. Included are four governors, two senators, three representatives and two other state officials.

Collins and Rayburn are the only southerners on the list.

Sosa's Last Order: 'Fire!'

Commands His Own Execution

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco died before a firing squad Wednesday, calmly giving the order to fire.

Convicted a second time Tuesday as a major war criminal, the 51-year-old career officer had one last request—that he be given the right to give the orders to his executioners.

Army sources gave this account of the major's execution in the early morning hours at La Cabana fortress:

Sosa Blanco was led from his cell into the courtyard where the firing squad waited. He told them:

"I forgive you, muchachos (boys), and you will forgive me."

Then he calmly told the executioners:

"Get ready . . . Aim . . . Fire!"

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had branded Sosa Blanco a mass murderer and virtually demanded his death. The unofficial total of executions carried out by the revolutionary regime now is 303.

Sosa Blanco got a fleeting lease on life—and a second trial—after the carnival atmosphere of his first trial Jan. 23 brought adverse criticism from abroad. The same three-man tribunal tried him again, this time in a quiet courtroom, and came up with the same guilty verdict.

Resigned to his fate, Sosa Blanco refused to make a personal plea for his life. "I shall go with a clear conscience," he said.

'95 Per Cent With Castro'

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— An official in the foreign ministry said Wednesday claims that a revolution is spawning against Fidel Castro's regime are not being taken seriously.

Nicholas Rivero, press coordinator for the foreign ministry, made the statement in commenting on statements attributed to Rafael del Pino, a former Castro companion. Del Pino reportedly has turned against Castro because of his alleged connections with Communists.

"This sounds like Batista propaganda," Rivero declared.

"The revolutionary army, which is a people's army, has replaced the old army of repression and is 100 per cent with Fidel Castro. At least 95 per cent of the Cuban people are with Castro."

Staph Infection Closes Nursery

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— The nursery of University Hospital was closed Wednesday after officials reported the finding of staphylococcal infection among staff members and infants.

A new temporary nursery was to be set up and operated until the older unit can be disinfected.

All those found to be infected are under treatment. Dr. Robert Lowe, hospital superintendent, said the disease among infants is under control and sick babies isolated.

A Shotgun for Nikita

Workers at Tula, an industrial center south of Moscow, present a shotgun to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, left. It was an apt coincidence, for Khrushchev spoke of guns to a Tula audience, saying that any attempt by Western powers to shoot their way into West Berlin by land or air will mean war with the Soviet Union.

Integration Ordered by Dade Board

sion was delayed pending a series of studies of the neighborhood.

Hall said Wednesday that "on the basis of these studies," the Negroes should be admitted.

Chairman C. Raymond Van Dusen left the meeting after the unanimous vote to make a prepared statement. He said that the decision had been made under the Pupil Assignment Law and that it was unanimous.

He declined to elaborate further.

"I don't want to make any more of a statement," he said. "We're trying to keep this thing as dignified and impersonal as we possibly can."

Butler said that "without this action, the Pupil Assignment Law wouldn't be worth the paper it's written on."

Other members asked for comment had the same reply: "The action speaks for itself."

Orchard Villa will be Florida's first integrated school below the graduate level. Two Negroes are now attending the University of Florida graduate school, but none have been admitted to elementary or high schools anywhere in the state.

Alabama to Keep Records Secret

MONTGOMERY, Ala. —(AP)— A defiant legislature took drastic action Wednesday to keep Alabama voter records out of the hands of federal agents.

Without a dissenting vote and without even debating the issue, the House passed and sent to the governor a bill giving voter registration officials the right to throw away old records.

The vote was 84-0 on the measure which a week ago had sailed through the Senate with the unanimous approval of its 31 members.

Gov. John Patterson had promised in advance to sign the bill.

No Whites Show Up

22 Negroes Alone In Virginia School

FRONT ROYAL, Va.—(UPI) — Historic Warren County gave up its only public high school — a modern building capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils—to 22 Negroes Wednesday to maintain racial segregation.

It complied with Federal Court orders to reopen Warren County High School, but met a total boycott by white pupils who refused to yield to racial mixing in the classrooms. Not a single white pupil showed up for classes.

The 22 Negro pupils and nine white teachers gathered in the library for formal registration. The school's 30 classrooms were empty. Its corridors were ghostly silent.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque announced that Warren County in the rural Shenandoah Valley, has complied with the court's order to reopen the million dollar school plant. The school was closed last September under Virginia's "massive resistance" laws when the Federal Court ordered 24 Negro pupils admitted.

In downtown Front Royal, about half a mile away, some 800 white pupils attended the private, makeshift classes set up for them when the high school was closed six months ago.

Virginia's integration was directed by Federal Court order. Three Virginia metropolitan areas — Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria — admitted 30 Negroes to 10 schools earlier this month.

Front Royal, however, was the first predominantly rural locality in the South to face court-ordered integration.

All He Needed Was Air

Not a Drink and He Got A Jag, Teetotaler's Gripe

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A teetotaler asked the health department to help him find out why he was getting a jag on at work.

He told W. B. Prothro, the health officer, that he felt tipsy when he finished his job each day.

He said things were getting so bad that his wife threatened to leave him and his boss accused him of tippling.

The health department discovered why the work was so intoxicating.

The man worked with trichlorethylene, an industrial solvent, and the fumes were making him woozy.

Ventilation, Prothro said, sobered him up.

The man was not identified.

Deaths Elsewhere

KATHRYN ADAMS, 65, former film actress, who appeared in "The Squaw Man," Hollywood's first feature length film, produced in 1914, at Hollywood, Calif.

RADFORD S. HALL, 52, executive secretary of the American National Cattlemen's Association at Denver.

these children to Orchard Villa school," Ervin said. "I assume the board, after an investigation, determined that it had no alternative."

"However, I think this points up the need for other legislation, including parent-option to meet the problems in other communities where some integration is incompatible to local opinion."

Sen. Verle Pope, St. Augustine, a Collins floor leader who votes with the governor more than any other senator, said Florida should never voluntarily accept integration.

"The purpose of the pupil assignment law was to delay and keep to a minimum integration of schools. I do not feel any school board should accept integration unless forced to under court order. Their action was premature and apt to have a very bad effect on legislation affecting the public school system."

Enlarging on his comments, Johnson said that even though the U.S. Supreme Court has declared the segregation provision of Florida's Constitution invalid "it does not remove that fact that integration is still against the intent of the people of Florida."

"I hate to see Dade County throw in the sponge at a time when it was not absolutely necessary."

Beasley said the Miami action was "bad for the Negroes involved."

"What chance will four Negroes have in a school with 150 white children?" he asked. Beasley predicted the Orchard Villa school will be closed before next fall's scheduled integration date.

Sumter Lowry of Tampa, runner-up for governor in 1956, attributed the integration move in Miami to "Gov. Collins' lack of leadership." He predicted it will lead to a complete breakdown of segregation in Florida and charged Collins has "violated his oath of office by advocating any integration whatever in the schools."

Mexicans Eagerly Await Ike

President Due In Acapulco Today

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

ACAPULCO, Mexico — This resort town and all the rest of Mexico ran a high temperature of excitement over the impending visit of President Eisenhower, who arrives here this morning.

The President left Washington Wednesday afternoon in the presidential plane Columbine III, and landed Wednesday evening in Austin, Tex. He is slated to leave Austin this morning for Acapulco.

Traveling with the President on the first leg of his trip to Acapulco and meetings with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos were Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Homer Thornberry.

The two Texas Democrats were invited to accompany the President to Austin.

From the enthusiasm, bordering on hysteria, with which Mexicans await Eisenhower, a stranger would suspect that Ike was coming down here to return Texas and California to the Mexicans, the original operators of those valuable properties.

Mexican police have rounded up every potential agitator around here and taken them out of circulation, for fear of embarrassing the visit between President Eisenhower and President Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

The Mexican president drove down to this coast resort with his entourage from Mexico City Wednesday evening.

President Lopez Mateos will be on hand with the entire diplomatic corps at Acapulco's picture-postcard airport when the Eisenhower plane touches here.

The shiniest cannons in Mexico will blast a 21-gun salute for Eisenhower, and the shiniest band instruments in the republic will play the U.S. National Anthem and other tunes.

Although this visit by Eisenhower is strictly a handshaking assignment, it is of utmost political importance to the Mexicans, as one can understand from the fervent newspaper accounts of the visit.

Mexico and most other Latin American republics think wistfully of making true equality and friendship with the U.S. a living reality instead of a slogan.

And this visit by President Eisenhower apparently will give the Mexicans a great boost in their national morale, if the public accounts of the importance of the visit are taken at face value. The President and his party will stay at a plush coastal hotel during this two-day visit.

Mass Missiles Out—Doolittle

COCOA BEACH —(UPI)— Retired Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, World War II aviator turned missile man, said Wednesday it is unlikely the nation will ever mass produce missiles in the numbers it once turned out fighters and bombers.

Doolittle, who led the daring American bombing attack on Tokyo in 1942, said missiles with hydrogen warheads pack one million times the punch of a World War II bomber armed with TNT bombs.

As board chairman of the Space Technology Laboratories, Doolittle visited the nearby Air Force missile test center for a closeup of some of the nation's most powerful missiles.

Miami and Beach Shadow Box While Bookies Work On

By GENE MILLER
and JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writers

While The Herald again made bets with bookies Wednesday, the City Commission in Miami and the City Council in Miami Beach sloughed off pleas to stamp out illegal gambling.

Four Beach councilmen sat in amused silence as fellow Councilman Mel Richard asked for an ordinance requiring mandatory jail sentences for convicted bookies.

His motion failed for lack of a second.

In Miami, Mayor Robert King High demanded the ouster of Police Chief Walter E. Headley. He got nowhere.

Richard charged that Beach bookies were so bold that a high school student learned the names of the horses by watching bets being taken at a lunch counter near the school.

Mayor Kenneth Oka alternately praised the Beach police for a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in 1958 and decounced the force for poor gambling and B-girl enforcement.

"I asked the police about a narcotics operation several weeks ago," said Oka, "and my information was better than theirs.

"It is distressing and embarrassing to have to read The Herald to find out what's going on around here."

Richard told the council that Police Chief Mike Fox told him personally he was in favor of a mandatory jail sentence for convicted bookies.

So Fox was called from his office to the council meeting. "Are you in favor of it?" Richard asked Fox.

"That's up to the judge, Mel," replied Fox.

After explaining that the council—not the judge—makes ordinances, Richard said, "It is obvious Fox doesn't know the meaning of the word 'mandatory.'

Fox smiled.

"Would it (mandatory jail sentences) help?" Richard asked again.

"I don't know," said Fox. "I don't know the feeling of the bookies."

While the audience laughed, Fox again and again replied to questions by Richard and Oka, "I'll do what the city manager and Council tell me."

"That's an evasive answer, Mike," Oka said. "We're telling you now. Enforce the laws."

During the entire hour and ten minute discussion, Councilmen Harold Spaet, Harold Shapiro, Bernie Frank and Marcie Lieberman said nothing. They uttered not a peep.

Councilman D. Lee Powell said, "I am unalterably opposed to gambling."

Powell, Spaet, Shapiro, Frank and Lieberman all voted for Fox's appointment as chief 20 months ago.

At the Miami City Commission meeting, Mayor High said, "Apparently the police chief (Headley) is not able to stop the gambling.

"Therefore, I suggest that the city manager suspend the police chief."

Commissioner Otis W. Shiver said he favors a thorough investigation.

"But we just can't pussyfoot around on this thing," said Mayor High.

Chimed in Councilman James High, "Don't forget that we as commissioners are subject to a 60-day jail sentence and a $500 fine for interfering in administration matters."

"This is a matter for the grand jury," Commissioner George DuBreuil said.

"George, don't you ever get tired of running down there every minute?" James High asked.

Then City Manager E. A. Evans said he already is investigating.

"I anticipated that this would happen," said Evans. "It comes out every year almost to the same day, and I was prepared for it."

And there the matter dropped.

Bets Easy Even if the 'Heat's On'

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

If the "heat is on" as the police say, bookmakers on both sides of Biscayne Bay still weren't worried about it Wednesday.

They were doing business almost as usual when a Herald reporter placed three bets with them.

Two of the bookies were in Miami; one in Miami Beach. The wagers were put down within a three-hour period.

Bets placed by The Herald with comparative ease in the past five days now total 15.

Both Miami and Miami Beach police still contend, however, that bookmaking in their own bailiwicks is still on a "sneak" basis—that is, off and on.

Wednesday's bets were made:

AT THE CORNER of West 39th St. and Alton Rd. in Miami Beach. A runner known as Shortstop took a $5 win bet on Risk Again in the first Hialeah race.

* * *

AT JACK'S BAR, 1361 NE Second Ave., Miami. A patron who said "Just call me John," accepted a $5 bill from the reporter, marked the nag's name in a wire-hinged notebook. The horse was Oil Burner, running in the fourth at 4 to 1 odds.

* * *

ON THE SIDEWALK in the 100 block of NE 14th St. Little Jimmy, a Negro handyman, said he would "look after" getting a $5 win bet down on Big Winner, an 8 to 1 shot in the ninth.

But he advised this Herald reporter:

"You better watch yourself when you come again . . . You know what the papers been sayin' lately about bookmakin'."

In Jack's Bar, the conversation touched on the recent disclosures by The Herald of wide-open bookmaking in almost every area of the county—but nobody was worried.

"The cops don't check us that closely around here," said John, who admitted he was "just starting out in this (bookmaking) business."

But on the Beach, Shortstop was concerned about bettors "contacting me right out in the open like this.

"We can operate . . . but we were told to keep it down." He said he did not have time to explain.

Aga in Egypt

National Summary

Arctic air is again on the move, concentrated in high pressure over the northern plains and pushing through the Gulf and Atlantic states, scheduled to lower temperatures over most of the eastern half of the country.

Temperatures at midday were as much as 5 to 10 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana and a 15 to 20 below range is forecast from Montana to Wisconsin.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for parts of New York and Pennsylvania and colder air should cover the Florida peninsula Thursday, nudging into 80 degree warmth reported.

Low pressure off the northwest coast continues to feed moisture inland and showers with snow in the mountains again extended over the Pacific states and into the northern Appalachians.

Showery weather should retreat from all but extreme northern parts of California, but rain is expected to move back into central sections of the state Thursday while rain or snow will be featured in the northern and central plateau states.

Inquiry Set On Police Clubhouse

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The city will conduct a probe in two weeks to determine if the abandoned police clubhouse is a skeleton in its closet or just a bone of contention.

City commissioners have set a board of inquiry for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 4, to find out if the city violated a "gentleman's agreement" with police.

MILLER

BEALL

The police clubhouse was moved more than a year ago to make way for a new Army Reserve Center. Nearly wrecked in the shift, the clubhouse has never been restored.

Police contend the city is obliged to foot the bill for putting the clubhouse back into shape. They say they have been wronged by the city and promises over the clubhouse have been broken.

Mayor Horace E. Miller has repeatedly asked the City Commission to appropriate funds to spruce up the old clubhouse.

"It's standing in utter ruin, a disgrace," Miller claims. "It behooves us to rectify the wrong."

Residents in the Belvedere St. area have also lodged complaints with the city, reporting that the abandoned clubhouse has become a hobo jungle and haven for juvenile trysts.

In a legal opinion made public in late December, City Attorney Egbert Beall held the city could not give the Police Benevolent Association funds to repair the clubhouse.

In outlawing city aid to the police fraternity, Beall claimed it would set a precedent and open the door for other employe groups to seek funds from the commission.

City commissioners, Beall added, would be subject to personal liability if the financial aid was granted.

Miller, however, claims the Police Benevolent Association could sue the city in court and collect damages.

Beall has reported there is nothing in writing to show the police had a lease on the Reserve Center property or that the city agreed to restore the clubhouse after the move.

City Manager James Mott is lining up witnesses for the March 4 hearing, which will be held in commission chambers at City Hall.

For Offices, Parking

Courthouse Wing Gets County OK

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Palm Beach County commissioners in an impromptu meeting Wednesday okayed a plan for an office-parking wing for the courthouse.

The project proposed by Commissioner Kenneth Foster won commission approval but will require an act of the state Legislature.

Commissioners agreed to ask senators and representatives at a legislative clinic Friday to seek an act which would give the county authority to carry out the proposal.

The office-parking facility will be located east of the courthouse on a site now occupied by a private parking concern. The land, however, is owned by the county.

Foster's proposal calls for revenue bonds to finance the building. The bonds would be paid off with income from the parking facility.

The proposed wing would be linked to the courthouse by bridged corridors.

Also at Wednesday's session, commissioners discussed with representatives of the federal bureau of roads the county's attempt to regain funds spent on acquiring right-of-way for State Rd. 9.

The county put out about a half million dollars for the right-of-way. Since then, the road has been made part of the interstate system and is no longer a county responsibility.

Prices For Celery Still Low

Herald Service

PAHOKEE — Celery growers, who increased their volumes this year are cutting celery only four days a week in an effort to rally prices, which have dropped as low as $1.25-$1.75 a crate. Normal shipments on harvesting days are about 75 car equivalents daily.

Sweet corn volume has dropped to about five cars daily. Fancy grades of corn are selling for $3.75 a crate but hardly anyone has corn. The corn crop which would normally have been harvested at this time was damaged by frost in January.

The bumper spring corn crop is expected to give farmers profits this year. So far most farmers have just broken even.

Prices on cabbage have been rather steady and volumes good. Some 18-20 car equivalents are moving daily with prices ranging from $1.25-$1.50 a crate.

The warm weather this section is experiencing has reduced the quality of escarole and endive. Heads burst open and plants seed in warm weather. Lettuce volumes are also light.

Radishes are still going to market in 15-car equivalents daily. Prices continue low.

Other vegetables going to market this week are green peppers, selling from $4-$7 a hamper with increasing volume, Chinese cabbage and parsley.

'Vacation Is Ideal Time'

Tourists Learn to Fly in Sunny Skies

By BILL BECK
Delray Bureau Chief

LANTANA — A brand new concept in learning to fly has taken wing at the Lantana Airport.

It's called "learn to fly on your vacation."

Behind that unassuming name is a jet-powered idea that could revolutionize flying in America.

The possibilities for Florida — with its unequaled flying weather and millions of vacationers — are unlimited.

This new approach is predicted on two factors. First, the vacation period is the ideal time to learn to fly. Second, and even more important, beginners want to learn in new, modern planes.

Instead of flying on the occasional weekends when the weather is right, the student can take two or three lessons in a single day.

Instead of getting the flying counterpart of a model T Ford — which is so often the cast at flying schools— he sails through his lessons in a 1959 model, luxury equipped air-limousine.

It boils down to more interest in flying by more people. Plane sales, rentals and the teaching business naturally benefit from the increased business.

Authors of this new concept of a flying school are Piper Aircraft Corp. and Steve Gentle, operator of Palm Beach Aviation Flight Center.

Piper tried it out last year on an experimental basis at Gentle's airport at Martha's Vineyard. The results were so good that Piper joined in the operation here, and has launched plans for setting up similar flight centers all over the country.

Airport operators predict it won't be long before other plane manufacturers jump on the bandwagon for the very good reason that the plane the student learns to fly in is the one he will more than likely buy.

According to Gentle, 20 years of being an instructor has taught him there are "thousands of people who have always wanted to fly, but never seem to get around to it."

They might, Gentle said, if they lived closer to airports, the weather wasn't lousy most of the year, their wives didn't disapprove, the training planes were modern, and if they weren't so tied up with business.

"We've found that the vacation period is the ideal time to learn," the veteran instructor said.

"They don't have any worries then and they can't swim all the time. And, you know, most people want to feel that they have accomplished something on their vacation."

For the students who have apprehensive wives, Gentle suggests they bring along the "better half" as well as the children while they are learning.

"That way," Gentle said, "the wives enjoy the sightseeing and in the process gain enough confidence to fly with their husbands after they get their licenses. Surprisingly enough, the wives make pretty good back seat drivers."

Bandleader Bobby Likes Drums the Most
. . . he plays 15 instruments in all

Musical Thirteen-Year-Old Is Maestro of the Tee-Tones

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Bobby Tee hates the violin. "It squeaks," he says.

But Bobby, only 13, takes fondly to 14 other instruments from the stately pipe-organ to the drums.

This boy with rhythm-plus can sing, dance, and has a band, too — a six-member combo called the Tee-Tones. "I thought up the name when I was in kindergarten. It was cute. I liked it," Bobby said.

Tee is the boy's show business name. That comes from kindergarten, too, where he wore a badge "Bobby T." The "T" is for Tomczak, his real name.

Familiar to West Palm Beach audiences, Bobby's musical bent showed up when he was still in a stroller. "You could tell the way he did when music was played," said his mother, Louis Tomczak. "If you turned it off, he cried. He had to have music."

He started on the drums when he was 5½. Now he plays "drums of all kinds—the bongo, congo, tom tom. Drums are his favorite, piano comes next, and third, the accordion, a massive instrument almost bigger than Bobby himself.

He also plays the guitar, ukelele, C-melody saxophone, the E-flat alto sax, clarinet, organ, flute, marimbas, castinets, the bells, the mandolin, and, finally, the violin — "but he hates it and won't practice," explains his mother.

As though this isn't enough, Bobby does ballet and baton-twirling. And he acts. Currently, he is appearing as the crown prince in the Musicarnival's production of "The King and I."

He organized his band six months ago, fulfilling an ambition which crystallized in kindergarten.

He prefers popular music with an accent on rock and roll because "it's got a beat and it's cool." His combo plays from complete orchestrations—no kid stuff.

All this and only 13 years old.

But to Bobby it's only a beginning. "I want more background." And that includes college where he will, natch, major in music.

State Inspects Boynton Beach 'Hazard' School

Pictures Ban Still In Force

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — The Boynton Beach Elementary School, which earlier this month came under attack by Boynton officials as a fire hazard, was inspected by the State Fire Marshal's office Wednesday.

The state inspection was disclosed by Jack Horner, vice chairman of the Palm Beach County School Board, at a meeting Wednesday. Results of the inspection were not immediately available.

Meanwhile, the board again turned down a Miami TV station's request to take pictures at the school.

Horner, speaking for the board, claimed the pictures would not be "of any public service."

He said the School Board has admitted the Boynton School is in "bad shape" but many of the things critizied by Boynton officials have been corrected.

Assistant Supt. Clyde Harris, however, defended the school. He said he had served there as principal and never considered it "unsafe." He claimed it had sufficient exits.

Debris has been removed from the school, Horner reported, a fire alarm system installed, and a phone placed in the section housing first and second graders.

"We've admitted the problem and we have never tried to conceal it," Horner said.

Board Attorney Marshall Criser upheld the board in its decision against pictures.

In other business, the School Board: AWARDED a contract for the Belle Glade High School and elementary additions to Blanton and Unwin Construction Co., Pahokee, for $51,822.

AUTHORIZED an amendment to its contract with Florida Power and Light Co. to put 16 schools on the commercial rate, effecting an annual savings of $4,375.

Boy Abducted From His Yard

By ED PFISTER
Herald Bureau Chief

BOYNTON BEACH — A five-year-old boy was abducted from in front of his home here shortly after noon Wednesday, and the FBI, sheriff's deputies and police are seeking the two men who seized the child. Authorities said it might be kidnaping, but there were indications it was a family matter.

The victim of the abduction was Bruce Andrews, son of Frank Andrews, of 3111 SE First St.

Authorities said the two men in a green Chevrolet with New Jersey license plates drove up to the home and grabbed the barefoot boy playing in front of his house.

The child screamed for help and his brother David, 11, ran into the house to summon his father. Before Andrews could get to the scene, the men sped away with the child.

The sheriff's department here said the case appeared to be one that developed because of an estrangement between Andrews and his wife. The wife is in Camden, N.J., deputies said. They said the father had custody of the children.

Andrews reported the abduction to the Boynton Beach police who in turn notified the Sheriff's Department. The FBI was called into the case.

Authorities quoted the father as saying he knew the two men who seized his child.

The driver of the car was described as of "chunky build, with red hair, wearing glasses, probably between 40 and 45 years of age and weighing about 200 pounds."

He was accompanied by a younger man described as six feet tall and weighing about 180 pounds.

Ad Board And City To Confer

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — City and advertising commissioners will get together for the first time at a meeting in the Pennsylvania Hotel today and what comes out of it is anybody's guess.

Commissioner Sylvan Burdick, as a lone voice on the City Commission, has demanded for months that some kind of a policy be set up as to how the Ad Board — or Chamber of Commerce — spends tax money.

None of the other commissioners have gone alone with him, although they did agree at the budget meetings last summer to review the city advertising and publicity program.

The city Ad Board is not necessarily a Chamber of Commerce medium, but it keeps getting into the picture because everybody on the board except the City Manager is a C. of C. member.

Debt Paring Plan Urged By Rogers

WASHINGTON — Rep. Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach urged Congress Wednesday to endorse a policy of reducing the national debt by at least one per cent every year.

Rogers introduced a resolution calling for the systematic reduction of the present $283 billion debt.

He pointed out that 10 cents out of every federal tax dollar is now used to pay interest on what the government owes. Reduction of the debt would reduce the interest payments, he said.

Rogers said that at the present rate the amount of interest paid within 30 years would equal the size of the present debt — and the debt would still remain.

Mayoralty Fight Looms In Riviera

RIVIERA BEACH — There will be a fight for the mayoralty in Riviera Beach in connection with the April 7 election.

Mayor B. Fox Griffin filed for reelection Wednesday and will have for opposition Nick Cindia, an unsuccessful candidate two years ago. Cindia filed for the office 48 hours earlier.

At least three other council contests could develop.

Incumbent Councilmen Thomas Holland, Group 1, and Foster Brown, Group 2, both filed for reelection Wednesday. They have no opposition yet.

H. N. Wells, of Group 1, third member of the five-man Town Council who is up for reelection, is expected to file before the March 7 deadline.

Young Demos Elect Zalla President

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Alvin B. Zalla was elected president of the Palm Beach County Young Democratic Club here Tuesday night.

Other new officers are Miss Anne Bohannon, first vice president; Clyde Windham, second vice president; Mrs. Alvin B. Zalla, secretary, and Harry Johnston II, treasurer. New members of the board are Mrs. Clyde Windham, John Frank Thomas, Charles B. Adams and John Dunkle.

Lee Weissenborn, president of the Dade County Young Democratic Club, conducted a panel discussion on how to hold club meetings.

Dewitt Upthegrove, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, discussed the need for committeemen and committeewomen in Palm Beach County.

The club announced it is planning a district conference here March 7 to include St. Lucie, Indian River, Martin and Broward Counties.

Rev. Obershain Dies in Hospital

LAKE WORTH — Rev. Mark D. Obershain, 84, of 1005 N. J St., a retired Methodist minister who conducted a Bible class at Calvary Methodist Church, died in a West Palm Beach hospital Wednesday.

Survivors include his wife, Lois; two sons, Rev. Ivan and Dermont, in Illinois, and two daughters, Lois E. Beals, West Palm Beach and Mrs. Charles H. Lockwood, Delray Beach. Rites will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Barton Memorial Chapel. Burial will be in Chicago.

Hartley A. Jones

LAKE WORTH — Services for Hartley A. Jones, 73, of 10th Ave. N. who died at his home Wednesday, will be in Pocomoke, Md., the E. Earl Smith and Son Funeral Home announced. He is survived by one daughter, Pauline M., Lake Worth.

York vs. Kelloway

West Palm Barber Seeks Seat on Board

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Outspoken City Commissioner L. W. Kelloway — who has served three non-consecutive terms — will have opposition in the March 31 municipal election.

Ralph York, of 939 Churchill Rd. a S. Dixie Hwy. barber, filed Wednesday for the commission seat now occupied by Kelloway.

York was active two years ago with a group that demanded the City Commission do something about the installation of adequate traffic semaphores on the then newly four-laned U.S. 1.

He is the second to file for office since the period opened Monday. Mayor Horace S. Miller was first under the wire and as yet has no opposition.

Kelloway, an electrical contractor, has not yet put his name on the dotted line to seek another term, but disclosed sometime ago he would try to be reelected.

He agreed he had been unable to break the "one-term jinx," but thought maybe he could change the situation by winning reelection this spring.

If York overcomes Kelloway he would be the second barber on the commission. Vice Mayor W. P. Holland, whose term does not expire this year, is in the same business.

Years Haven't Dimmed Voice Appeal, Judy Garland Proves

THIS GARLAND GIRL named Judy still packs the potent punch of a heavyweight in the talent department —and this is the only subtle nod we'll make toward an obvious matter of avoirdupois in this review after first challenging any calory-conscious overweights in the reading audience who might have the temerity to throw the first "stone" (British measure) at Judy for wearing a few sizes larger than she did in the 30's of "Over the Rainbow" and "Trolley Song" days. Who doesn't in these days of plenty? Wear larger sizes, that is.

Talent in the unprecise arts should be weighed without irrelevant thumbs pressing on the scales and with concern only for its effect on an audience. In her Fontainebleau La Ronde debut Miss Garland effectively moved her audience to what could have been a standing ovation with a trifle more organization. And it was an earned hit.

Joe E. Lewis, in from his own stand at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii next door, blended 100 proof fact with the fun with which he feels he must toughen all sentiment in testifying that Judy's charm and singing had brought a tear to his eye even though the lump in his throat could very well have been scotch.

Today's Judy isn't the irrepressible song and dance darling of yesteryear. She has no corps of boy dancers to assist her and her movement and manner are subdued. But the song still has the vigor of old once she has warmed into it. There is nothing flashily explosive in her performance — and yet it generates, from the warmth of its mounting intensity, a power to lift from a take-off level of a well-wishing doubtful Thomas at the start to the completely sold and devoted role of a Boswell, eager to sing deserved praises, at the finish.

Amusements

Catchy Break Still There

THERE IS MUCH to praise. "You Made Me Love You" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," for instance, sung with the same pathetic little vocal break that was Judy's contrived stock in trade long before life had time and opportunity to etch it there for real . . . the hard way.

Then, for a gayer and tantalizing touch, Judy never did a more persuasive job than she does currently with a teasingly tempoed "Do It Again" or a livelier "Day In, Day Out." Add the inevitable "Trolley Song," "Zing Went the Strings" and "Over the Rainbow" — the last off microphone—and a climaxing "Happiness Is a Thing Called Joe" and you have a repertoire that scored a Garlanded victory.

Oh sure, we personally didn't care for her "Rock-a-bye My Baby" or "Suwannee." That might have been not so much a lack of appreciation for Judy, however, as it might have been a greater appreciation for the memory of hearing Al Jolson do these numbers. After all, Jolie didn't sing "Over the Rainbow" or "You Made Me Love You." Or did he?

If he did then we've forgotten in the light of Judy's greater talent with them. Be that as it may—Judy Garland, who has had her share of ups and her downs, is on the up-beat at the Fontainebleau.
